Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, WEDNESDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 1, 1869. No. 181.

New Zealand and Her Mother Country.

(To the Editor of the Times.)

Sir,—If Parliament were now sitting or about to sit, or, again, if it were my object to make this an opportunity of attacking the Colonial Office, I should not ask leave to call attention through your columns to the present position of New Zealand. I am rather influenced by the feeling that we are rapidly drifting into serious difficulties, which may not only affect the fortunes of English colonists and their relations with us as fellow-subjects or allies, but which may imperil the honor and integrity of the Empire, and that it may be soon too late to speak words which, if they have any worth at all, are only valuable in the present stage of the question.

I purposely set aside the more abstract consideration of policy sometimes mooted—the revision of our relation with the various dependencies of the Crown, the possibility of in some degree resuming the Imperial authority which we have so unreservedly surrendered, and the remarkable proposal of the present Colonial Minister to recognize the Maori King and his jurisdiction.—So, too, it would be impossible here to recapitulate the complicated details of past negotiations, and unprofitable to revive the complaints or recriminations of either party in this long controversy. There has certainly been misunderstanding; perhaps there has been here, as in many similar cases, faults on both sides. What more immediately demands consideration is the future; and when I observe the amount of suffering and irritation in the Colony and the misapprehension prevailing in England, which to a colonist may not unnaturally seem indifference, I fear that we may find ourselves involved in a political crisis which every one will then deplore, and with a calm re-examination of our position might now prevent.

It has not been difficult to make out a strong case as against the Colony. No doubt that the colonists asked for independence in the management of the native affairs; that they accepted the responsibilities of self defence which are necessarily associated with such independence; and that the policy of land confiscation which—whether wise or unwise—they adopted was their act and deed, and, though not formally disapproved by the Home Government, did not originate with us. It is also certain that, so long as British troops were detained in New Zealand without any cost to the Colony, the colonists were more than satisfied with an arrangement which provided for their defence, strengthened their native policy, and benefitted the places where the troops were stationed. No doubt also that the Home Government were justified in insisting upon the withdrawal of the troops for which the colonists, after accepting the responsibilities of native Government, declined to pay. But the case has now assumed a different complexion; the colonists in the Northern Island are in great straits, perhaps in considerable danger of life and property; they have avowed their inability for the present at all events, to carry into effect the self reliant doctrines of a former day, and, if I do not misunderstand them, they have offered, though with some reluctance, to pay whatever sum the Home Government may consider to be right, if only they are allowed to retain for a while the protection of the one regiment left in the Colony. As a matter of rigorous logic, it may be that the Government are right in considering that the time when it was open to the Colony to claim that moderate amount of protection has gone by; but there are other considerations which must at least have a share in determining this question. In the Government of a great empire loyalty and affection are not trifles to be thrown away and resumed at pleasure; and even from a purely material point of view a small outlay now may be found to be ultimately the best economy.

Be this, however, as it may, we are arriving at a stage when, perhaps, a decision may be forced upon us from a sudden catastrophe within the Colony, such as an extensive massacre of settlers, or from a grave political contingency without, such as an appeal by the colonists in their despair to some foreign Power—a contingency which I regret to have heard mooted in this country. But unless English feeling in strangely altered, we should be slow to acquiesce in either of these conclusions. Logic would be thrown to the winds, and we might find ourselves committed to issues on which it is, perhaps, better not now speculate. Is, then, any course consistent with honour and sound policy still open to us?

Let me, without entering upon any considerations that effect the principal by which the relations of a colony to the mother country should be regulated, briefly state some of the various lines of action, whether desirable or otherwise, which the present stage of this question may seem to suggest.

1. That our general policy towards the New Zealand colonists, under which we have surrendered to them the control of native affairs and they have accepted the corresponding duties of self government and "self reliance," should be permanently reversed I hold to be practically impossible. The original concession may have been premature and wrong, but, once made it cannot be recalled. Nor can there be any doubt that in a few years the question of native policy will solve itself by the natural wasting away of this unfortunate race.

2. That we should retain and pay English troops in New Zealand, and that the colonists should employ them at their discretion. But this would make us the mere instruments of a policy which we do not devise, which we cannot control, and which we might disapprove. This again therefore, would be an impossible course to pursue.

3. That the colonists should pay the ordinary colonial subvention in aid of the troops to be maintained for their defence, leaving their disposition absolutely to us. This, if done on a small scale, is free from serious objection; it would provide for the garrison of the towns, would set free the Colonial Militia for service in the field, and would give the Colony in the eyes of the Maories that moral support without which there is risk of an extensive and formidable native combination against us. But from the recent despatches published I fear that the recall of the last regiment leaves this alternative no longer open to consideration.

4. That by financial assistance we should give colonists the means of crushing the insurrection and of placing themselves in a position of permanent defence. It is not difficult to anticipate the objections that would be made to a loan. Nor are colonial guarantees to be lightly granted. They are weighty instruments of the last resort, to be employed only in grave emergencies of Imperial policy, and to be justified by special circumstances. Such, I believe, to have been the recent guarantee to the new Dominion of Canada. It was money well laid out in consolidating the strength, and, as I trust, the enduring union of that noble people with the British Crown, and the present case in New Zealand, though different, is one where a guarantee is fairly applicable. It can be justified by the particular crisis both in its Local and Imperial bearing; it would place at the disposal of the Colony funds which, if properly employed, would enable them to conclude the war, releasing them at the same time from no inducement to conclude it by their own energies; it would satisfy the requirements involved in the doctrine of self-defence; it would only do for our flesh and blood in an English colony what we have done for far less deserving foreigners half over the world; and, looking to the revenue, the population and the resources present and future of the Colony, it would not entail upon us any appreciable risk. The Government in the early part of the year declined to give such assistance: but I do not think that even now they are precluded from reconsidering their decision. The Parliamentary Papers seem to show that the application made to the Colonial Secretary was by him referred to the Treasury, but without the customary expression of his wishes or opinions, or even an explanation of those circumstances connected with the Colony which the Treasury could hardly be presumed to know. It is, therefore, no matter of wonder that this department should have peremptorily declined to entertain a request so introduced to it; and I cannot but regret that in this omission, as well as in the harsh and almost unfriendly tone of the subsequent correspondence, the inherent difficulties of this question should have been needlessly aggravated.

I suggested at the close of last session that, looking into the delays and difficulties of communication with the Colony, the Government should send out a Commissioner, who could, on the spot, ascertain the true state of affairs, and use such power as might be intrusted to a man of eminence and discretion. Lord Durham in Canada, Mr. Gladstone in the Ionian Islands, and Sir H. Storks in Jamaica, were cases that furnished precedents of more or less analogy, and I thought then, as I think now, that such a course might have soothed the sense of irritation, and have offered the best prospects of a proper settlement of this anxious question. Its adoption is, perhaps, even now out of place if combined with such assistance as we may see our way to offer; but time is flying fast, and if Her Majesty's Government delay much longer, they may live to see the beginning, but not the end of a great national disaster.

I remain,
Your obedient servant,
CARNARVON.

Horrible Murder.

A CANADIAN SHOT IN VERMONT BY A CUSTOMS OFFICER—THE CRIMINAL ARRESTED AND NEARLY LYNCHED—CANADIANS FLOCKING OVER THE BORDER—GREAT EXCITEMENT ALONG THE LINES.

On Wednesday night, the town of Richmond, Vermont, a place within two or three miles of the boundary line, was thown into a great state of excitement by a horrible, cold-blooded murder.

Albert R. Harris, hotel keeper at Sutton in this Province, proceeded to Richmond at seven in the evening, hoping under cover of the darkness, to avoid a writ which had been issued against him in a United States Court for debt, but while in the town was observed by Constable Smith and arrested. Mr. H. D. Farrar, however, gave bail for his appearance at court and he was released. Harris then prepared to return home when he discovered one Marshall Goff, a person connected in the capacity of "runner" with the United States Custom House, standing near his waggon, and, supposing that Goff had searched it for smuggled goods, told him to keep away. Some words followed whereupon Harris shook his fist at Goff, telling him that if he ever caught him in Canada he would settle with him. Upon this Goff drew a revolver, and, saying 'D——n you, I will put a bullet through you,' immediately fired and Harris fell dead. The bullet entered his left breast and passed through both heart and lungs. A large and excited crowd immediately collected and attempted to lynch the murderer, but the Select Men interfered and carried him to a place of security. The news of the murder soon spread over the lines, and Canadian farmers came flocking in from every direction. The State Attorney also arrived at the scene, and yesterday removed Goff to St. Albans, where he is now confined in the County Jail.

Harris was about forty years old, and leaves a wife and family. Goff is also married, and is about thirty.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 1.

CONCERT AND BALL.—We understand that the St. George's Society of Belleville, intend having their annual Concert and Ball on or about the 30th December. The arrangements being in the hands of a competent Committee, we have no doubt but that they will make the affair a success.

DEATH OF SHERIFF THORPE.—We sincerely regret to learn that Henry J. Thorpe, Esq., Sheriff of the County of Prince Edward, died at his residence in Picton, on the 20th November, from inflammation of the bowels. Mr. Thorpe was a man universally respected, and his death will cast a gloom over the whole Town in which he lived.

SMITH vs. BELLEVILLE SCHOOL TRUSTEES.—The Toronto papers of the 30th November, in their law reports of the proceedings in Chancery, say, that "Mr. Hodgins moved for final order of sale on the usual paper, and that the order was granted." Will some of our legal friends explain whether this order of sale means the sale of the lot, or the school furniture and school apparatus?

TEA MEETING TO-NIGHT.—When the weather is cold and inclement out doors we must seek warmth, light and mirth within, and acting on this idea, the Good Templars have made every preparation to have things pass off pleasantly to-night at their Soiree. Those wishing to spend a pleasant evening and at the same time assist a good cause will attend to night at the Ontario Hall.

SILVER TROWEL.—At the time of laying the corner stone of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, it was found there was not sufficient time to get a trowl with a suitable inscription. It has since been prepared, and bears the following inscription : "Presented to A. A. Stevenson, Esq., M. W. G. M. F. & A. Masons of Canada, by C. W. & T. L. Kempter, Contractor, on laying the corner stone of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum at Belleville, Ontario, 13th day of August, 1869." The Trowel is of solid silver, and is united to the handle by a maple branch, having three maple leaves, the emblem of Ontario. It is very chaste, and neatly got up ; it was sent to Mr. Stevenson yesterday.

—James Ermatinger, it is said, is gone on a pacificatory mission to the North west.

St. Andrew's Day.

The dinner of St. Andrew's Society last evening at the Dafoe House was one of the most successful every held under the auspicies of the Society. The spacious dining room was completely filled, there being scarcely room for the waiters to move about through the room. The number who sat down to dinner was not less than one hundred and fifty. The President of the Society, Wm. TENNANT, Esq., occupied the Chair, and Geo. VAIR, Esq., and W. H. GRAY, Esq., the Vice Chairs. A large number of guests were present, among whom were Rev. J. C. Smith, Rev. Mr. Baldwin, Rev. Prof. Carman, F. McAnnany, Esq., President of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, C. J. Starling, Esq., President of the St. George's Society, P. D. Conger, Esq., Mayor, M. Bowell, Esq., M. P., Henry Corby, Esq., M. P. P., Thos. Kelso, Esq., Thos. Holden, Esq., W. C. Nunn, Esq., Col. A. A. Campbell, N. B. Falkiner, John J. B. Flint, George E. Henderson, Thos. Lazier, S. S. Lazier, R. P. Jellett, Morgan Jellett, Esqrs., and a large number of others.

The hall was tastefully decorated with flags and mottoes, among the latter being "The day and all who honor it," "The land we left, and the land we live in," "Should auld acquaintance be forgot," "Bruce," "Scott," "Wallace," "Burns," "Hugh Miller," "Watt," and "Napier."

The "bill of fare" was very tempting, and the spread was got up and served in capital style, reflecting credit upon the proprietor of the Dafoe. Dinner over, the President announced the standard toasts in the following order, briefly prefacing each with appropriate observations :

The Queen.—"God Save the Queen" by Mr. Alex. Webster, and rendered in an enthusiastic manner by the whole assembly.

The Prince of Wales and Royal Family—Song by Mr. Crowther, "God bless the Prince of Wales."

The Governor General of the Dominion, and the Lieut.-Governor of Ontario—Song by Col. A. A. Campbell, "On a lone, barren isle."

The Army, Navy and Volunteers.

Lt.-Col. A. A. Campbell was called upon to respond, and after acknowledging the compliment, passed the toast over to Colonel Brown.

Mr. Geo. Neilson sang the "Red, White and Blue," in splendid style.

Lt.-Col. Jas. Brown responded in a very happy manner. He recounted the deeds of heroism performed by Scottish Chieftains in the olden time, and coming down to the wars of modern days, gave a glowing account of the prowess of British arms, interspersing his remarks with appropriate poetic quotations, which added much to the interest of his speech.

Major M. Bowell referred briefly to the record made by the Volunteers of Canada, and did not doubt whenever called upon would do as they had done before.

Capt. W. C. Nunn, in acknowledging the toast, referred to the beautiful sentiment respecting patriotism which they had heard in the sermon of Rev. J. C. Smith to-day, and hoped they would ever be actuated by a similar sentiment. Although the Volunteers had not received from the Government the encouragement they deserved, it was not the paltry sum given them that stimulated them to the duty, but that noble spirit of patriotism to which allusion had been made.

Mr. A. Watters gave a recitation which was well rendered.

The day and all who honor it—Song by Mr. W. McAdie, "St. Andrew's Day."

Mr. Golden, of North Hastings, responded in a stirring and eloquent speech. Taking the names of Scottish warriors, poets and statesmen, which graced the wall, he briefly alluded to the distinctive characteristics of each in a very happy manner. He questioned whether there had ever been such a person as St. Andrew ; indeed he pronounced him a myth, which statement, however, was received with general dissatisfaction.

The land we left and the land we live in—Song by Mr. Alex. Webster.

Mr. A. Burden responded in his usual effective and happy manner. He did not like the idea of St. Andrew, whom he had taken such pains last year to give a history of, being pronounced a myth, and declared him to have been a reality.

Mr. J. J. B. Flint also acknowledged the toast in an eloquent speech, during which he referred to his recent visit to auld Scotia, a land of which her sons might well be proud.

The Sister Societies—Song by Mr. Maybee. Mr. Zabloski sang a comic song in Prussian in fine style, and being loudly encored gave with great enthusiasm "The Marseillaise."

C. J. Starling, Esq., acknowledged the toast on behalf of St. George's Society, referring in appropriate terms to the benefits conferred by these institutions in assisting emigrants to obtain situations, and giving relief to the distressed.

F. McAnnany, Esq., on behalf of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society, responded to the toast. He had now been a resident of Belleville forty-six years, and forty years ago he was a guest of the sons of St. Andrew of Belleville. In referring to early associations, he alluded to the fact that he was in the employ of a Scotchman, who, one day speaking of him, Mr. McAnnany, said, "he is a fine lad," "but it is a pity he is Irish." He was an Irishman, and was proud of his country, and could say heartily "Erin with all thy faults I love thee still." In speaking of this country he said there was no happier nor better country in the world than the Dominion of Canada, and closed with some happy remarks respecting the effect of the union of Scotchmen, Englishmen and Irishmen.

The Bench and the Bar—Song by Mr. McLord.

Hon. Judge Sherwood, County Judge, acknowledged the toast in appropriate terms. He spoke of the Bench of the Superior Courts of Canada as something which every barrister and every man in the country should be proud of. In referring to the County in which he presided, he had been led to expect before he came here to have had considerable trouble, but he had been agreeably disappointed. He paid a high compliment to the Bar of Belleville, which he said was second to none in Canada.

A. Diamond, Esq., Police Magistrate, also briefly responded to the toast.

Geo. E. Henderson, Esq., acknowledged the toast on behalf of the Bar, in a forcible and eloquent speech.

R. P. Jellett, Esq., put the assembly in excellent humor by his excellent witticisms, and happy allusions.

The first Vice-Chairman next gave

The Memory of Robert Burns—Geo. Neilson, Esq., sang in fine style, "The land of the Leal."

Robert Thomson, Esq., in responding to this sentiment made the speech of the evening, and the close attention with which at that late hour he was listened to, showed that his remarks were appreciated.

Mr. McCord gave another song which was finely rendered.

The House of Commons and the Legislature of Ontario, called forth appropriate speeches from Henry Corby Esq., M. P. P., M. Bowell Esq., M. P., and Jas. Brown, Esq., M. P.

Our Guests brought Mr. J. W. Verner to his feet, who kept the company in capital humor by a well-timed, humorous speech.

The Commercial Interests of Belleville, coupled with the names of the firm of Pitceathly & Kelso, was next given by Mr. Verner, and appropriately acknowledged by Mr. Pitceathly.

N. B Falkiner Esq., and Thos. Holden Esq., also responded in fitting terms to the toast of "Our Guests."

The second Vice Chairman next gave

The Mayor and Corporation—Responded to by P. D. Conger, Esq., Mayor, and Thos. Holden Esq.

The Ladies' followed, and was acknowledged by A. McFee, Esq., Lt. Col. Brown and D. B. Robertson, Esq.

The Press closed the programme of toasts, and was acknowledged by Mr. Bowell and Mr. Mason.

Several Volunteer toasts followed and another hour was pleasantly spent in song and sentiment.

One feature of the celebration, worthy of record, was the attendance at Church and in the procession, yesterday, of A. O. PETRIE, Esq., the oldest resident of the Town, who informed us that this was the 60th anniversary of St. Andrew's Day that he had spent in Belleville. The old gentleman has been in poor health for a number of years, and although hardly able to move from his bed, his enthusiasm for St. Andrew's Day and his love for his native country impelled him to join his fellow countrymen in the celebration of the patron Saint of auld Scotia. May he be spared many years yet.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Nov. 30th, 1869.

After the presentation of petitions the following Bills were introduced.

To exempt a sugar refinery in Toronto from taxation.

To incorporate a railway from Hamilton to Caledonia.

To incorporate the Wesleyan Methodist Female College in Hamilton.

A Bill for the establishment of Public Fairs.

To stop up the allowance of a road in Medora.

To amalgamate the Ottawa Mechanics Institute, and the Ottawa Natural History Society into one society.

To incorporate the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway.

To withdraw the Town of Perth from the County of Lanark.

To provide for Marks upon casks containing butter.

To provide for a separation of the counties of Durham and Northumberland.

THE DRAINAGE BILL.

The House went into Committee on the Drainage Bill and after a long discussion passed the resolutions.

SALES FOR TAXES.

Mr. SINCLAIR obtained leave to introduce a bill to provide that owners of land should be notified when lands are sold for taxes.

Attorney-General MACDONALD—What are the objects of the bill ?

Mr. SINCLAIR—Under the present system owners very often knew nothing whatever of the sale of their land for taxes, and he thought that they ought to be notified. This measure provides that it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to make a list of lands sold for taxes and to transmit that to the Clerk of Municipalities—whose duty it should be to make the information known to the owners.

INDEMNITY TO MEMBERS.

The Bill to provide for the indemnity of members was introduced, and passed a first time.

THE COMMON SCHOOL ACT.

Hon. Mr. CAMERON moved the second reading of this bill. In doing so he would not long detain the House. The first change of importance was the abolishing of Local Superintendents, and vesting their powers, except in certain cases, in County Superintendents. Provision was made for the examining body of county school teachers ; this was vested in the council of public instruction, and no one not holding a certificate of qualification from that body would hereafter be eligible to be appointed a superintendent. But he might state that qualified county superintendents, holding office at the present time, would not be deprived of it, but there were only, he believed, seven or eight of them. Children under seven and twelve years of age would not be compelled, as before, to attend the public schools, but their parents or guardians shall provide that such children should attend some school of their own selection, under a penalty. Children above that age must attend the schools. Parents were also required to provide the requisite text books for their children, and failing to do so, the trustees were authorized to purchase such as were required, and add the cost and 50 per cent to the school rate of such parent, unless exempted on account of indigence. The adjustment of disputes between trustees and teachers was also changed. Instead of resorting to arbitration, as heretofore, the Division Court and County Judge would hereafter be resorted to. This, he thought, would be of advantage to both parties, because partiality would be avoided and feelings of self or party interest would not be brought in. Besides, it would save expense, for though arbitration was often found to answer very well with private parties —where public bodies were concerned, it was generally found that they extended over a considerable period of time, and cost not a very little sum of money. These were all the remarks he thought it necessary to make at present in introducing this bill. It had largely engaged the attention of the Government, and information had been asked respecting it from all quarters. It was his opinion that it would be found to work well if approved of by the House.

Dr. BOULTER considered that these bills should be worked first and then consolidated afterwards. He was in favor of county superintendents—but he thought that there might be some trouble in working clause 9. It might be difficult to get a quorum of examiners. He would support a proposal to strike out clause 10. He was in favor of free schools, and considered the arbitration clause a step in the right direction. He doubted whether the compulsory clause would answer, but he should support the second reading.

The Bill was read a second time, and sent to a Committee on Thursday.

COMMON LAW AND COUNTY COURT ACTS.

Mr. RYKERT moved the second reading of the bill to amend the Act to regulate the precedence of the Superior Courts of Common Law and of the County Courts." He briefly explained the provisions of the bill, and a learned legal discussion ensued between the hon. mover and the hon. member for West Grey.

The second reading of the bill was carried.

THE DIVISION COURT ACT.

Mr. CROSBY enquired whether the government intend to introduce a bill (this session) to amend the Division Court Act, with a view to extend the jurisdiction of said court to the collection of two hundred dollars.

Attorney-General MACDONALD—Certainly not : such a thing never entered my head. The expenses incurred in the County Courts by the present law were enough, and he did not desire that they should be extended to Division Courts.

RETURN.

Hon. Mr. CAMERON presented a return in reply to an address to His Excellency, for the average attendance at the Grammar Schools during the past three years.

The House then at 10.45 adjourned.

—Ottawa has petitioned the Ontario Legislature to have aldermen elected annually instead of the present plan.

—A headless body, found near some water in Arkansas, was deemed a proper subject of inquest. The jury returned a verdict of "accidental drowning."

—Mr. J. P. Jewett, the publisher, who made a fortune on "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and lost it in subsequent ventures, now works as a journeyman printer in Philadelphia.

—An exchange says : "By the Embro Planet we are informed that J. R. Sutherland, as lecturer, 'entertained his audience for an hour in unbroken delight and appreciation.' Happy man ! happy people !"

The 'Globe's Ottawa telegramist says there "is intense dissatisfaction in South Lanark against Alex. Morris," and two lines above it announce his election by acclamation. What a humbug.

—The agricultural editor of the Weekly Press reminds boys who have to split wood, that it splits much more easily up from the roots than downward. The stick should be turned upside down before striking it. So, too, it is better to split by slabs than to strike through the centre of it.

—An invitation by the cure of Quebec was given to the members of the House of Assembly to attend divine service at the French cathedral on Sunday last, and occupy the seats of the Laval students. The invitation was received with mingled cheers and laughter. The sitting lasted about 10 minutes—nothing being done.

—On Saturday morning, says the Ogdensburg Journal, the dredging machine at work near Morgan's in the upper harbor brought up a nine pr. cannon ball. It was found imbedded in the blue clay, eighteen inches below the river bottom, but is in a good state of preservation. It is probably a relic of the war of 1779 or 1812.

CONSUMPTION is a distressing and fatal disease, characterized by cough, debility, emaciation, purulent expectoration, and hectic fever. It chiefly attacks the young, the fair, and the amiable, and is generally considered incurable. In certain northern latitudes it prevails with the greatest violence, sweeping, probably, to the frequent atmospherical changes from heat to cold, dryness to dampness, &c. It is also found to exist in some warm climates. Some persons consider it incurable ; this, however, if true at all, must occur very rarely, for we daily see among those who, having a predisposition to the disease, keep with a patient in whom the disease field expectoration, and cadaverous sight-sweats. For restoring to health or relieving the sufferer when this fearful disease is too far advanced, Dr. J. Briggs' Renovator, the Great Throat and Lung Healer, stands unrivalled. A few doses proves its excellence. Dr J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Office, 265 Broadway, N. Y., and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

Salnave is strongly fortifying Fort au Prince, and swears he will blow it up before he will surrender.

ANOTHER CUBAN EXPEDITION.

The World says:—The Cubans have another expedition on hand, which for the number of men and the quantity of armament, will surpass all their former efforts. The Junta are now paying out over $600 per day for the board of men in this city, who are awaiting the word to sail. Contracts have been made with several merchants for a large number of Winchester repeating rifles and Peabody breech-loaders, with suitable ammunition, and in one case the contract has already been fulfilled. It is, however, improbable that any thing in the way of an expedition will be started before the meeting of Congress.

SAILING UNDER SEALED ORDERS.

The Commercial learns from the Navy Yards that several vessels have already sailed under sealed orders. The prevailing opinion at the Yards is that their destination is Cuban waters.

The Times' Pekin correspondent writes that the Chinese Government is anxious to have it clearly understood that Mr. Burlinghames' treaty has not been rejected, but action on it only deferred; it being thought best to wait until the result of negotiations with other countries were received, when the whole subject might be disposed of at once. The confidence of the ministers in Mr. Burlinghame is unshaken.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—It seems to be firmly settled that President Grant will make no recommendation in regard to Cuba in his forthcoming message, and that he will take no steps towards recognizing the insurgents until solemnly requested to do so by both Houses of Congress.

BIRTH.

At Kincardine, on Sunday, 21st inst., the wife of Mr. JOSEPH LANG, of the Review, of a daughter.

MARRIED.

At Thurlow, on the 23rd inst., at the residence of the bride's father, by the Rev. J. M. Gray, Mr. DAVID B. BUSH, fourth son of Mr. Henry Bush, Thurlow, to CHARLOTTE MELLISA, second daughter of Mr. Thomas Hagerman, Thurlow.

At Tyendinaga, on the 24th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, by the Rev. J. M. Gray, Mr. RYERSON HICKS, eldest son of Mr. Alexander Hicks, Tyendinaga, to JANE GOW MARTIN, second daughter of Mr. John A. Todd, Tyendinaga.

DIED.

At his residence, Huntingdon, on Thursday, Nov. 25th, JAMES HAGGERTY, Esq., aged 79 years and 18 days. His remains were followed to the grave by a large concourse of friends and relatives. An impressive sermon was preached by the Rev. J. Grout, of Stirling, after the funeral.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW

CHEMICAL PRINCIPLES

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN

RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Fat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care at the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone. But the wonderful improvements it has secured in the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound, strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat, and Skin and body.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted.
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the wastes and decompositions stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands, Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine, Bile, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored; happily for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important want that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertized as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairs, will so charge the system with such constituents as to resolve and exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and resolves away all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, as Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues, cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms, Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures, and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are inconvenienced by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats, Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West,
March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully recovered. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER,

A Disagreeable Surprise.

A day or two ago quite a scene was enacted in a certain household in Toronto, on Queen street west. A gentleman—who shall be nameless—returned from Chicago to his loving wife and children, and very disagreeably surprised her by exhibiting a bill of divorce which he had sued out in a Court on the other side of the line; whereupon his "better half" attacked him very badly, and quite a wordy war ensued, the noise of which attracted a goodly number of pedestrians and surrounding neighbors to the doors of the building, and ultimately the police had to interfere to bring the incorjugal belligerents to a state of quietude, but not to a state of forgiveness, for the husband quitted the house expressing, with a loud oath, his resolve never to enter it again. During the emeute it was a sad sight to see the little children of the quarrelling parents clinging, some to one, some to the other, begging them "not to fight." It appears that the husband detected his wife in a little breach of the marital contract about a year ago, but had, upon her solemn promise to sin no more, agreed to live with her, and had apparently forgiven her. She has been, to all outward appearance, faithful to him ever since—no digression from the straight path of rectitude having been observable in her subsequent conduct; but the husband has been fitful of late, some suspicion seeming to prey upon his mind. This had, however, been latent until yesterday. He told his wife about a fortnight ago that he had to go to Chicago on business, and she took leave of him with no shadow of a surmise on her mind as to the object of his visit to that celebrated locality for the severance of the marital connection. Her surprise was great, and her anger greater, when she was presented with the bill of divorce mentioned, and the scene above mentioned ensued.—Toronto Telegraph.

The following is a verse of a popular ballad now being sung by itinerant singers in various parts of the south of Ireland; at Clonmel the constabulary arrested two singers, and a magistrate ordered their release, whereupon the mob seconded the magistrate's condemnation of the arrest by rendering it necessary for the police to retire into their barracks:

"Those landlords all—
Both great and small,
We'll shoot them down by dozens,
We'll houl our lands,
And pay no rints,
And serve out those bloody ruffians,
For with Gladstone, Bright,
And all the boys,
We'll wallop all before us,
And we'll shout and spout,
And speak our minds,
And sing out our jolly chorus—
Re foll, de roll, re foll, de roll,
Re foll, de roll, de rido," &c

A YANKEE NOTION.—There is no foundation for the statement that an English gentleman visiting at Niagara cast his eye over the Fall, and has been suffering from cataract ever since. The rumor arose from the fact that when the gigantic mass of descending fluid fell upon his gaze it rather made his eye water.

THE GIRLS.—Can we not bring up our girls more usefully, less showily, less dependent on luxury and wealth? Can we not teach them from babyhood that to labor is a higher thing than merely to enjoy; that even enjoyment itself is never so sweet as when it is earned? Can we not put into their minds, whatever be their station, principles of truth, simplicity of taste, hopefulness, hatred of waste, and these being firmly rooted, trust to their blossoming up in whatever destiny the young maiden may be called?—Miss Mulock.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with its gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever one before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but searching purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is more reliable and far more effectual than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, try—that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails from any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood that we do not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any other mineral or deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring them to regular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first cause of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box of the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic, and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the disordered action or remove the morbid matter which causes it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally sufficient.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive organs and blood.

Useful Hints to Preachers.

It is a curious fact in the history of sound that the loudest noises perish on the spot where they are produced, whereas musical notes will be heard at a great distance. Thus, if we approach within a mile or two of a town or a village in which a fair is held, we may hear very faintly the clamour of the multitude, but more distinctly the organs, and other musical charms which are played for their amusement. If a Cremona violin, a real Amitti, be played by the side of a modern fiddle, the latter will sound the much louder of the two; but the sweet brilliant tone of the Amitti will be heard at a distance the other cannot reach. Dr. Young, on the authority of Durham, states that at Gibraltar the human voice may be heard at a greater distance than that of any animal. Thus, when the cottager in the woods, or in the open plain, wishes to call her husband who is working at a distance, she does not shout, but pitches her voice to a musical key, which she knows from habit, and by that means reaches his ear. The loudest roar of the largest lion could not penetrate so far. "This property of the music in the human voice," says Cooper, "is strikingly shown in the Cathedrals abroad. Here the mass is entirely performed in musical sounds, and becomes audible to every devotee, however placed in the remotest part of the church, whereas if the same mass had been read, the sounds would not have travelled beyond the precincts of the choir." Those orators who are heard in large assemblies most distinctly, and at the greatest distance, are those who, by modulating the voice, render it more musical. Loud speakers are seldom heard to advantage. Burke's voice is said to have been a sort of lofty cry, which tended, as much as the formality of his discourse, in the House of Commons, to send the members to their dinner. Chatham's lowest whisper was distinctly heard: "his middle tones were sweet, rich, and beautifully varied," says a writer describing the orator; "when he raised his voice to its highest pitch, the house was completely filled with a volume of sound, and the effect was awful, except when he wished to cheer or animate, and then he had spirit-stirring notes which were perfectly irresistible. The terrible, however, was his peculiar power. Then the House sank before him, still he was dignified and wonderful as was his eloquence, it was attended with this important effect, that it possessed every one with a conviction that there was something in him finer even than his words; that the man was greater—infinitely greater—than the orator.

English and Continental Farming.

Mr. James Howard, M.P., delivered an address to the London Farmers Club in which he portrayed the various modes of farming in use on the continent and in England. It is but natural that he should look at the subject with a leaning to his own country, nevertheless the facts he adduced proves that farms in England are better cultivated and yield larger returns and that farm-hands are better fed and housed in England than in any other part of Europe. He also showed that subdivisions of land are injurious to the property of a country, and that the passion for small holdings, entails incessant toil and great privations. Our agricultural readers will be surprised to learn at what wretched wages Continental laborers work 16 hours on week days and 8 hours on Sunday. Mr. Howard gave an interesting description of M. Cail's farm at Tours, which will be found in the following review of his speech by the Times:

On the credit side of the account Mr. Howard enumerated a long line of differences in the British and Continental systems which turn the balance altogether on the side of the former. Our cattle, sheep, and pigs, though it is to be feared our horses no longer, are proportionately far in excess, both in number and in quality, of the French and even the Belgian. A calculation is referred to by Mr. Howard as having been made by an eminent French Professor of Agriculture, from which it appears that with less than half the extent of cultivated land England yields double the quantity of animal food produced in France, and nearly twice the quantity of corn. In special instances French farmers apparently surpass anything we have to show in this country. They carry into agriculture the rigid arithmetic and habit of adapting means to ends which is here reserved for manufacturing operations. In fact, the French farmer at his best treats farming as a manufacture. Mr. Howard grows enthusiastic as he describes a farm near Tours which is the hobby, though an exceedingly remunerative one, of M. Cail, the great locomotive builder. All the arrangements go, as it were, by machinery, from the open fields, where "not a tree or fence of any kind has been left," to the sheds for 600 bullocks, the covered fold for 3,000 sheep, and the huge corn barn, "with a triple roof like a railroad station," 336 feet long and 130 wide, and which will contain 1,250 acres of unthrashed corn. But average British farming is more scientific and economical than average French farming. Thus the proportion of crops both north and south of the Tweed is one-third exhaustive and two-thirds restorative. In France, on the contrary the common system of cropping is exhaustive. The natural consequence follows that not one-third as large an area of soil lies fallow in Great Britain as in France. Mr. Howard's patriotic conclusion is that he has yet to see the country which can compare in agriculture with this island.

It would, however, be a barren triumph if the agricultural population of the Continent, though destitute of patent reaping machines, and with a smaller gross return, yet contrived to get a larger net profit out of their capital such as it is, and lived in greater comfort. Mr. Howard declares he found nothing of the sort, not merely in France, but not even in Belgium, Germany, or North Italy. The great ambition of an agricultural labourer abroad notoriously is to become a landowner. In France, especially, the class is possessed, as a well-known French farmer puts it, "by the demon of property." When the Continental peasant has at length scraped together enough to buy one of the myriad farms in France, or the 900,000 in Prussia of some two or three or four acres, he begins a career of incessant toil, living all the time worse than an English farm servant. But even on the Continent of Europe not every peasant can be a landowner. There is still a numerous class of labourers, and of these, when under rather exceptionally favourable circumstances, Mr. Howard remarks that he "had never seen men so nearly reduced to a state of slavery." Wages in France, Belgium, and Rhenish Prussia, range from 1s. 6d. a day to something over 1s. This itself is almost double the rate of a few years back, and for it, at any rate in some parts of France, the working hours are from 4 a. m. to 8 p. m. on week days, and till noon on Sundays. The general treatment of farm laborers is on a level with this tyrannous amount of work. In a French farm conducted with comparative liberality the team-men sleep with the cattle, two in a box, on a sack of straw. In Austria where the wages average about ninepence or tenpence a day Mr. Howard found in one room, 40 feet long and 20 wide, and infested with rats, six beds and four families. In a prosperous farming district near Waterloo the landlady of the village inn told him that she never saw a farm labourer in her house except after dinner on Sunday. Near Milan a box suspended from the stable roof is considered a proper lodging for the man in charge of the horses. In the same neighbourhood a whole family never has more than a single room, and often two or three families occupy it in common. No wonder that the field labourers are flying to the towns, as he "illeins" did in Dark Ages. The evil tends to redress itself.—What between this aversion from what is serfdom in all but name and the demands of the conscription, the farmers are beginning to experience a dearth of labour.

Black-eyed ladies are said to be passionate and jealous. Blue-eyed—soulful, truthful, affectionate, and confiding. Grey eyed philosophical, literary, resolute, and cold-hearted. Hazel-eyed—quick-eyed quick-tempered, and fickle.

A photographer, at Beverly, in Yorkshire has hit on a new way of inducing customers to pay old debts. In the window of his gallery he has placed the following announcement, the name and address of the debtor being given in full:—"Wanted, Mr. ——, groom, of ——, to call and pay for his portraits. N. B.—This notice will remain here till the portraits are paid for." Attached to this notice is a cage, to visite of Mr. ——, himself. The plan might, perhaps, be extended to other cases.

Fishing.—Land and Water gives a graphic description of a lady's battle with a salmon. The lady was Miss Lewis Lloyd, of Radnorshire. On Monday, October 4th, at noon, she hooked a large fish in a pool formed at the junction of the river Claerwen Elan. She was attended by her father's old carpenter, who assisted her at intervals in the struggle that ensued. The salmon was large and powerful, for he kept up the contest throughout the afternoon with great determination, now rushing through the pool, now jumping out of the water, and then sulking at the bottom. As night came on his activity increased. The country side had assembled, bringing lanterns, and a large fire was lighted on the bank. About three o'clock in the morning the plucky fish went out of the pool. Old Will, the carpenter, had by this time taken the rod, and followed Mr. Salmon into the stream, and followed Mr. Salmon into the stream, which was like ink, except where long streaks of foam gleamed in the fire light. This was the final rush. When amongst the rocks the line broke, and the salmon escaped after seventeen hour's battle.

Wreck of the "Catherine."

STATEMENT OF THE FIRST MATE OF THE SHIP "CATHERINE," COMMANDED BY CAPTAIN VERMONT ALEXANDER.

We sailed from Genoa on the 22nd day of July, 1869, with a crew of 21 men, including the first, second and third mates. Their names were :—First mate, David Sampson, of Genoa; second mate, John Donovan, of Queenstown, Ireland; third mate, William H. Bell, of Limerick, Ireland; the remainder of the crew were Italians from Genoa, whose names I do not know. Our cargo was railroad iron for the port of Quebec. We had on board 1,800 tons. The first nine days out we had fair weather, on the tenth day we sprung a leak and all hands were at the pumps 216 hours, when we made the port of Marseilles and remained 15 days for repairs. On the 24th day of August we left for Quebec, and had a very fair passage until we made the Canso light on the coast of Nova Scotia. We took on a pilot then by the name of John O'Brien who took the ship to Cape Porcupine. He then left the ship. The course pursued from that place to the Magdalen Islands was due west. We then altered the course from W by N half N—Seven days after (on the 14th November), in the second mate's watch, as near as I can recollect at about 10 o'clock when I went below to the cabin, Captain Alexander and his wife were playing cards, when I joined them and played about two hours, when all at once we felt a heavy shock and the crash of the main and fore masts. I rushed up from the cabin and all was confusion on deck, the men running about and calling upon God to save them. I think it was about six minutes from the time we struck the rock when the ship went down with all on board, except myself and the second mate. We were clinging to a small piece of deal about five feet long and seven inches wide. He had hold of the end of the stick and I was nearer the centre, but moved towards the other end. He had his boots, coats and pants on; I had removed my boots and coat, and found it much easier to float. He remained by me, about an hour, when he cried out, "Oh, my God!" and sank. The end of the stick that I had hold of began to sink, and I grasped it more in the centre, and tied myself on as well as I could. I remembered everything quite distinctly until the second day, when I was so cold that I thought I should sink, but the stick held me up. I have no remembrance of anything else until I found myself on board of a steamer, commanded by Captain McGinnis, bound for Campbellton. He told me that he picked me up about fifteen miles below White River, more dead than alive. I had been in the water from 10 minutes to 12 on Saturday night until Tuesday at 9 a. m. On Wednesday morning at 10 a. m., he landed me at White River and directed me to Mr. Noble, who gave me a pair of pants and boots for which I sincerely express my thanks. I have also to thank Mr. E. Grant, Powell and Mr. Kimpton, of Trois Pistoles, for clothing and assistance to get to Quebec.—DANIEL SAMSON, 1st mate of the ship Catherine.

Lord Derby.

We have spoken of Lord Derby chiefly as a statesman. But, after all, it is the man —ever brilliant and impulsive—that has most won the admiration of his countrymen. He was a splendid specimen of an Englishman, and whether he was engaged in furious debate with demagogues, or in lowly conversation on religion with little children, or in parley with jockeys, while training Texophilite, or rendering Homer into English verse, or in stately Latin discourse as the Chancellor of his University, or in joyous talk in a drawing-room among ladies whom he delighted to chaff, or in caring for the needs of Lancashire operatives, there was a force and fire about him that acted like a spell. Of all his public acts none did him more honor and none made a deeper impression on the minds of his countrymen than that to which we have just alluded—his conduct on the occasion of the cotton famine in Lancashire. No man in the kingdom sympathized more truly than he with the distress of the poor Lancashire spinners, and, perhaps, no man did so much as he for their relief. It was not simply that he gave them a princely donation; he worked hard for them in the committee which was established in their aid; he was, indeed, the life and soul of the committee, and for months at that bitter time he went about doing good by precept and example, so that myriads in Lancashire now bless his name. He will long live in memory as one of the most remarkable, and indeed irresistible, men of our time—a man privately beloved and publicly admired, who showed extraordinary cleverness in many ways; was the greatest orator of his day, and was the most brilliant, though not the most successful, Parliamentary leader of the last half century."

CONSUMPTION is a distressing and fatal disease, characterized by cough, debility, emaciation, purulent expectoration, and hectic fever. It chiefly attacks the young, the fair, and the excitable, and is generally considered incurable. In certain northern latitudes it prevails with the greatest violence, owing, probably, to the frequent atmospherical changes from heat to cold, dryness to dampness, &c. It is also found to exist in some warm climates. Some persons consider it hereditable; this, however, if true at all, must occur very rarely, and only among those who, having a predisposition to the disease, sleep with a patient in whom the disease exists in an aggravated state, and is attended with fetid expectoration, and cadaverous night-sweats. For restoring to health or relieving the sufferer, when this fearful disease is too far advanced, Dr. J. Briggs' Renovator, the Great Tonic and Lung Healer, stands unrivalled. A few doses prove its excellence. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Office, 208 Broadway, N. Y., and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, DEC. 2.

RENFREW ELECTION.—The telegrams from this County, show that Mr. Deacon has been elected by a small majority. We need scarcely say Mr. Murray has been properly treated.

DR. TUPPER.—A telegram from Halifax, says Dr. Tupper had gone to Pembina for his daughter, Mrs. Capt. Cameron.

THE SINGING PILGRIM.—The New York Tribune says:—" Mr. Phillip Phillips, the Musical editor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, sails for Europe in the Cuba, on the 17th. Since the days of the Wesleys, there has probably been no man who has been so popular a leader and singer of sacred song."

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.—We are pleased to see that our old friend, William Gillespie, for a long time connected with the Hamilton Spectator, has received an appointment in the Customs in Hamilton. His many friends wish him long life and health to carry out the duties of his new office.

WESTERN EXTENSION RAILWAY.—A telegram from St. John, New Brunswick, says:—" The formal opening of the Western Extension Railway from St John to the American boundary took place on the 1st December. A train left at 9 a.m. with 200 invited guests. On its return a grand entertainment was given. The Fredericton branch was also opened for traffic."

AN IMPROVEMENT.—It is not all gall and wormwood with the Brockville Recorder. A few weeks since it denounced Jas. Young M. P. for making declarations which were not correct, and it is now busily engaged in defending John Sandfield and Stephen Richards. On the 2nd December, it says:—" We cannot believe the Commissioner would swerve from his duty either " to please Mr. Smith or any one else. He " may be imposed upon, but he is too " honorable to do an evil act with his eyes " open. This is our estimate of the Crown " Lands Commissioner." A very good character, certainly, and one which secures the Recorder as an Ontario Government organ. We agree with the Recorder as to the honesty of Mr. Richard's intentions, but regret he is so slow in coming to decisions.

Repudiation of American Insurance Companies.

The Hamilton Spectator in following article calls attention to the position of some American Insurances doing business in Canada. It is exceedingly disgraceful in Companies sending or appointing agents in Canada to take the money of the people for Insurance and then when a loss occurs repudiate their liabilities by taking advantage of a clause in their Act which incorporates them. It is a grave question whether such acts do not come under the designation of swindling:—

"Our attention is frequently called to the subject of Insurance, by circumstances which are most daily transpiring. A decision has just been given in the case of Redpath & Co., of Montreal, against the "Sun Mutual Insurance Company," of New York, whereby the Company has been enabled successfully to resist a risk taken by its agent in Canada, on the ground that, by its charter, the company had not power to make Insurance contracts in Canada. We suppose we cannot question the validity of this judgment; but it does seem singular that, while knowing such to be the nature of its charter, the "Sun Mutual" should have been regularly in the habit of making such contracts in Canada. The whole thing has an unpleasant look about it; while it cannot but fill the minds of Canadian insurers in American offices with earnest anxiety for the future, it should also induce all our people now to see that the Companies with which they are disposed to deal have charters which fully empower them to issue policies in a foreign land, for such we suppose, Canada will now be regarded by the United States authorities.

"Another matter connected with these Insurance Companies is deserving of notice. It appears, according to evidence recently come to hand, that the laws of certain of the United States in reference to Insurance Companies at present doing business in Canada absolutely prohibit them making investments out of these States. Now, according to our Insurance Law, passed in 1868, no company that does not make an actual investment to our Government securities to the extent of $100,000, before the first of August 1871, shall thereafter be allowed to transact business in Canada. On the force of this law, therefore, all such companies must retire from Canada before that time—in about eighteen months; and it is a question well worth of consideration whether, up to that period, they should continue their efforts to obtain insurers amongst us. We may, and do, regret the necessity which arises for the withdrawal of several important companies which have a good standing amongst us. But the fault is in the law of the States we have mentioned, and not in the law of our own Government. The Parliament of Canada, by permitting such Companies to deposit, for a time, American securities, so as to enable them to procure the necessary amendment of their Charters, proves the desire of the people of this country to afford them the fullest opportunity of doing business among us. It must not be thought that we write in a spirit unfriendly to any of the American companies now in existence in Canada; if they can comply with our law, we shall be glad of their continuance, and of their success. But our people who wish to avail themselves of the benefits of assurance must have a guarantee that the companies they deal with not only have not the disposition, but not even the power, to resist their claims when preferred."

A report was presented from the Standing Orders Committee, recommending the extension of time for the reception of petitions, which was sent back with instructions to strike out the recommendations.

BENCHERS OF THE LAW SOCIETY.

A Bill was introduced by Mr. Clarke, to render the Benchers of the Law Society elective by the members thereof.

COMPENSATION TO JUDGES.

Attorney-General MACDONALD moved that the House on Friday next go into Committee to consider a resolution regarding the annual payment of a certain sum to each of the Judges of the Superior Courts, and to the Chief Justice of the Court of Error and Appeal, in Ontario, as compensation for the services rendered by the said Judges in the said Circuit of Error and Appeal, and in the Heir and Devisee Commission. He said objection had been taken by the Dominion Government as to the manner in which this compensation had been made last session. The House considered that the services rendered by the Judges in these Courts merited some compensation, and as the objection to which the House had to bow was taken to the manner in which they had been compensated last session, he now proposed to do so in another manner. It could not be admitted that the House could not pay these judges out of its own funds. The Dominion Government paid these judges for their services in some of the Superior Courts but not for the services rendered in the Court of Error and appeal and in the Heir and Devisee Commission. It was in these two latter courts that the judges were to be recognized by the House.

Mr. BOYD said he would be very happy to see judges of the Superior Courts properly remunerated, provided it could be done in a constitutional manner—but he thought the resolution of the Attorney-General contemplated an evasion of the law.

Mr. BLAKE hoped that when the question came fairly before the House on Friday the honorable gentleman would be able to adduce arguments in favor of the legality of this proposition, as he was deeply anxious to co-operate with them in the matter. Carried.

PAYMENT OF JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Mr. GREELY moved that on Friday next the House go into Committee of the whole to consider resolutions providing for the payment of Justices of the Peace summoned to assist in drafting panels of jurors.—Carried.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

Mr. CURRIE's resolution providing for the Election of Municipal Councillors by Wards in Townships and reducing the number, were withdrawn.

THE NOVA SCOTIA QUESTION.

Mr. BLAKE moved the following resolution:—1. "That an humble Address be presented to Her Majesty, praying that she may be graciously pleased to cause a measure to be submitted to the Imperial Parliament, for the purpose of removing all colour for the assumption by the Parliament of Canada of the power to disturb the financial relations established by the British North American Act (1867), as between Canada and the several Provinces."

This resolution was, after a long debate, carried upon a vote of 57 to 12. An Address was at once presented, adopted, and ordered to be engrossed, and the House adjourned.

THE WEATHER—THE FASHIONS—THE FIGHT BETWEEN THE TORONTO TELEGRAPH AND CORN EXCHANGE ASSOCIATION—THE TWO HEADED GIRL, ETC.

TORONTO, Dec. 1st, 1869.

Rain and snow and sleet—streets in one sea of mud, have been the order of the day for the past week; but to-day old Sol, tired of his confinement, has come out from behind the dark clouds which have obscured his face from our vision for the past week, which is the cause of no little happiness and pleasure to all Torontonians, especially to the ladies, who hail this respite with great delight, and who, if it were not for this favorable change in the weather—this cessation of "rainy tears"—would have been obliged to remain in "blissful solitude" at home during the irrepressible humidness of the past week. But to day—thanks to the genial influences of an unclouded sun—we are again greeted, on the streets, with fair and happy faces, while dainty feet trip lightly and gaily over the frozen ground.

THE FASHIONS

this fall are very neat and tasty, designed for comfort as well as display and elegance; showing that the originators did not lose sight of the health and comfort of the fair sex, as is too often the case. Burnouse cloaks are very fashionable this fall; they are made of cloth and velvet, half tight, with panniers made of velvet and trimmed with silk fringe. Some are made of velveteen, with long skirts to form the upper part of the dress. African and seal cloaks, made loose and trimmed with quilted satin, are also much worn. Ermine cloaks, dotted with swan down, and furs of the same material, are very much worn by young ladies and misses. Walking suits with trains to attach, are taking the lead, and, in every convenient case, one suit answers the purpose of a walking dress and a dinner or evening dress.—They are mostly made of black or colored silk; if made of the latter they are usually made with flounces or puffs, four or five in number, and sometimes as many as ten, on both the skirt of the dress and the train, trimmed with narrow black velvet. Hats are worn by many, but black and colored velveteens are more fashionable. The panniers are still worn very large, but the heels of the boots being lower, and not placed in the centre of the boot as formerly. The "Grecian bend" is not produced to that frightful extent that it was last summer.—The Chinoone are still worn very large, and the only change noticeable is, that they are now made of large braids. Bonnets are very small, made of velvet and trimmed with Ostrich and bird of Paradise feathers, and are worn mostly by married ladies. Some are made with velvet braids to cover the chingon. Hats are made of felt, high crowns, and trimmed with plumes; they are worn mostly by young ladies. Collars are made of lace and worn very high, same as worn by Queen Elizabeth.

A BIG FIGHT

Is waged between the Corn Exchange Association and the "Telegraph," in which, as yet, there has been no blood spilt or lives lost, but from the action of the Association yesterday afternoon, and the editorials in this morning's Telegraph, there is "danger ahead." Last Saturday the Telegraph "pitched" into the Secretary and President of the Association pretty heavily, charging them with withholding the furnish the Corn Exchange report for that paper, and inaugurating a scheme for the sale of the reports, and sundry other charges which it seems they could not digest very well, for, yesterday a resolution was passed by the Association, expelling the reporters of the Telegraph from its meetings until a proper apology is made. In answer, this morning's Telegraph in an article says:—

"Who are the persons connected with the Corn Exchange who have the unbounding impudence to dare to ask the Editor of this Journal to apologize to them for truthful and honest statements which have appeared in these columns respecting the management of their League? * * * * * * We tell this Board of Management, and its members severally and collectively, that we regard them with absolute and unmitigated contempt, and that before we have done with them, we shall make them the scorn and the by-word of the honest yeomanry of Canada, from Halifax to the sault Ste. Marie. Apologize to them! Great Jenkins! We think we see ourselves in the attitude. Again, we ask who in the name of the original Boggins, are these persons who ask us to apologize?"

The Telegraph promises two hundred and fifty thousand copies of a circular next Saturday, giving "the true history of the attempt of a certain clique of so called produce dealers in Toronto to get the better of country millers and farmers, by publishing cooked reports of the state of the market." So, you see, war has been waged with a vengeance. Who will be victorious? We shall see.

THE "TWO HEADED GIRL"

Has been on exhibition here this week, and has been seen by a large number of people. She is certainly a great "freak of nature," having but one body and two well developed heads, and four feet and four legs. She is very intelligent and good looking; speaks and sings with both heads together or separately.

ROYAL LYCEUM.

"Faust" is on the boards at the Royal Lyceum, and is meeting with great success. Crowded houses greet it every night. It is a semi spectral drama and opera. The characters are all well sustained.

"AN EVENING OF SACRED SONG."—Yesterday evening, in Dr. Alexander's Church, under the auspices of the Ellsburg Sabbath School Teachers' Union, Professor Phillips, of New York, gave "An Evening of Sacred Song," a title in every respect appropriate to the nature of the proceedings. The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. H. Hoar, after which, Mr. Phillips, who possesses a fine tenor voice of power and compass, sang several American and English sacred songs, all of which were characterized by deep religious feeling, in a very impressive manner, the deepest silence being observed on the part of the audience. He accompanied himself on Smith's American Organ. The proceedings could not fail to be instructive as well as highly interesting to all present. The church was filled to overflowing, and the large audience heartily joined, when requested, in some of the hymns, showing that they fully sympathized with Mr. Phillip's efforts. At the conclusion of the proceedings, Mr. Gifford moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Phillips, which was warmly accorded, after which the meeting separated.—Edinburg Daily Paper.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

GENTS.—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.

MESSRS. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

GENTLEMEN,—During the winter of 1858 I was very ont of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this determination into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and cheerfully recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Any Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN

RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the three chief products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other vitalizing roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Fat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care in the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent, experienced Chemists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co., so that the purest, richest, and most powerful roots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in search of the best vegetable productions to make up his Resolvent. But the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative powers of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the more than compensate for the outlay, and ever since in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound, strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful within, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CURES SCROFULA, TUMOR-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptions and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat, and Skin and body.
It increases the vital heat and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the waste.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It cures Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, and Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Sores.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the winter climate agreeable.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those who, from any weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted.
It exercises a wonderful and specific influence in change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however exposed to disease, however reduced, in whom nutrition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, still capable of sustaining the regenerative power of RADWAY'S but can be either restored to health, or the waste and destructive elements stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system. Examine your urine, and if the KIDNEYS are other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions corrupted and contaminated, altered beyond the curative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to serve perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, new repairs will occur in the wasted parts, and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Brights' disease of the KIDNEYS, Stomach and Stomach, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of depositing from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and in a short time, become more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tubercle matter and other elements of disease, which in a healthy state will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will regain their proper constituent secretions. Instead of living life, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the System through their proper channels. If vacidence fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ of secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored. Any one suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important result that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agent advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids will surely set the living body with repairs, will so change the system with such constitutional vigor, and so stimulate the dead and decomposing matter, and sweep it by the glands with sound and living strength, vascularized by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during the process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it conveys to such parts of the system where ordering in the circulation, it exterminates every form of virus from the blood, and removes every vestige of deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of Mercury, Contagious Blood Poisons, Abuse of Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Bichloride of Mercury, or other agent that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or joints, and which make a miserable family complicated that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Cancer in its worst forms Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the most worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principles are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power over them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are inconvenienced by Stoppage of Water, the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through its use.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side. Had resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided, with Radway's Pills and Radway's Relief. It used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., was one of the knowledges of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Pile Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats, Bleeding from the Lungs cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WINDSOR STATION, Ontario, Canada West,
March 15, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, debility, and threatening Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FIRELAND.

N B—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the Physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER, Killing and Dressing Hogs.

The following may furnish a 'wrinkle' for some of our country readers who bring pork to market:

The butcher, standing over the hog which is laid on its back, left hand on the nose, edge of the knife towards the hog, cuts both arteries—three inches being sufficient, more being better—bleeding being the main point. Scald—two logs to one kettle of water; soft, and not too hot, or it would curdle the blood. As soon as scalded, throw a bucket of cold water over the hog, to whiten the skin.—Hang up, wash and scrape thoroughly, take out entrails, and then remove heart, liver and windpipe. The pork should be slightly salted for two or three days, skinned it down, and covered with salt, a medium sized ham taking 30 days. Brine should be brought to a scald first, but used cold and preserved—old brine being the best. Coarse salt is the best; that which has stood some time at the bottom of the barrel is unsafe, and therefore should not be used. Proportion—8 lbs of salt, 5 lbs of sugar, ½ lb of saltpetre, per 100 pounds is the general recipe.

A patient is most unquestionably in a very bad way when his disease is acute, and his doctor isn't.

What new London improvement reminds you of a submarine cable? 'A vire ducked,' replied a cockney.

LITERARY.—The 'iron age' of literature was when Steele flourished. The 'golden age' was in the time of Goldsmith.

THE BENT OF FASHION.—The 'Grecian' Bend is a most remarkable institution. Why, it makes even single ladies walk double!

As a good sign of sanitary reform, the town council of Leith have ordered nine thousand six hundred birch brooms, but they don't mention whether the schoolmaster or the scavenger is to have the first use of them.

During the dull season a certain manager has issued such a number of his autographs in order to ensure a proper filling of his house, that he has in playfulness conferred on it the nickname of the Orfertorium.

An old lady put on her specks and taking a village newspaper, the first thing which caught her eyes was the heading of a political article, 'which read—"Illinois moving." Blow my soul!" said the good old dame, "I hope it won't move on my son William's farm on the border of Indiana."

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with nasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, Hair Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but effectual purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always —that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we do not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them forever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken, to regulate the action of the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic, and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstruction which causes it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, FRIDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 3, 1869. No. 183.

Wooden Railways.

The Committee on Wooden Railways met in No. 10 Committee Room, Dec. 1st, at 11 a. m. Mr. Carnegie in the chair. The following members were present:—Hon. Mr. McMurrich, Messrs. Craig (Russell) Barber, Cockburn, Williams (Durham), Cumberland, Sinclair, Calvin, Hooper, Graham (Hastings), Greely, Dr. Boulter and McGill.

Mr. Foster was called to explain his system of wooden block railway track. He said the advantages to be derived from the placing of the blocks with ends upwards was, that the rail resisted the wear and tear of the engine. The rail was also covered with pitch, which, when ground into the rail, would help to make it more durable and to fill up interstices. The dry wood pins driven through the end of each block would compress the blocks so that even though there was a possibility of the wood shrinking afterwards, it would not affect the durability of the rail. The resistance of wood endways was superior to iron or any other material used in railway tracks. He had proved this by experiment. The cost of a railway constructed in this way would exceed that of a wooden railway made in any other way; but it would be well worth the extra cost to secure a durable track. The covering of the rail with pitch would render it impervious to the action of the weather.

Hon. Mr. McMurrich suggested that there might be a danger of shaking the rail by the passage over it of heavily laden trains.

Mr. Foster said no such result had attended the experiments so far made. The blocks remained perfectly solid, and were not crushed by the pressure of trains.

Dr. Boulter asked if this system of rail-ways had been adopted anywhere yet.

Mr. Foster said it had been tried in the Province of Quebec on a small scale.

The Chairman wished to know what would be the comparative cost between this block rail and the straight wooden rail.

Mr. Foster said he had never made an estimate; but the cost of the block rail was $1 per yard, or $1,760 per mile. Of course, it would cost more than a simple straight rail. There was a decided gain over the iron rails in ascending grades. On the Clifton line there were grades of over 300 feet to the mile. The adhesion of a block wooden rail was twenty-five per cent greater than that of the horizontal rail, that was to say, if the same piece of maple were laid horizontally, the adhesion would not be 1-5th as great as if it had been placed endways, and therefore the block rail would carry 1-5th more.

Dr. Boulter wished to know if the wooden road in Quebec was perfectly level.

Mr. Foster said it had never been touched since it was laid down, and never had ballast laid under it. In fact it was almost laid down in the mud. Of course there were soft places in the road the same as in iron rails. The dampness in the atmosphere seemed to be sufficient to keep the blocks from opening.

Hon. Mr. McMurrich wished to know if the blocks should all be of the same kind of wood.

Mr. Foster said one piece was maple, another oak, another elm or some other kind of wood; it was difficult to get all maple.

Hon. Mr. McMurrich said his reason for asking this question was, that it might be possible that if the blocks were of different kinds of wood, one would wear out much faster than another. It would be well to bring out this point clearly.

Mr. Foster, in reply to Mr. Cumberland, said he would not mix woods if he could avoid it. He considered maple best.—Rock elm was also good; so was beech, but it did not last long.

Mr. Calvin—Red beech will last as long as oak.

Mr. Foster continued—The wooden railway near Montreal had proved very durable. About thirty trains passed over it every day, and he was satisfied that the experiment had proved a complete success.

Mr. Cumberland supposed that the blocks would depreciate in the same per centage as iron rails. He meant to say that whilst, perhaps, three or four blocks might last three years, the next block might not last one year.

Mr. Foster—The wood might be chosen so as to make the track as uniform as iron.

Mr. Cumberland said, even in iron rails, from the same rolling mill, there was a difference. It was impossible to get a track perfectly uniform. In the system of Mr. Foster, the blocks were united so as to form a continuous line, and were kept firm by pins. If it were found necessary to remove an unsound block, and replace it with a sound one, he wished to know if it would not be an expensive operation?

Mr. Foster said there was very little expense attending such an operation. The pin could be bored out. In fact, in many instances it would be found necessary to bore it out, as he had found it to be the case in repairing the Industry and Lanora Road. The pins were found to be as solid as the wood itself.

The Chairman—You have seen the Clifton Railway. What is your opinion of the results of that line?

Mr. Foster replied that the results were most extraordinary. The grades on that line were the steepest in the world, and yet no difficulty had been found in ascending them. The system which he now submitted would produce even greater results, for it was obvious that his line was more adhesive than the horizontal line. The gain would be about one fourth more. He did not believe it was necessary to have the blocks cut a great length of time before laying them, because even though they should shrink, the patch would work into the interstices and keep the blocks close. He thought a line constructed on the system now submitted would last about six years. The cost per mile per annum for keeping it in repair would not be much, because the men employed on the line could manage it. A carpenter could make all the repairs needed. He did not consider it any disadvantage to have the blocks narrow. It added very little to the cost of laying them, the boring being done by machinery. The curvatures and longitudinals were cut before laying them. The points were made of flat steel. All the work, excepting the points, was laid on wood. There was no doubt that an iron rail was better. The object of the wooden railway was simply to give a cheap line where an iron rail could not be laid. Not only was the wooden rail cheaper than iron, but the grading cost less. That should be borne in mind, for the grading was the great item in constructing a road.

Mr. Cumberland wished to know if the cost of a strap rail of iron on the horizontal wooden rail would greatly exceed the cost of the block wooden rail.

Mr. Foster said that experiment had been tried, and it was found that the iron strip alone cost within a trifle of $1 per yard, or nearly the same as the entire cost of his system. The strip rail in the case mentioned was an inch thick and two and a-half in breadth. It was found that a thinner strip would not stand the traffic. It curved up and broke in a short time, and was found to be useless.

The Chairman wished to refer to a pamphlet issued in 1845 on this question, in which it was stated that the "bite" of the wooden rail (Croziers' system) was double that of the iron rail.

Mr. J. B. Hulbert who is now building the Quebec and Gosford Railway, was next called. He produced the models,—one of a simple straight rail, fastened at the ends like the ordinary iron rail; the other was a compound rail, with the end of each rail overlapping the next. The wood was hard maple, and the cost of the superstructure and ballast per mile would amount to about $1,200. The cost of the manufacture of the rails, ties and wedges were about $600 per mile. The ties which he found best were tamarack and hemlock. The gauge he spoke of was four feet eight and a half inches. To increase the gauge to five feet six inches would add about twenty per cent to the cost. He did not approve of a narrow-gauge, for the embankment was not likely to stand. He found the four feet eight inches in all cases the best suited for the country. Taking the average of the whole road he believed a wooden rail would last for about five years. The average speed on such a road was about ten miles per hour, but it could be increased to thirty miles. He had used an engine of 23 tons weight on such a road. He did not believe a wooden rail was equal to an iron rail. The Gosford wooden railway now in course of construction would be completed in the spring. The highest grade on the Clifton Railway was 330 feet. The whole secret of keeping those railways was to keep them in a good state of preservation, but if the repairs were not promptly attended to they would soon become as bad as the Grand Trunk Railway. (Laughter.) The cost of keeping up the road was about $250 per year. A good sound maple rail would stand any ordinary traffic for four years. The ties were laid about six-teen inches apart, and the flat on the side touching the ground, and round on the upper side. The advantage of the compound rail prevented them from wearing at the ends. He found too it kept the rails more smooth. The additional cost of the compound rail was was about two hundred dollars, which was principally caused by the iron bolts used in joining. A wooden road had an equal capacity for trains with an iron road. He offered to construct one in Missouri, which would carry 2,000 tons per day. He found some difficulty from snow and ice in winter, but no greater than if the rails were iron. He believed there was no greater difference between the five ton car and the ten ton car, in fact the advantage lay with the latter in carrying lumber, for the weight was distributed over a greater space. He calculated the average load to a train at two tons to two and a half per pair of wheels. After the road was built, he considered that, running eight trains over it per day, it required one man per to miles. On the Clifton road it required one man per mile, but the road was constructed for a ten ton engine; but they are now using engines weighing twenty tons. The country through which the Gosford road was to run was smoother than the country through which the Clifton road runs. The Gosford line would cost about $4,000 per mile. This included the grading track, water tanks turn-tables and switches. He did not consider the wooden road any more liable to accidents than the iron. He had never seen an accident on one. He generally loaded a train heavier with lumber than with ore, for it was not such a dead weight. He did not consider it advisable to use an iron strap on a rail. Where the experiment had been tried on ordinary grades it had not proved successful. At curves it might be an advantage, but at such places he believed it would be better to lay the rails oftener. The Wooden Railways with which he had been connected had paid the companies to which he belonged. He related his experience of the Clifton Railway, with which he had been connected. When he constructed that line, the shares sold at $2; and when he had left they sold at $14. Since he had left it, however it had been handed over to inexperienced persons, and it was not paying so well. Another Wooden Railway was in course of construction from Carthage, to interest the Clifton line. His experience in building car wheels was to make them large. When he commenced he made small wheels, weighing 125 pounds, but experience proved to him that larger wheels were better, and he now used wheels three feet in diameter weighing 450 lbs., and he found they could carry twenty per. cent. more freight. The rolling stock of the wooden Railway could be made available for an iron track. He did not find the curves cut by the running of the trains. He had improved the wheel by placing a piece of rubber in the flange. The largest locomotive on the Clifton road cost $9,500, American currency in Erie. The 18 feet, platform, four-wheeled car, cost $225; the same car with eight wheels would cost about $600.

The Committee adjourned at 1. p.m. till 11 o'clock next day.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, DEC. 3.

Our Paris Letter.—We draw attention to an interesting letter from Paris in to-day's issue, and from arrangements made, expect to receive one every week.

Literary and Scientific Lectures.—Owing to Ontario Hall being engaged on Thursday evening, 9th inst., President Carman's lecture will be delivered on Tuesday evening, the 7th inst.

Missionary Meeting.—The annual Missionary Meeting in connection with the John Street Presbyterian Church, will be held on Monday evening next, the 6th December. The occasion will be one of considerable interest, as in addition to resident ministers, Rev. W. Gregg, of Toronto, will be present to address the meeting.

Philip Phillips.—This vocalist, says the Dublin Register, appeared last evening in the Metropolitan Hall, and delighted his audience by singing several of his sacred songs which have rendered him so popular in America. Mr. Phillip's talent in this particular line of vocalism fully merits the enconiums which have been bestowed upon it. Mr. Phillip's will sing in the Wesleyan Church, this Friday evening, Dec. 3.

Good Templars Tea Meeting took place on Wednesday evening, according to announcement, and was a success in every thing but numbers, there being we are sorry to state, rather a small attendance. Every thing went off well, the music, vocal and instrumental, being excellent and the speeches and readings short and interesting. A considerable quantity of provisions remaining untouched, a Social was held on the following evening which was very well attended. This experience, though disagreeable, may serve a good purpose in showing the Temperance people that there is still a great amount of apathy on the subject, and that vigorous work is still required.

Renfrew Elections.—The latest advices from Renfrew shew that Murray has been elected. The Globe's report state Murray's majority is made up of 80 votes in Algona, in which township, by the last revised assessment roll, there are but 5, and that the same kind of voting was enacted in the Township of Head. The Leader, on the other hand, claims a majority for Murray of from 5 to 10, even if the votes given in Algona and Head are struck out altogether. Both parties however claim the election, and no matter which of these gentlemen is declared elected by the returning officer, a protest is likely to follow. But as there are but two years to elapse before another election, the man who gets the seat will be likely to keep it until a dissolution.

United States and France.

The President of the United States has issued a proclamation respecting reciprocal trade between France and the United States. "It declares that inasmuch as the "French Government has discontinued the "levying of duties on merchandise import-"ed into France in vessels of the United "States, whether from the countries of its "origin or from other countries, so in like "manner all discriminating duties hereto-"fore levied upon merchandise imported "into the United States in French vessels, "whether from the country, of its origin, "or from any other country shall be "abolished." A cotemporary asks why the same policy is not pursued in reference to Canada? The reason is obvious. The Americans have ever been anxious and desirous of retaining the friendship of France, while their feelings towards everything British has been of the most intense jealousy and dislike; hence we believe, it is not only futile, but absolutely humiliating to keep continually knocking at their door for favors, whether it be for receprocity or anything else.

Masonic.

The following were elected officers of Bellevile Lodge last evening for the ensuing year:—

Bro. D. Pitceathly, W. M.
" Jas. Smith, S. W.
" W. A. Shepard, J. W.
" Geo. Ritchie, Treas.
" J. P. Thomas, Secretary.
" Rev. J. Wild, Chaplain.
" D. Urquhart, Tyler.

The Assault Case.

Yesterday Joseph Catterack, James Bulger and Robert McCormick were arraigned before the Judge. Hon. Judge Sherwood, in pursuance of the "Act for the speedy trial of persons charged with felonies and misdemeanors" to stand their trial for an aggrevated assault upon John Bennett. One of the prisoners Bulger, demanded a trial by a jury, which he was entitled to under the Act. The Judge remanded him to jail until the sittings of the General Sessions. The other two prisoners pleaded "not guilty."

C. L. Coleman, Esq., on behalf of the Crown, briefly addressed the Court; referred to the night of assault, the circumstances connected with it, and the serious results to Bennett.

The evidence given on the part of the Crown was the same, with very little difference, as published in the Intelligencer taken before the Police Magistrate. At the close of the case on the part of the Crown, the counsel for McCormick urged that the Crown had failed to prove him guilty, and therefore he was entitled to his discharge. After some little argument the Judge recorded "Not Guilty," and discharged McCormick.

Counsel for Catterack then called McCormick as witness; his evidence went to show that all parties were drunk; that he acted as a friend of Bennett; that he parted Bennett and Catterack once before that night, and that the fight between Bennett and Catterack was a mutual or understood thing between them; that he pulled Catterack off Bennett and Bulger pitched on to him (McCormick), and they tussled together; that the reason he left when Taylor and R. B. Bennett came, was, that he did not think Bennett was hurt badly, and as it was a drunken row he did not want to be seen in it.

R. P. Jellett, who acted as Catterack's Counsel, appealed to the Judge, saying that as it was a drunken row between the parties, and as Bennett had been to blame, that the sentence of the Court should be very light. He then read a petition signed by some of the leading men, asking leniency. The Judge found him guilty, and ordered him to pay a fine of $5, in default 30 days in jail. Catterack paid the Sheriff the fine, and was discharged. R. P. Jellett, Esq., Counsel for Catterack. W. J. Diamond, Counsel for McCormick.

Latest from Red River.

The Globe's telegram from St. Pauls give us the following:—

St. Paul, Minnesota, Dec. 2.

A letter, just received, dated Winnepeg, 16th November, says:

"The council called by the half breeds met to day. The attendance was not large.

"After a short time spent mostly in private consultation, it adjourned till November 18th.

"Copies of Governor McTavish's proclamation, issued at Winnepeg, 16th November, in the French and English languages, were circulated among those present, and produced a marked effect.

"Business is at a stand still; but little trade going on, and there is great scarcity of money among the people, who begin seriously to reflect on the consequences of the insurrection."

The letter proceeds:

"A careful estimate shows only 500 men engaged in the insurrection, 300 of them armed. They have ceased to interfere with the mails or private business, and the majority of the people await the decisive movement on one side or the other.

"In answer to an address, signed by a large number of influential inhabitants asking him to warn the insurgents against their present course, Mr. McTavish issued a proclamation, dated November 16th, denouncing the seizures by the insurgents of public and private property, their interference with the mails and travellers, and other acts against the peace of the country; and charges those engaged in the insurrection before it be too late to peaceably disperse, under the penalties of the law; and call upon the citizens to ratify and proclaim this protest with all their voice and power, in order to avert threatened danger.

From Our Paris Correspondent.

Paris, Nov. 20th, 1869.

It never rains but it pours. A few days ago the Left gave us their manifesto, and welcomed the converted Irreconcilables, as repentant sinners deserved. To day the news is, that the Emperor will present the new Chamber with a new Cabinet, of which Emile Ollivier will be the guide, philosopher and friend. Such a solution—and the only one practicable, will be the salvation of the country, and prove a new lease to the second Empire. The revolutionists may now be regarded as having given their last cut—their liberty which claimed to be the right of doing everything the law prohibited, has been scouted—its representative—Rochefort—will become the Deputy of ridicule, and in the Corps Legislatif he will be but the fixed figure for scorn to point his slow unmoving finger at. He will find his new journal about being started—the Marseillaise—a chant du Depart. The good people have separated from the bad—have resolved to conquer their liberties in their legislative chamber by loyal and free discussion—the true arm of modern civilization and the rightful weapon of universal suffrage. The Emperor is only too anxious to meet his censors on this ground. He desires not, because he could not, to resist the popular demands. Take them, but legally, and in a constitutional manner - but you must not beard the Douglas in his hall. Such is his view.

Napoleon will come to Paris on Sunday and remain till Tuesday, when the elections will be over. He will thus be on the spot should any disorder arise—but such are not now anticipated. There appear to be no Falstaffs to march through Coventry, and what between voting for men who decline to be respresentatives, and declining to ballot for those who do, there is a prospect, after all the tapage we have had of the elections becoming null, and a falling back on a second scrutiny. The military preparations will be ready against all eventualities, as the ever sworn foe—the foreign enemy—might present himself if the authorities slumbered at their vigils.

One of the standing evils of France is the centralization of all those matters that in other countries are left to local efforts in the hands of the Government, and there is a growing feeling that among the earliest liberties required, is that of education. France has taken steps towards adopting Free Education in her elementary schools, but this is not enough—it should be emancipated from Government control. In the face of a population that would not contribute the funds to support primary instruction, the State cannot be blamed for stepping in. In the case of the other two degrees of official education—that of the Lyceums and Universities, the desire for reforms has more reason in its favor. You cannot obtain a professor without taking what the State offers, and people wish to exercise the same liberty towards that individual as they do respecting doctors and lawyers. The Government will not permit citizens to found free Universities along side those of the State. In the early days of the Second Empire, Napoleon wished to attract Agassiz, the celebrated naturalist, to France, who, a Swiss by birth, emigrated about 1847 to the United States. He was promised the succession of the chair occupied by Cuvier, and a Senatorship. He declined. He preferred Harvard and Cambridge, where he was not obliged to be accountable either to the State or to the Church for his theories. This freedom is demanded in France, where to make good citizens, it is first best to make them men—Sometime ago a distinguished writer desired to lecture in a sort of Free Institution, founded in Paris, on French literature of the eighteenth century, but the minister of Public Instruction would not grant the permission. Great minds in France are extinct or silent—and she has to seek them to day in Germany, England and America.

The most remarkable feature in the Spanish question is, the revival of the Prince of Asturias. This is well known to be the Emperor's solution. His only draw back is to be a Bourbon, and for his mother's faults he is to be deprived of his birth-right. Prim will neither submit the question of the Republic to a plebiscite, nor permit the claims of young Alphonse to be discussed. Yet people are coming round to the opinion, that fault of a Republic, he is the only possible King, and under a judicious Regency could be made a good one. As for the prospects of the Duke of Genoa, they are not bright, and the sooner he is "scratched," for the race the better. The Duke of Montpensier threatens to publish the "promises" of the men now foremost in Spain, to place him on the throne. This does not look as if his chances were flourishing. Don Carlos remains quietly in Switzerland, ready to join "all the Talents," when a king is chosen. He causes some confusion among the Hidalyos by creating titles for his followers.

As Victor Emmanuel has been for several years married to his fair Rosalind, there was obviously no necessity for his re-marrying the Countess Rosine. A great number of persons are naturally surprised how an "ex communicated" could receive the last Sacraments of the Church. It appears that the king's confessor telegraphed to Rome for "orders," and Pio Nino temporarily raised the blockade. The king, however, remains under the bar, like a criminal condemned to death, but whose execution is respited. If able, he will endeavor to have an interview with that other vagabond from the church, the Emperor Francis Joseph. Thus these two great enemies will mingle, and be at peace.

Next week the Empress expects to return to the Plaisant Pays de France. The Emperor is not at all pleased with despatches he has received during his sojourn in Egypt. No one knows yet, if it is the Sultan, the Khidire, the Duke of Suez, or the Canal, be the cause of Cæsar's frown.

The Mediterranean is no longer a French Lake. That great work—the dream of many minds for ages past, and first undertaken by King Norhos, 630 years before Jesus Christ—the Suez Canal is a fait accompli. Two seas—two worlds—are to day united by the separation of two continents, and the 17th November, 1869, will rank as the apogee in the engineering audacities of the nineteenth century. To bring places nearer to each other—to invent new means of locomotion, is good, but to annihilate, by correcting the work of the Creator, partakes of the marvelous. The French press is busily "sounding the loud timbrel o'er Egypt's dark sea," and in the spirit of God said, "Let Newton be!" and all was light.

It honors Lesseps. Perfide Albion, comes in for several sarcasms at her want of faith, and de mortuis nil nisi bonum is forgotten in the case of "Old Pam." The French exult that the enterprise was conceived by one of their own countrymen, and executed by their capital. It was in 1854, when M. De Lesseps was Consul at Alexandria, "that he conceived his great project, but it will be no detraction from his fame to state, that if it were not for the more than patronage of Napoleon the III., he might be Consul still.—Strange admission of M. De Lesseps—or rather now of his Grace—that it is his own Government that is placing obstacles in the way of drafting a cosmopolitan Zollverein to work the project. The Viceroy had done all that man can do, but is powerless before the opposition of France. It will be odd, if after the Te Deum, and Mussulmen's prayers, to bless and protect the work, the Emperor's heart would continue hardened like Pharaoh's of old. We all hope that the Canal will not prove a back-slider in the way of silting up, and that the share-holders may long live to experience, at least "the elegant simplicity of the three per cents."

It is not a bad arrangement in the electoral laws of France which insists on a clear space of a week to intervene between the cessation of the husting addresses and the balloting. Volcanic Spirits cool down. Indeed, it is a positive relief to have the parodies of 1793 ended, and the Jacobin bunkum stopped.—The last two days of their existence they were not quite so rabid. A man could speak without being devoured, and advocate the Saint he adored with whispering humbleness. Voltaire observed, that pure democracy is the despotism of the Canaille, and the late electoral reunions did not weaken his "saw." The respectable citizens—the reserve force of the nation's common sense and moral worth—avoided these meetings as they would a pest house. If they did not apprehend being massacred, they were certain to be calumniated—and they had no inclination to part with that "immediate jewel of their souls"—a good name. The doctrine of non-juring candidates divided the house of the revolutionists for some time. Ledru-Rollin was the Peter the Hermit in the crusade, and agreed to stand a ballot, on the understanding he was to "Swear not at all." As he has withdrawn, the doctrine may be considered dead. Adding another to his many political mistakes. In France oaths are taken by uplifting the right arm. Well, a spectator at a meeting proposed to cut the Gordian knot, by being himself elected—as he had no arms! One of the most whimsical of books could be made out from a collection of the several candidate's placarded addresses. The millenium would be nothing to the world's bliss to be effected by selecting Brown, Jones or Robinson. One unfortunate has just issued his proclamation, on the stroke of the twelfth hour. He opens with a quotation from the Gospel—Chapter and Verse—that the last shall be first, and among other claims on the gratitude of his fellow-citizens is the assertion of his having cured the potatoe disease—the one as Halloway says of bad legs, "of long standing." He gently alludes to his melting charity—possibly some new Borribooly Gha, on the banks of another Niger. There is an evident falling off in the enthusiasm for Rochfort. Fifteen days of constancy is an eternity in the character of a Frenchman. No doubt he will be returned—the greatest political Barnum France ever produced—and will illustrate what he wrote when a simple "gentleman in the shade," that "a Deputy is capable of anything."

The Princess Marguerite, by presenting Naples with a Prince, seems to have turned the heads of the inhabitants. Like poor Marie Antoinette, she has under her eyes, 100,000 lovers. Limited in amount as is her pin money, she has, as a thank-offering, intimated that she would redeem from the pawn-offices, all pledges under ten francs. As a proof of "how sweet the love that meets return," the lozzaroni swarmed to visit their Uncles. While in the neighborhood of the Mont de-Piste, I am reminded of a well-known Parisian, who, having came in for a wind fall, invested at once, in a very loud "new chain and watch," boasting to his friends that it must be a "thing of beauty," as he never passed by a pawn broker's shop that the employees did not rush to the windows to look at it.

Nice is extremely full this season, and it is difficult to decide whether Americans or Russians are the more numerous. The mania for building houses has taken possession of the worthy Nicois, but has not had the effect of lowering rents. All this has been attributed to Baron Haussmann, who has a 'box' in the neighborhood, as the Chief of the Police is accused of getting up all the rows in Paris. The presence of the Emperor of Russia and Napoleon will add to the attractions of this 'winter at Nice.' Paris caterers of public pleasures are up and doing, to take this favorite hibernating station by storm. In Paris the 'world' is beginning to show. One meets with in the theatre or at the Bois, familiar faces, and country cousins are disappearing. As usual the Americans and Russians have been the first to open their salons; the English generally wait till after Christmas. Prince Napoleon, who is not very hospitable, (he wants a little more of the filthy lucre to be so), has commenced his two weekly dinners. He and the Princess are not fond of society. His wife is the pattern of every domestic virtue. She is very devout, very superstitious, like all the members of her family. Her name is hardly ever mentioned in the fashionable world—the very best evidence of her excellence.

Duelling shows no signs of abatement; if anything, it is becoming a serious matter. Pistols are not yet fashionable, as they mean work. A writer, who rejoices in the pseudonym of 'O'Squar,' (and it is droll the run there is on fictitious signatures of English origin or Irish parentage), differed with an engraver in a caf on the duties of seconds, which resulted in their both becoming principals the next morning in the wood at Vesinet. After M. O'Squar had received seven inches of cold steel in the chest, both antagonists became sworn friends.

Thanks to a vigilant supervision, there is not much done in the way of adulteration of food in Paris. It is inspected before it enters the city, and again when it reaches the wholesale market. All cattle have to run the gauntlet before being allowed the honors of the slaughter-house, and the carcasses are stamped on leaving. We have no silicated town-suet for butter, and Dr. Hassal's occupation is nearly gone; the grocers are honest men, like Paddy's acquaintance, when well watched. It appears that 6,400,000 cows yield the milk supply of France; producing on an average each per day, 2½ quarts. It is only in the country towns that the cow with the iron tail performs her fantastic tricks. Paris receives its supply chiefly through the means of great companies that forward it by train. A few cans are opened to test the cream strength, and are delivered at the Dairies, sealed like a registered letter. If present at the 'breaking of the seals,' one can calculate on purity, and be saved Liston's anxiety, who approached the dairy-man with a jug in each hand, one for the water and the other for the milk, reserving to himself the right to mix.

Lamartine's 'Memoirs' are announced; just like the new 'Trauppmann buttons.' The greatest wonder about the matter is that he has anything new to relate about himself. During his life-time he apparently exhausted all such resources.

One of the causes of Father Hyacinthe's heresy may be traced to his refusal to read all the letters addressed to him. After his sermon every Sunday during Advent, he was inundated with epistles. He said it would be too hard upon him to have to read for a week, for preaching for an hour.

M. Guizot, as Chief Rabbi of the French Protestants, is again engaged with the Council of State, in a difference with some of the parishioners. He is consoled by the fact that the Bishop of Beauvais is at loggerheads with some of his faithful also.

A French journal announces that for the future it will send the day after publication, all its unsold copies to those who apply for them. The paper ought to have the "largest circulation in the world.

A monster Soup Kitchen will be shortly opened in this city, and free to all comers. The expenses of the charity will be defrayed by the Emperor, and the great officers of his household.

Dr. Ricord has been presented by the Emperor with a snuff box enriched with diamonds. He is likely to be a pinch above this, by being made a Senator.

A few American paterfamiliares are putting their heads together, to found a first class American College. The idea is excellent, and the want for such an institution exists.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARER & CO.,

GENTS.—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate membranes with which it passes, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,

A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits before it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before doing so, as a last resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Hartley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief from the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Prepared by SETH W. FOWLE & SON, Boston, and for sale by Druggists generally. 42-1m 181

Grace's celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of its Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

Victor Emmanuel's Confession.

The illness, which exhibited the most alarming symptoms of a pulmonites in a man who had already an affection of the heart, assumed most alarming proportions on the evening of Friday and all Saturday. On the evening of the last day the medical men did not conceal their apprehension that the regular patient might not survive the night, and a attack of syncope about midnight left them little hope of his recovery. Professor Ciprani, of Florence then gave him a glass of wine, and it is certain that from that moment the improvement set in which still continues. As early as Friday evening, his Majesty having been informed by his physician of the serious character of his illness, determined to perform his religious devotions whilst his mind was calm and serene. He begged that a messenger might be despatched to the Archbishop for a priest. The wife of one of the physicians was attended him conveyed to Archbishop Corsi the wishes of the King. The prelate first thought of Canon Ibragis, and then, finding he was from Pisa, sent the reverend President of the Pisa Hospital, who on his arrival, found that his Majesty was somewhat relieved, and the confession was delayed. On the Saturday evening he was ready to confess, and the Archbishop despatched the priest Rosai with full powers to absolve his Majesty from the spiritual censures which according to the views of these reverend personages, he might have incurred. On Sunday morning there was administered the Sacrament of the Eucharist, in the presence of Princess Humbert and Carignono, and it was received by his Majesty with profound devotion. As the lungs now began to be somewhat relieved from the oppression which during the previous night had threatened to prove fatal, as perspiration and symptoms of an eruption were visible, the physicians replaced the priest by the bedside of the patient.—The following may be accepted as an exact version of the relations which took place between his Majesty and the Church. The priest, before spsolving the King, told him that it was necessary he should make an abjuration of the offences which he had committed against the Church. His Majesty replied: "As a Christian, I have lived in the faith of my forefathers, and am prepared to die in the same; as a king, imitating the example of my forefathers. I have done what my conscience as a sovereign commanded me to do for my country. I have always distinguished my obligations as a king from my duties as a Christian; as king I have no abjuration to make." The priest, confused by this reply, administered the Sacrament, but on his return to Pisa, and reporting to Cardinal Corsi, the Archbishop, what had happened, he was blamed, and enjoined, on pain of Church censures, to return to San Rossore and demand the abjuration. He again obeyed, and, returning to the couch of the sick man, delivered his message. Then the King told him: "If you come here to speak to a Christian of his approaching end, I will listen to you with calmness and with gratitude; but if you require to speak about politics, my ministers are in room. The reverend priest made his way back to Pisa.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any more so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have used it, tell that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always when the record is not through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate mildly but powerfully on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—restless the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derange ments are the first origins of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstruction which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression, a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. For when body is rendered healthy, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him actually decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the native curative properties of the most active products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Life-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care in the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively by Dr. Radway & Co., so that no spurious admixtures or worthless root can possibly be introduced.

It bears Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone but the wonderful healing power it has secured in the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine has a single remedy been so completely built up, repaired, and makes sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their system are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decomposition stopped, and the elements of decay that are sapping away life, eliminated from the System.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS and other organs are wasted away, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of nature to stay and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live and perform their functions so matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this disease and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the waste and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA. Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Scrofulous Glands or Bowels, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in his health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure and vitalized, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its ambient constituents, the symptoms of Consumption and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will search their proper channels of outlet. Instead of Ulceration, the Tuberculic Juice will other flesh forming, elements in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. It matters little in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ to secretion required in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored; and no remedy for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important result so far surpasses or exceed all those remedial agent, advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones therein and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairs, will so change the system with such constituents as to resolve and excrete from the blood and decomposing matter, and supply the place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and the specific action they undergo in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and renders all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific contagion, as Small Pox or Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other poisons that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat mouth, Tumors, Boils in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Stubborn Blotches on the face, Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworms, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle are within the curative power of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease its power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are incovenienced by Mercury, Copaiba, Balsam, or Injurious Drugs, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, side, with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief, and used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, Vermont, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, nearly a year old, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting animal object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDEN STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 31, 1868.

DR RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was unable to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use a bottle and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I am, &c.,

The River of Time.

BY B. F. TAYLOR.

O! a wonderful stream is the river of Time,
As it runs through the realm of tears,
With a faultless rythm and a musical rhyme,
And a broad'sing sweep and a surge sublime,
That blends with the ocean of years.

How the waters are drifting like flakes of snow,
And the summers like buds between,
And the year is the shelf, so they come and go
On the river's breast, with its ebb and flow,
As it glides through the shadow and sheen.

There's a musical isle in the river of Time,
Where the softest of airs are playing;
There's a cloudless sky and tropical clime,
And a song as sweet as a vesper chime,
When the Junes with the roses are staying.

And the name of this isle is the Long Ago,
And we bury our treasures there;
There are brows of beauty and bosoms of snow,
There are heaps of dust, but we love them so!
There are trinkets and tresses of hair.

There are fragments of songs that nobody sings,
And a part of an infant's prayer;
There's a lute unswept, and a harp without strings,
There are broken vows, and pieces of rings,
And the garments it used to wear.

There are hands that are waved when the fairy shore
By the mirage is lifted in air;
As we sometimes hear through the turbulent roar
Sweet voices we heard in days gone before,
When the wind down the river is fair.

Oh! remembered for aye be that blessed isle,
All the days of life until night—
When the evening come, with its beautiful smile,
And our eyes are closed to slumber awhile,
May the Greenwood of soul be in sight.

For Me?

In the hymn which was sung when papa prayed in the morning, were two lines which Bell kept in mind:

"There is a cross for every one,
And there's a cross for me."

'For me?' asked Bell; 'me, myself mamma?'

'Yes,' said mamma. 'Then where is it?' asked Bell: 'I never saw it.' 'In this room, I guess,' said mamma. Bell looked round upon the wall, down on the floor, in this corner, in that—no cross that she could see at all. 'What is it like?' asked Bell.

'Is it doing right for Jesus' sake, when it is hard to do right,' said mamma. 'Oh, it is pearst to do right,' cried little Bell quickly. 'Is it real pearst;' no hard at all, mamma; no cross for me,' said the child, shaking her head and looking straight into mamma's eyes. Mamma smiled, and patted the curly pate.

Pretty soon Bell found her way out in the barn, where Tom and his two cousins were making things. Tom had a box of tools, and that was fun enough.

After a while Tom came into the house dragging Bell by the hand, who was kicking and struggling to get free. 'Mother,' said Tom, in great excitement, 'Bell plagues us very much. She keeps snatching things. She has thrown my new bird cage out of the barn window, and broke it.'

'Bell!' exclaimed mamma, 'our Bell!'

'Yes, mamma, your Bell. You can't think how she behaves.'

'Of course she is sorry for such conduct,' Bell shook her head.

'Oh,' said mamma, 'you found your cross out in the barn, and did not take it up.' The little head went down, and her eyes looked straight at the tips of the toes. Mamma talked a few words; then she was silent, and kept on her sewing. Bell was silent too; up in the corner.

'Are you not sorry for making yourself so unkind and disagreeable to your dear brother and cousin?' asked mamma in a little while. 'I sorry,' said a very small voice, 'but I s'a'n't tell'em so.'

'Poor little girl!' said mamma, 'you have found a little cross, and will not carry it for Jesus. 'I am sorry, Tom,' is the little cross' name. Is it too hard and too heavy to carry out into the barn?' The Lord Jesus will help every child to bear its cross.'

Ah, Bell was mistaken in finding doing p'easant. It is hard sometimes. There are little crosses and great crosses all along the way; but if we take them up and try to carry them they grow lighter and lighter; and what is curious, but true, they turn into crowns some day. 'No cross, no crown,' the proverb says; that is, no success; no fighting; no winning; no pains; no gains.

Bell at last took hers. She carried it out into the barn.

'I sorry, Tom,' said his little sister. Then the crosses turned in a crown. What was the crown? A crown of joy. Bell was glad; so was mother.—Child's Paper.

Tom's Lesson.

'Go and get it! Go and get it, I say!'

Poor little Dash crept close to his young master's feet, looking up in his face with earnest, pleading eyes, as if he would say:

'Please, please, don't!' I cannot do what you want.'

Tom was trying to make Dash swim after a stick, which he had just thrown into the river. Now, Dash was not a water dog, having no more love for it than a cat, and though Tom was bent on making him one? He kicked the poor little animal away and repeated his order, then, angry that he was not obeyed, seized him and threw him into the water. The dog was sorely frightened, but by hard struggling reached the bank, and crawled to his master's feet with a pitiful whine, wet, panting, trembling. The cruel boy caught him up with rough words, and was just going to throw him in again, when a pair of strong arms seized him and a man's voice said:

'Here you young scamp! Now we will see how you like to swim!'

It was Tom's turn to be frightened. He turned pale, trembled, and caught his breath, and the stranger lifted him in his stout arms as easily as he had poor Dash; he began to beg.

'Oh, sir, pray, pray don't! I cannot swim, Indeed I cannot! Oh don't throw me into the water! I will never never do so again.'

Wooden Railways.

The adjourned meeting of the Committee on Wooden Railways, was held in room 16, December 2nd, at 11 a. m. Mr. Carnegie in the chair. The following members were also present:—Hon. Mr. McMurrich, Hon. Mr. Carling, Messrs. McKellar, Cockburn, Boulter, Calvin, Graham (Hastings), Sinclair, Hooper, Cumberland, Barber and Craig (Russell).

Mr. TULLET was called to give his opinion of the wooden roads. He said he had examined the models of Mr. Foster and Mr. Hulbert, and the plans accompanying them. As far as his opinion went the compound rail of Mr. Hulbert was the cheapest and best.—The plan of Mr. Foster was too complicated. The blocks were liable to wear and become uneven, and a great deal of expense would be attached to keeping it in repair. Of the two rails of Mr. Hulbert, the compound rail was the better, but the more difficult to repair. If the other simple horizontal rail were bolted down instead of being wedged, he would be inclined to consider it the best system of all. It could be more cheaply and easily repaired. A dowel to join the ends of the rails would be likely to weaken the timber. He had read descriptions of wooden railways, and had descriptions of them from persons who had inclined to believe they would yet become a most important system of roads for the opening up of the back countries. He believed that, like the narrow guage railways, they would be generally adopted in the Province. He believed if these railways could be constructed entirely of wood, without using iron in any shape, it would be better, for there would be no difficulty, and very little expense involved in repairs. If the compound rails could be kept in place by bolts at the ends, that system was the best. Of course, if bolts were required at the middle of the rail as well, it would greatly increase the cost of constructing the line. The cost of placing half-inch bolts at the ends of the rails was estimated at $200 per mile, and if bolts were placed at the middle of the rails as well, it would nearly double the cost. He had read the evidence of Mr. Hulbert, as reported in the Globe, and he was satisfied that the statements and estimates of that gentleman were reliable. If a line could be constructed for $4,000 per mile, it was a very low rate indeed. He understood, of course, that sum included grading and everything, but the stations and rolling stock. The cost of grading must be very little, for, according to the statements made by Mr Hulbert, the line could almost follow the surface of the ground. He approved of the 4 feet 8 inch guage, and considered it unfortunate that it was not the guage universally adopted. It was the gauge mostly used in the United States, although some guages were as broad as six feet.

Mr. CUMBERLAND objected to the bolts being driven into the top of the rail. He wished Mr. Hulbert to give his opinion of placing a sub-sill under the rail, he believed there was danger of dilapidation in the compound rail.

Mr. HULBERT said there was no danger of dilapidation. The cost of the bolts was obviated in a measure by the saving of the timber in the sawing of the compound rail.—He considered the single rail the stronger, but it would give way sooner, as the joints were not so firmly fixed as in the compound rail which was fastened by bolts being driven through the rail and secured by a nut beneath. There was no danger of the top of the bolt being broken off. It would be driven down by the weight of the trains passing over it. Of course they might become loose; but the men on the line could tighten the nuts on the screw, and keep the rail tight as easily as by wedges. However, there was very little danger of the bolts becoming loose.

Mr. CUMBERLAND suggested putting wooden fish plates at the sides of the joints, and driving the bolts through the sides, instead of the top of the rail. That would remove the danger of injury to the bolts.

Mr. HULBERT said it would increase the cost.

Mr. CUMBERLAND said things might be cheapened.

Mr. BARBER said it might interfere with the flanges of the wheels. Besides the wet remaining between the fish plates and the rails would rot the wood. He believed the single rail was the best, as well as the cheapest.

Mr. CUMBERLAND believed there was a danger of the under rail in the overlapping track, rotting at the joints of the upper rails.

Mr. HULBERT said he could speak from actual experience that there no such danger existed. He had tried the single and the double rail, and he believed the latter was much the better. He had tried different ways of splicing rails, and found they did not answer.

Mr. TULLEY suggested placing fish plates at the joints, and instead of fastening them with bolts to fasten them with wedges.

Mr. HULBERT said he had tried that plan also, but found it impracticable. The wedges in the double rail became loose. They were placed on the outside in order to form an even gauge. The wedges were sawed.

The rails were made of hard maple, and lasted about five years. He found it lasted better as a rail than any other timber, especially when the sap was laid upwards. He believed it was possible to curve as short with wood as with iron while there was a decided advantage in descending grades. A grade of over 300 feet to the mile could be descended with perfect ease, while on an iron track the wheel would be likely to slip. If the curves were properly laid, a truer curve could be made. He always took pains to place the best wood on the outside of the curve, and found that they did not wear out any sooner than the other parts of the track. He made the embankments sixteen feet wide. His contract for the Gosford and Quebec Railway was twelve feet broad; but he made it sixteen feet. He placed the price of making embankments at 10 cents per yard, and grading 10 cents. He spoke of the line which he was now constructing, where sand could be easily obtained, and there were no rock cuttings. The following was an estimate of the stock for a road 10 miles long, to run 200 tons per day: 3 locomotives ($7,600 each, gold) $22,800; 60 four-wheeled platform cars ($225), $13,500; 3 eight wheeled box cars ($800), $2,400; 3 passenger cars ($1,500), $4,500; 10 gravel and rep. cars ($200), $2,000; 10 rubber cars ($60), $600; 4 hand cars ($125), $600; total $46,400. To run two trains per day, 100 tons each, leaving an extra locomotive for repairs, &c.: Cost for running one train of 100 tons the round trip—1 engineer, $3; 1 fireman, $1 50; 3 brakesmen, ($1), $3; 4 cords 3ft. wood (1 25), $5; oil, $1; total $12 50. Running expenses per ton, 12½c. Cost of building a road on a fair route, timber at medium price, no large bridges, $4,000 per mile. Rolling stock and incidents, $1,000. Say road complete with rolling stock, $5,000 per mile. The above is a fair and I consider a safe estimate for the general run of the country and prices of timber in Canada. The highest grade on the Gosford line was fifty feet per mile against the load.

Mr. MOBERLY being called on, said he had not had time to look into this matter; but if the Committee would allow him to confer with Messrs. Hulbert and Foster respecting their scheme he would be better prepared to give his opinion. He supposed what was required was an estimate of the comparative cost of the iron and wooden railways above grade.

The CHAIRMAN said the object was to ascertain if it were practicable to lay wooden rails which would answer for the present, and in future should give way to iron rails.

Mr. MOBERLY said it would be desirable to grade the roads with the object in view of afterwards laying iron.

The CHAIRMAN said the grades could be lowered when the iron track was being laid.

Mr. MOBERLY believed the great objection to the wooden railway was the effect of the frost on the line. It would be no easy matter to repair it in spring. However, he would give his opinion on the subject after confering with Mr. Hulbert and Mr. Foster.

Mr. FOSTER was next called on. He said there appeared to be a slight misapprehension respecting the number of iron bolts required in this rail. When the rails ran a straight line no iron bolts were used at all. The bolts were only used in joints at the curves. There was not a bit of iron anywhere except at the curves where the bolts were put to prevent the joints from spreading.

The Committee adjourned at 12:15 p. m. till Friday.

—"I despise mankind," said an arrogant fellow to a clergymen. I see that you have studied your own nature deeply, was the quiet reply.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, DEC. 4.

LADIES.—G. C. Holton has received to day from Glasgow a case of Tartan Dress Goods, suitable for the winter.

FIREMEN'S BALL.—The first annual Ball of Fire Company No. 2, will take place on Friday evening, Dec. 31st, in Ontario Hall.—A first-class quadrille band will be in attendance.

ANOTHER RAID,—A telegram from New York, Dec. 3rd, says: "It is stated that the Fenians are preparing for a new movement on Canada. They are said to have plenty of rifles, but need money to purchase ammunition." More bleeding is evidently required.

GOLD NEWS.—The Medoc Mercury of the 4th inst, says: "We are informed that 8 ounces of gold were obtained by Mr. Jenkins at the first cleaning up at the Cook crushing mill in Marmora. This amount was obtained from 21 tons of rock, taken without selection as thrown out of the mine."

AMERICAN MONEY. We hear ever and anon a great deal about American Commerce eclipsing the world. The New York Commercial Advertiser, however, in contradistinction makes the following interesting admission. It says:—"Although we eter- "nal Yankees don't believe it, the fact is "generally admitted among naval engi- "neers and architects, that the American "Navy doesn't possess a ship capable of "sea service against the improved iron- "clads of Britain and France."

I. P. B. SOCIETY.—It will be seen by advertisement in another column that the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society intend giving their first entertainment in the Workingmen's Temperance Hall on Wednesday evening next, Dec. 8th. Dr. Geo. J. Potts has consented to deliver a Lecture on the occasion; subject, "Celebrated Irishmen," which will be followed by singing and instrumental music by a number of ladies and gentlemen, who have kindly volunteered their services. The public are cordially invited to attend. Admittance free.

ROYAL CALEDONIAN CURLING.—At the annual meeting of the Canadian Branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club of Scotland, held in Montreal on the 2nd inst., three new clubs were admitted members of the Association. Eight medals granted by the Royal Club, were allotted to be played for during the ensuing winter, as follows:—Stadacona against Montreal; Quebec against Montreal Thistle; Belleville against Ottawa; Waverly against Heather; Glenabee against Hope; Toronto against Thamesville; St. Catherines against Dundas; Ontario and Burlington against Galt. The office bearers were re-elected, viz: Hon. John Young, President; Mr. David Brown, Vice-President; Mr. Geo. Denholm, Treasurer and Secretary.

THE TORONTO CORN EXCHANGE.—This body has been in solemn council over an article which appeared in the Toronto Daily Telegraph of Saturday, November 28th, and after much deliberation and thought, passed resolutions, not only condemning and denying the truth of the Telegraph's article, but expelling the reporter of that paper from the meetings of the Exchange, and now sends these resolutions to us for publication. The Exchange has made three grave mistakes; first, in passing such resolutions; secondly, in supposing that a mere denial on the part of a number of corn dealers, no matter how respectable they may be, will convince the farmers that their reports are not cooked; and thirdly, in asking the Press generally to side with them, without being in possession of all the facts.

PRIEST MCMAHON.—The Cobourg Star says:—"Father McMahon complained bitterly at the meeting in New York, of his treatment in the Kingston Penitentiary. It has since come to our knowledge that on the day he entered the Penitentiary the Warden granted him a permanent pass to visit the garden at any time he pleased. This he took advantage of, and most of his time was spent in that place. It has also come to our knowledge that McMahon received from the table of the Warden, whatever delicacies were in season. These good things were supplied to him, unknown to the Warden, by his daughters." Another evidence of the manner in which justice was administered this felon. We wonder if a Protestant minister would have received similar consideration?

WHAT IT WAS ALL ABOUT.—The "fuss and feathers" made about the secret movements of the United States troops, seems to have been nothing more nor less than a raid on illicit distilleries. Expecting resistance, the Revenue officers called on the aid of the regulars. Here is the way the story is told in the telegraphic reports:—"Gen. McDowell ordered out the regular troops—250 from Fort Hamilton, and the same number from Governor's Island, rendezvousing at Navy Yard at six o'clock in the morning. At seven o'clock the attacking party moved out of the yard in three columns, each accompanied by a working party armed with axes and crowbars. The distilleries numbered twenty.—The troops formed in line and the Revenue officers attacked the distilleries. Thousands of gallons of whiskey were allowed to run from the vats. Thirty-five barrels were seized, and 13 distilleries either destroyed or captured. The ruffians taken by surprise at first offered little resistance. By 9 o'clock full a thousand had gathered in the neighborhood armed with clubs, stones, and other missiles. Simultaneously with the appearance of the working party, the ruffians attacked them first by hurling bricks from the house tops. Two or three men were badly injured. The rioters congregated about, uttering threats of vengeance against the troops up to a late hour in the afternoon. At 2 o'clock the troops returned to Governor's Island and Fort Hamilton, and the Revenue officials by the Revenue cutter an hour later. The working party was composed of 100 picked veterans. They stood their ground when attacked, although some of the regular troops fled.

Fenianism in Ireland.

The Fenian excitement instead of being allayed or mollified in Ireland, by the disestablishment of the Irish Protestant Church, has been intensified. New vigor and life have been given to the organization. The belief that the action of the Imperial Parliament was the result of Fenian agitation, and not a desire to do what was called justice in Ireland, and the Roman Catholics of that portion of the Empire, has given them more boldness and greater audacity in their demands for what they term land reform, or, which when obtained will be accepted only as another instalment, to be followed by concessions which would be tantamount to a repeal of the Union, and the extirpation of British power in Ireland. Every movement of the body must ere long convince even Gladstone of these facts. Fenian demonstrations are of every week occurence, where sedition and treason are openly avowed; the actors in which go unpunished and unwhipped of justice, while an Orange ovation if accompanied by a display of colors, would not only be put down, but the men who are loyal, incarcerated in dungeons. Such is English justice, as at present administered in Ireland.

To show their strength, the Fenians have already elected one of their number, O'Donovan Rossa, to the House of Commons, for Tipperary, a man who at present is serving his time in prison for treason,—What they expect to gain by such election is difficult to conceive, unless it be to show to the English Government the power they possess in the country, which will beyond doubt, be followed by other elections of a similar character, when it will become the duty of Mr. Gladstone to say how far they will tolerate such defiance of the law, and whether men convicted of treason, and at the time of their election incarcerated for that crime, can lawfully take a seat in Parliament. Certainly they cannot while still in jail. Will the executive pardon in order to enable such persons to take their seats? We have grave doubts about it; and yet it is difficult to know to what length English liberalism will go.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

December 2nd, 1869.

The House last night was occupied in considering two or three bills, introduced by private members.

DRAINAGE.

Mr. MCKELLAR's Bills, providing for digging drains, etc., was thrown out on a vote of 48 to 29.

HOMESTEAD LAW.

Mr. BOYD who appears to be the talking machine of the Assembly, after occupying the time of the House, in making a long speech, withdrew his Homestead Bill.

CONTROVERTED ELECTIONS.

Mr. BLAKE introduced a bill to amend the law of controverted elections, by taking the power of decision out of the hands of the House, and placing it in that of a superior judge.

Attorney General MCDONALD opposed the bill, stating that too much haste should not be displayed in copying the English Act, and that the Government intended dealing with the question next session, and then moved the three months' hoist, which was carried on a vote of 44 to 28.

GAME LAWS.

The Bill extending the time for killing deer till the 1st of January, was referred to a special Committee.

BILLS OF LADING.

Mr. CLARKE moved the second reading of a Bill to amend the law relating to Bills of lading. He said he had introduced this Bill once before, and had been told that the matter was within the jurisdiction of the House of Commons. Last session an hon. member of that Parliament introduced such a Bill into that House, and the whole weight of the legal opinion in that House, had been in opposition to their having jurisdiction in the matter. Some one certainly has the right to deal with the matter, so he brought his measure back to this House, which he believed had the power of jurisdiction. He believed that it was meant by the Imperial Act that the Central Government should have power of legislation on matters relating to trade and commerce but he did not think that precluded this House from legislating on this subject, which did not affect trade any more than the co-partnership act of others before the House.

After a short discussion the bill was read a second time and referred to a committee of the whole House on Monday next.

The House adjourned at 12:10.

FRIDAY, Dec. 3rd.

A large number of petitions were presented.

The Drainage Act Bill was read a second time and will be considered in Committee on Tuesday.

Attorney General MACDONALD moved the second reading of the Bill concerning sheriffs' sale for taxes. He explained that it had been brought forward in fulfilment of a promise made last session; and arising out of the difficulties connected with the lands of the country which were due to the doctrine first broached in 1819 that the wild lands of the country were liable to taxation; and the legal irregularity of the sales which began first to be made in 1829 or 1830. The hon. gentleman went through the details of the bill by the several sections and concluded by expressing a hope that the bill would be allowed to go into committee.

After some discussion the Bill was read a second time and ordered to be committed on Tuesday next.

The resolution upon the subject of compensation to judges which was brought up on Tuesday last, was agreed to and ordered to be reported on Monday next.

The Indemnity Bill was read a second time and after some routine business, the House adjourned until Monday next.

The boy dropped his knife and fork, and exclaimed: 'Gracious! Aunt Mary, if father and mother keep on at this rate, there won't be fifty dollars to divide amongst us!'

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted, For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. About this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced, by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Any Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

How Public Meetings are Conducted in Somoa.

—Mr Rough, in his notes of a visit to Tahiti and other islands of the Pacific, gives the following description of the curious way in which public meetings are held in the Island of Somoa: "Public affairs are discussed in the open air; the men sit in groups according to their villages, under the shade of palm trees, on both sides of a road along which it is deemed discourteous to pass during the meeting. Excellent order is preserved, and the women in their best attire bring food for the assembled politicans. At such times, and at Divine Service, the natives dress very well, but ordinarily both men and women wear only a girdle of long leaves, which hang gracefully down from the waist to the knees, but let the limbs free play, and show showing the human figure in both sexes to great advantage. At all the public meetings and private visits kaoa is presented. This beverage is prepared in presence of the guests by young girls, who first carefully rinse out their mouths and quietly chew pieces of dried root of the kaoa plant placing the masticated pulp into a large wooden bowl, water is then poured over it, and fibrous matter removed, leaving a muddy looking liquid, which is carried in cocoa nut shell cups by the damsels to each person in turn. As a stranger I was usually served first, and good manners required me to put the cup to the lips; once I went so far as to taste the kaoa, but did not like it. Some Europeans, who have become accustomed to the strange mode of preparing this beverage, get very fond of it, and seemed to enjoy the kind of lethargic intoxication which it produces when taken in large quantities."

BIRTH.

In West Belleville, on Wednesday, Dec. 1st, the wife of Mr. E. S. Aunger, of a daughter.

Charity Begins at Home.

Judge not another—look within;
There you will find enough of sin;
Weeds luxuriant, rank and wild,
Many a thought by sin defiled;
Many a fretful peevish feeling
O'er your better nature stealing.
Many a cold ungrateful look
Warm affection scorns as cynic;
Many a harsh unfeeling word,
Heart piercing as a sharpen'd sword—
All look within, and weed out root,
For charity begins at home.

Judge not another, for you'll find
In dark recesses of your mind,
Hidden by self-esteem from view,
Seen by others—not by you;
Foibles that make you wish when seen
By the light of conscience faithful beam;
Drag the intruders forth to light,
And judge them by that standard bright;
Banish the beam before you try
To force the mote from another's eye.
Ah! look within, thou need'st not roam
For charity begins at home.

Judge not another—keep in mind
The golden rule of all mankind;
Whene'er your tempted to expose
Another's follies, think of those
That lurk within; the wish repress,
Your scorn of others to express
Whene'er to ridicule inclined.
Ah, think how sensitive thy mind
Perhaps that very moment, they
Some one may be despising you;
Ah! look within, thou need'st not roam,
For charity begins at home.

Judge not another—bear in mind
The judgment that ye give ye'll find;
That measure ye to others mete
Shall be returned to you complete;
Cease then all judging til you find
No trace of error in thy mind;
Then will ye never judge again
For error ye shall still retain;
Till all your pulses cease to beat,
With error ye'll be found replete.
Ah! look within, thou need'st not roam,
For charity begins at home.

A timid sub in a marching regiment years ago, dreading an assault from a brother officer, took counsel of the regimental Galen before the fray rather than after. 'Doctor,' said he, 'Captain S. threatens to pull my nose; what would you do?' 'Why,' said the doctor, looking hard at him, 'do? why grease it.'

Said a distinguished politician to his son: Look at me! I began as an alderman, and here I am at the top of the tree; and what is my reward? Why, when I die my son will be the greatest rascal in the United States. To this young hopeful replied:—Yes, dad, when you die, and not till then.

A Christian brother was lately relating in a religious meeting the experiences of himself and family, saying, among other things, that his first wife was a very good woman, but she sickened and died in a happy frame of mind, and he should rejoice if his present partner would go just the same way.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM causes the Phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all the secretions and purifies the blood.

WE ALL CONSIDER IRON the embodiment of strength and power, but how few are aware that it is this same element in the system, that gives us strength and vigor, and that an insufficiency of it causes weakness and debility. The Peruvian Syrup, a protoxide of iron, is prepared expressly to supply this vitalizing element.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—MORRISBURGH, Sept., 1869.—Gentlemen,—Suffering from the prostration and weakness caused by a severe attack of Influenza, the past winter, I was induced to try your Sarsaparillian Resolvent as a restorative, and its effects were most satisfactory. I therefore, conscientiously recommend it as a thorough purifier and invigorator of the human system, thus giving increased health and vitality to the weak invalid. (Signed), MRS. JAMES GLASSFORD.

SIR JOHN A. MCDONALD still continues to display his usual tact and energy in the exalted position to which his talents have raised him. We once heard it remarked that his popularity would one day decline, but we know that when a man's advancement is the result of his own intrinsic worth, his reputation is fixed and effulgent like that of the Great Shoshonees Remedy for rheumatism, diseases of the throat, lungs &c. THE GREAT EASTERN STEAMSHIP.—Unlike any other exhibition, we believe the sight of this noble vessel has given good satisfaction to the thousands of persons who travelled to Quebec to view her, and well repaid them for their outlay; and it is just so with the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," there never was anything that gave such satisfaction, it relieves pain almost instantly, and is the finest thing in the world for rheumatism, neuralgia, and pains in the stomach, &c. 26 cents will buy a Bottle of it. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

THE SARSAPARILLA DIGGERS OF YUCATAN.—This singular set of people are descended from the ancient Aztecs of Southern Mexico, and still retain some of the peculiarities which Stephens and Prescott gave of their ancestors. Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co. employ a small army of them in digging Sarsaparilla root. Provided with narrow spades, a coil of rope, and a bag of water, they are ready for the forest where the wild banana furnishes them with food, and thick-leaved trees their only shelter. Few of those who find themselves rejuvenated by this product, know how much they are indebted to the toil of these humble laborers, who daily benefit the thousands of Doctor Ayer's patrons, while they sometimes lose their own. Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other cathartic which has ever been known, and all know that what it does once it does always — that it never fails, and that it may be confided in with implicit confidence in its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action — remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and vigor.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally sufficient.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

As a mild purgative they stimulate the stomach and bowels into healthy action, thereby purifying and invigorating the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists, for those who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or distressful effects spoken of here) is Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active medicinal properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian resolvent is the only food yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Nerve, and Flesh-sustaining medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care as the proper season, from the best fields, and under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co., so that no spurious admixtures or worthless root can possibly be mixed with the genuine.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum, for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone to find the wonderful Medicinal roots and herbs acquired is the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine tho so completely purified and made so sweet, sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and wrecked constitutions, or

Dr. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the waste with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS THE NATURAL ANE FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with nature's own blood-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat and Skin and Scalp.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the waste.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes Sores heal and Ulcers cleanse.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Grave Diseases.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness in Male with the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, have become sterile or exhausted.
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who Suffer.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and will but use one of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue it for perhaps four years or no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the reparative will be greater than the waste and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA: Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of VENEREAL are developed through the process of depositing from the blood pimples in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better after the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As it slowly becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will serve their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine in the Urinary Passages, Pus and Albumen will be absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If sanitive fails in its influence on the system, to correct these conditions, and to expel each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored. Any pill for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important result that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influences of this potent Resolvent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairs, will so change the system with such constitutional power as to resolve and eliminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during the process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and resolves away all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison or by the absorption of Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i.e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Chlorine, and other agents, that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured or badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands or other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Erysipelas, Scrofula Sore Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Eruptions, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the System, no matter how great, the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Radway's Pills and Ready Relief, we say person using it for either of these forms of Disease will positively receive a perfect cure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side discharging all kinds of corruption and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, also with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and disgusting object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

VOL. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, MONDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 6, 1869. No. 185.

Your Mission.

If you cannot on the ocean, sail among the swiftest fleet,
Rocking on mighty billows; laughing at the storms you meet;
You can stand among the sailor's anchored yet within the bay;
You can lend a hand to help them, as they launch their boats away.

If you are too weak to journey up the mountain steep and high,
You can stand within the valley as the multitudes go by;—
You can chant in happy measure,as they slowly pass along,
Though they may forget the singer, they'll not forget the song.

If you cannot in the conflict prove yourself a warrior true;
If, when fire and smoke are thickest, there's no work for you to do,—
When the battlefield is silent, you can go with gentle tread,
You can bear away the wounded, you can cover up the dead.

If you cannot in the harvest garner up the rich est sheaves,
Many a grain, both ripe and golden, which careless reaper leaves,
You can glean among the briers, growing rank against the wall,
And—it may be—that the shadows hide the heaviest wheat of all.

If you have not gold and silver ever ready at command,
If you cannot, toward the needy, reach ever helping hand,
You can visit the afflicted; o'er the erring you can weep;
You can be a true disciple—sitting at the Saviour's feet.

Do not then, stand idly waiting for some noble work to do,
For your Heavenly Father's glory—ever ready, ever true,
Go and toil in any vineyard—work in patience and in prayer,—
If you want a field of labour, you can find it anywhere.

The Richardson Tragedy.

SOME ANTECEDENT INCIDENTS—AN APPEAL TO JUSTICE.

(From the New York Mail).

THE STORY OF MRS. M'FARLAND.

In allusion to the statement of McFarland that he had found her visiting Mr. Richardson's room at their mutual boarding house, she said that she had simply knocked at his door to give him a manuscript which he had offered to deliver to a publisher. She was writing at the time for the support of herself and two young children, her husband contributed nothing toward the family expenses. Her married life of twelve years, she said, had been a perpetual torture. Mr. Richardson was a witness to a portion of her trials, and she was naturally grateful for the warm sympathy he displayed for her sufferings.—When, at last, she became definitely separated from her husband, she experienced a sense of deep relief and entire freedom, and could not realize that she was not at liberty to receive the visit of Mr. Richardson or any other gentleman, or walk abroad with whom she pleased.

THE DIVORCE.

She obtained a divorce, recently, at Indianapolis, Indiana, on the ground of drunkenness, brutal treatment, and a neglect to afford support, and resided in that city a year and a half, to afford full legal time for a citizenship and a suit. During that period she did not see Mr Richardson. Four weeks ago she returned to her parents.

THE TRIALS OF A WIFE.

The reporter desired some particulars of her married life, which she was, at first unwilling to give. She wished to avoid all further publicity. It was suggested that the conventional prejudices of society led the world to misjudge her case, and all that could be offered as a cause for her separation. By repeated questionings, the Sun reporter learned that McFarland had for many years frequently exhibited ungovernable fits of fury. He would smash furniture trike her brutally, and at night would often spring from his bed, tear his night clothing frantically, and throw it away. At an early period of his married life he would endeavour to frighten her by stating that he carried a loaded pistol for use against her, and sometimes would display small packages of paper which he said contained prussic acid. She feared poison, and during these dangerous moods would hide his razors in anticipation of possible murder.

RUM.

He commenced drinking soon after his marriage, and liquor invariably exaggerated his paroxysms. In less than three weeks from the wedding day his temper revealed itself in unaccountable sulks, during which he would not speak to his wife. His conduct in time, of course, alienated her regard for him. This was natural, and the consciousness of the fact added to his frenzy. He indulged in constant oaths, and the coarsest language toward her. Notwithstanding his treatment, she long continued living with him, as her timid conversation shrunk from the imagined stigma of a separation or divorce. She speaks of him as a man of superior educational advantages, but of most unaccountable temperament. She has two children, both boys, the eldest of whom is nine years of age.

WHY RICHARDSON DID NOT KILL M'FARLAND.

McFarland had repeatedly threatened to kill Richardson, and Richardson had been repeatedly warned by his friends. Both men carried revolvers. Mr. Richardson says that he would have returned McFarland's fire had he not been afraid of killing some of the young boys behind the counter. As Richardson is a dead shot, McFarland probably owes his life to the circumstances. Mr. Richardson says that if he could have looked McFarland in the eye when he drew the revolver the latter would not have dared to fire. Mr. McFarland has repeatedly endeavoured to catch Mr. Richardson off his guard. Some time ago Mr. Richardson was talking with some friends in the corridor of the Astor House. McFarland heard of it, and entered the hotel with his hand on his pistol. As he neared his victim, Mr. Richardson looked him full in the eye, and prepared to receive him. McFarland's head dropped. He sidled away, and began looking out of the window.

THE FIRST SHOT AT MR. RICHARDSON.

On the morning of March 13th, 1847, Mrs. McFarland asked Miss Gilbert a sister of Mrs. Calhoun's if she and Mr. Junius Henri Browne would not call for her at the conclusion of the performance at Winter Garden, that evening and walk home with her. Miss Gilbert consented. Meanwhile, Mr. Br. ne had procured seats to witness the p. a at the Academy of Music. He met Miss Gilbert, and asked her to accompany him. Miss Gilbert said that she had promised to call for Mrs. McFarland that evening, and she was fearful that the length of the performances at the Academy would make it impossible for them to do so. Mr. Richardson was present during the performance. He had been absent from the city for some weeks, and had but lately returned. Mr. Browne turned to him and said:—

Richardson, why can't you call at the Winter Garden Theatre this evening, and see Mrs. McFarland home? You would oblige me very much if you would do so.

Mr Richardson assented. At the appointed time he called for Mrs. McFarland. While the couple were walking down Amity street, Mr. McFarland stealthily approached Mr. Richardson and shot him in the back. The wound was not dangerous, and Mr. Richardson was only confined to his room a few days.

A Lizard in a Man's Stomach for Three Months.

From the Troy Press.

On the 8th of October, Lycurgus Musgrove, a young man sixteen years of age, while digging potatoes on the farm of his father, Mr. John Musgrove, in the town of Black Brook, in Clinton County, was attacked with severe pains in his stomach and bowels, and had to be helped to his room. On the 18th of October he was put under the care of Dr. Fuller, of Black Brook. The pain continued for four or five weeks, but was, however, controlled by anodyne treatment until the 23rd of Nov. the attending physician sent for Dr. Conant Sawyer, of Ausable Forks, for counsel. The character of the pain was spasmodic, and during the paroxysm was excruciating. Upon consultation, the doctors pronounced it, though with considerable hesitancy, a case of neuralgia, a singular feature of the case being that, whenever the pain left, the patient was entirely free from pain and sorences. The physician ordered larger doses of opiates, which soon relieved but did not entirely remove the pain. The following morning, in the presence of the physician, at about eight o'clock, the patient, being nauseate, threw up a lizard about three inches long, the head and body being perfect, the eyes and mouth plainly to be seen, with one leg attached to the body. Soon after he threw up another leg, similar to the one attached to the reptile. The condition of the patient is much improved, as one would naturally suppose he would be, after having nourished the lizard for such a long time, and that, too, when for eight consecutive days during the time he himself refused all nourishment.

It appears that in June last young Musgrove was in the forest with Mr. A. Perry and Mr. Bilsch, and being thirsty left them for a drink of water and returned, saying he had swallowed a lizard. Ever since that time it must have continued to remain in his stomach, until its size caused the symptoms of neuralgia to be manifested.

The Cleveland Herald says that "Ladies and gentlemen" are equivocal terms. Men and women are made by the Almighty.—Ladies and gentlemen are formed by tailors and mantua makers. "Don't annoy that lady, my son," said a mother to her little boy, who was rustling around in a store where the mother and "lady" were shopping. "Why mamma, she is not a lady," said the boy, "see her dress." There you have it. Men are but children of a larger growth, and the child's estimate of lady was the popular one.

CONTRAVENTION OF THE FISHERY ACT.—Messrs. Geo. McDonald, Robert McDonald, Thos. McDonald, Joseph Lereau, Wm. Henry and Wm. Black, were brought up before the Police Magistrate to-day, by the Fishery Inspector for fishing on Sunday, the 14th Nov., in contravention of the Fishery Act.—Considerable evidence was taken, and Judgment was deferred until Wednesday.

DISALLOWANCE.—The last official Gazette contains a proclamation, disallowing an Act to define the privileges, immunities, and powers of Legislative Council and Legislative Assembly of Quebec, and to give summary protection to persons employed in the publication of parliamentary papers, and, an Act to define the privileges, immunities and powers of the Legislative Assembly of Ontario, and to give summary protection to persons employed in the publication of sessional papers.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Yesterday a party of young men were skating on the other side of the Bay, and at the same time a sleighing excutter in which were two young ladies. Suddenly the ice gave way, and the whole party were precipitated into the water, which at the place was deep enough to drown the whole town. By great exertion they succeeded in getting out on the ice and reaching shore perfectly saturated with water from head to foot, and thoroughly determined not to be caught in the same plight again, particularly on a Sunday.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Early this morning, Mr. James Brown, a laboring man, living on Yeoman's Hill, started to go to work. He had proceeded only a short distance beyond his house when he became dizzy and fell. He had sufficient presence of mind to go into the nearest house, and after taking a seat and conversing a moment or two with the inmates, his head was observed to drop suddenly to one side, and when the parties in the house got to him he was dead. Death is supposed to have been caused by disease of the heart. Deceased leaves a wife and seven children.

The North Renfrew Election.

The Pembroke Observer of the 3rd Dec., claims the election for North Renfrew for Mr. Deacon, and gives the following explanation in reference to the Townships of Algona and Head, where a large number of votes were recorded for Murray. The Observer says :—

"There are but five men in the Township of Algona legally qualified to vote, and if by any fraud more than the legal number of votes have been taken at that place, they will not advantage the person in whose favor they were given. The law is clear on this point. It is necessary that the Clerk of each municipality shall in each year return to the Clerk of the Peace a list of all the persons entitled to vote therein; and by the tenth section of the election law it is enacted that "no person shall be admitted to vote unless his name appears on the last list of voters, made, certified, and delivered to the Clerk of the Peace at least one month previous before the date of the writ to hold such election." The list for Algona for this year, and which contains but five names, was delivered to the Clerk of the Peace on the fifteenth of September last; the writ to hold the election was issued on the fourth of November, so that no question can possibly arise as to the right of more than five votes there. The Returning Officer, to avoid all difficulty, obtained from the Clerk of the Peace a certified copy of the correct voters' list and delivered it to his deputy at Algona, with instructions to receive no votes but those on that list, so that no danger is to be apprehended from any violation of the law. No votes can be admitted from Head, as no voters' list for that Township was ever returned to the Clerk of the Peace. The Returning Officer thought he was bound to open a poll there, but sent instructions to his deputy to receive no votes. If these instructions are disobeyed it will not affect the election unless the whole affair is to wind up with frauds more glaring than those which made the County of Russell and the name of Follows notorious. But we have no fear of this. Mr. Deacon will, we have no doubt, take the seat to which the voice of the majority of the electors of North Renfrew have called him.

NEURALGIA may be distinguished from rheumatism by the intensity of the pain, its short continuance, and its inability to return on the slightest touch; in acute rheumatism there is fever, redness, heat in the part affected, and some swelling, all of which are absent in Neuralgia; in chronic rheumatism the pain is continuous, less severe, and often worse at night. From toothache, by the shortness of the paroxysm, the rapidity of its succession, and the frequent convulsive twitchings. To obtain immediate relief, use Dr. J. Briggs' Alleviator according to directions. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors, 308 Broadway, N. Y. and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

The Grievance-Monger.

The London Advertiser affects to be jubilant over the notice which the press has taken of its article, upon what it impudently and very improperly designated "Subsidies to Ontario Newspapers."—Among other wise things it says, "the Belleville INTELLIGENCER raises its inky hands in pious horror" and then proceeds to declare that "these journals do not attempt to answer our reasons why the "independence of the press should not be tampered with." Here the Advertiser begs the question. Has he so mean and contemptible an opinion of the conductors of the Press of Canada as to believe that a few dollars received from any Government during a year for legitimate advertising, or subscription to their journals, could or does affect their independence? There is but one answer to this question, and that is, that if such be its opinion it must be arrived at by judging others by himself; for it is only a man who could be bought for $2.50 per year, who would ever think of charging others with being so dastardly a caracter.

The question at issue is simple and plain, and it is this. Is a publisher of a newspaper to refuse an advertisement because it is sent to him from a Government, for fear that an attempt is being made upon his independence? Or for fear that such journals as the Advertiser will accuse him of bartering away his right of thought and action? If such be the Advertiser's meaning, and his article can bear no other construction, then why was the Globe not placed in the same category with others? The reason is obvious; the principle is not to apply when the Grit Press pockets the money. Why was the Spectator selected as having bartered its independence for advertising to the amount of $137 for 1868, and the Globe extolled as the paragon of independence though it received $3590.91 for the year, and from the same Government? Work of this kind has to be done by all Governments, and there is no journalist in Canada who would be less likely to refuse it than the Advertiser. If this paper has so ardent a desire for an "advancing influential and independent position" for the newspaper press of Canada, and honestly believes that it can only be accomplished by refusing a dollar subscription to his paper, or for advertising for the Government, why, in the name of all that is honest, did he beg work and patronage from those whom he has been vehemently opposing? For this, which the Free Press lays to his charge, is not denied. The position of the Advertiser is not only dishonest but demoralizing to the Press, and likely to bring down the contempt of the people upon it. What else can be expected, when the press writes of itself in so degrading a manner?

The Advertiser declares that "it is well "known that a newspaper published in "this city has received, through one channel or another, thousands of dollars annually of Government money. Does our "eastern contemporary, in the innocency of "his heart, really believe that the receipt "of this large subsidy renders the journal "alluded to the more likely to denounce "governmental wrong-doing?" Suppose such to be the fact; that the journal alluded to does receive thousands of dollars of Government money, is there any evidence that full value in work was not given for these dollars; or that it is any the less independent? Suppose further, that that patronage does affect its independence, which we do not admit, why was the whole Conservative press denounced by this professedly honest journalist, and condemned as slaves to a Government, because, as in the case of the Intelligencer, they may have received $2 per annum from a department over which the Government has little or no control? Was it honest in one professing so much as the Advertiser, to declare solemnly that the Intelligencer "cleared $10" in 1868 out of John Sandfield McDonald's Government, when the very accounts from which the information was obtained, stated that that $10 was for four years subscription to the paper sent to the Education Office, ordered before John Sandfield McDonald accepted office? When so barefaced and wilful a perversion of the truth is indulged in in one case, there is too much reason to believe that too little respect for truth characterizes the whole article. "The Intelligencer thinks we are unkind in referring to its stipend of $10," continues the Advertiser. Not true again. We objected to your doing just what you have again repeated, stating a falsehood and practicing deception. No such "stipend" was paid for one year, as the public accounts show; still the lie is repeated by this Peckaniff of the press; who, having been refused pap from those he abuses, assumes a tone of morality he does not possess, and out-does Peckaniff himself in endeavouring to palm his hypocrisy upon the public. It is a foul bird that defiles its own nest, and it is such scavengers of the press that brings it into contempt. Who "can regard such transactions other "than mean and dishonest."

Kingston Correspondence.

From our own Correspondent.

MADOC RAILWAY—ST. ANDREW'S DAY—"CANADIAN CHURCHMAN"—SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION—DEPUTY POSTMASTER—LITERARY SOCIETIES—PHILIP PHILLIPS.

KINGSTON, Dec. 3rd, 1869.

The interest taken in connection with the construction of the Madoc Railroad, is on the increase. Meetings are being held in different Townships with much success. The question of the route is one which has been the subject of a great amount of correspondence in the columns of the Daily News on the part of a "true friend of Kingston," "an unselfish friend," "a true and unselfish friend," &c., &c., each advocating different directions with all the force of language at his command. Of these gentlemen a correspondent of the Whig, who signs himself "no humbug," says: "I believe these scribblers to be paid or personally interested puffers of particular routes, especially the "unselfish one," who, it appears to me, has only one object in view in writing up the northern route, namely, to play into the hands of a ring of speculators, who have secured all the lands on the route." Whether "no humbug" is correct or not, I cannot say. On such subjects it is quite natural that there should be a diversity of opinion, and it is well that the partisans of different routes should have an opportunity of placing their views before the public.

Although there was no public demonstration, nor any sermons preached, as in Belleville, the members of St. Andrew's Society celebrated their day with becoming observance. A dinner was provided in the British American Hotel, at which a very numerous company sat down, a large number of whom were guests. The evening—or the night rather—was very pleasantly spent, never one more so in connection with the observance of St. Andrew's day in Kingston.

There is a paper in this city called The Canadian Churchman, which, as far as I can learn, is at present edited by a semi-Popish individual who has not been long in the diocese. It pleased this reverend gentleman a short time ago to make a most abusive attack upon Mr. R. J. Cartwright, M.P., who presided at a meeting of English Church people, in the interest of the Sabrevois Mission. In strong language the indignant editor poured forth his virulent tirade against this most useful society, and against the chairman of the meeting in question, in particular. Mr. Cartwright is an upright Christian gentleman, and can afford to treat with contempt the Churchman's ungentlemanly and unscrupulous editor. It doesn't it seem strange that a professedly Protestant newspaper should thus attack a most important mission, which has for its object the conversion of French Roman Catholics? The Church Observer, an evangelical and well edited newspaper, has given several severe blows in most scathing language to the Churchman; and richly it deserved it; for, if there is one thing more than another mean and contemptible in the eyes of true Protestants, it is fraternizing with Romanism on the part of professed Protestants, and the endeavour to pour calumny and ridicule on every effort put forth for the common good unless it has its origin in the midst of those who arrogate to themselves all the virtues—those who presume to call themselves the friends of the altar of God. From all such, good Lord deliver us!

The Sabbath School Convention for the County of Frontenac last evening closed its deliberations, after a most successful session of two days. All the public meetings were largely attended, and a great amount of interest was evinced by the religious portion of the community in all the meetings of the Convention. Several speakers spoke in the most laudatory language of the kindness and hospitality of the people of your good town to delegates during the recent Provincial Convention. There can be little doubt but these meetings will result in much good, and lead to establishing on a better basis than ever that most important auxiliary of the Church—the Sabbath School. If no other good resulted than the bringing together of the clergy and members of the different churches, to act in fraternal fellowship, that alone would be a sufficient incentive for the establishment and prepetuity of Sabbath School Conventions.

Mr. Stephens, Deputy Postmaster of this city has been appointed to a similar position at Ottawa. It is the general opinion that Mr. William Shannon will be his successor. Mr. Shannon is a most competent and obliging public officer, and his appointment to the post. tion would, I have no doubt, give general satisfaction.

The winter having fairly set in, the different literary societies in the city have commenced operations. A series of lectures in connection with the Young Men's Christian Association, of St. Andrew's Church are to be delivered; the Wesleyan Literary Association held its second meeting last Monday evening, the attendance at which was very large; and the Alma Mater Society of Queen's College, commenced the season on last Saturday evening, by discussing the Independence question.

I had almost neglected to refer to Mr. Phillips' singing, in Sydenham street Church, last evening. To pass critical remarks thereon, I don't intend, for the simple reason that I am incapable of doing so. I may say, however, that the very large audience seemed highly delighted, and felt it good to be there. Nothing impressed me so much as the amount of feeling which Mr. Phillips threw into his singing; it seemed to come from the depths of a thoroughly Christian heart.

The Red River Commander,

A SKETCH OF HIS CAREER.

Correspondence of the St. Paul Despatch.

I think that some wrong information has been given in regard to Louis Rielle, who is now the commander-in chief of the revolutionary force in Red River. On Monday evening the Despatch expresses itself about him as follows :

"Louis Rielle, was a year or two ago a resident of St. Paul, and a clerk in Langevin's grocery store. He is a tall, well formed man, but of no particular mental ability, and his friends and acquaintances here will be rather astonished to learn the position he holds in the new war."

As I am acquainted with the gentleman I am not at all surprised for my part to learn the part he holds in the movement; for I consider, and he is considered by all those who can appreciate him, not only as a tall, well formed man, but as a man of strong mental ability, thoroughly educated for his age, and possessing high aspirations though not exceeding the limits of his talents.

Louis Rielle, is a young man about 24 years of age, was born at Red River, from poor, but respectable parents, and is of pure French origin. Thirteen years ago, his education was placed under the care of a Bishop, who sent him to the best classical college in Montreal. That same college where Gen. Dix, of the United States, and several other great scholars have been educated.

He remained there nine years as a student and displayed such talent, and obtained such success in literature, that his professors and protectors wanted him to enter their community. But, Louis Rielle, as a well formed man didn't want to take a robe without a woman, and though willing to remain for some of the religious subject of their spiritual order, decided against their will to study the law and enter the French literary career.

After this decision no more protection was offered him—and with the strength of his character following the path prepared for him by Providence resisted the Empire of their despotism. From the time he hai to struggle for his living he was left without any resources whatever, and on account of the interruption of his studies, was unable to live in Canada. He came to Minnesota about three years ago, and remained alternately in St. Paul and St. Anthony during two years. He got situations as clerk in grocery stores, but of course was disappointed. Commerce was not his favorite branch, but yet he would have practiced it, if he could have got any hope to raise in a short time money enough to allow him to study as a lawyer. His disappointment caused his return to Red River, there he thought he could soon or get the means of following the course of his desire which was the fatality of his circumstances.

I don't know if Mr. Rielle possesses any military or political genius. Should he fail or not in this career I would consider him too able for being at the head of a body of half-breds, who are hardly semi-civilized.

As a writer and speaker in the French language, he cannot easily be surpassed by any man of his age. To that point of view his mind is always reasoning and reasonable and L. Rielle would undoubtedly become a first class lawyer. That, he could not do without having a strong mental ability.

The literary career in all nations has produced the greatest men, for those who followed it have enlightened the world, and have been the rulers of its destinies.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & Co.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most desp-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,

A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINDHILL, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1866.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try a change of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

The Rainbow.

I am not one of that bright throng
That round the Throne rejoice,
I have no golden harp or song,
No sweet angelic voice;
And yet to me a trust is given,
With thine along to cross
Even to the earth, from heaven,
A messenger of peace.

I am the rainbow!
With glorious wings of golden light
The angles cleave the sky,
In jewels, robes as rich and bright
I bend to each mortal eye.
They to and fro on wearied flit
In quests that never cease,
For the storm clouds love to sit
And talk to men of peace.

My mystic life of old I drew
Out of the womb of night—
My mother, evening's silent dew,
My father, morning's light;
They met somewhere in upper air,
One glorious April morn,
In cloud and mist her tears he kissed,
And I their child was born.

And now I come, and now I go
Where skies are dark and drear.
Where winds are high, and clouds are low,
And men want words of cheer.
While sorrow lives, my promise gives
The hope that it shall die;
When sorrow dies, then I arise,
And melt into the sky.

A Plain Matter of Fact Marriage.

The Rev. D., a Methodist minister, stationed at Meaverille some few years ago, one evening received a note informing him that a couple, living in the suburbs of the city, desired to be united in the bonds of matrimony, and requested his services at 9 o'clock in the morning. At the proper time he went to the house designated. He inquired of a young lady who was busy washing dishes if there was a couple there who wanted to be married.

"I am the lady," said she, blushing. "John will be in in a moment."

The minister was surprised to see no preparations and stepped to the door to view the surroundings. Two men were hard at work grinding scythes in the yard, and another, who proved to be the "John," was tending a cow and calf. The young lady came to the door pretty soon and shouted:—

"John, John, hurry up; the preacher's here!"

John leaped the fence and rushed to the house, the girl wiped her hands on her apron, and, after joining hands, said they were ready. The minister proceeded and had just got through questioning the young man when the old lady rushed into the room, shouting:—

"John, John, you didn't turn the cow away from the calf!"

He let go his sweetheart's hand instantly and rushed into the barnyard, put the old cow through the bars and then returned to the house, again took his position, when the remainder of the ceremony was performed. The minister went on his way, John went to the hay field and the lady resumed her dish washing.

Suez Canal.

A New York contemporary doubts whether the Suez canal can come into general use. It says: "Surveys and exact measurement, have long established the fact that from the month of May to October, the upper part of the Red Sea is lower than this month. This is said to result from the position of the Red Sea in a rainless region, where its long trough is swept transversely by scorching winds. Its feeder, the Arabian sea, is 1,000 miles from its head, the engineers show that the water entering the Straits of Babelmandel and flowing up the channel, loses half an inch by evaporation daily. Eastward-bound vessels, after leaving the canal, must encounter this set of currents, and sail as it were, up the side of an inclined plane.

In the Mediterranean a difficulty still more formidable arises. This sea under a hot sky evaporates so much water that to supply the loss a powerful drift from the Atlantic pours at Gibraltar. Shipowners well know that unfrequently their vessels, despite the most strenuous and skillful efforts are baffled in attempting to get out of the Mediterranean. In 1855, nearly a thousand sail were were detained for three months at Gibraltar; and some of them, after getting out as far as Malaga, were taken back by the current. Even after passing the Straits, sailing masters say they are in a less favorable position for getting to market than if they were in Liverpool.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this extraordinary medicine enjoys is derived from its cures. Many of which are really marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unsuspected evil lurks in our blood, undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of fatal diseases, frequently without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed latent forms of disease, which, upon them, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of the loathsome forms, either on the surface, or among the vitals. In the latter, tuberculed fog be safely depended on the lungs or bronchiæ, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: Salt Rheum, Blotches, Sores and Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other symptoms of visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in its more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterine affections of the female and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for enduring these obstinate maladies by any means. But long continued use of the medicine will cure the complaint. A powerful solvent for Mineral Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield soon to it. So it, also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising from this cause.

They often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. The SARSAPARILLA is a great invigorator for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to prevail over the slight and frequent colds of children, it at the same time is the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. No preparation against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family. Indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with the antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, by the patient resolute use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, so complete is its mastery over the disorders of the throat and lungs. In the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is now the purest and best patent. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, and in every form of fever, is indeed as all but without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases of Fever and Ague, which other remedies have failed to benefit.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through ague districts, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is unequaled, speedily stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Biliousness and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, even when other remedies had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

NEW CHEMICAL PRINCIPLES

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great obedience (over from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the main choice principles of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding their valuable medicinal properties of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Fat-making medicines are protected and combined with the greatest care in the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of highly-skilled experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific botanists in this branch alone that the most valuable roots may be secured & the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the pays for the outlay over and over again; for none in the history of medicine have such a tendency to so completely build up, repair, and makes sound strong, healthy figures, and beautiful women, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with chloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat, and Skin and body.
It increases the vital forces, while it UPSTOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It creates and restores the products of decay.
It resolves Tumours, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the Skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Glandular Swellings and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Diseases of the Bladder, and is a true elixir of manhood those who from weakness and evil practices are in the first stages of decay.
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life, Suppression of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive a healthful change, but will find LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted and Abolished beyond recovery, if capable of sustaining the regenerative process of RADWAY'S but can be either restored to health, or the wastes and decompositions stopped, and the elements so dreary that no one can longer suffer from the system.

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are already in ruins, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the repairing power of nature, are cured only by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to five periods for years; for as long as the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this remedy and kept under the medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD will become so rich that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all the constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stages can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in their health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secure their proper conditioned secretions. Instead of Unhealthy, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If indolent ulcers fail to do justice to the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ in secreting blood in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored: happily for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important want that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this power ful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the wasting body with repairs, will so change the system with such constituents as to resolve and exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and resolves every ill deposit it may have created, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, as Mercury, Consumption, Bright's, &c. &c. Even the Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agent that may have accumulated in the bones, tissue cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms, Glandular Diseases, Sores in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and Bones, Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, Boils, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers, Ulcerous Wounds, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Nightsweats, and Loss of Sperm, are all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all those Incurable Cases Occasioned by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE SORES, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aside with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that has suffered for several hundreds of dollars, doctors for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledges of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvents. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was stayed, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FARELAND.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, TUESDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 7, 1869. No. 186.

Miscellaneous.

Reports to the Agricultural Bureau at Washington show that the cotton crop of the South for this year is larger than was at first estimated, and it is now believed the yield will be nearly 3,000,000 bales, most of which is of excellent quality.

It appears by the official report that the aggregate amount of imports into the United States during the year ending June, was $437,000,000, of which there were at Baltimore nearly $16,000,000; at Boston and Charleston, $44,600,000; at New York, $295,000,000; at Philadelphia, $16,000,000, and at San Francisco, $18,000,000.

The Prince of Wales sent the following telegram from London to the St. Andrew's Society of New York on St Andrew's Day: "The Duke of Rothsay thanks you for your kind message, and drinks your health in return." His Royal Highness was the presiding officer on that evening at the festival of the Scottish Hospital in London.

An alarmist writes to the press that the cause of many of the affections of the kidneys in France is owing to the eating of asparagus—which is forced by waterings of a solution of saltpetre. Must the succulent esculent be eschewed? Next week, doubtless, we will have some philosopher contradicting this.

The servant of a Prussian officer one day met a coroner, who inquired of him how he got along with his fiery master. "Oh, excellently," answered the servant; "we live on very friendly terms. Every morning we beat each other's coat; the only difference is, he takes his off to be beaten, and I keep mine on."

The "Alexandra limp" is the latest eccentricity of fashion. It is produced by wearing a very high heeled boot on one foot, and a flat heeled boot on the other. The result is highly effective. The young lady waddles about like a goose, and is, of course, supposed to be one. Great St James street will soon be treated to the sight, the disease having already broken out in New York.

At the last meeting of Miss Anthony's Woman's Suffrage Association of New York the following resolution was discussed: That the brutal and murderous attack of McFarland upon A. D. Richardson, last week, is a great degree attributable to the debasing and slavish condition of woman by the statute and common law of the State of New York, and the pernicious influence of the New York Tribune upon the divorce question and the civil rights of woman.

The Fredericton Farmer says:—"During the last few weeks, a delegate from the Iroquois Indians of Canada, has visited the Lower Provinces to agitate a confederation of the Six Nations and the removal of all the tribe to Ontario. A Council of Chiefs will be held at Tobique in January, with this object in view. The advantages held out the Indians in this Province to them are, better Schools and Churches, together with a more stringent enforcement of the laws."

There is nothing innocent or good that dies and is forgotten. An infant, a prattling child, dying in its cradle, will live again in the better thoughts of those who loved it, and play its parts through them in the redeeming actions of the world. Forgotten! Oh, if the good deeds of human creatures could be traced to their source, how beautiful would even death appear; for how much charity, mercy and purified affection would be seen to have their growth in dusty graves!

The Toronto correspondent of the Whitby Gazette has the following scrap of city scandal:—It is said that a lady, a wife of a member of the Bar (who, for obvious reasons, must be nameless) has been unreasonably jealous of a young widow, who was a client of her husband, and that to find something out she indulged in the wicked habit of reading his letters, and whatever she discovered so enraged her that she sought relief, like Dinah of old, "in a cup of cold piscn," but an application of the stomach pump saved her.

A scene was witnessed in South Leith parish church on Sunday evening which has been freely commented on by the parishioners and others. Mr. Duff was the officiating clergyman, and Mr. Wilson occupied the precentor's desk. After the initiatory part of the service, the rev. clergyman read a Psalm, and intimated that it would be chanted to a tune named by him. The precentor rose, but instead of adopting the tune named by the minister, commenced another. The minister, indignant rose and asked the precentor to cease singing, but the latter would not do so, and the minister becoming impatient, descended the pulpit stairs, confronted the precentor, and in an earnest, if not angry tone, demanded that the chanting should not be proceeded with. Not a few of the congregation laughed, while others went out. The altercation having come to an end, the minister took his place in the pulpit and delivered an impressive sermon. Towards the close of the service, Mr. Duff intimated that, owing to the conduct of the precentor, there would be no more singing that evening.

The Leader says: It would not be matter for surprise if, when Mr. Wood comes to make his financial statement, he would be able to show that the revenue of the province falls very little short of $3,000,000—very much beyond the expenditure. It is a matter of paramount necessity that the hungry Grit should be kept from getting their hands upon the provincial exchequer. Lean and starved as they are, they would make ducks and drakes of the revenue in a very short time.

We find in a late English paper the statement, which seems well nigh incredible, that in 1866, England imported nearly 431 million of eggs! valued at £1,097,197, or nearly five millions four hundred thousand dollars! They are obtained chiefly from France, where egg laying begins between January and March, and ends in October, when the hens are left to themselves. But artificial means are employed to get and keep the important production; their quarters are warmed and the fowls are fed on buckwheat and meat. And it is remarked, that the districts which produce most buckwheat produce most eggs.

Captain Ross, of the English Artillery, has obtained letters patent for composition which, if applied to the clean surface of iron and other metals chemically, combines with it to form, in the case of iron, a coating of iron itself, but changed in character, so that it will not rust or oxydize, even if steeped in water for a week. Experiments were made on some delicate steel articles by putting them in the rain and keeping them out on wet grass all night, which ordeal they sustained without gaining a speck of rust. It is hard to say what trade will not profit by this discovery. The composition can be applied to the finest needles and small clock wheels. It is said to improve the temper of knife or sword blades.

Upwards of two centuries since the following, among other standing orders, were printed, the first bearing date May 17th, 1614:—"Ordered,—That this House shall sit every day at 7 o'clock in the morning, and enter into the great business at 8, and no new motion to be made after 12. Ordered,—That as soon as the clock strikes 11, no Speaker do go out of the chair, and the House shall rise; and that, in going forth, no member shall stir until Mr. Speaker do go before, and then all the rest shall follow. Whosoever shall go out of the House before Mr. Speaker shall forfeit 10s., but that the reporters may go first. Ordered.—That no member of the long robe do presume to plead any cause at the bar of the House of Lords without leave." In 1693 it was "Ordered,—That no member of the House do presume to smoke tobacco in the gallery or at the table of the House, sitting at committees.

The Times says:—"The probable result of disestablishment in England would be a disruption of our old National Church into three fragments at least. The Church Union might, perhaps, form the nucleus of one, the Church Association another, and a third might be formed on a basis which its enemies would call latitudinarian. But this is matter of speculation only; What is certain is that no communion of Englishmen would ever submit to be governed by their clergy. The Prime Minister would be spared the unenviable duty of nominating bishops, and the farce of captuler election would be given up, if the Church of England ceased to be national; but congregations would assert their own rights, and bishops, if chosen at all, would be chosen somewhat like members of Parliament. The system would have its advantages as well as its disadvantages, but whether it would promote the ends of Dr. Temple's leading opponents deserves a good deal of consideration.

In a leader on the recent wholesale gift of peerages, the Times remarks, "This ennobling of ten peers at a batch is an argument, if any were needed, for reconsidering the question of life peerages raised by Lord Russell last sesion. Unexceptionable as we believe all the new peers to be, it is impossible not to have some feeling of uneasiness at seeing ten sprigs of descent grafted at a stroke in the House of Lords. The sons of Whigs elevated to the peerage —nay, Whigs themselves to whom the accident happens—often drop behind into Conservatism; and how is a House of Lords perpetually increasing in numbers, and always inclined to reaction, to be reconciled with an elective assembly rigidly restricted in numbers, and daily more jealous of its authority? It is a severe trial of our faith in the unalterableness of the future, and if our analysis of the feelings of the new peers be correct, life peerages would have satisfied the greater part of them. They accept their honours merely from personal motives; and, though they would doubtless be pleased that their sons should be similarly honoured, they would be satisfied if they were advanced in a similar fashion to themselves by the choice of a Minister as they advance in years."

Ecumenical Council.

DR. CUMMING ON THE POPE'S LAST INVITATION.

To the Editor of the London Times.

SIR,—It has occurred to me that the Pope has fallen into a perplexity from which his infallibility cannot extricate him. In his first letter he invited us Protestants to "avail ourselves of the Ecumenical Council." In his second letter, in reply to my offer to accept the invitation on condition that I should have a hearing in defence of those great truths which he so unsparingly condemned in his apostolical letter to non-Catholics, he writes that he did not "invite us to a discussion of errors already condemned."

But on reflection, he seems to think that he has gone too far, and has shut the door in our faces too hastily. He therefore sends a third letter, in which he explains his meaning, so variously interpreted by his own people, as well as by us heretics. But in this, his latest explanation, he has either misjudged us or has been misled by his informants. He says:—"We now learn that some of those who dissent from our words as to believe that no way is left open to them of making known the difficulties which keep them separated from the Catholic Church."

I beg to assure him that as far as my means of information reach, no such impression exists, and that "wise and prudent men" are as accessible to us in England as in Italy. What priest or prelate in the Propsganda or in the approaching Council can be named superior to Dr. Newman in acuteness of intellect, in logical power, or varied information? He is always ready to receive applicants for instruction. Why, therefore, undertake a journey to Rome in order to obtain what can be fully as well by a three hours' ride to Birmingham? Can it be said that an individual prelate will be less fallible under the shadow of St. Peter's, in which the Council is assembled, than in the oratory of St. Phillip Neri, in Birmingham, in which Dr. Newman presides? Does infallibility radiate from the Council or discussions carried on out side? The assembling of the General Council is the opportunity of which the Pope invites us to avail ourselves. What is the special and rare advantage promised us on our availing ourselves of it in the Pope points out to us in his last letter?—Were we allowed to make our statement to the Council and receive its judicial sentence on the merits of that statement, the Pope might then inform us that an infallible judgment had been given, and therefore he might summon us to rush into his fatherly arms and be reconciled. Were he to hand me over to Archbishop Manning as one of "the wise, prudent and eminent men" there attending the Council, in what respect would Archbishop Manning in Rome exceed Archbishop Manning in No. 8 York place, London? What celestial and inspiring qualities will be in the air of Rome on Dec. 8, 1869, which do not exist in the atmosphere of London Nov. 17, 1869?

Besides, if the Pope is to be proclaimed by the Council as personally infallible, would it not be better for me to wait till after this decision, and then to request an audience and here—what he can then give—an infallible judgment? The infallible Council will have separated, but the infallible Pope will remain. I refuse to "avail myself of the opportunity" of anything short of an infallible Council or an infallible Pope. I am denied the former; shall I be honored with the latter? One need not go to Rome for "prudent and eminent men." They can be had at home.

But where is the infallible Council? Where shall I hear an infallible Pope? There is not now, and there never was such a phenomenon on earth. The Pope pronounces our doctrines to be errors condemned already. This is the very subject on which I want to give and receive information. by whom are these doctrines condemned as errors? Surely the competency of the last General Council held at Trent to pronounce these doctrines to be errors. I maintain and am ready to prove that this tribunal was itself a gigantic error. The whole of that book which Protestants and Roman Catholics equally accept as divine is an appeal to the conscience and private judgment of the laity. Its epistles are addressed to laymen, and the lay Christians of Galatia are told by the inspired Apostle, "If we or an angel from heaven preach to you any other gospel, let him be anathema." These lay Christians could therefore in the exercise of private judgment, say what was and what was not truth. Rome has silenced the conscience and extinguished the light of intellect, and her Popes and Councils, in the midnight that follows, call light darkness and darkness light. It is the title deeds of the tribunal that I can prove to be forgeries. Thereby it will be seen that these "errors condemned" by Popes and Synods are eternal truths, bearing on their brow the signature and the inscription of Heaven, and that the dogmas they have substituted for them are no more the truths of Heaven than the gaslights on our streets are the stars in the sky.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

JOHN CUMMING.

NEURALGIA may be distinguished from rheumatism by the intensity of the pain, its short continuance, and its inability to return on the slightest touch; in acute rheumatism there is fever, redness, heat in the part affected, and some swelling, all of which are absent in Neuralgia; in chronic rheumatism the pain is continuous, less severe, and often worse at night. From toothache, by the shortness of the paroxysm, the rapidity of its succession, and the frequent convulsive twitchings. To obtain immediate relief, use Dr. J. Briggs' Allevantor according to directions. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors, 208 Broadway, N. HOW TO GET RICH.—Remember President Carman's Lecture to-night at Ontario Hall, at half-past seven o'clock.

NORTH RENFREW.—A telegram from Ottawa says the Sheriff of Renfrew has returned Mr. Murray as the member elect for North Renfrew, leaving Mr. Deacon to protest the seat.

LOYAL ORANGE LODGE 727.—At the regular monthly meeting of this Lodge, held in the Orange Hall, Belleville, on Monday evening, Dec. 6th, the following Brethren were elected office bearers for the ensuing year:—James Macoun, W. M.; Alex. Arthurs, D. M.; And. Cowie, Sec.; Wm. Thompson, Treas.; Henry Kinch, C.; J. T. McCreary, D. C.; H. Sexton, F. C.

A CONTRACTOR LOCKED UP.—A telegram from Quebec says:—"Considerable dissatisfaction prevails among the workingmen on Section No. 1 of the Intercolonial, on account of non-payment. The works have been stopped at St. Arsene, and a day or two since the laborers forcibly locked up one of the contractors, Mr. Worthington, until they should be settled with."

MISSIONARY MEETING.—The Annual Missionary Meeting in connection with the John St. Presbyterian Church, which was held last evening, was well attended, and was one of the most interesting and successful ever held under the auspices of that Church here. The chair was occupied by Geo. Robertson, Esq. On the platform were Rev. Wm. Gregg, of Toronto, Rev. J. C. Smith, St. Andrew's Church, Belleville; Rev. J. Scott, Napanee, and Rev. W. McLaren, pastor of the Church. Interesting addresses were delivered by several of the clergymen, those of Rev. Mr. Gregg and Rev. Mr. Smith, being particularly entertaining and profitable. The subscription and collection amounted to the handsome sum of $404. We understand Rev. Mr. Gregg is to deliver a lecture in the John St. Church, on Wednesday evening, subject, "Dr. Chalmers," which we have no doubt will be largely attended.

HOWE'S MUSICAL MONTHLY.—Published by Elias Howe, Boston, at $3 a year. The sixth number of this musical journal has been received. The contents are divided into two departments, Instrumental, and Songs with Piano accompaniment, a test of which will give the reader the best idea of this monthly. The instrumental department contains:—On the Banks of the Beautiful Danube Waltzes; Sylvester Traume Waltzes; Remembrance of Paris Waltzes; Cuckoo Polka; Golden Robin Polka; Der Kleinenlan Polka; Lina Polka Mazurka; Hans Jurgen Polka; Ein Blumchen-im Walde Galopp; Wanderlust Galopp; Prince Frederick Carl March; Fruhlings March. The department of Songs contains: Thou Art so Near, and Yet so Far, Simon the Cellarer; Oh! Are ye Sleeping, Maggie; Why did she kick Me down Stairs; Oh! You Pretty Blue-eyed Witch; Little Bird on the Green Tree; Speak Tender Words; Little Sunbeam; Mantle so Green, (Ballad of ye olden time); Would I give to me a Tear. It is superbly got up, and is evidently one of the best musical monthlies.

Town Council.

MONDAY, Dec. 6, 1869.

PRESENT.—His Worship the Mayor; and Messrs. Henderson, Kelso, Robertson, Vair, Flint, Vandusen, Watters, Holden and Foster.

In consequence of there being no meeting for the past six weeks a large number of petitions, communications and accounts had accumulated, the reading of which occupied nearly an hour.

The Street Committee's report respecting the condition of the Lower Bridge, recommending certain repairs when the ice was sufficiently strong under it, was adopted.

The Finance Committee's report recommending the payment of several accounts, and an appropriation of $200 to the Moira Fire Company, was adopted.

The Report of the Market and Police Committee, recommending the appointment of W.S. Ruttan as an additional policeman, was adopted.

The Committee appointed to confer with a Committee of the County Council, respecting the financial affairs of the two Corporations, submitted a report which was adopted. The Committee was authorized to effect a settlement with the County on the best terms possible.

Notice was given of a By-Law, authorizing the collection of poll tax.

The time for returning the Collector's Rolls was extended till January.

A By-Law was passed appointing places at which to hold the ensuing Town elections, and appointing Returning officers as follows:

BALDWIN WARD.—At the sale room of G. J. Brown. John Wonnacott, Returning officer.

COLEMAN WARD.—At the house of Miss Boulter. John Thomas, Returning officer.

SAMPSON WARD.—At the old Police office, Jas. T. Bell, Returning officer.

KETCHESON WARD.—At the Town Hall. R. M. Roy, Returning officer.

The Mayor was authorized to sign a petition to the Ontario Legislature for an Asylum for the Blind.

Respecting the Memorial of the ratepayers asking the Council to pay the necessary expenses in securing a charter for a Railway—A resolution was passed, authorising the payment of the fees required by the Government in such cases.

The Council adjourned at 11 o'clock.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Dec. 6th, 1869.

PETITIONS.

A large number of petitions were presented.

REAL ESTATE HELD BY RELIGIOUS BODIES.

MR. LAUDER introduced a bill to amend the 69th chapter of the Consolidated Statutes, relative to the holding and conveying of real estate by the religious bodies mentioned therein. The object of the bill was to enable religious bodies to hold land for certain purposes—as for example to build—printing name. It was a public bill, and only amended one of the Consolidated Statutes.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL wished to make his protest against the opinion which had been expressed to the effect that because a bill touched acts which might have been made for public purposes, therefore such bills were private bills. He did not object to this motion.

The bill was then read a first time.

UPPER CANADA COLLEGE.

After some discussion a motion was agreed to, permitting the Committee appointed to investigate into the officers of Upper Canada College, to reduce their quorum.

MEMBERS HOLDING OFFICE.

The remainder of the day was occupied in discussing the following resolutions proposed by Mr. Blake.

"That the tenure, by members of this House, of employments of profit in the gift of the Executive, whether such profit be or not payable out of the public Funds, will tend to subvert the independence of this House, and should be prohibited.

"That the participation of members of this House in contracts for supplies to Provincial Institutions sustained and controlled through the Executive, will tend to subvert the independence of the House, and should be prohibited.

"That the selection of sites for Provincial Institutions, established by the Legislature, should be made solely in the public interest, and should not be to any extent dependent on favor, or on the political opinions prevalent in the locality; and that to make it so dependent will tend to impair public morality and to subvert the independence of the House."

To the first resolution Attorney-General McDonald moved the three month's holst, which was carried. Yeas 26, Nays 21.

The second resolution met the same fate as that of the first.

Upon the third resolution being moved, Attorney General McDonald moved in amendment, "That all the words after that," in the said resolution be expunged and the following substituted in lieu thereof. This House recognizing the judicious selection of the several sites on which the government have caused to be erected the Provincial Institutions for which appropriations were made by the Legislature, are of opinion that there is no cause shown to justify any doubt that the same prudence in respect to future selection of sites will not fail to be observed."

During the discussion the members for Hastings took the opportunity to repel the insult given in their absence by the member for Prescott, Mr. Boyd.

MR. COREY said the honorable member for Prescott had taken an undue advantage of him in his absence on the fifth of November. None but he would have applied the term "political mendacity" to him. He did not know what political principle meant. His language was mean, despicable and contemptible. He accused Mr. Boyd boldly of falsehood.

MR. BLAKE—Order—order.

MR. COREY was not to be put down. He had a right to defend his character. The member for Bruce did not cry order when the honorable member for Prescott read his two hour speeches. Mr. Blake was a good sort of a fellow, but he did not like Mr. Blake's factious opposition. The members of the Opposition talk and blather from morning till morning; they were the most expensive material in that House. If he had ever sat on that side he should leave it as soon as possible for the good of the country. Look at the number for Prescott. He made a sermon—yes he drew a bill and took that for a text; and then he wrote a sermon upon it and called it a speech, and then came down to the House and read it for two hours. Mr. Blake might be a very clever fellow, but he was very expensive to the country. Now he would read a lesson to the member for Prescott. When that gentleman talks about "political mendacity," he should take a looking-glass. If he was in a right state of mind to-night let him draw the curtains and look in the glass, then he would see a reflection of the very essence of political mendacity. He was like that fellow in Don Quixote—he forgot his name.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.—Sancho Panza.

MR. COREY.—Yes, Sancho Panza. (Loud laughter). He was like Sancho Panza at the wind-mills. Well he (Mr. Corby) had followed an independent course—independent of the howlings of that gentleman who howls at camp meetings. (Loud laughter). Let him, if he makes attacks let him make them when they were in the House. (Hear, hear). Then there was the hon. member for Bothwell. He was a good fellow, too, very good looking, very pleasing. He liked him, but he must say he was disappointed with him to-night. (Mr. McKellar—Why?) Well, because he listened to that man from Prescott and then would not let poor Smith do anything. (Loud laughter). He came there to give an honest, independent support to the ministry, and did not regret it, neither would his constituents regret it. He had never attacked anybody, and he asked hon. members opposite not to attack him—certainly not in his absence. He also argued in favor of the location of the institution, and said it could not be surpassed in any part of the Province. He stood upon his dignity when Belleville was assailed, (laughter) and he read from the report of one of their own kidney—the Inspector of prisons—to show that Belleville was just the place for the Asylum. Why then should they be howled down in this objectionable manner? (Laughter). The Asylum was built; it was there; and while it was there it could not be removed. (Loud laughter). If they had obtained anything they had obtained a good thing; and he could tell the member for Hamilton that the unfortunate inmates of the new Asylum were far away from dust and sand dice—in a place where the grass and the trees grew, and where they could enjoy themselves and revel in the beauties of nature at Belleville. (Loud laughter).

Dr. BOULTER also supported the location of the Asylum, and reported upon the member for Bothwell that no one was more happy at raking up old stones than he was, and of telling all the tricks and turns they had in the old parliament. The hon. member for Bothwell had given the conservatives a good character to-night. He said they stuck by one another, and that was more than could be said of the Reformers. They were always in hot water—always searching out for grievances—always finding fault—never happy and genial—never seeming to enjoy themselves. He was glad he did not belong to such a party, and was more than satisfied to remain where he was. The selection of the site had undoubtedly been left with the government, and they had ably and wisely discharged their duty.

The amendment was carried on the following division:—

YEAS.—Messrs. Beatty, Boulter, Calvin, Cameron, Carling (London), Carnegie, Cockburn, Code, Colquhorn, Corby, Craig (Glengarry), Craig (Russell), Cumberland, Ferguson, Grahame (York), Heys, Hooper, Lauder, Lount, Luton, Lyon, Macdonald, Matchett, Monteith, McColl (Elgin), McGill Read, Richards, Rykert, Scott (Grey), Secord, Smith (Leeds and Grenville), Strange, Tett, Wallis, Wigle, Wilson, Wood—38.

NAYS.—Messrs. Baxter, Blake, Boyd, Christie, Currie, Evans, Fitzsimmons, Fraser, Galbraith, Gow, McCall (Norfolk), McKellar, McKim, McMurrich, Oliver, Pardee, Perry, Sexton, St. Clair, Springer, Trow, Williams—22.

RELIABLE NEWS FROM FORT GARRY—ONLY FIFTY MEN STILL IN ARMS—THE SCOTCH AND ENGLISH WAITING TO DECLARE THEMSELVES—MACDOUGALL'S PROCLAMATION EXPECTED—EFFECT OF MCTAVISH'S WARNING.

(From the Globe's Report.)

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 6.

Mr. Thomas Boddy, a reliable man, who only left Fort Garry on November 22nd, gives the following intelligence:—The Scotch and English half-breeds are disgusted with the course of the French half-breeds in the disturbance, and utterly refuse to join with them, and it is believed the insurrection is dying out.

Only about 50 insurgents remain under arms, and the remainder have disbanded and a large portion of them have gone to the plains upon their winter buffalo hunt.

The Insurgent Council met on the 10th and adjourned to the 22nd, the result of their deliberations was unknown; but it was thought probable by the inhabitants of the settlement that they will decide to disband the insurrectionary movement, and invite Gov. McDougall to come in and assume the reins of Government.

The Indian tribes, the Cree and Bungees, are both favorable to Mr. McDougall.

Mr. Boddy says so strong was the opposition of the English and Scotch inhabitants to the course pursued by the French element that had the time arrived for the Hudson Bay Company to turn over the Government to the Dominion when Governor McDougall reached the border, they would have risen in arms, and have conducted him to Fort Garry; but until the 1st of December Governor McDougall would have no authority there, nor would they be justified in taking measures to bring him within the Settlement. They therefore let things take their course, biding their time until December 1st, at which date Mr. McDougall will issue a proclamation, and probably find little or no opposition to his entry.

Governor McTavish was lying very ill, with no hopes of recovery, yet his authority is respected in civil matters.

Since his proclamation, the mails have not been tampered with, nor have travellers been molested.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most desperate Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits. Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST HINSDALE, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1869.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1838 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Hunter, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it are well satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

A Little Girl Buried Alive in Ohio.

(From the Cincinnati Leader, November 30.)

About four weeks ago a little german girl in Brooklyn took sick with the lock jaw, and rumor says that in a few days she was buried. On the evening of her burial the mother, for some reason, was led to the grave, and, with her head inclined close to the ground, thought she heard a noise and believed her child to be moving in a coffin. She scrieked from asking assistance for fear of being ridiculed, and immediately procured a spade and began digging up the earth. Soon she came to the coffin, and hurriedly taking it from the earth opened it, and there found the body of her child, nine hours after its burial, as warm as if it were living, and lying on its side. She took the child to her house where a physician was immediately called in and every restorative applied to bring the child to life. It was too late. The soul had taken its flight, and in a few hours more the body was cold and icy. It was soon buried again and has not since been disturbed. This report is common talk among the citizens of the West Side, and the story as above related is well known to a great many reliable persons residing on Detroit street and Brooklyn.

Farm Proverbs.

Do not keep more live stock on your farm than you can keep well.

House all things as much as possible—animals, utensils and crops.

Sell when you get a fair price, and do not store for rats and speculators.

The more comfortable you can keep your animals the more they will thrive.

A good cow is a profitable machine—the more food she properly digests, the greater the profit.

A few roots daily to all stock, are as welcome as apples to boys and girls.

A singular claim against a railway company has recently been decided in England. The holder of a second class contract ticket for the journey between Bolton and Blackburn some time ago went to the Bolton station for the purpose of going by an afternoon train. As they were unable to find him accommodation in a second class carriage, he took a cab and sued the company for his hire as well as for loss of time. A former trial resulted in a verdict in his favor, and this verdict was confirmed, with costs of a new trial also.

A correspondent of a Dublin paper calls attention to a passage in a speech reported in the Cork Examiner as having been made at an amnesty meeting held at Listowel by the chairman, a Mr. J. O'Neill. 'They,' said the speaker, 'would make a bargain with the priest. Let them pray for us, and we will let them live in peace, and pay them for doing so. Let them read the Bible, and we will read the newspapers for them. The people never consulted the priests about their cows, horses, or sowing of their crops, or about their or anybody's business. As for him, he would become a dry nurse to a bear in Lapland than go under the temporary jurisdiction of any clergyman on earth. He held that the best priest was the worst politician: the man who attended most to the laws of God knew least of the laws of the world." This speech is said to have been received with cries of "Bravo."

The excited American editors who are frantically urging the application of "self-government" to the Winnipeg Territory, would do well to read the following: The Alaska Times of October 23, is literally filled with matter pertaining to the establishment of a territorial government over that new section of the United States. For, though it is now two years since the territory passed into the hands of the United States, the inhabitants have had only a military government to look to, and a self-constituted municipal government in Sitka. Under these circumstances, the people, and all the interests of the country, have been suffering; and on the 18th of October a public meeting was held at Sitka to take measures to remove their present disabilities and embarrassments. The meeting was addressed by several influential persons and among others, by the Hon. Wm. S. Dodge, at great length and with much ability. He reviewed the entire subject, pointed out the disabilities of and under their anomalous situation, with no general government but that of a military depotism, destitute of courts to try civil and criminal cases, except offences against the revenue laws, and with Treasury regulations as unjust and oppressive as any that characterized the administration of Warren Hastings.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

THE reputation this excellent medicine enjoys is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country that the public are familiar with the truth of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, it is unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism; in such it lies dormant, and invites the attack of office-cing or fatal diseases, without discovering a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter case, decline may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart; in tumors formed in the liver, or in bloated its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this powerful antidote: Scrofula, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or blotches on the skin; Neuralgia, also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Diseases, Fits, Epilepsy, and the various Uterous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured in short order, though a long time is required to eradicate these deplorable maladies by any medicine but long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly cured from all their various forms by this purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when dependent upon accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaint, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising from the same cause. From the variable poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great remedy. For the strength and vigor it imparts to those who are languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so swiftly and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent preparation for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of man it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the most serious affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against fatal results, when adopted in the first stages of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden changes of climate, it should be kept on hand in every family. As it induces all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is the most incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the use of Cherry Pectoral. Its complete healing mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that are most obstinate of cure, is well known. No wasting clue could reach these under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any deleterious drug, but vegetable substances whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the above districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe it stands a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the final cures of patients, in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Unacclimated persons, going into districts, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaint, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, and in many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

PREPARED by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold in most of the world.

NEW CHEMICAL PRINCIPLES

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all mineralizing or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, is Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative principles of the two above products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian Resolvent is the only drug yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Skin, and Kidney purifying medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care at the proper season, from the vegetable world, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed expressly by Dr. Radway & Co., to find no spurious admixtures or worthless rots can possibly be mixed with the genuine.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It pays Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum, for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone. But the wonderful improvements it has secured is far more than repaid by Radway's Resolvent, more especially the

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine this is completely eradicating disease and makes sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful without, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted the disease may be, in many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not washed beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the regenerative powers of

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decomposition stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, discarded, and their functions interrupted and destroyed, require the full regenerative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT in a few perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the vital spark exists under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the lamp of life will burn with renewed vigor, and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poisons of Venereal, are universal through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue, and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvents.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a decided change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, the cough, pain, and soreness, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and such of these Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine Bile, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being diverted in their proper channels, and secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If sanative fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secretion to expand in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored; hope for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important want that has heretofore existed, and all those remedied up and advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease may be, or how long in the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply it with healthy nourishment, will so change the system with such constituents as to resolve and exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By its chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and renders sound all deposits of poisonous matter caused by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, as Syphilis, Cancerous Affections, &c., &c., the Active Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents, that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues, cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitter family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Cancers in its many forms, Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Sores in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptious Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancer in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperma, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative power of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are inconvenienced by Mercury, Nitrate of Water, or Patent Diuretics, are quickly relieved and effectually cured by the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of treatment and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided, with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars. "ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his wonderful cure of your medicine. He was aged 13 years was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and arms. Few him in September last, and he was the most revolting and dreaded object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Erysipelas of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Wooden Railways.

At the last meeting of the Committee on Wooden Railways, Mr. Moberly, Chief Engineer of the Northern Railway Company, was called on to give his opinion respecting Wooden Railways. He asked to confer with Mr. Foster and Mr. Hulbert on the subject, and to examine their models before expressing any opinion as to their merits. The following is his report, which he submitted in writing to the Committee to day :—

TORONTO, Dec. 3, 1869.

TO THE CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEE ON WOODEN RAILWAYS :

SIR—In accordance with the request of your Committee, I have examined the systems of wooden rail tracks introduced respectively by Messrs. Foster and Hulbert, and beg to submit the following observations thereon :

Mr. Hulbert's system is the longitudinal maple rail, the grain of the wood running with the track ; the rails are supported on cross ties laid two feet apart ; these ties are notched out, and the rails are fastened into the notches with wooden wedges. He submits two modifications of his principle :

1st. A plain longitudinal rail 4 inches by 7 inches, in 14 feet lengths, with square end joints, and simply held in place in the ties by the wedges.

2nd. A longitudinal rail 4 inches by 7 inches, two thicknesses in depth, breaking joint with square ends, each joint being fastened together with two half inch bolts through from top to bottom of rail, and wedged in the ties in a similar manner to No. 1.

Mr. Foster claims an improvement on Hulbert's system inasmuch as he opposes the end grain of the wood to the action of the trains. He places maple blocks 8½ inches by 7 inches on end to form the rail. These blocks are held together between two longitudinal stringers, slightly notched out, to give a seat for the blocks to rest on ; the stringers break joint, thus forming a continuous rail. The cross ties are notched out and the stringers wedged in the same manner as in Mr. Hulbert's rail. A hard wood pin is driven through the stringers between each joint of the blocks, in order to keep the blocks from shifting out of place.

The following is a comparative estimate of the cost of each system of wooden rail and of an iron T rail, 56 lbs. in the yard. I do not include the earthwork, ballast, or fencing, as I assume the grades and curves to be common to each. The estimate is based on a 5 feet 6 inch gauge, and the cross ties are included :—

Iron rail (56 lbs.).....	$3,000	per mile.
Foster's wood rail	2 100	"
Hulbert's " No. 1...	1 200	"
" " No. 2...	1 420	"

An iron rail, of say 56 lbs. to the yard, should last in this climate with a fair traffic (such as done be the Northern Railway of Canada) about ten years, and the best hard wood rail with a similar traffic could not last over two years. A well constructed hardwood rail, if properly maintained, would probably last five years with a small traffic, and light engines not running over a speed of from 10 to 12 miles an hour.

The main points to be considered in comparing the different systems of wooden rail are simplicity in the number of parts, and convenience in construction and repair because the greater the number of parts, the greater is the liability to get out of repair, particularly in such a climate as Canada, when the sudden thaws and extreme frosts throw the rails out of line and out of level.

As to the comparative merits of the different systems under consideration, I am of opinion that Mr Hulburt's single rail No. 1 (with an addition of a wood fish plate notched and bolted at each point) is the most practicable, as it is the simplest and cheapest in construction, and can most easily be kept in repair.

I consider the wooden railway to be best adapted for colonization roads through new tracts of country where sufficient money cannot be obtained to build an iron road. A wooden railway would serve the purpose until a sufficient traffic could be established to warrant a more substantial track.

I have the honor to be

Your obedient servant,

(Sighed). C. W. MOBERLY, C. E.

A very busy old maid, who always knew everybody else's business better than her own, although she by no means neglected that, was at last reduced to a dying condition. At this stage she articulated to her sister, who was standing at the window : 'Run ! run !—here a knock was heard : the maiden was familiar with every sound in the neighborhood—'see who's at number thirty.' 'A woman selling pies,' replied the sister. 'Pies ! pies !' grasped the expiring virgin ; 'what do they want with pies ?'—'they had pies there yesterday.' With this the maiden drew her last breath.

Ireland.

A REIGN OF TERROR INAUGURATED BY THE FENIANS.

We have had another bloody fortnight, and the unhappy condition of the country is only too plainly shown, not merely by the alarming frequency of assassinations, but by the indifference manifested by one portion of the people, and the openly expressed approval of another portion in relation to these shocking deeds. There seems to be no reason to doubt that the murder of Daniel Callaghan, at Cork, the other night, was either an official or a volunteer act of revenge and punishment for "treason to the cause" of Fenianism. The assassination seems to have been anticipated even by the family of Callaghan ; they expressed no surprise when informed that he was killed, and very little sorrow at his fate. In Cork there is no abhorrence expressed at the murder, but rather a feeling of satisfaction that the traitor has been put out of the way of doing any more mischief. It seems that Callaghan had quarrelled with the financial manager of the brotherhood, and had threatened to make certain disclosures to the government. On the night of his death he was met by two of the brotherhood, who took him to a public house, where he drank freely, and the three then went together towards the centre of the city. Here they were met by three other Fenians, with whom the first two left Callaghan. They proposed to take him home, but instead of that they conducted him to a quiet far distant from any house, and but little interrupted. Here the murder was done, two of the assassins shooting him through the head. The first two had followed at a distance, and after the work was done the three were seen to rejoin them ; they consulted together, and they separated, going in different directions. The police have not succeeded in obtaining the slightest clue to the assassins. On the next day, when a near relative of the murdered man was informed of his death, he coolly remarked, "Well I suppose he deserved it."

Three men have been arrested on suspicion of being the murderers of O'Brien, who was killed under circumstances of great cruelty, but the evidence against them seems very slight. O'Brien was what is called 'gentleman farmer,' holding about ninety acres of land ; but he was also agent for some property in Sligo, and it was his management of this which led to his death. He was met on his way home at eleven o'clock at night by a number of persons, one of whom fired at him, the ball entering his neck. They seized him, twisted his neck-cloth so as to strangle him, stabbed him five times with a dirk, and wound up by smashing in his ribs and breast-bone with a heavy stone, and throwing his body into a hedge.

The attempted assassination of Mr. McAdam, which occured a few nights since, was prefaced by sending to him a letter stating that his ancestors were traitors, and warning him to leave the country with his family within a month. Mr. McAdam, who is also a gentleman farmer, and who had never had any quarrel with his employes or tenants, disregarded the threat ; but the other night, just after he had returned home, and as he was standing before the parlor fire, he was fired at twice by some one standing outside of the house and aiming through the window. Neither of the balls took effect, and McAdam rushed to the door, but found it had been locked and the key taken away. He seized his gun and fired through the window, but the would be murderer had disappeared.

Twenty three magistrate of the County Meath have addressed a memorial to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, praying for protection. They say that in their county two persons have been killed and several wounded by assassins, and they ask that something should be done to put an end to this state of things, even should it be necessary to call an immediate session of parliament for that purpose. The memorial has been sent by the Lord Lieutenant to the Irish Secretary ; but Mr. Fortescue, in acknowledging its reception, says that the twenty three magistrates to kindly favor him with suggestions for remedies to meet the case.—Dublin, (Nov. 18.) Correspondence N. Y. World.

A Pembrokeshire squire took his old servant up to town with him during the year of the exhibition, and Jack was never trusted out alone less he should lose his way ; but one evening his master sent him to a tobacconist's shop close by for some of the weed. Jack had the order written down. While the shopman turned to weigh out the article, Jack laid half a crown on the counter, and a large monkey quietly swept it into the till. Jack having received the parcel, waited for change ; the shopman, who had not noticed the laying down of the money, waited for payment. Jack talked Welsh, the man English, and at last a boy was sent home with Jack, the master being known to the shopkeeper.—Then came Jack's explanation to his master, which, translated, was as follows :—'I did put down the silver, and the gentleman's father, the old man as sits on the counter, did put in the till, and the gentleman did give me no change.'

I. P. B. SOCIETY.—Remember the lecture and musical entertainment before the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society this evening at the Workingmen's Temperance Hall—Lecture to commence at eight o'clock, sharp. The public are invited to attend. No collection will be taken up.

THE FISHING CASES.—Judgment was given to-day by the Police Magistrate in the Fishery cases. Wm. Henry and Robert McDonald ward fined $10 each. Geo. McDonald, being his first offence, was fined $5. Joseph Large, Wm. Slack and Thomas McDonald were dismissed, cases not proven.

LECTURE.—Rev A. Carman, Principal of Albert College, delivered an interesting lecture in Ontario Hall, on Tuesday evening, as per announcement; Subject, "TRADE AND GET RICH;" the Hon Robert Read in the Chair. The lecturer commenced by defining what trade really was, and is at present; shewing how all nations ancient and modern, which had given their attention to the fostering of trade had grown rich and powerful: and predicted an enviable future for the Dominion of Canada, which by industry and unpretending perseverance now occupied the fourth place in the world as a maritime power; that in fact when statistics were examined this Dominion of ours was exceeded in tonnage by only three powers on the globe. The Rev. gentleman occupied an hour and a half in the delivery of his lecture, during which time the interest manifested by the audience never flagged. It was, though a "dry subject," rendered highly interesting and instructive by anecdotes and appropriate recitations.

IN CHANCERY.—KETCHESON vs. CAYLEY et. al.—This case was tried on Tuesday, Dec. 7th, at Cobourg, before Vice Chancellor Mowat. John R Ketcheson, who was a surety for William Cork on a certain Bond to secure payment of a mortgage upon a farm in Madoc to the Defendants, as a Trustee for the "Canada Agency Association" now the Colonial Securities Company. Ketcheson paid $338 50 as bondsman, when the Defendants agreed to foreclose the mortgage against Cork, and give the benefit of such foreclosure to Ketcheson. After the foreclosure was completed Defendants denied all right of Ketcheson to the land. The Court held that Ketcheson's equity as a surety was not foreclosed, and therefore, granted him the right to redeem. Moss and S. J. Bull for Plaintiff; Crooks for Defendant. We need scarcely say we are pleased at the result of this suit. For it is well known that had it not been for the gold excitement in Madoc, there never would have been any attempt to defraud Ketcheson out of his rights as a surety. It is well there is a Court of Chancery to protect people where common law will not.

THE CHURCHMAN'S MAGAZINE.—A remarkably well conducted Magazine bearing this title is now published by the Messrs. White of Hamilton. The December Number is highly interesting. It contains several articles of special interest. The "Tale on Mission Life" is concluded. Then follows a splendid artticle on "The Historic Church," which ought to be extensively read. We have some valuable observations on "Christmas Decorations," a short and excellent article on "The Nativity," by Dr. Bavell; two brief biographical sketches of Mr. Peabody, and Mr. Vankoughnet. The second part of the Magazine contains a lecture by Bishop Ellicott, on "The Birth and Infancy of Christ." A number of selections from recent "Episcopal Charges." A suggestive article is furnished on "Trinity College, Toronto." The Poetry is appropriate to the season, and the religious intelligence is as usual well condensed. The present number of the Magazine indeed is fully equal to any that have gone before, and should command the support of Church men. The publishers promise to throw still more enterprise into this Monthly. The coming number for January "will contain a new Tale, from the pen of a popular writer; a Sermon by Bishop Oxenden; an article on "Free Churches," a clergyman in the Toronto Diocese; a sermon for the New Year, by the late Rev. Mr. Courtney, of Ireland; an Essay on "Free Grace;" the "Revision of the Prayer Book," as considered by Archbishop Trench; Poetry by Mrs. Campbell, &c.; and a variety of other articles—ori ginal and selected."

Kingston and Madoc Railway Bill.

Among other clauses similar to all Railway Bills, there are the following:—

"The company shall have power to lay out, construct and maintain a railway, with wood or iron rails, of not less than three feet guage from any point within the limits of the city of Kingston, to the village of Tamworth in the township of Sheffield, or the vicinity thereof, thence to the village of Madoc in the county of Hastings, with power to pass over any portion of the country between the points aforesaid, and to lay out, construct and maintain branch railways, tramways and waggon roads, not exceeding 7 miles in length, to any mine, peat bog, quarry, mill, lake or river."

"The company shall have power to construct, purchase, charter, and navigate scows, boats, sail and steam vessels on any lake, river, or stream near to, or touched by said railway, for the purpose of traffic therewith."

"The persons named in the first clause are constituted the board of provisional directors of the company, and shall hold office as such until the first election of directors under this Act, and shall have power to open stock books and procure subscriptions of stock for the undertaking, giving at least two weeks previous notice in a newspaper published in the city of Kingston, and in the county of Hastings, and in the Ontario Gazette, of the time and place of their meeting for receiving subscriptions; and the said directors may in their discretion exclude any person from subscribing who, in their judgment, would hinder or delay the company from proceeding with the railway; and may allot and apportion the stock amongst the subscribers, as to the said directors shall seem meet; and the said directors may, in their discretion, cause surveys and plans to be made and executed, and may acquire any plans and surveys now existing; and shall, as hereinafter provided, call a general meeting of the shareholders for the election of directors."

The annual general meeting for the election of Directors is to be held on the fourth Wednesday in January of each year; and no person shall be elected a Director unless he shall be the holder or owner of at least thirty shares of the stock of the Company, upon which all calls made by the Company shall have been paid up. Shares $20 each.

Heads of municipalities taking $10,000 stock are to be ex-officio Directors; parts of municipalities may give bonuses; and the railroad is to be completed within three years from the passage of the act.

Query? Should not municipalities which give bonuses have a representation at the board. Having a direct interest they should have something to say in the management.

Another Assault Case.

John Thompson, Richard Burk, David Brennan, Wm. Campbell and Levi Weese, were brought before the Police Magistrate to-day, on a charge of committing an aggravated assault on Wm. Wray, in Perkins' Saloon, on Saturday afternoon, the 6th December. A brother of Wray's, who was assaulted at the same time, was beaten so badly that he is not able to leave his bed. The examination was simply upon the assault on Wm. Wray. Mr. Jellett appeared for prisoners. W. J. Diamond and C. L. Coleman, County Attorney, for Wray.

Wm. Wray being sworn, deposed as follows:—I was at Perkins' Saloon on Saturday afternoon; David Brennan, Richard Burke and Wm. Campbell, were there; Thompson said, "pay me that quarter of a dollar;" I said, "you are a stranger to me, I do not know you;" I then said, "gentlemen if you want a row I will leave." I was preparing to go off when Brennan dashed up and struck me first; afterwards, all struck me; I cannot say Burke struck me; I saw my brother lying by the stove, and three or four kicking him; I saw Brennan using his hand on the stove and three or four kicking him.

To Mr. Jellett—I own a vessel at the wharf; my name is Wm. Wray; her name is the 'Caroline.' She came into port about the 4th of Nov.; we had no crew at all besides my brother and myself; John Thompson was not employed by me; I do not know if he handed the lines; he was not in my employ; to the best of my opinion Richard Burke was with the party and assisted; I am confident he assisted; David Brennan and Campbell struck me; I did not see Thompson strike me; he was the man who demanded the money, and was with the party; I cannot say I saw Burk strike me if struck Brennan in self defence; I cannot say how many times; once or twice; I did not kick Brennan that I recollect of; I did not strike Brennan first; I did not see Brennan on the ground; I cannot say I saw my brother strike Brennan; I was perfectly sober; to the best of my belief Campbell struck me some place; I cannot say where; Weese struck me somewhere about the head; I cannot swear that Weese came to part us; to the best of my opinion I did not strike him (Weese); I suppose the marks on Brennan's face are from me; I knew Brennan was tipsy; Perkins went out first into the bar-room and came into the other room.

To Mr. Coleman—I met Mr. Perkins on the pavement; he invited me in to have a drink; when Thompson demanded a quarter of a dollar from me, he said he would have it out of me; Brennan also said 'give it to him,' and slapped his fist upon the table, threw down his cigar, and in a threatening manner said 'give it to him;' only my brother and myself and Brennan were in the room at the time.

From the evidence the Court held Thompson and Brennan guilty of the higher crime of attempting to procure money under a menace, and were liable to be indicted.

Mr. Jellett contended that the evidence was very light. His Worship remarked that he had known instances where persons have been hanged on slighter evidence Mr. Brennan said that he supposed if this Court had jurisdiction that it would hang him. His Worship said he did not know that.

After considerable argument the prisoners, Thompson and Brennan, were held to bail, to appear on Friday next, when further evidence is to be produced on behalf of the crown; themselves in $200 and sureties in $100 each. Campbell, Weese and Burke were allowed to go with it bail, as the evidence was not sufficient to implicate them in the higher crime, but merely assisting at the last of the row.

School Trustees.

TUESDAY, Dec. 7th. 1869.

PRESENT—F. McAnnany, Chairman; and Messrs. Coleman, Sisson, Tennant, Sawyer, Shepard and Robertson.

The minutes were read.

On motion of Mr. Sisson, seconded by Mr. Coleman, the letter of Messrs. Ross, Bell & Holden, and that of Mr. Blake, respecting the suit of Smith vs. School Trustees, read at the last meeting, were ordered to be placed on the minutes.

The Secretary read a letter from Messrs. Ross, Bell & Holden, respecting the writ of Sequestration.

In answer to Mr. Coleman, the Secretary said he had served the document on each of the members of the Board except Mr. Falkiner.

Mr. Tennant said he had not seen it.

A letter from Miss Leatch, resigning her position as Assistant Teacher of School No. 6, was read.

On motion of Mr. Sawyer, seconded by Mr. Tennant, the resignation was accepted.

Mr. Pashly, Teacher of School No. 3, sent a communication complaining of the inefficiency of the heating apparatus, and asking for an additional stove.

On motion of Mr. Coleman, seconded by Mr. Robertson, the application of Mr. Pashly was referred to the Committee on Repairs.

The Finance Committee reported, recommending the payment of several accounts. With regard to the account for repairs to School No. 2, amounting to $303.44, and the account of Ross, Bell & Holden for costs in suit of Smith vs. School Trustees, the Committee referred them to the Board for their consideration.

Mr. Shepard explained with respect to the account for repairs to School No. 2, that Mr. Falkiner, a member of the Committee, and also a member for Coleman Ward, not being present at the meeting of the Finance Committee, and the members present not having any personal knowledge of the work done, the Committee did not consider themselves justified in taking any action upon it, and therefore referred it to the Board. He further begged to remind the Board that the estimate only provided for $100 worth of repairs to all the Schools for the year, and here it was found that one School, and a new one at that, had absorbed the whole of the $150 and $50 besides. In making up the estimates the Committee did not contemplate that the new School would require any repairs. The account was verified to by Mr. Evans, C. E., and he supposed it would be required to be paid, though he did not know where the money was to come from.

Mr. Sisson said that the work of the contractor on that building was so badly done that these repairs were necessary. The drain was a complete failure. It was not expected that the expense of these repairs would exceed $60 or $70, but he had no doubt the amount had been properly expended, and the account should be paid.

Mr. Coleman had repeatedly expressed his opposition to the manner in which the money had been voted for that School; and in his opinion it had cost too much already. Here it was found all the appropriations for the year had been expended on this one School, and there was nothing for the other Schools. He wanted to know if the Board had sanctioned any such outlay.

Mr. Shepard stated that the Committee for that Ward had represented to the Board that certain repairs were required or the School would have to be closed up; the Committee further stated the House in question would not exceed $80 or $70, and upon that understanding the Board gave its consent that the repairs should be done.

The account was ordered to be paid as soon as there were funds on hand.

With respect to the account of Messrs. Ross, Bell & Holden, the Secretary did not furnish the Committee with the account, and it was referred to the Board with the supposition that it would be here this evening. Mr. Shepard had asked the Secretary for it, but that officer said he could not find it. Mr. Shepard regretted that the account was not forthcoming, as he was anxious it should be passed off. As Chairman of the Committee he had repeatedly asked for it, but had never yet seen it. A sealed document addressed to the Secretary of the Board was left on the speaker's desk, which he took to the Board; at that meeting Mr. Falkiner acted as Secretary in the absence of the Secretary absent; and when asked what the document was, Mr. Falkiner replied that he did not know; the document remained unopened. Since that evening, he, (Mr. Shepard) had asked for the account repeatedly, but the Secretary said he could not find it.

The Chairman said he supposed a copy could be furnished by Messrs. Ross, Bell & Holden.

After some further discussion Mr. Coleman moved, seconded by Mr. Tennant. That the account of Messrs. Ross, Bell & Holden be referred to the Master for taxation—Carried.

The remainder of the Finance Committee's Report was adopted.

Mr. Shepard moved, seconded by M. Sawyer, That the resignation of the Rev. S. Jones be accepted, and this Board expresses its regret that the Superintendent should have had occasion to leave a position which he has filled with so much credit to himself and honor to the Board.

Mr. Sisson moved the following amendment, which he supported at some length, contending that the Superintendent had exceeded his duties, that his conduct was unbecoming his position, and that he had garbled extracts from the By-Laws of the Board to sustain himself.

Mr. Coleman seconded the amendment, sustaining the position assumed by the report which had been adopted by this Board.

The following is the amendment:

Moved by Mr. Sisson, seconded by Mr. Coleman, that all after the words "be accepted" be struck out, and the following words inserted:

"Whereas soon after the appointment of the present Local Superintendent, this Board found it necessary, with the view of obtaining order and tranquility to pass certain Regulations for his guidance, and among others the following, namely:

"1st. To visit each Common School at least once unexpectedly, and once by Statute appointment each quarter.

2nd. To hold and preside at four examinations of each Common School every year, and to attend each time at each examination, as may be necessary to enable him to make a thorough and truthful report on the progress of the scholars.

3rd. To examine at each quarterly visit the condition of each school, as respects the progress of the pupils, the order and discipline observed, the cleanliness, neatness and deportment of the scholars, the system of instruction pursued, the mode of keeping the school Registers and visitors Book, the average attendance of pupils, the character and condition of the buildings and premises, whether the Rules laid down by the Board for the Regulation of the schools are fully or partially carried out, and if but partially, what part thereof, to offer such advice as he may deem proper, and to report the same to the Board.

4th. To consult and advise, if required, with any Committee which may be appointed for drafting the Rules of Government for the schools, or for any other purpose connected with the advancement of education.

5th. To deliver at least one lecture in Belleville on some subject connected with the object, principles and means of practical education, and to do all in his power to persuade and animate parents and guardians, to improve the character and efficiency of the Common Schools of Belleville."

And, whereas, it is clear that the Section "3" above quoted, has reference solely to the internal economy and sanitary condition of the Schools, and was so intended in connection with the advancement and discipline of the Scholars; and equally clear that the next Section "4" is advisedly qualified by the words "if required," be it therefore

Resolved—That this Board cannot refrain from expressing its disapprobation of the manner in which the Local Superintendent has recently, in an article of his own signature, which has found its way into a public journal, presented a garbled statement of the above quoted portion of the Regulations adverted to, by selecting language out of its connection, and thereby giving to the public a sense and meaning which the plain reading of these sections do not warrant or convey, and which never were intended by this Board."

Mr. Sawyer could not see what object there would be in having a Superintendent at all if his hands were to be tied in the manner proposed. He believed Rev. Mr. Jones had not exceeded his duties.

Mr. Robertson was not prepared to vote for either motion. He did not sufficiently understand the duties of the Superintendent. The Superintendent may have gone too far, but he could not endorse the amendment and wished to be excused voting.

The amendment, after some further discussion, was put and lost on the following division:—

YEAS—Messrs. Sisson, Coleman and Tennant.

NAYS—Messrs. Shepard, Sawyer, and McAnnany.

The original resolution was also put and lost on the same division.

Mr. Sawyer moved, seconded by Mr. Shepard, that Miss Templeton be appointed Assistant Teacher of the Girls' High School in place of Miss Leatch, resigned.

Mr. Sisson objected that the motion was out of order, no notice having been given. The objection was sustained.

Leave was given to give notice of motion, and Mr. Shepard gave notice that at the next meeting he would move for the appointment of Miss Templeton as Assistant Teacher of School No. 6, in place of Miss Leatch, resigned, at a salary of $250 a year.

The Board adjourned.

Dr. Boulter's Speech on Mr. Blake's Resolutions.

DR. BOULTER, said he was well understood last session that the location of these new Asylums was to be left in the hands of the Government. A vote was passed to that effect, and when the members from Hastings found that a new site was to be chosen, they asked the Government to locate one of the new Asylums at Belleville; and he considered it was right that these public institutions should be scattered over the Province. No good reason had been shown, why they should all be located in the central cities of Toronto and Hamilton. He believed the discretion of the Government in locating the new Lunatic Asylum in London, and the Deaf and Dumb Asylum at Belleville, would meet with the approval of this House and the country. (Hear, hear.) He could not understand why it was, that the leaders of the opposition were constantly wasting the time of the House in discussing abstract questions, upon imaginary grievances. Is it not to create a sensation in the country, and make the people believe they are the men who ought to be in power? (Hear, hear.) He could see no good reason why we were to be told over and over again of old political disputes, and dissentions in the Reform party in times gone bye. The Hon. member for Bothwell has given the Conservatives a very good character to-night; he says they have been consistent, and stick together, but in the same breath he wonderfully dashes that character. They are trying to work out this confederation scheme with the Conservatives. The Conservatives of this country have been willing to unite with reasonable Reformers in practical legislation; but, when they look at the Grit section of the Reform party, in the House of this House and the country. (Hear, hear.) He could not understand why it was, that the leaders of the opposition were constantly wasting the time of the House in discussing abstract questions, upon imaginary grievances. Is it not to create a sensation in the country, and make the people believe they are the men who ought to be in power? (Hear, hear.) He could see no good reason why we were to be told over and over again of old political disputes, and dissentions in the Reform party in times gone bye. The Hon. member for Bothwell has given the Conservatives a very good character to-night; he says they have been consistent, and stick together, but in the same breath he wonderfully dashes that character. They are trying to work out this confederation scheme with the Conservatives. The Conservatives of this country have been willing to unite with reasonable Reformers in practical legislation; but, when they look at the Grit section of the Reform party, in the House of this House and the country, they find a party determined to waste the time of the House in fault-finding and making long speeches. The leader of that party never has a full ploughing done in time to meet the House, and when he does get there, he appears to be moving about with a microscope in one hand and a search-warrant in the other, in search of a grievance. (Great laughter.) That gentleman had just told them that the last recreant left the Reform party when the Attorney-General left them. (Hear, hear.) And that Sir John A. McDonald will find it a difficult matter to obtain further accession to his ranks from their party. Now, what were the facts, when they got such several of the best men of the Reform party joining the ranks of Sir John A. McDonald, and have they not taken these same gentlemen on accepting the best offices in the country as soon as possible? Shewing very clearly that good offices are very acceptable to these Reformers. (Hear, hear.) When Sir J. A. McDonald wants to make a draft from this pure Reform party, all he has to do is to hold up a British shilling between his thumb and finger, and in a moment he obtains the cream of the party. (Roars of laughter.) In conclusion he could heartily approve of the conduct of the government in selecting sites for the Asylums last year, and had great pleasure in supporting the amendment of the Attorney-General.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1859 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

A Rich Scene at a Wedding

The Port Hope Canadian says that a couple residing in the vicinity of Hilton, not far from town, were lately engaged to be married, and were "called" three successive Sundays in one of the Town Churches. On the day appointed for the celebration of the ceremony which was to "make this twain one flesh" the happy couple came to town arrayed in all the glory of new store clothes, bringing with them a bucket of ale to bridegroom, who was to officiate as best man, and who, the result proved, was entitled to that character. Leaving the blushing damsel in charge of his brother, the intended husband adjourned to a bar room to get "something hot" to cheer his spirits under the trying ordeal through which he was to pass. Here he met some friends, and amid the congratulations with which he was overwhelmed partook of more than was necessary for elating his courage to the proper point, and soon became oblivious to all sublunar matters, wedding party, bride, prospective domestic bliss, and all. After waiting a reasonable time for his reappearance his affianced and the rest of the party grew uneasy, and finally an expedition was organized to go in search of him. They discovered him in the tavern in a comatose condition, and reported that in that proper state they left him. The bride bore up bravely under this trial—declared that she didn't care a cent—he was a good for nothing wretch, and she was glad to get clear of him. Moreover, she was not going to be humbugged that way out of getting a husband, she came to town to be married, and married she was determined to be—to the first man who would have her. Rather than not, the girl disappointed about a trifle like that, the brother who came to do the 'best man' business, volunteered to be her victim himself. The bargain was soon made, and off he started for a license, returning in a short time, when they were married, and started for home, leaving the other individual to enjoy his little spree as best he could. The affair has created no little talk and much merriment among those acquainted with the facts, and the intended husband is now having a rough time among the wags.

ILLUSTRIOUS DUNCES.—The brilliant Sheridan showed so little capacity as a boy that he was presented to a tutor by his mother with the complimentary accompaniment that he was an incorrigible dunce. Walter Scott was all but a dunce when a boy—always much readier for a bicker than apt at his lessons. At the Edinburgh University, Professor Dalzell pronounced upon him the sentence, 'Dunce he was and dunce he would remain.' Chatterton was returned to his mother's hand as 'a fool of whom nothing could be made.' Burns was a dull boy, good only at athletic exercises. Goldsmith spoke of himself as a plant that flowered late. Robert Clive was a dunce, if not a reprobate, when a youth; but always full of energy even in badness. His family glad to get rid of him shipped him off to Madras, and he lived to lay the foundation of the British power in India. Napoleon and Wellington were both dull boys, not distinguishing themselves in any way at school. Ulysses Grant was called "Useless Grant" by his mother—he was so dull and unhandy when a boy.

THE NEW LORD MAYOR OF LONDON A PRINTER.—The new Lord Mayor of London (Alderman Besley) is a printer. He was born in Exeter, in 1800, and began his business life in his father's printing office as an apprentice, and in the year 1820 went to London, where he joined the firm of Messrs. Thorogood, type founders, in Fenn street. His enterprise and business capacity (says the London City Press) soon became apparent, and he applied himself to the extension of the firm's connections. Various new styles of type were introduced by him and the foundry increased its reputation, so that when Mr. Thorogood retired Mr. Besley stood at the head of a large and flourishing concern. In 1832 he began his connection with the corporation of London, having been returned as one of the representatives of the ward of Aldersgate in the Court of Common Council. Nine years later Sir Peter Laurie, the alderman of the ward, died, and nearly every elector signed the requisition to Mr. Besley to become a candidate for the vacant gown. He accepted, and was returned without opposition. In 1854-5 he filled the office of sheriff of London.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. In recent cases of scrofula or disease, where the system seems saturated with corruption, there is no purified and cured by it. The insidious affections and disorders, which were engendered by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt foe lurks in the circulation for years, undetected, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or internal organs. In the latter, tubercles may be and often are deposited in the lungs or heart, sometimes formed in the liver, or it should its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous Disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Tic, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the mucous and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for undoing these deplorable maladies. Any mercurial ailment lingering in the system will be expelled by the use of this medicine will cure the children, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly relieved by small doses, and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by the depositing of gritty substances in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Erysipelas, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising from disorder of the digestive organs or impurities in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great relaxer for relief and cure of disorders of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, will find great benefit by a thorough course of it. Many of the effections of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to the relief of the most desperate cases of consumption, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for the slightest cough, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a preventive against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family. Indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with the means of checking them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the lungs and throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

Many public speakers throughout the country not publish the certificates of their cures, but they can assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is entirely safe under any conditions of the number and importance of its cures in the ague district are literally legion. It would be folly to believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our people feel entirely safe in recommending it, and receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases of fever and ague, more than usually full.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through malarious localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaint, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy action.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (now from all unreasoning or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the man choice productions of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Fat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care at the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of the most experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co., so that we know they are genuine, and their worth could not possibly be mixed with the pure.

Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone But the wonderful curative power it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the pays for the outlay over and over again; for even in the history of medicine, there never was a remedy so completely building up, repairs, and makes sound strong, healthy, active and beautiful within, the weak and broken-down constitution, as

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, in whose system there are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, but may be built up and strengthened by the use of RADWAY'S but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decompositions stopped, and the elements o decay that are wasting away the body supplied.

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted away, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative powers of nature, and general debility, the use of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT, continued for a few months, for repairs for the waste in the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the waste and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease o the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison o Venereal, are developed through the process of de posits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and there disease in their advanced stages can both be checked and curedby the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change to be benefit for the better when taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its nutrient constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secure healthy nourishment and strength. Instead of Cor hide, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. Instead of inflammation and fever in the system, to correct these secretions, and to expel each deposit or corruption, and in discharging the proper functions, health must soon be restored; hap piness for suffering humanity. Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important result this great restorative power in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how many sores or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with nourishment, will change the system with such constituents as to resolve and excrete the morbid and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By its chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing sound it converts into blood, and its specific action on the blood after entering in the circulation, it eliminates every atom of virus from the blood, and renders the whole mass healthy and pure, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, or by the decomposition of the blood, as in the case of Mercurial, Chronic Rheumatism, &c. for the Mercurial Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or joints, or from some transmissible family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Sores in the Stomach and parts of the Body, Diseases of the Urinary Organs Discharges from the Ears, and the Worst Forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Scurvy, Itch, Scaly or Rough Skin, Worms in the Bowels, Tumors, Cancers, Cancerous Humors and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Vital Power, and all wastes of the Life Principles are within the curative range of Dr. Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it, if for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Stricture and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who, from any cause, are suffering from Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are most quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Catherine's, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his leg that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill o the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, side with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two of three boxes of Radway's Pills and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels &c., had one of his brothers of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk and arms and legs, and all of his in September last, and he was the most revolting an sickening object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured o Fever Sores, Erysipelas of the Skin, Bone Sores, Scrofulous Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West,
March 11, 1865.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvents. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatening Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FERLAND.

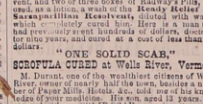

N.B.—The gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Barnia—he received no benefit—in fact declared himself beyond the reach of medicine.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 9, 1869. No. 188.

Financial Depression in the United States.

DULNESS OF BUSINESS—CONTINUED BUSINESS DECLINE.

From the Philadelphia Age, November 29.

The dullness now existing in financial affairs exceeds anything experienced for years past. Speculators have suddenly become cautious and conservative, confining their operations within very narrow limits. This severe contraction cannot fairly be attributed to the revulsion following the September panic in New York, but it is rather the expression of a reaction from speculative excesses, which that event only helped to culminate. It will be a symptom of returning health if capital, deserting the haunts of speculation, shall embark in legitimate industrial and commercial enterprises, and we are not, therefore, inclined to officiate as chief mourners when we witness the stringency now prevalent at the financial centres, and listen to the complaints of hard times that reach our ears from all quarters. This is the path that must be trodden if we would get back to the ancient landmarks. Per augusta ad augusta; first nauseous physic and then convalescence.

From the Chicago Republican, November 29.

The local money market continues to work very stringent, and it is with difficulty that bankers are enabled to accommodate their customers, and in some instances we hear of parties being refused accommodations that have heretofore been enabled to secure about all they needed. There is no disputing the fact that money is tight—much more stringent than it has been at any time for several months past, and bankers, without exception, are free to admit the pressure is very severe.

From the Cincinnati Gazette Nov. 27.

The market is working very close, and the prospects of any relaxation soon are far from encouraging. Outside parties have generally ceased making applications at the regular discount houses, as useless, as the latter are restricting their favors to depositors, and even they are in some cases denied accommodations. There is still a large amount of paper afloat in the open market, and high rates are being paid for money. Depositors are supplied at 10 to 12 per cent. but outsiders are compelled to pay 1½ to 2 per cent. a month, according to the character of the paper and the necessities of the borrowers. The bankers are allowing depositors ½ discount, but others are compelled to accept $1.50 to $2 per $1,000 off.

From the St. Louis Republican, 27th.

None of the banks report any abatement in the rates of discount, which are still quoted at 10 to 12 per cent.; and in the open market 1½ to 2 per cent. is still the asking rate, but the majority of transactions are now at the inside instead of outside figures. Eastern exchange was not offered so freely yesterday, and with the accessions of currency rates were a shade better to sellers. We quote at $2 buying over counter, and selling at 50c. to $1 discount. Between banks some sales were made at $1.50 per thousand off, and one or two at ½ per cent., but the great bulk at $2 discount.

From the Louisville Courier, 27th.

The complaints of the scarcity of currency continue, and the banks are unable to meet the demand of the business community. Under circumstances, rates of interest are irregular and fluctuating, and reliable quotations cannot be given. Those who have funds to loan are able to make their own terms, and the majority of transactions are at the rates ranging from 15 to 20 per cent.

From the New Orleans Commercial, 24th.

The money market worked still closer to-day. The demand for accommodations was greater, and with a comparatively limited supply of funds available for the wants of borowers, the street rates showed a further advance: A 1 notes, with unquestionable collaterals, 1½ per cent. per month, and second class, 2: A 1 business paper without collaterals 1½ to—, and second grade nominal at 2½. Mortgage notes are quoted at 10 to 12 per cent. per annum for A1, and 12 to 15 for second-class.

How Stoves Poison the Air.

The chief surgeon of an hospital in Savoy made observations. He had studied certain symptoms prevalent among his patients. He decided that they were poisoned by the hot air from cast iron stoves. Upon his representations, exact experiments were made under the direction of the French Academy. For years it has been known that iron was permeable to some gases. If that metal be cold, hydrogen passes through it slowly; if red hot, instantly, even against atmospheric pressure. The usual combustion of coal in an ordinary stove or furnace produces among other things carbonic acid and carbonic oxide. The first of these gases does not readily penetrate iron, and, although it is baneful enough, people breathe a third of one per cent. of it in a crowded theatre and survive. But the other gas, carbonic oxide, is a deadly poison; and the French experiments showed that it passed through hot cast iron like water through a sieve.—While the fires of our domestic altars are under good headway, and we are seated now at breakfast, the open draft carries all gases up the chimney. The sides of the furnace grow red hot while we are putting on our overcoats. As soon as we are fairly out of the house and on our way to business the damper is turned, the draft closed and the poisonous oxide rising, crawls literally into the bosoms of our families.

Visit to a Minkery.

'What is a minkery?' asks the reader. Hatters and fur dealers ought to know, because they buy the mink skins at a price varying from 50 cents to $9 or $10 each.—Woman, too, ought to know, who buy collars, muffs and tippets, made of the mink skins, at prices which make their fathers and husbands stare, and make hard times at home. And yet, probably but few of either dealers or wearers do know, because the thing itself is new, a sort of 'Yankee notion,' with no more than half a dozen of them in existence. One may be seen in a little village in Canada called Patterson, 18 miles north of Toronto. The village itself is little more than a store, with a post-office in it, a large agricultural implement manufactory, which employs 100 hands, more or less, and supplies a large part of the province of Ontario, if not all Canada, with most of its ploughs, planters mowers and reapers, and added to these are dwelling houses enough for the proprietor, Mr. Patterson, and the operatives. One of his chief men in the foundry department is Mr. A. P. Conger, who with true Yankee shrewdness and 'an eye to the main chance,' is seeking to make money by breeding and growing minks. For which he sells a pair of the nimble creatures still with them the secret of taking care of them, in respect to inclosure, feeding and appliances for their comfort and health, he gets $100 for them.

Mr. Conger has been engaged in his experiment with his minks about six years; and not in vain. His minkery is now in a most flourishing condition, with 70 or more of the animals in it, in all healthy and beginning to breed. They breed but once a year, and the female then produces often 8 or 9 at a litter. The inclosure contains about half an acre of land, divided between a bushy up-land and a marshy flat, all surrounded by a fence about seven feet high, the boards of which enter the ground about two feet. Near the top a board, a foot perhaps in width; is fastened, inclining downward at an angle of 45 degrees, to prevent unruly minks, from getting over. In this inclosure a low, one-story building perhaps 12 by 40, is constructed, with compartments each side of a central walk, large enough for a single family of minks. An open water tank, a foot across and a foot deep, runs along the whole length of this building through the compartments on each side furnishing ample bathing accommodations for the animals. A little open work iron slide, or door shuts down through this water trough, or tank, to prevent the minks, young or old, from passing into the compartments occupied by their neighbors. On the outside of the building, lengthwise, are sliding doors over small openings, that the minks may pass into the yard or be shut in, at the proprietor's pleasure. They can thus have the liberty of the whole inclosure, or of a part of it ordinarily appropriated to the males; or can be confined to the compartments just described of three feet by four, through which the water pipes pass. The water in these tanks is pure and fresh from a spring, and flowing all the time in these passages through the building. Only at a certain season of the year are the male and female minks allowed to be together in the inclosure. They are fed upon the offal of a butcher's stall, and are by no means expensive or fastidious in their diet. Some of them were exceedingly tame and would permit Mr. Conger to pet them like kittens, but for the most part they exhibited their extreme timidity and wildness. It was curious to see the creatures, and not difficult to see that there might be money made on them, if each pair would produce 8 minks yearly, and their skins at mature growth, bring in market eight dollars each.

Butter may be made in winter as well as in June, but will not be quite so good. The milk must be kept where it will not freeze, and where it will not absorb smokey or other flavors from the kitchen.

Jimmy M——— was one of the bright boys, and although but seven or eight years old, had evinced a love for wealth, and looked forward to the time when he should be a rich man. One morning, at breakfast, his aunt informed him that during the night a pair of twins had been added to the family, which already consisted of three besides Jimmy. The boy dropped his knife and fork, and exclaimed: 'Gracious! Aunt Mary, if father and mother keep on at this rate, there won't be fifty dollars to divide amongst us!'

The effects of contact with the great Yankee nation are everywhere visible in Canada so far as our influence reaches. American industry and capital impart a vitality contrasting gratefully with the torpor and primitive rudeness frequently observed in other sections. Toronto shares largely in this favorable influence; and as might be expected, she shows no signs of decadence. As a proof of her prosperity, the Globe publishes a list of buildings erected in that city during the past year. In 1867 the estimated value of buildings erected was $300,000, last year $500,000, and this year $924,000. This is cheering progress indeed for the whilome stagnant capital of Ontario.—New York Republic.

Here's richness. If, perchance, there is observed in Canada a village or town not prosperous, as might be desired, straightway we have a homily on Canadian backwardness. If, on the other hand, a city is prosperous, as Toronto is now, it is set down to contact with the 'great Yankee nation,' which is bound to be glorified whatever happens. We would 'admire to know,' as the Yankees say, how contact with a people so unprosperous as the Americans are just now, can make Toronto go a-head. The Province of Ontario is, at this moment, in spite of low prices of produce, and other discouragement, infinitely more progressive than any neighboring State of the Union.

HITCHCOCK'S NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE. —The November number of this monthly is upon our table. It contains a selection of choice music, art, notes, and select reading for the Family circle. It is published by Benjamin W. Hitchcock, No. 24 Beekman street New York, 25 cents per number.

FOR RED RIVER.—An Ottawa despatch says:—"It is stated that the Hudson Bay agent at Montreal, D. A. Smith, has been ordered by the Company by cable to go to Fort Garry to help Governor McTavish in arranging matters there, in consequence of the serious illness of the latter."

INDIAN TROUBLES.—A despatch from Fort Laramie, Dec. 8th, says:—"Indian troubles in Wyoming are quite alarming. Bands of Sioux are roaming through the territory, robbing and murdering. The whole male party that left Fort Laramie was driven in by Indians. Another that left several days ago have not been heard from. It is feared they have been captured.

FIRE IN PETERBORO'—SEVERAL INJURED.—A telegram from Peterboro' Dec. 8th says:—"A fire broke out in a wooden building on the corner of George and Hunter streets, about 2:30 a. m., occupied by McKellar & Cameron, Anthony's boot and shoe store, and Mr. T. C. Winship's tobacco factory. The building was totally destroyed. Loss $15,000. Insurance on buildings and stock $7,000. Several explosions of gunpowder occurred, by which the glass in the windows in the vicinity was broken. The loss was considerable from this cause. Several men were seriously injured. Some of them are not expected to recover."

IRISH PROTESTANT BENEVOLENT SOCIETY. On Wednesday evening, Dec. 8th, a lecture was delivered before the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society and a number of others in the Workingmen's Temperance Hall, by G. J. Potts, M. D.; subject, "Celebrated Irishmen." The lecture showed a great deal of research, giving a short notice of the great men of different ages and of all countries, ancient and modern, coming down to those of Ireland, to which the lecturer paid a just tribute, though time would not permit him to enumerate many of them; Goldsmith and Sheridan receiving special attention. The lecture was eloquent in many portions, and highly interesting and instructive. During the evening the audience were entertained by some young gentlemen and ladies who sang a number of songs. Miss O'Carroll presiding at the Piano, who sang with taste and pathos "The Harp that once through Tara's Hall." Miss Fanning sang a couple of pieces that were loudly encored, and Mr. Costello sang "Dublin Bay" in fine style. On the whole the proceedings of the evening were interesting, and we hope the Society will give many of them during the winter.

Red River at Washington.

The United States Congress are evidently anxious that some trouble should grow out of the Red River difficulty, by which they can get a finger into the pie. The following proceedings relating to the matter are reported yesterday:

"The resolution previously offered by Mr. Ramsey, asking for information concerning the presence of Wm. McDougall in Dacotah Territory, and the opposition of the inhabitants to his assumption of the office of Governor, was taken up.

"Mr. Howard said he thought the resolution unnecessary, inasmuch as the interests of the United States were not involved in the local disturbance which had arisen in the Red River country. The disturbance was confined to one of the remote possessions of the Dominion of Canada. He had been informed that Mr. McDougall had received an appointment to exercise authority in the Red River country, but was acting as a private citizen, though having received an assurance of future appointment as Governor of that portion of British America known as the Red River country.

"Mr. Ramsey said a portion of the people he represented enjoyed considerable trade with the Red River country, and that the people of the latter locality were in a state of discontent and revolution. The United States were represented there by a collector of Revenue and other officials, and it seemed important that the exact condition of affairs there should be ascertained. Resolution agreed to."

Almost a Murder.

With rows of almost nightly occurrence, aggravated assaults upon inoffensive persons, murderous attacks upon people in the street, Belleville is rapidly gaining an unenviable reputation. Within the past few weeks there have been several serious offences of this nature, and to-day we are called upon to record another of a still more aggravated character.

Last night, about half past ten o'clock, John Donohue, a young man employed in the store of Mr. John Fox, merchant, was shot in the neck by some person, at present unknown. Donohue, so far as we can learn who is represented as a quiet, inoffensive person, was proceeding quietly along Front Street on the way to his boarding house, when he heard a discharge from a pistol, and simultaneously with the discharge, felt a blow upon his neck. He succeeded, with some difficulty, in reaching the Anglo American hotel, when medical aid was at once procured. Donohue was between Lewis' and Jones' store on Front Street, when the shot was fired, and from that point to the hotel the sidewalk in different places was stained with blood.

The ball entered the fleshy part of the right side of the neck, inflicting a severe wound. Drs. Lister and Hope were called in, and did all they could for the wounded man. The wound was probed with a view to extract the ball but it penetrated too far to get at. The wound is not at present considered dangerous, though from the position of the ball serious results may follow.

There are several street rumors as to the casus belli of this attempted murder. A woman is said to be mixed up with the matter, and the unfortunate man who was shot was mistaken for somebody else, who had wronged the would-be assassin. It is rumored also that the shot was purely accidental, but it is impossible at present to ascertain the actual facts. The wounded man is particularly reticient about the matter, and gives no information which would serve to throw any light upon this mysterious and bloody deed.

As upon nearly every other occasion where rows occur on the streets, the police were no where to be seen. We suppose an investigation will take place at an early day.

Execution.

Nicholas Melady, who murdered his father and mother on Saturday the 6th of June, 1868, in the County of Huron, was hanged on the 7th December inst., in Goderich. Before the execution he confessed the crime, and expressed his regret, but not until the last hope of reprieve, which it was thought through the meagre evidence produced at the trial, might be obtained, had vanished. The murder was of a most brutal kind, and is thus described:

"The kitchen floor was thickly covered with tracks of bloody feet. There had apparently been two persons in the kitchen —one with only his stockings on, the other barefooted. Old Melady lay with his head on the threshold of the bed room door, his feet pointing towards the bed. Mrs Melady's feet were almost touching Melady's feet, and her head towards the bed. The room was flooded with human gore. On the floor lay an empty gun, the barrel and stock violently separated, and the barrel bent, an axe covered with blood and hair, and a piece of iron like the handle of a frying pan, bent almost into the shape of the letter S. A trunk in the room was broken open and apparently rifled of its valuables, showing that robbery as well as murder had been committed. Old Melady had received a gun shot wound sufficient to cause death. His body apparently lay where it had fallen. The woman had also received a shot of a nature to cause death; her skull was split open, and rattled when moved; a leg of a chair was lying in the gaping wound; there was also a deep cut made lengthwise in the throat; and one of her hands was almost severed from the arm. She was so maltreated that it was almost impossible to recognize the features. She was also seven months gone in pregnancy. A more horrible sight than that presented by the house and bodies, it would be difficult to conceive."

The inhuman monster on the day of his execution said in a letter which has been published: "I confess to be guilty of the "horrible crime laid to my charge, and wish "hereby to express my exceeding great "sorrow therefor." He avoids implicating any one else, nor does he say he committed the crime alone, which is significant, as another man named Donovan is in jail awaiting his trial, as an accomplice.

Mr. Johnston, M. P.

We take the following from the sketch "Members out of Parliament," published in a recent number of the Illustrated London News:—

"For obvious reason the movements of Irish members out of Parliament are likely to be worth noticing just now, for it seems that Ireland is to be regenerated and made happy and contented forthwith, and not until that glorious end is attained are our statesmen to cast a glance at the social problems which are ripe for solution in English life. Probably the appearance in the House of no man was looked for with more curiosity than that of Mr. William Johnston chosen M. P. for Belfast at the last election in the Orange interest. There were those who expected in him a large brawny figure, a roaring voice a truculent manner and a combativeness which would set him quarreling with himself, if there was no one else to contend with at all. In fact, the turbaned big person of slight, spare figure, somewhat below the middle height of remarkably quiet, even gentle demeanor; and when he spoke he did so in soft, measured tones, used no extravagant language, though he was pointed and free in the expression of his opinions; and, so far from being bombastive, he was always talking of conciliation and brotherly love amongst Irishmen. Above all, there was about him that which marked him as a gentleman par sang. Indeed, the only very remarkable thing in him is his long, thick flowing beard which is in a manner symbolical of his party creed, inasmuch as, like that of Hudibras, it is an 'orange tawny' in hue. He is altogether one of the best specimens of Irish memberdom."

In a crowd who were looking at the dead body of an engineer killed on a railroad, a fat Dutchman made the remark:—"In the midst of life we are in det!" An Irishman, standing by answered: Be Jabers, ye may well say that, for he owes me ten shillings.'

THE DRY EARTH CURE.—Some remarkable cures of obstinate wounds by the simple application of dry earth have been related. Amongst them, reports the Melbourne Argus, is that of a gentleman at Mount Gambier, Mr. James Pratt, who about six years ago received a kick from a horse below the knee of the right leg. The wound was healed partially, but after a time it broke out again and spread until the whole of the lower part of the leg was affected. Mr. Pratt having heard of the success of the earth treatment in other cases, procured some virgin soil taken from below the roots of the grass and applied it to the wound, which at the time was as large as his hand, and caused the leg to be very much swollen. The result was that the swelling was reduced in the girth measurement three inches upon the first application. The treatment was continued for three weeks, at the end of which time the wound was quite healed.

FOWLS for market ought to be fat. It is poor policy to simply throw down a little corn for a few weeks before the birds are to be killed, and finally give them one big feed of corn, and then cut their heads off, pluck and ship them. Such fowls will bring about half the price they would have brought had they been shut up and fed the same weight of Indian meal, kept well supplied with pure water, had the floor of the coop strewed with well dried earth daily, and cleaned out once a week, and finally fasted eight to twelve hours before they were killed. Birds thus shut together must not quarrel; they should be fed on a variety of food three or four times a day, the last feeding being of hard grain. Feed no musty or damaged wheat, though screenings, consisting of shrunken and broken grains, with foreign seeds, need not be avoided. In packing for market, kill with a small knife. Pluck dry while warm. Dip in hot water to plump them, and pack snugly in tight boxes when cold.

OPENING OF THE ŒCUMENICAL COUNCIL—THE CEREMONIES.

ROME, Dec. 8.—The Œcumenical Council was opened to-day by Pope Pius IX. Weather was unfavorable; rain falling at intervals through the day; but enormous crowds filled the Vatican, and lined the streets through which the members of the Council passed. The Pope, followed by 700 bishops, proceeded to the Hall of Council amid the ringing of bells and thundering of cannon from the Forts of St. Angelo and Mount Aventine. The Holy Father was in fine health. The galleries of the Hall of the Council were occupied by Sovereigns, and Princes, now in Rome, by members of the Corps Diplomatique, and other notables. The ceremonies excelled in grandeur and magnificence any that have taken place in Rome within the present century.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—No Power has a special representative at the Œcumenical Council.

DEVELLE SEATED.

PARIS, December 8.—In the Corps Legislatif to-day Forcade De La Roquette, Minister of Interior, made a speech in favor of the verification of the election of M. Develle, Government candidate for the Corps. He declared that the Government defended the country against evil doctrines, and the country indorsed it, in towns only disorders prevailed. He was in favor of putting down evil doers who had disgraced Paris and other towns during the late election; and concluded by assuring the Deputies that the Government wished to establish liberty, but with prudence and firmness. The speech of the minister was warmly applauded. The right of Develle to his seat was sustained by a vote of 17 to 77.

WASHINGTON, December 8.—The Spanish Minister, to-day presented a paper to the Sec'y of State, denying the statement of the Peruvian Minister, and giving a pledge that the gunboats are not to be used as a means of carrying on war with Peru or any other nation, while in the United States in a state of peace. The Peruvian Minister on receiving a copy of the paper, expressed himself satisfied with the explanation and assurance of the Spanish Minister, therefore the cause of the detention of the Spanish gunboats is removed.

A MONITOR IN A GALE.

WASHINGTON, December 8.—A despatch was read yesterday from the commander of the monitor 'Dictator,' which states that after they left Tybee, for Key West, they encountered a severe gale off the coast of Florida, which lasted over 30 hours. The monitor stood it better than the tugs 'Tryana' and the 'Standish,' which were the vessel's convoys.

ARRIVAL.

NEW YORK, December 9—The Cunard str. 'Cuba,' from Liverpool, arrived this morning with over 300 passengers.

—Attorney-General Macdonald complained in the House on Friday that "the Globe was always open to any slander against himself." We don't see what he had to complain of.—"Fair play is a jewel," and as the Globe has long since slandered every respectable opponent it is surprising that Sandfield Macdonald should complain. In fact, if the Globe did not slander him the people would suspect him; which would be worse.

—The New York Tribune speaks of the recent vote on Mr. Blake's Provincial subsidy resolutions as a "triumph of the anti-Confederates," and his addresses on the 13th resolution, as an "anti Confederation addresses to the Queen." This is a fair indication of the view which will be generally taken of these unfortunate and uncalled for resolutions.

An old miser in Ireland left a will bequeathing 'to my sister in-law, Mary Dennis, four old worsted stockings which she will find under my bed,' to a nephew, 'two other stockings, to the housekeeper for her long and faithful services, my cracked pitcher,' and other legacies of the same character to other persons. The legatees were in a high state of wrath, but one of them having kicked down the pitcher and found it full of guineas, the others examined the stockings and found them similarly lined.

A FRIEND IN NEED.—Grase's Celebrated Salve is a friend indeed. When he has not found it such in curing cuts, burns, bruises, scalds, felons, boils, and even the most obstinate old sores and other sores? It is a wonderful compound, suited alike to the skin of the child and of the adult.

HEENAN AND ENGLAND'S CHAMPION.—We hear that Heenan has again challenged England's Champion for a very heavy sum, but whether the challenge will be accepted or not we cannot say, negotiations are still pending, and should it come to a battle, our advice to all parties concerned is to be well supplied with the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," the finest thing for bruises out, it soon cures sprains, and flesh wounds, and relieves pain almost immediately. Price 25 cents per Bottle. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

NEURALGIA may be distinguished from rheumatism by the intensity of the pain, its short continuance, and its liability to refuse on the slightest touch; in acute rheumatism there is fever, redness, heat in the part affected, and some swelling, all of which are absent in Neuralgia; in chronic rheumatism the pain is continuous, less severe, and often worse at night. From footache, by the shortness of the paroxysm, the rapidity of its succession, and the free and convulsive twitchings. To obtain immediate relief, use Dr. J. Briggs' Alleviator according to directions. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors, 308 Broadway, N. Y. and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

GENTS.—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.

MESSRS. SETH W. FOWLE & SON,

Gentlemen.—During the winter of 1859 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health, and was carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Any Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a boil on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

The Apiary—Wintering Bees, &c.

BY A. C. ATWOOD, SECRETARY ONTARIO BEE KEEPERS' ASSOCIATION.

LETTER NO. 1.

Correspondence of the Chatham Planet.

Before entering on the subject before us I wish to say a word to Agricultural Societies and their Judges with regard to Honey. If this could be seeing exhibited at our shows—that interests so many as bees and bee hives. A look at the crowd around us on your County Show and on the Provincial Show grounds, and, in fact, wherever Horsing proves this. I say that too much cannot be said, and are anxious for information on this particular subject. Then why are there not prizes for bees and bee hives; there is nothing that requires improving more than our old box hives and old system of keeping bees; and nothing will bring about improvement quicker than competition; and with bees and hives, the same as other things, nothing will bring out competition so thoroughly as the offer of respectable prizes at our shows. I am glad to see that the interest in bee keeping is on the increase, and hope in the future to see agricultural societies pay more attention to this branch of industry. Clear honey and box honey have no right to be judged in the same class; the former being judged by its thickness, color and taste, and the latter by its color, the way in which the combs are built, and its general appearance. Judges are never supposed to open honey boxes, and in fact ought not do so; and it only requires a moment's thought to convince them that I am right; for by doing so the combs are broken, the honey begins to run, thereby rendering it unfit to be taken to another Show, or for sale. I am sure a word to the wise will be sufficient in this case, and that there will be no more trouble on this head in future.

I am asked the question on all sides "what shall I do with my weak swarms?" how shall I winter my bees? This is an important question and one that all would do well to consider. If we wish our bees to be profitable next year, or as some have it, "be lucky," we must winter them properly. Parties who are using my hives will will have no difficulty in preparing their weak swarms for winter, or wintering their strong ones anywhere. Small second or third swarms ought either to be returned to the parent stock or two or three of them run into one hive at swarming time; but if not done then it should be done in September or early in October; and it is that require it fed up to the proper weight. If they have been neglected feeding in October and are still too light, and it is too cold for them to come up, remove to a warm dark room and feed them from the top of the hive as fast as they will take it down. Remember bees do not immediately consume what is fed to them in the Fall; they take it down and store it in the combs just the same as if they were gathering from the flowers in July. Bees ought to be disturbed as little as possible in winter; for that reason, all feeding should be done in the Fall. The advantage of putting two or more swarms together in the Fall is that they will winter on less food. The amount of honey required to winter a swarm depends altogether upon where and how it is wintered. I have known a swarm to live four months on five pounds of honey and have others eat 25 pounds and come out little or no better. Bees require to be kept in a dark, dry, quiet place, with an even temperature as near 32 degrees as possible, and away from the influence of fire; in short, just cold enough so that a tin of water placed on the hive would freeze and no more. However, they are much better be too cold than too hot; but in all cases give them upward ventilation, as more bees are destroyed for the want of upward ventilation in winter than from any other cause, I know of, except scarcity of honey. Upward ventilation must be stopped, however, as soon as spring opens, say March first. Do not put bees into winter quarters until winter has fairly set in, usually not sooner than the first week in December. Bees will winter well in cellars if they are dry and ventilated. Keep them from the wall and three feet up from the floor. Box hives should stand inverted with wire cloth tacked on the mouth.—However, I prefer a house built on purpose for wintering; see 'Guide' page 6. I shall be happy to give any information relative to bee keeping by mail free to any person that will enclose a stamp; also any information regarding the Italian bee. My card and price list sent free. I am always at home on Monday of each week, and will be happy to have a call from any Apiarian friend; those from a distance come and stop all night.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its virtues in many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Certain affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been relieved and cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unsuspected foe of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of endemic or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed in the blood throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of the loathsome forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be and freely deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, in time, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scaly or Rough Skin, Pimples, Blotches, Blood, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, and Female Weaknesses.

Syphilitic Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for gathering these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each one are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, in the acute forms of excruciating pain, are often driven out of the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaint, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising from its effects. Even the rankling poisons in the blood, from the absorption of the venom of the reptile or insect, are counteracted by it.

Those who are Languid and Listless, Dispirited, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the long train of symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become more known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted in milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, as indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with the antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the lungs and throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, as our readers can assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing no mercury, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is perfectly harmless in all cases. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts of the United States, Canada, and Mexico, are without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Every one of these cures is a guarantee that we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases of Fever and Ague, which had baffled all other remedies.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through, ague districts, will be well protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where all other remedies had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) ever taken by Dr. Radway's a prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most potent principles of the Sarsaparilla Rhadicus. The Sarsaparilla and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Flesh, and Bone-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care as to the proper time, in their native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed expressly by the Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless root can possibly be palmed upon the purchaser.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It cuts Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) annually, for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone that the wonderful curative powers of this second to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine has there been a remedy that so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound, strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitution.

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with new substance.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-BUILDING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Skin, Scrofula, Mouth, Throat and Skin and body.
It increases the weight and strength.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It eliminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gout, Gravel, and Stone.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, Impotency with the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are deficient or are unable to reasonably perform the perils incident to change of life—cures all Female Weakness.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in even a feeble degree receptive of life, but will find LOST LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the point of repair, fully capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decompositions stopped, and the elements of decay that make life a burden, thrown off.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, and the third and fourth degrees of tissue and secretions altered beyond the curative powers of the system, will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years in a state of health, as the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of the Resolvent. In using medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD will receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all the constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the impurities of the poisons from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and arrested by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands, Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a decided change in the health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be eliminated by the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will accordingly receive proportional accretions. Instead of Tubercle, the Albuminate Juices and other fluids being converted in the circulation, these accretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their appropriate channels, and there will be no stagnation in the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored. Suppurating or inflammatory tumors, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent ensures this important end but by hastening the process in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how long an abscess or engrafted in the fasciæ, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones diseases and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with vigour, as well as change the system with such constituents as to resolve and expectorate the dead and decomposing matters, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. Such is the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it eliminates every atom of virus from the blood, and renders every organ and tissue in the body pure, clean, and healthy by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, or corrupting matter, whether it be Mercury, Lead, Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agent, that many have accumulated in the bones, tissue cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms, Glandular Diseases, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and other strumous forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Heads, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Scurfiness, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Pimples, Cancer in the Womb, and all wasting and painful Discharges. Night Sweats; Loss of Sperm, in all wastes of the Life Principles are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy. Diabetes, all Weak Sore Eyes, Accompanied by Stoppage or Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Benault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, side with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk limbs, cheek, legs, and I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and disgusting object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West,
March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvents. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, FRIDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 10, 1869. No. 189.

When You were Seventeen.

When the hay was mown, Maggie,
In the years long ago,
And while the western sky was rich
With sunset's rosy glow,
Then hand in hand close linked we passed
The dewy ricks between,
And I was one and twenty, Maggie,
And you were seventeen.

Your voice was low and sweet, Maggie;
Your wavy hair was brown;
Your cheek was like the wild red rose
That showered its petals down.
Your eyes were like the blue speed-well,
With dewy moisture sheen,
When I was one and twenty, Maggie,
And you were seventeen.

The spring was in our hearts, Maggie,
And all its hopes were ours,
And we were children in the fields,
Among the opening flowers.
Ay! life was like a summer day
Amid the woodlands green,
For I was one and twenty, Maggie,
And you were seventeen.

The years have come and gone, Maggie,
With sunshine and with shade,
And silvered is the silken hair
That o'er your shoulder strayed
In many a soft and wayward tress,
The fairest ever seen;
When I was one and twenty, Maggie,
And you were seventeen.

Though gently, changing time, Maggie,
Has touched you in his flight;
Your voice has still the old sweet tone,
Your eye the old love-light.
And years can never, never change
The heart you gave, I ween,
When I was one and twenty, Maggie,
And you were seventeen.

Winter Work.

Live stock of all kinds should be looked to daily; they should be fed and watered with the regularity of clock-work. The card, brush and curry comb will if frequently used, not only promote health and cleanliness, but effect a great saving of fodder, while at the same time the paradox of sharpened appetites will be observed. A well cleaned ox, whose skin has its pores thoroughly opened twice a week by the friction of the brush and card, feels better, and will eat coarser food with a better relish than an uncleaned one, and eat it cleaner, and it will do him more good. All kinds of stock should have salt before them, so that their natural craving may be satisfied. Salt and ashes is a good mixture, and a few sods, thrown where the animal can work them over, will be mumbled and chewed with a relish which makes it evident that it is no unnatural appetite, but that they get something which the pastures would supply in summer, and which their systems need equally in the winter.

Cows.—Do not dry off for the mere sake of saving labor. It is injurious to the milking qualities of both the cows and their female offspring. The milking tendency should be encouraged to the utmost if milk is an object with the feeder. Feed well, whether cows are in milk or dry.

Young cattle should be maintained constantly growing, and not exposed to the weather, if simply for the sake of economy of fodder and the production of manure. We have repeatedly said, pine lumber is a great deal cheaper than hay as a means of warming stock, for fodder is little besides fuel, to maintain the eternal heat in exposed animals.

Horses.—We do not believe in keeping horses as warm as other stock in the winter. Always rub down and blanket one that comes in wet and tired. Never expose a horse to drafts of air, or let him stand in the wind if it can be helped, and if obliged to leave horses in the wind always blanket them. In the stable pull off the blanket soon after a horse is cooled off. A horse ought to have a good portion of hay daily. High feeding without it gives him a meater barrel, but it is unnatural diet, and of course less healthful. The good grooming and regular care and exercise of city horses, and those fed in the same way, make good, in a measure, the defects of this diet, which farmers' horses, that live on dry hay and corn stalks the winter through, and are only brushed off a little, to get the hay seeds out of their foretops, Sundays, remain healthy (if they do) on account of their more natural fare.

Sheep.—Feed so as to keep them gaining; if fattening, feed pretty freely, being careful that none get too much, and none too little grain. A sheep overfed a few days is apt to get seriously off its feed and run back so that it Will hardly recover its former stand all winter. Litter the yard freely.—American Agriculturist.

Special Notice.—Morrisburgh, Sept. 1869.—Gentlemen,—Suffering from the prostration and weakness caused by a severe attack of Influenza, the past winter, I was induced to try your Sarsaparillian Resolvent as a restorative, and its effects were most satisfactory. I therefore, conscientiously recommend it as a thorough purifier and invigorator of the human system, thus giving increased health and vitality to the weary invalid. (Signed), Mrs. James Glassford.

Ontario Legislature.

Wednesday, Dec. 8th, 1869.

Attorney-General McDonald presented the fourth report of the Committee on Railways, reporting the rejection of the preamble of the Erie and Niagara Railway Bill.

The Bill to amend the Law of Evidence in civil causes, was read a second time in Committee, and ordered to a third reading on Thursday.

Privileges of the Assembly.

Mr. Blake's Bill to repeal an Act intitled "An Act to define the Privileges, Powers and Immunities of the Legislative Assembly, and to give summary protection to persons employed in the publication of Sessional Papers," was next on the order. He said that this Bill had been vetoed by the Dominion Government. It was quite evident that this House was in the wrong, and that it had, under the leadership of the Attorney-General, placed itself in a humiliating position. He withdrew his order.

Attorney General Macdonald said he was not ashamed of having adhered to the rights of this House, and he was sure if the hon. member for Bruce had been in his place, more mistakes would have occurred. The Legislatures of Quebec and Nova Scotia had made similar mistakes. He said that his hand would become paralysed, and his tongue refuse its office before he would move the repeal of a Bill to declare the rights of this House. Why, what could the Assembly do without this Act? It could not even punish a person who came in and broke the peace before their eyes. All that could be done would be to have the offender arrested and tried by a Police Magistrate. He (Atty.-Gen.) refused to repeal the Bill. He insisted that the House had the power it had exercised.—It had powers in some respects in excess of the Dominion House, inasmuch as it could affect private rights in Ontario. He would not admit, by any act of his, that this House had not the privilege of controlling its action. He hoped that before many months were over, it would be proved that his view of the case was right.

Hon. Mr. Cameron said that the Government had refused to repeal the Act referred to, because it protested against the action of the authorities at Ottawa. It was to be hoped that when the Imperial authorities heard both sides of the question, they would agree with the views expressed by this Government in maintaining the dignity of the Province. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Blake said that this House in asking too much got nothing at all.

Hon. Mr. Richards said that there were no specific powers given to them, but they had the power of providing for the liberty which was necessary to them as members of a Legislative body.

The order was then withdrawn.

Lands sold for taxes.

Mr. Sinclair moved the second reading of his Bill to notify the owners of lands sold for taxes of the sale thereof. He explained that at present large amounts of lands were sold for taxes without the knowledge of the owner. His Bill was intended to remedy this.

Mr. Lyon said that proper notice was given under the present law of all sales that were to take place. He did not see the utility of the measure.

Mr. Monteith said the bill would not meet the purpose intended by the mover, but would give extra trouble to the Treasurer.

After some further debate the bill was read a second time and referred to the Committee on the Assessment Bill.

Proxy Legislation.

Mr. Springer said he was authorized by Mr. Clemens to proceed with his Bill to consolidate the Montreal Fire Insurance Company doing business in the Province. Moved the second reading.

Atty. General Macdonald said that it was not the custom of the Parliament to allow a member to proceed with the Bill of another. The hon. member for Bruce had proceeded that day with the Bill of the member for Leeds, because that measure had been fully explained. The introducer of a Bill should be there to explain it at its every stage, and be responsible for it. He had asked the introducer of the Bill the other night, for an explanation, but he sat down without giving it, and appeared to be ashamed of it. It was mere courtesy on the part of the House to allow a member of the house to take charge of the Bill of another member.

Quite a lively discussion arose as to the point of order. The Speaker ruled that the hon. member might proceed with the motion.

Mr. Springer said the intention of the Bill was to consolidate the special Acts on the subject, and moved the second reading.

Mr. McMurrich asked for some further information as to the 7th clause, and its bearings on the subsequent clauses.

Mr. Springer said that he intended to refer the Bill to a Special Committee, of which the hon. member would be one.

Attorney-General MACDONALD said that evidently the Bill was the production of some one who was endeavoring to legislate for his own sake.

Mr. SPRINGER—No. It is the production of the delegates of all the Insurance Companies.

Attorney General MACDONALD—Yes, in their own interests. What we wanted was that the matter should be explained to the House. Half the members had not waded through this Bill of 77 clauses, and did not understand anything about it. The House ought not to adopt such a Bill blindfold.

Hon. Mr. MCMURRICH said a difficulty would arise in mixing up the Mutual Insurance business with the general stock business.

Mr. LYON moved the adjournment of the debate.—Carried.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS.

The House went into Committee, Mr. Lauder in the chair, and passed the Bill—Atty. General Macdonald—respecting the establishment of Public Fairs. The introducer explained that the necessity for these fairs was evident, but that under the present law there was no authority for their establishment by the Lieut Governor on the recommendation of this country.

Some discussion arose on the advisability of disallowing the sale of liquors at these fairs. Some objected to the sale of any kind of merchandise whatever, as the object of these fairs was to sell live stock.

The Committee reported.

The House adjourned at 10 o'clock.

THURSDAY, Dec. 9th, 1869.

Mr. CARNEGIE presented a report from the select committee on Wooden Railways, favoring their construction which was ordered to be printed.

Mr. MURRAY the member returned for North Renfrew, was introduced by Messrs. Lyon and Code, and took his seat.

THE SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

A long debate took place upon a motion to adopt the report of the Railway Committee rejecting what is termed the Thompson Air Line. The motion was amended and in that shape carried.

CONVEYANCES TO RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS.

An Act was introduced further to extend the registration of conveyances to religious institutions and read a first time.

ASSESSMENT.

The petition of members of the Civil Service, relative to the Assessment Law was ordered to be printed.

CHURCHES.

A bill relative to property held by the primitive Methodist and Presbyterian Church in Stormont, was passed through Committee.

THE LAW OF EVIDENCE.

The Bill relating to the law of Evidence, giving both parties the right to given evidence was passed upon a vote of 34 to 20.

MONTREAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES.

The second reading of this bill to amend and consolidate the laws regulating Mutual Fire Insurance Companies elicited a lengthy discussion and it was finally passed and referred to a select Committee.

MADOC RAILWAY.

The Kingston and Madoc Railway Bill passed the Railway Committee, with some amendments. The following are the proceedings before the Committee.

The Chairman objected to the 9th clause, viz: "That the company shall have power to construct, purchase, charter, and navigate steam, boats, and sail and steam vessels on any lake, river, or stream near to, or touched by the railway for the purpose of traffic therewith." He said the act would empower the company to navigate the river St. Lawrence and Ontario.

The clause was finally amended by adding the words "except the river St. Lawrence and Lake Ontario."

The remaining clauses were passed without any material alteration; but an additional one was inserted to the effect that any aid afforded to the company by municipalities might be upon a provision securing it to certain purposes, and that the fact that the money so raised is applied to these particular works shall be certified by the chief engineer of the railway.

The bill was finally passed with the above amendments.

NEURALGIA may be distinguished from rheumatism by the intensity of the pain, its short continuance, and its liability to recure on the slightest touch; in acute rheumatism there is fever, redness, heat in the part affected, and some swelling, all of which are absent in neuralgia; in chronic rheumatism the pain is continuous, less severe, and often worse at night. From toothache, by the shortness of the paroxysm, the rapidity of its succession, and the leaving out convulsive twitchings. To obtain immediate relief, use Dr. J. Briggs' Alleviator according to directions. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors, 208 Broadway, N. Y. and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has recommended it a general favourite. THE CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks.—"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., ¼lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 91—tuf33

LECTURE.—The Workingmen's Temperance Association have procured the services of the Rev. James C. Smith, to deliver a lecture in Ontario Hall, on Wednesday evening, 15th instant; subject; "Moral and Intellectual Husbandry." From the Rev. gentleman's known ability a treat may be anticipated.

SOIREE.—The annual Soiree and Tea Meeting of the John St. Presbyterian Church, was held in Ontario Hall, on Thursday evening, 9th inst., and was a very great success, there being over 500 persons present. After the edibles, which were provided in great profusion, had been partaken of, Mr J. G. Campbell was called to the chair, who called upon the Misses Alport for a duett on the piano, which was played with much taste and skill. Selections from the opera of Fradiavolo, and in reply to an encore, "Peter Grey" were well sung by Mr. L. Crozier. The Rev. Mr. Brethour followed in a short and appropriate speech, and Mr. John Crozier sang, "Parted by the River Side," with much taste. Mr. Geo. Neilson favored the audience with "Be kind to old Granny," and being encored, "The Rowan Tree," both of which songs were well rendered and duly appreciated.—The Rev. S. Jones spoke for a short time, and with anecdote and witticism amused and instructed the audience. A very sweet solo upon the flute by Mr. John Deans, was well received and encored. Mr. Zablocki sang the Marseillaise in excellent style, and a comic song. The Rev. Mr. Gregg made a few instructive remarks, when another duett on the piano by Miss Alport and Miss Belyea, was given. The Rev. Mr. Smith gave the people some home thrusts, which being deserved and to the point were well received. After vote of thanks and the National Anthem, the meeting was closed with the Benediction.

Municipal Elections.

On Monday, the 20th inst., the nomination for Mayor and Councillors of the Town of Belleville, takes place. Since the new law came into effect requiring the election of only one member for each Ward annually, there has not been so much interest taken in the Municipal Elections as when the whole Council was chosen at one time; and we question very much whether the want of this interest is not of great disadvantage to the people. The change was but an experiment—an experiment which has worked badly, and we have little doubt that the Bill introduced in the Ontario Legislature, to go back to the old system, will very soon become law.

It has been customary in this Town for years past to allow the Mayor at least two years' lease of office, particularly if his conduct, as such, merits public approval. The present incumbent, P. D. Conger, Esq., has given such general satisfaction, and makes such an excellent Mayor, that he will in all probability be elected by acclamation. He certainly deserves it.

With respect to the Ward elections, as there have been no public announcements of candidates, we can only repeat public rumor.

In Ketcheson Ward the names of Mr. James Kennedy, whose term expires this year, and Mr. S. B. Smith, have been mentioned. Mr. Kennedy is one of the oldest Councillors at the Board; he has been a hard working, practical member; and although he has expressed a wish to retire from public life, we hope he will allow himself to be a candidate again.

In Samson Ward, Mr. Tannahill's term of office expires. We have heard several names mentioned in connection with this Ward, and more than likely there will be a contest.

In Baldwin Ward, Mr. C. J. Starling's term of office expires, and we hope he will consent to run again.

In Coleman Ward, Mr. Alex. Robertson goes out, and being one of the most deservedly popular young men in the Town, we presume he will "go in" without opposition.

Dominion Executive Council.

By an Order in Council made in Ottawa on the 9th inst. the respective duties of the departments of the Secretary of State for Canada and Secretary of State for the Provinces are more clearly defined:—

Hon. Mr. ASHER will assume charge—1st. Of all State correspondence and care of State records. 2nd. Registration of all instruments under the great seal as Registrar-General. 3rd. Ordnance lands and public real property not under the management of the Board of Public Works.

Hon. Mr. HOWE will conduct—1st. All correspondence between the Dominion and Provincial governments, and will have charge of all records with regard to the relations of the several Provinces with each other. 2nd. Management of Indian affairs. As the Secretary of State for the Provinces will conduct the correspondence with Governor McDougall relative to the affairs of the North-west territory, it has been deemed desirable to transfer the Indian branch of the Secretary of State department and place it under Mr. Howe's direction. 3rd. Superviion of geological survey.

The Assault Case

The parties remanded were brought up again to day; Wray the one most seriously injured, was not yet able to give his evidence. The examination on the charge of common assault was continued.

Mrs. AGNES PERKINS, sworn.—Wm. Wray came into our house on Saturday afternoon and read a paper for some time; afterward the other Wray came in; they went to the bar and drank a glass of whiskey; Mr. Perkins then asked them to drink and they took another glass, and then went into the little room off the bar; Brennan and Thompson came out of the back room; Brennan said he wanted his pay for Thompson for working on the boat; Wray said he did not know him; he never saw him before; I came out in the room after Brennan came out; he used very opprobious language to Wray; they had got from the bar room into the back room; don't know what occurred there; I told them I did not want any fighting there; I did not see the first blow struck.

To Mr. Coleman—I did not see Burk there at all, until after the row was over; Campbell struck me, but it was not intentional, as Campbell was going with the other men, I caught hold of his sleeve and told him there was enough in there now; he turned and struck me; it was as if shoving me away; he had his coat off then; it was about half-past two when Mr. Wray and Mr. Perkins came in; I went into the back room to wait upon some parties, and when I came back they had their coats off; I told them I did not want any fighting; I had to go again into the back room, and when I came back they were fighting; when they came out of the room Thompson and Brennan again demanded the money of Wray; Wray said he did not know Thompson, nor did he owe him anything; Brennan said he knew Thompson would not tell a lie, and insisted, in an angry manner, that Wray should pay him; Brennan and Wray had their coats off; at this time Campbell and Weese were not there; I did not see any parties striking any blows, nor did I see any kicking.

To Mr. Jellett—Both the Wrays took a glass of hot whiskey each; when Mr. Perkins came in he requested them; could not say what liquor they drank the second time; after the money was demanded the Wrays had plenty of opportunity to go out peacefully; I did not see any person tear Wray's coat off, nor did I did see Wray take his coat off; after the fight was over both the Wrays stopped a few moments in the bar-room.

To the Court—The Wrays were perfectly sober as far as I could judge.

ROBERT BUNTING, sworn.—Went into Perkins' Saloon on Saturday with a number of persons; heard some jangling in a small room off the bar; Thompson demanded a quarter of a dollar from Wray; understood it was for shoving a vessel off from the wharf; Wm. Wray said he did not know him, that he had not done any work for him; there was considerable squabbling; I saw the fight commence; they had got the matter hushed up; Thompson and Brennan stood off as if they did not want anything more to do with it; Wray sidled up to them as if he wanted to carry the matter further; I heard some one say "you are a son of a b——h;" Brennan was leaning against the counter at the time, and as soon as he heard the words he straightened up and attempted to pull off his coat; I did not hear a blow struck; did not see a blow struck; I was in the room all the time; saw them around the stove; suppose some blows were struck; they all got mixed up and could not recognize any one being shoved or struck; I was in the room all the time until the fight was over; they were all like a swarm of bees; there was a good deal of noise in the room; cannot say whether the Wrays left before I did; the Wrays were bleeding considerably.

To Mr. Jellett—When Wray sidled up to Brennan, he understood Wray to say that he would lick Brennan; it must have been one of the two Wrays who said "You are a son of a b——h."

Wm. WRAY, sworn—My brother is not able to move.

Mr. Roy said that Dr. Wm. Hope told him that Wray was too ill to give his evidence to day.

Jas. WRAY, re-examined.—Dr. Hope was with me this morning, and said my brother was not able to get out; it would be very dangerous; he did not believe he would be able to get out until next week; I took my overcoat off after Brennan took his coat off, and after he struck me; they tore my inside coat off; it was in the barroom when my brother got burned at the big stove.

To Mr. Jellett—I don't know who broke the pane of glass; when I was getting my coat off Brennan dashed at me, and I was struck once or twice before I got my coat off; Thompson also struck me after the crowd came in; my brother did not drink a glass of hot whiskey in my presence.

HUGH THOMPSON sworn—I went into the saloon just as the row was finished; There was a crowd there; Burke went in with me, don't think he was in the fight; I saw one blow struck, it was struck by Willie Weese; he struck Wray; I did not see his father; Willie Weese said to Wray "you son of a b——h you struck my father;" Burke caught hold of young Weese and said he would hit him for half a copper; Brennan had a bloody face.

REESE PRICE, sworn—I heard the window in Perkins' saloon broke while I was across at my place of business; and I went over; Burke came in after me; the row was pretty much over then; Burke was not in the fight; there was no blow struck to my knowledge after I went in.

This closed the testimony for the day. Burke was discharged and the other prisoners were remanded until Monday next.

The Shooting Case.

Another rumor gives an entirely different version of the affair. It is said that a girl of easy virtue while endeavouring to find out a certain locality, was observed by some young fellows who, ascertaining her errand, volunteered to direct her. On arriving at the place the preconcerted signal was given, but instead of the "lone female" who was expected, lo! and behold, half a dozen young bloods confronted the astonished gaze of the party who had been waiting, sadly longing for his love's return. Visions of midnight burglars, robbers, garrotters, and horrible thoughts of cold-blooded murder flitted across his brain and filled his mind, and wild with frenzy and nervous with alarm, he drew his pistol and fired. The shot took effect in the neck of young Donohue, who was either with the party or was passing at the time; our informant cannot say.

Some put down the whole thing as a "practical joke," and are disposed to treat the affair as an innocent kind of amusement. If it was intended as a joke it came very near being of a more serious and practical character than the unfortunate victim who was shot, would be desirous of submitting to a second time. It should certainly be a lesson to persons who are in the habit of carrying fire-arms. Nervous and excitable people should never carry fire-arms, and if they happen to have them about their person, should always keep them concealed.

It is also a lesson to young men to be at home in proper time and not to indulge in pranks which of themselves are not commendable.

The Silver Question.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR—Will you allow me through the medium of your columns to thank the merchants of Belleville, for the very prompt manner in which they are delivering the silver tendered by them for exportation. Within the last five weeks, over nine thousand dollars have been delivered here, of which eight thousand dollars have been exported out of the country, direct from this place. Since the first of November last, there has been exported from Montreal, for account of that city, Quebec, and a few towns in Ontario, where it was found impracticable to export direct, one hundred and three thousand dollars. From cities and towns in Ontario, over twenty five thousand dollars more have gone directly out of the country. The shipments now amount to nearly $30,000, and I am in hopes of being able to bring them up to $40,000 per week by the first of January next.

The result of these shipments, as anticipated by me, has been to prevent the advance in the rate of discount usual at this season, the average rate throughout the country being about 2½ to 2¾ per cent, against 4 per cent at the same time last year, indeed for the last five years.

As I shall shortly publish a statement of the deliveries of silver coin for exportation, those who are behind will oblige by coming "up to time."

Should we succeed in securing the removal from the country of about half a million dollars of silver coin at this time, a strong effort will be made during the approaching Session of Parliament to induce the Government to withdraw the balance from circulation, replacing the same by a Canadian coinage made a legal tender to a limited amount.

I am, Sir,
Respectfully Yours,
W. WEIR.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best pectoral remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing as much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, troubled with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depressed feeling such as cannot be described by myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, little if any good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Hurlbut, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it are more than satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

Standard Periodicals for 1870.

Republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York.

Indispensable to all desirous of being well informed on the great subjects of the day.

1. The Edinburgh Review.

This is the oldest of series. In its main features it still follows in the path marked out by Brougham, Jeffrey, Sydney Smith, and Lord Holland, its original founders and first contributors.

2. The London Quarterly Review,

which commences its 128th volume with the January number, was set on foot as a rival to the EDINBURGH. It resolutely maintains its opposition in politics, and shows equal vigor in its literary department.

3. The Westminster Review

has just closed its 92d volume. In point of literary ability this Review is fast rising to a level with its competitors. It is the advocate of political and religious liberalism.

4. The North British Review,

now in its 51st volume, occupies a very high position in periodical literature. Passing beyond the narrow formalism of schools and parties, it appeals to a wider range of sympathies and a higher integrity of conviction.

5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine

was commenced 52 years ago. Equalling the Quarterlies in its literary and scientific departments, it has won a wide reputation for the narratives and sketches which enliven its pages.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

NEW
APPLIED IN THE CURE OF
Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Fat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care at the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless root can possibly be mixed with the pure.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone. But the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat, and Skin and body.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted.
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the wastes and decompositions stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands, Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine Bile, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored; happily for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important want that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifyers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairs, will so charge the system with such constituents as to resolve and exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and resolves away all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, as Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures, and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are inconvenienced by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"
SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Snow-Flakes.

Out of the bosom of the air,
Out of the cloud-folds of her garments shaken,
Over the woodlands brown and bare,
Over the harvest fields forsaken,
Silent, and soft, and slow
Descends the snow.

Even as our cloudy fancies take
Suddenly shape in some divine expression,
Even as the troubled heart doth make
In the white countenance confession,
The troubled sky reveals
The grief it feels.

This is the poem of the air,
Slowly in silent syllables recorded;
This is the secret of despair,
Long in its cloudy bosom hoarded;
Now whispered and revealed
To wood and field.

Work for Women.

In a cause which affects them to so great an extent in all their various relations, why should we not have the co-operation of woman? The wrongs of women growing out of the drink traffic can not be estimated. Our daily papers teem with accounts of the savage cruelty to which women are subject at the hands of drunken husbands; yet, numerous as are these heart-rending cases of savage violence, only a small proportion of the whole met the public eye. How many women suffer in secret, and hide their wrongs from the world! Besides it is impossible to estimate the number of children who suffer from the same cause, day by day, witnessing a parent's drunkenness and ferocity, pining in want, and having the passions awakened at a tender age. Who can wonder that discipline of such a kind should drive thousands of children to vagrancy and crime!

Wives! mothers! sisters! do you want your husbands and sons and brothers to become drunkards? We know you do not; and if not, then we bespeak your influence in behalf of the movement which strikes at the cause of all this evil.

But suppose these your relatives are all safe, because they have taken the pledge—Then think of the hundreds of thousands of your sisters who are suffering poverty, shame, degradation and misery not to be described by the intemperance of their relations, and have pity upon them.

Almost omnipotent, woman of America, is your influence in this movement. You have it in your power to do more than any others to dry up one chief source of human misery—especially of women's misery—and to cause plenty to return, and the voice of gladness to resound again, through many a place of habitation where now pinching poverty oppresses and sighs and lamentations are uttered. Will you, then, betake yourselves to the furtherance of this glorious enterprise?

Begin at home; drive from the pantry and the sideboard all that can intoxicate; press truth home upon every member of your family. Relax not then your efforts. Gather your female friends together; discuss the matter with them; band yourselves in associations that seek by personal example, influence and the circulation of printed pages the removal of this great curse.

Do this, woman of America, and millions shall rise up to call you blessed!—Nat. Temp. Advocate.

Sunday Morning.

How many pleasant breakfast tables it looks down upon. No need to hurry away to the office, or store, or counting room. Fathers come leisurely down in dressing-gown and slippers, and sip their coffee without danger of choking. They have time to look round and see how tall the children are growing, and that nothing in this world is so beautiful as a rosy baby fresh from slumber. Mother, too, has the old girlish smile that comes not often on a week day, or if it does, father has not time to notice it, and that, perhaps, after all, is the reason it comes so seldom. It is pleasant, after eggs and coffee, to sit comfortably down by the fire, the centre of a ring of happy faces, and hear the church bells chime. Time enough yet to go, for this is the first bell.

Church bells are not, to my ear, "an impertinence." One is a free agent. I am free to go, which I like to do; you are free to stay if you prefer; though I may think you make a mistake. I don't say that I should go every Sunday to hear a man who was always binding doctrines together like bundles of dry sticks, and thrusting them at his yawning hearers. I want to hear a sermon that any poor soul who struggles into church, from any by-lane or alley, can understand, and carry home with him to his cellar or garret—not a sermon that comes on chariot wheels, but afoot, and with a warm, life-like grasp for every honest eye, and dishonest—hand in the assembly, defaulter or Magdalen; for who bade you slam Heaven's gate in their faces?

I want a human sermon. I don't care what Melchisedek, or Zerubbabel, or Kerenhappuk did ages ago; I want to know what I am to do, and I want somebody besides a theological book worm to tell me—somebody who is sometimes tempted and tried, and is not too dignified to own it; somebody like me, who is always sinning and repenting; somebody who is glad and sorry, and cries and laughs, and eats and drinks, and wants to fight when he is trodden on—and don't! That's the minister for me. I don't want a spiritual abstraction, with stoney eyes and petrified fingers, and no blood to battle with. What credit is it to him to be proper? How can he understand me? Were there only such ministers in the pulpit, I wouldn't go to church either, because my impatient feet would only beat a tatoo on the pew floor till service was over; but thank God there are! and while they preach I shall go to hear them, and come home better and happier for having done it.

So I pray you don't abolish my Sunday, whatever you may do with yours. Don't take away my blessed Sunday breakfast, when we all have time to love one another. Don't take away the Sabbath bells, which I so love to hear. Don't take away my human minister, when god is no tyrant, and is better pleased to see us go smiling home from church, than bowing our heads like a bulrush, and groaning bake to our dinners, till all you anti-Sabbatarians are made to abolish Sunday—and no wonder.

Wooden Railways.

The following report from T. F. Molesworth, Esq., of the Public Works Department, was submitted to the Committee on Wooden Railways:—

TORONTO, Dec, 6th, 1869.

The Chairman of Committee on Wooden Railways, House of Assembly, Ontario—

SIR.—I have examined the models in connection with the system of wooden railway construction, and find three different classes of rails presented for inspection.

1. Mr. Foster's compound wooden rail, formed of blocks of hardwood, bolted between longitudinal pieces of timber, so as to form an endless rail; having the cross sections of the grain of the timber in the blocks presented as a bearing surface to the wheels.

2nd. Mr. Hulbert's [illegible] wooden rail, consisting of longitudinal pieces of hardwood 14 feet in length, laid on and notched into the cross ties, and fastened thereto by wooden wedges.

3rd. Mr. Hulbert's compound wooden rail, where a longitudinal strip of timber is placed underneath the rails, breaking joints with them, and having iron bolts fastening each end of each rail to the longitudinal piece underneath.

In the construction of wooden railways in a new track of country, that system of rail which combines the greatest simplicity of construction with economy in first cost, is the one which should be selected for use—provided this is not more than counterbalanced by any advantages which may be [illegible] over the exception of a more complicated and costly system. But in the comparison of the construction of these rails I do not see that such an advantage is to be gained, and therefore I prefer Mr. Hulbert's wooden rail.

In computing the advantages of a light iron track with a wooden one, on a railway for use in opening up a new district, I have made the following estimate of cost and maintenance of rails for fifteen years, presuming that the traffic would be of such a light nature that a road laid with iron rails of 56 lbs. to the yard, would stand fifteen years without renewal, and allowing three years for the period of renewal for the wooden rails.

RAILWAYS WITH LIGHT IRON RAILS.

Iron rails for one mile, 56 lbs. per yard, 88 tons, at $50	$4,400 00
Fish plates, at $1 per pair	500 00
Spikes	500 00
Ties, 2,112, at 20 cents	422 40
Track-laying	250 00
Total cost	$5,772 40

RAILWAYS WITH PLAIN WOODEN RAILS.

2,640 ties, notched, at 20 cents	$528 00
25,000 feet B. M. hardwood rails, at $10	250 00
1,510 wedges	50 00
Track-laying	250 00
Total cost	$1,078 00

The difference in first cost being $4,694 40 per mile, allowing one man per mile for maintenance work on each road, and the duration of the ties, ballast, and other things, being equal on both systems, the comparisons of difference of cost in maintenance for that period, will be between the cost of renewal of the iron rails, fish plates and spikes on the one, and the wooden rails and wedges on the other, with the addition of the extra labour for more frequent renewals, and may be stated thus:—

IRON RAILS RENEWED ON ONE MILE IN 15 YEARS.

88 tons (less cost of old iron) at $28	$2,464 00
Fish plates and spikes, half amount renewal	350 00
Cost per mile	$2,814 00

WOODEN RAILWAYS RENEWAL.

Hard wood rails and wedges, costing $300 per mile, renewed once in each three years	$1,500 00
Extra labour required for renewals	750 00
Cost per mile for 15 years	$2,250 00

The difference in cost of renewal being in favour of the wooden rail.

The difference in first cost in favour of the wooden rail, amounts to $4,694 40, or say $4,600, the interest on which, at six per cent, amounts to $276 per annum, or $4,140 in the period of fifteen years, for which the renewals of each rail are given. I think there can be no difficulty, in taking these facts into consideration, the wooden railway supplies a desirable means of opening up the resources of a new district, with a light traffic, which would not yield a proper return for the more costly iron. But, in the construction of such a railway through a fertile district, the works should be constructed with a view to the wooden rail being replaced by an iron one at a future period, when the increased traffic should render such a change desirable.

I have the honour, &c.,

Christmas Coming.

Of all the days throughout the year,
The gladdest day and best
Comes in the heart of winter,
When nature is at rest.

When the days are at the shortest,
And the nights are dark and long,
And only of the singing birds
The robin pipes his song.

When not a flower is on the hill,
Nor a green leaf on the tree,
And only the holly and ivy
Are beautiful to see.

Then cometh the best day of the year,
The blessedest day of all,
When Jesus Christ, the Saviour
Was born in the oxen's stall.

Not amidst the gold and purple,
In pomp of worldly pride,
With Chancellors and Archbishops,
And ladies on every side.

But all among the oxen,
Those plodding and patient things,
Was born, in the depth of winter,
The King of earthly kings.

The Newfoundland Elections.

PRIESTLY INTERFERENCE.

Yesterday we received a very full letter from our St. Johns, Newfoundland, correspondent, for only a part of which we are able to find room to-day. We select the portions in which the writer deals with the new government and the extraordinary incidents of the Burin contest. We quote:

The new House of Assembly—which stands 21 Antis to 9 Confederates—will meet in the last week in January, when, of course, the present government will resign office at once, as they cannot attempt to carry any measure. The leading members of the new government will be the Anti-confederate leaders. Mr. Renouf will be Premier, and will probably become Colonial Secretary. Mr. Little, an avowed annexationist, will be Attorney-General.—These gentlemen are Roman Catholics. Mr. Glen, who has always acted with the Catholics, will be Receiver-General. Other offices will be filled up by their friends and supporters mainly Burin is partially Protestant and partially Catholic. Here the Attorney General, Mr. Carter, had to encounter the opposition of the priests too, and in addition that of Mr. Frecker, a gentleman whose mercantile interest is very great and was exerted in the most unscrupulous way against Confederation. The contest here was most determined and bitter, and the run was 'neck and neck.' When any voters are more than 15 miles from the polling booth they are allowed to vote by proxy. Five such votes were recorded on behalf of Mr. Carter early in the day; but the other party, meantime brought some influence to bear on them, and the men who had sent in their proxies on behalf of Carter and Evans had travelled twenty miles and presented themselves in person, to vote for the Anti-candidates. The returning officer thoughtlessly allowed this, and struck off these five voters from Mr. Carter's supporters; but on the Attorney General pointing out the illegality of the proceeding, the officer very properly restored these voters to their original place, as having once voted by proxy such vote could not be recalled. It was then found that the candidates were exactly equal in the number of votes recorded. At this moment, before the Returning Officer had scrutinized his lists, two priests and a mob surrounded him and by threats and clamor compelled him to declare the state of the poll, and the poor man quite lost his head under the influence of fear, and declared (but under protest) that the Anti-Candidates were returned. The same party followed him to his house and by threats and violence, compelled him to give them a written certificate to the same effect—and would not allow him to say that it was given under protest. On scrutinizing the list of voters immediately after, he found that three paupers had included and these when struck off, gave Carter and Evans a majority of three. Accordingly, for his personal safety, he came off to St. Johns bringing the poll books with him; and returning the writ, endorsing on it the names of Carter and Evans as the legally elected candidates.—This will enable Mr. Carter to take his seat; but the others have prostrated and petition against his return. The case will be tried by a committee of the House, the majority of them being Antis; and it is extremely probable that they will unseat Mr. Carter and colleague, and if so, Confederates will number but seven. The Antis are so determined and bitter that they will not shrink from such a step.—St. Johns, N. B., Telegraph.

Climate of the Sacramento Valley.

One never sees summer clothing or mosquitoes in San Francisco—but they can be found in Sacramento. Not always and unvaryingly, but about one hundred and forty-three months out of twelve years perhaps. Flowers bloom there always, you can easily believe—people suffer and sweat and swear morning, noon and night, and wear out their dearest energies fanning themselves. It gets pretty hot there, but if you go down to Fort Yuma you will find it hotter. Fort Yuma is probably the hottest place on the earth. The thermometer stays at 120 in the shade there all the time—except when it relents and goes higher. It is a United States military post, and its occupants get so used to the terrific heat they are bound to suffer without it. There is a tradition that a very wicked soldier died there once, and of course he went straight to the hottest corner of perdition—and the next day he telegraphed back for his blankets. There is no doubt about the truth of this statement—there can be no doubt about it—for I have seen the place where that soldier used to board with a French woman by the name of O'Flannigan, and she lives there yet. Sacramento is very Summer always, and you can gather roses, and eat strawberries and ice-cream, and wear white linen clothes, and pant and perspire at eight or nine o'clock in the morning, and take the cars, and at noon put on your furs and skates, and go skimming over frozen Donner lake, seven thousand feet above the valley among snow banks fifteen feet deep, and in the shadow of grand mountain peaks that lift their frosty crags ten thousand feet above the level of the sea. There is a transition for you! Where will you find another like it in the Western Hemisphere? And I have swept around snow walled curves of the Pacific Railroad in that vicinity, six thousand feet above the sea, and looked down as the birds do, upon the everlasting Summer of the Sacramento Valley, with its green fields, its feathery foliages, its silver streams, all slumbering in the mellow haze of its enchanted atmosphere, and all infinitely softened and spiritualized by distance, a rich, dreamy, exquisite glimpse of fairy lands, made all the more charming and striking that it was caught through a forbidding gateway of ice and snow and savage crags and precipices.—Mark Twain.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, DEC. 11.

BIG APPLE.—One of the largest apples we ever saw was laid on our table to-day by Mr. John Boldrick, of Thurlow. It measures sixteen and a half inches in circumference. Mr. Boldrick very properly christened it the "Great Eastern."

ALBERT COLLEGE.—The Academic exhibition, composed of essays by young ladies, original pieces and extracts by young men, and vocal and instrumental music, will be held in the College Chapel on Wednesday evening next, the 15th instant. Admission free.

HEAVY SNOW STORM.—On Monday night and Tuesday a heavy snow storm extended over the whole of the Eastern States, causing much inconvenience from interruption to travel and the mails. An Albany dispatch says the canals are practically closed, and 115 boats are frozen in between West Troy and Spraker's Basin, one half loaded with grain and one half with timber. Several diessters from the prevailing high winds of the past few days are reported from various points on the coast.

TROUBLE BREWING.—Rochefort will evidently be a thorn in the side of the Emperor so long as he remains in the Corps Legislatif. A cable telegram says:—"In the Corps Legislatif to-day, Rochefort replied with bitterness to the Speech of Forcade. He made offensive allusions to the Emperor, which caused great disorder in the Chamber, and were received with a storm of dissent from members of the majority. He spoke of the scene at the opening of the Chambers, when he asserted the Emperor gave the signal for members to laugh at him. Rochefort was frequently interrupted and called to order."

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—An accident of a very melancholy nature occurred at the Deaf and Dumb Asylum this afternoon, which it is feared may result fatally. Mr. Abraham Diamond, one of our oldest residents, was at the Asylum, superintending some arrangements connected with a new planing machine, and while watching the movements of the cylinder which was making about 200 revolutions a minute, one of the blades weighing about twelve pounds flew off and struck Mr. Diamond in the forehead, cutting a gash four inches in length, and fracturing the skull, inflicting a ghastly wound. The unfortunate man was brought to the surgery of Dr. Lister, where the wound was dressed, and he was afterwards conveyed to his home. Dr. Lister again visited him about two o'clock this afternoon, when he found him somewhat easier, but the injury is of such a serious character that not much hopes are entertained of his recovery.

PETERS' MUSICAL MONTHLY.—J. L. Peters, publisher, 599 Broadway, N. Y.—The December number is before us, and contain 46 pages of music of various styles, commencing with the "Babe of Bethlehem," a Christmas Carol, song and chorus; followed by "She's the sweetest of them all," a comic song for gentlemen, with chorus; "Great God! attend my humble call;" "Cunning Little Dark Eyed Beauty;" "Jamie Came a Wooing me;" "Rose Bud Quickstep;" "Sea Breeze Mazurka Caprice;" "Carlotta Waltz;" "Come sit by my side, little Darling;" Quartette for male voices; "Brightest and Best;" "Hark! What mean those Holy voices;" a Christmas Anthem, for Chorus, Soprano and Alto Soli, with Organ accompaniment; "Oh, Render thanks to God above;" and a New Year's piece, "Come let us Anew." On the whole a very interesting number.—The publisher promises more and better music in 1870. This monthly is furnished at $1 50 for six months, or $3 for a year, or single copies 30 cts. Orders sent to J. L. Peters, 599 Broadway, N. Y., will receive attention.

LARGE MARKET.—If any one had any doubts that Belleville has the largest and best market between Toronto and Montreal, a visit to the grounds and buildings to-day would have removed them. Every available spot on the ground was occupied, extending from street to street, and filling the streets in the immediate vicinity. The inside market was a perfect jam, buyers and sellers so mixed that you could hardly tell which from which. Scores were constantly surrounding the different scales, and the patience of the clerk and his assistants was very often sorely tried. The supply of everything in the shape of eatables—be-f, pork, mutton, turkeys, geese, ducks, chickens, potatoes and vegetables, apples, butter and eggs, lard, tallow, &c., was very abundant, while of such articles as sausage, sour krout, cider apple sauce, yarn, stockings, mittions, &c., there was enough but none to spare. Prices were rather better for the producer than the buyer. Butter readily bringing 20 cents; eggs, 30 cents; turkeys, 75c to $1; geese, 40c to 50 cts.; beef, $4 to $5; pork, $9 to $10; potatoes, 40 cts; apples, 50 cts. to $1, and other articles in proportion. With such prices it is little wonder that our farmers grow fat and independent, and our county increase in wealth and prosperity.

The Railway Bill.

"The Belleville Intelligencer publishes a synopsis of the Kingston and Madoc Railway Incorporation Bill, but does not appear to have read it, or it would not have perpetrated the following blunder:

"'Query? Should not municipalities which give bonuses have a representation at the board. Having a direct interest they should have something to say in the management.'"

"For the information of our captious contemporary we will publish the 13th section of the Bill:

"13. The Mayor, Warden or Reeve being the head of any Municipal Corporation subscribing for and holding stock in the Company to the amount of ten thousand dollars or upwards, shall be ex officio one of the directors of the Company in addition to the number of directors authorized by this Act, and shall have the same rights, powers and duties as any of the directors of the Company."—Whig, 10th Dec.

O yes, friend Whig, we read the clause, and had you done the same thing, and understood what you read, you would have been less "captious" and querulous. Read the 13th clause again, and then consult your dictionary, and make yourself acquainted with the meaning of the words "bonus" and "stock;" and then by a very little additional study you may be able to discover that the 13th clause which you have quoted, does not meet the suggestion thrown out by us, there being a wide difference between "giving a bonus," to assist an enterprize, and "taking stock" and becoming partner in said enterprize. If you cannot discover the difference ask the first ten year old boy you will meet in the street, and he will enlighten you. "Captious," forsooth.

—The Dominion arbitrators have awarded Mr. Mallorany $19,385, as the amount due him upon his contract for the Parliament Buildings.

—The meanest newspapers in Ontario publish the following notice: "Parties getting their Sale Bills printed at this Office, will receive a gotics free of charge."

—The Montreal Gazette says the wife of Constable Berrard was delivered a few days ago of her twenty-first child. It was christened yesterday. It is difficult to say whether it is a matter of congratulation for the constable or not.

—The Picton papers record the death of Mr. Colin McKenzie, in the 106th year of his age. The deceased was the last survivor of the passengers who arrived in the ship Hector, the first ship that brought emigrants from Scotland to Pictou.

—Assistant Commissary General Thompson, aged 87, son of one of Wolfe's army at the battle of the Plains, was interred in Quebec on the 9th December, the funeral concourse being very large and composed of the principal citizens.

—The salt business is pushing Goderich ahead. Besides $30,000 tied up in the salt works, buildings to the value of $30,000 have gone up during the past year, and there is scarcely a single habitable dwelling vacant.

—The published statement of lumbering operations on the St. Maurice for 1868-9 shows them to be on the increase. 365,495 pine, and 95,566 spruce saw logs, and 21,405 feet square timber were taken out, giving a revenue of $83,-601.

—A barbarous book of proverbs just published the following:

"If a woman were as little as she is good,
A pea's pod would make her a gown and a hood."

—The first Methodist sermon in America was preached a little over a century ago, to a congregation of five persons. Those five persons have done well, "multiplying and replenishing."

—London has a new wood by-law, a clause in which provides that any teamster who uses obscene, blasphemous, annoying or insulting language to purchasers, shall be arrested by the police.

—One of the school teachers of the township of Sarnia, has been prosecuted by the Local Superintendent for making a false and exaggerated return for the number of scholars attending his school for the half year ending 30th June last, and $20 and costs, ($16,15).

—A cable telegram from Paris says: "Many cities in France were illuminated last night in honor of the inauguration of the Council at Rome. At Marseilles a crowd of fifteen hundred men made violent demonstrations against the illuminations. They marched through the streets singing the 'Marseillaise,' and destroyed the decorations and transparencies, and committed other excesses. The police dispersed the mob after making sixty arrests."

The Shooting Case.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

In the articles referring to this affair, which appeared in your issue of Thursday and Friday, I read two accounts of the fracas of Wednesday night, totally different from one another. As these accounts were derived from rumor, and convey an altogether incorrect version of the affair, and being in some degree mixed up with it myself, you will, I hope, permit me, in justice to all parties concerned, to give a brief and truthful account of the whole transaction.

On Wednesday evening "in a certain locality," I and my companion went to bed about eleven o'clock, expecting no visitors, male or female. I was in bed half an hour or thereabouts when I heard him calling to me to get up as there was some person knocking at the door; though half asleep at the time, I immediately leaped up, and with difficulty found my way to the door, as it was totally dark, unlocked and opened, and saw some three or four persons at the door, one of whom was a female. I then asked three or four times who they were and what they wanted. No answer whatever was given, but a rush was made, and they succeeded in pushing past me. I then seized the first by the shoulder and strove to push him out, and partially succeeded, but he forced his way through in spite of my efforts to keep him back; then a second one came in, and forcing me back struck me on the right cheek. I thought this too much, and called out to my friend, who I think was well in bed, "——, the b——l—— don't you come here and help me to put these fellows out." He at once came forward, and said two or three times distinctly, and in a loud voice "By G-d, if you don't leave the house I'll shoot you," but no reply was made and they continued to push in. I then heard a shot fired and saw one of them fall down and then rise up and walk off; the other then mentioned his name. Explanations followed, and the mistake was found out when too late.

The portion of the account which you give of a "long fellow" and "waiting his love's return," is as ridiculous as it is untrue, and as for being mad with frenzy and nervous with excitement, you will allow me to say that neither of us has a tendency to madess, nor are we particularly nervous at any time, and surely Mr. Editor, when strangers (for we were only slightly acquainted with one of them) force their way, in numbers, into a house without giving any explanation whatever, and when told to leave, persist in their determination to enter, we could not imagine anything else but a case of house-breaking and an attempt at burglary.

I am,
Mr. Editor,
Your obedient servant,
G. HARPUR.

NEURALGIA may be distinguished from rheumatism by the intensity of the pain, its short continuance, and its liability to return on the slightest touch; in acute rheumatism there is fever, redness, heat in the part affected, and some swelling, all of which are absent in Neuralgia; in chronic rheumatism the pain is continuous, less severe, and often worse at night. From toothache, by the shortness of the paroxysm, the rapidity of its succession, and the frequent convulsive twitchings. To obtain immediate relief, use Dr. J. Briggs' Alleviator according to directions. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors, 308 Broadway, N. Y. and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

THE CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks.—"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., ¼lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 91—Oct 16s

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARER & Co.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefit of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It raises the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,

A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits further than to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.

Messrs. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the chest and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Hanley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Any Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

Grandmother.

BY SIDNEY DYER.

I see her now, as years ago
I saw her in a corner sit,
As, gently rocking to and fro,
She dreamed and dreamed, and knit and knit.

Those busy hands, how patiently,
Stitch after stitch they still repeat!
Her rich reward it was to see
Her stocking's gaining little feet.

I loved to hold the yarn while she
Would reel it from my outstretched hands
Beguiled a captive at her knee,
By wondrous tales of fairy lands.

Where'er our wild and noisy play
Bade mother check her merry elves,
"Remember, daughter," she would say,
"Once you and I were young ourselves."

'Tis true, her feet no more could dance;
In romps and plays she took no part,
But in her happy, cheerful glance
We saw she played with us in heart.

In all our youthful pains and grief,
Ere half our sorrows we could tell,
Her words of comfort brought relief,
She kissed the place, and all was well.

The Holy Book she read alone,
No more disturbed by earthly things;
A better land claimed her its own,
And we could almost see her wings.

She knit and dreamed, till one calm day
Her sleep grew very long and deep,
So beautiful we could not play,
Nor could we wake her from her sleep.

Hearth and Home.

Why is a man who never lays a wager quite as bad as one who does?—Because he's no better.

There are narrow-minded people who look with contempt upon prominent singers because their principal business is sold.

A physician boasting at dinner that he cured his own banns, one of his guests replied, "Well, doctor, I would sooner be your bann than your patient."

What is the matter with you I inquired a judge who had called to see a sick neighbor. "Well, I don't know chudge—day say it is de cout; but ry should I have de cout? I lives blain; I don't eat too much.' 'Perhaps,' suggested the judge, 'It is hereditary I' 'I guess it is hereditary; I remember my wife's uncle had it.'

The following is the manner in which the editor of the Honsdale Herald gives a man in his town a free puff: 'A grocer wants us to puff a lot of butter he recently purchased, and sends us a pound as a specimen The butter don't need a puff from us. It's is old enough to speak for itself. It outranks anything we ever saw. Forty cents a pound.

Effective sence on a ferry-boat crossing a rough river at Detroit: Oh, Henry, this is terrible!" "Yes, it is," he responded, but "lean on me and I will protect you." "Do you think it will be as rough as this all the way across?" "I do," responded Henry. "Then I guess I'll have to lean on you," returned the lady. "For life?" whispered Henry, turning pale at the thought of refusal. "I—I—don't know—the water is aw—ful rough—I guess ye—yes—you'd better ask papa."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed to be thoroughly corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in great numbers by its use. Personal knowledge of the community, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or its power.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of man. Working in secret and unfelt torment of the sufferer, it undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of insidious or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again and again is hereditary taint developed in the form of organic or functional disease, in the latter or in others, long after it has been supposed to be thoroughly eradicated from the system. Many persons inherit from parents or ancestors the seeds of painful disorders, which lie dormant for years, and even for generations, when some accidental circumstance, frequently apparently trifling, calls them into action. Such hereditary taints are variously developed, according to the organs or tissues in which they are first deposited. Sometimes they fix upon the glands, causing swellings, ulcerations, and tumors; sometimes they attack the lungs, bones, liver, or other internal organs, and sometimes they show themselves in the form of running sores, pimples, blotches, or other cutaneous eruptions. Whatever be the form of the disease, the cause is the same—a vitiated condition of the blood, which can be purified only by such remedies as will act directly upon it. Of all such remedies, the most effective is which, by its thorough purifying and invigorating effect, expels every trace of scrofulous disease, and restores the blood to healthy action. Although it is a powerful alterative, it is also a safe and reliable medicine for children, as it is perfectly pure, and contains no mercury or other dangerous mineral.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything been so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power, in the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against fatal results. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is the most effective remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against the attacks of croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, as it is used as all are sometimes subject to croup, and cases should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although terrible in destroying the diseases incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. Its virtues are known wherever the diseases of the Lungs and Throat, that the most intelligent people do not, and cannot, doubt what they are told about its wonderful cures.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So complete is its subjugation of them, that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Aque Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The most delicate constitutions may use it with perfect safety, and infants may take it as confidently as the strongest men. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we have received from all parts of the world, of its perfect cures, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Under such circumstances, even resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all around the world.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases,

BY

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry. From the vegetable kingdom I obtain the only choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparilla Root, and other forest roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood and Nerve Remedy, containing only such as are selected and gathered with the greatest care as the proper season for collecting them. While under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed and sent specially by Dr. Radway & Co.—to that no spurious admixtures or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with them.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone! Has the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, been especially the

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely controls all diseases, and renders sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful within, the worst and most broken constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONVERTS FAT, MUSCLE AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with its cold or heat-making properties.
It cures all Coughs and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat, and Skin and Scrofula.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the waste.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tubercles into healthy tissue.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals all Sores of Acne character.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the urine of a clear and pure quality.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood, either in male or female, those who are deficient or exhausted.
It rescues women from the guilt it incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a state to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS AND KIDNEYS, and other organs not worn out beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the requisite action, but RADWAY'S but can be either restored to health, or the waste and destructive changes going on in the tissues of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS and other organs are wasted, wounded, and their functions almost destroyed, and where beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will be, the time of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent's continues to live perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the organs can be brought under the influence of this Resolvent, the nourishing medicine, the repairs will be made, and the BLOOD WILL require that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all the constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the Kidneys, Secondary Syphilis, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person acted with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands or Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution the various constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs, and each of these Organs will perform their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine Bile, the Pancreatic secretion, and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If assistance fails in its influence on the system, in a few weeks, continued to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging in proper functions, health can never be restored; how pitiably for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent is the most important remedy that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agent advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or imparted in the tissues, corruptions, glands, organs, or bones of man, and corruption may be, the influence of this power will upend on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairs, will so change the system with such constituents to resist and eliminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply the place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By its chemical action which Dr. Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of vicious matter in the blood, and resists, wards off, deposits of disease, whether caused by the Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i.e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues surrounding the joints, or from some inveterate family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Sores in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all wasting and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, and Dropsical Swellings, Bloody and Painful Discharges, Weakness, Leucorrhœa, Painful Discharges, which relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS on his thigh, and on the other on his leg that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of many celebrated Doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Radway's Pills and Ready Relief, in used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and, to-day, as fine a specimen of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 15 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting an diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Warren Station, Ontario County, Canada West, March 11, 1868.

DR RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared, and I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N B—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Barrie—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER,

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, MONDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 13, 1869. No. 191.

Ireland.

Fenian Procession.—A Fenian procession took place in Cork, on Tuesday night, in honour of the Manchester murderers.

Tipperary Election.—Great excitement prevailed at the Tipperary election. Extreme measures were adopted to place O'Donovan Rossa at the head of the poll. The farmers were threatened that their lives would not be safe if they did not vote for him. A mob in Tipperary has wrecked the house of the Parish Priest, because his curate supported Heron.

The Seditious Press.—The Irishman has articles headed 'The Anniversary of Blood,' 'Protestant Nationalists,' and 'Revolution.' In the last these words occur:—'Like the distant and indistinct roll of thunder come the voices of far off peoples, chanting their hymns of liberty. Ever and anon some swelling note bursts forth, and is borne on the Western breeze to our island home, awakening hopes and aspirations in the hearts of our serf people. To hasten the development of national life is the object of the national party in Ireland, and if its members be true to themselves, and true to their aims, many years may not elapse before an Irish flag waves in College Green.'

The Roman Catholic Priesthood.—The Daily Telegraph (London) says:—"Some Roman Catholic priests in Ireland seem resolved to bring disgrace upon their cloth and creed, and to inflict the deepest infamy on their country's cause. The other day one of them quoted, with faint disapproval, John Mitchel's advice to Irish tenants, 'If your landlord evicts you, shoot as you would a mad dog;' and now the Rev. Mr. Ryan narrates the methods of agrarian assassination in a way that simply aids and abets murder. Speaking on the Tipperary hustings, in the presence of an excitable peasantry, he said that "the landlords were frightened out of their jackets because the people had given up the old system of revenge, and were acting on a new patent, and a most successful principle which he was not binding himself to, because as a priest he was a man of peace. Now the tenant would not trust father, brother, or mother with the secret of what he intended to do; but went out, took his revolver, and 'tumbled' his landlord."—This assertion was received with loud cries of 'Bravo!' and prolonged cheers. Is there no discipline in the Roman Catholic Church that can touch the atrocious apologist for assassination? The sham qualification that the speaker is a man peace is on a par with the old bit of advice, "Don't nail his ears to the pump." The audience well understood the tenor of the speech; and it certainly adds immensely to the difficulties of ruling Ireland that such ruffianism should thus stalk the land in the livery of 'holy order.'"

Fenianism not Condemned by the Church.—Father Lavelle writes in the Flag of Ireland a long letter to prove that the Fenian Society has never been condemned by the Roman Catholic Church as an "unlawful organization." The letter addressed, says Mr. Lavelle to the Archbishop of Dublin [Dr. Cullen], and the Archbishop of Baltimore, by Cardinal Barnabo, Prefect of the Propaganda in 1865, simply ran:—'Many reports have been conveyed to the Holy See regarding a Society which is called the Fenian Brothers, or the Fenians, and these have been submitted to the supreme congregation of the Universal Inquisition, that it might be decided what was to be thought about them. Now, our Most Holy Father, Pius P.P.IX., having heard the decision of the Most Eminent Inquisitors, ordered that the decree of the 5th of August, 1840, should be notified to your Grace, which runs thus:—'The occult societies of which there is question in the Pontifical constitutions are all those which propose to themselves anything against the Church or Government, whether they exact or do not exact an oath from their members to keep the secret. Furthermore, his Holiness wished it should be intimated to you that recourse should be had to the Holy See, and that with full and ample explanations of the facts and circumstances of the case, should any difficulty be found in the application of the foregoing decree.'" This is the "only ground," adds Father Lavelle, "for the repeated assertion that the Fenians are expressly condemned."

Timely Hints on the use of Coal.

A common fault is to use too coarse wood for kindling, and too much of it. This, while it generally succeeds in lighting coal, leaves a mass of ashes below the coal which interferes with the draft unless raked out—an operation which always retards the combustion of partially ignited coal. The wood should be of some rapidly burning variety which gives a quick and high heat, and should be split fine. It should be so placed that the coal will remain on the top of it and not fall through to the grate, leaving the kindling on the top of any part of the coal. The amount of kindling wood required depends much upon the size of the coal. A common mistake is to use too large sized coal. A good rule, where stoves or furnaces have a good draft, is to use coal as small as can be used without inconvenience from its sifting too freely through the grate.

Grates should have their bars closely set for stoves that are cleaned out daily, and have fires lighted in them each morning, while those which are intended to have fire kept in them continuously for days or weeks, will not admit fine grates, on account of the accumulation of ashes and small "clinkers." There is much difference in coal in regard to the formation of clinkers. These are nothing but vitrified, or partially vitrified earthy matter, and can only form when a high heat is maintained; they are apt to be troublesome when there is too great draft. A coal stove or furnace should therefore be so constructed that its draft can be perfectly controlled. The bottom draft should admit of being closed air-tight, as near as is possible to make it, and there ought always to be provision made for a top draft. If, however, the draft of a chimney should be so strong that air in too great quantities is drawn in at the bottom, a damper in the pipe, which will close it partially, must be employed, though in sluggish chimneys such a damper is apt to force the gases of combustion into the room, and therefore it ought always to be avoided when possible.

The practice of putting ashes on the top of a fire to keep it is very productive of clinkers, although it answers the purpose very well in other respects. Damp coal screenings are better, and may be economically burned in this manner. If a coal fire gets very low, the quickest way to extinguish it is to rake it to the bottom. To preserve a fire under ordinary circumstances, a little coal should be placed on the fire, when it has caught, more may be added, and the raking deferred until it has got well ignited. When the fire bricks have become burdened with clinkers, which have fused and adhered, they may be cleaned by throwing oyster or clam shells into the fire box when the fire is very hot, and allowing the fire to go out. The clinkers will generally cleave off without the use of much force the next morning. From two quarts to one-half a peck will be sufficient for most stoves, and the operation can be repeated if some of the clinkers still adhere.—Scientific American.

Free Grants.

A return has been presented by the Provincial Secretary on the subject of free grants. It embraces a period of ten months, from the 1st of January to the 1st of Nov., 1869, and relates principally to the number of persons who have located on free grants, to the number of acres allotted to them, and the townships in which they are situated, and also to the number of acres sold to those who have not performed settlement duties. The document is full of interesting information, from which the following particulars are gleaned:

"In the nine townships of Muskoka, Draper, Macaulay, Watt, Humphrey, Cardwell, Stephenson, Brunel and Monck; in the district of Muskoka the number of persons located during the time specified is 276, the number of acres located is 27,877, the purchasers of land number 40, the number of acres bought being 539. In the townships of Foley and McDougall, County Simcoe 29 persons have located, with number of acres located 2,819; purchasers of land, 3; number of acres 10. In the townships of Chandos, Cardiff, Austruther, Minden and Stanhope, County Peterborough, 40 persons located on 3,995 acres, with one purchaser of 17 acres. In the townships of Carlow, Dungannon, Herschel, and Monteagle, County Hastings, 15 persons located on 1,485 acres. In the township of Anson, County Victoria, 5 persons located on 395 acres. In the townships of Gratton, South Algona, Alice and Buchanan, County Renfrew, 11 persons located on 955 acres. In the township of Hagarty, district of Nipissing, 10 persons located on 1,000 acres. In the Counties of Renfrew, Victoria and Hastings, and in the district of Nipissing, there were no purchasers, and consequently no lands sold.—The total figures show the number of persons settling on free grants during the eleven months of this year was 386; the number of acres located, 88,539, and number of purchasers 44, the acres bought being 567."

Altogether the return is satisfactory, as giving evidence of cultivation and settlement in important parts of the country. A pursuance of the same policy will be attended with much practical advantage.

A Valuable Secret.—A laundress gives the following receipt for doing up shirt bosoms. Any lady who desires to make home happy will do well to try the experiment. It will be found a sovereign antidote to that perilous stuff, which weighs upon the heart—an ill-ironed and ill-fitting shirt bosom:—Take two ounces of white gum arabic powder, put it into a pitcher, and pour on a pint or more of water, and having covered it, let it stand over night. In the morning pour it carefully from the dregs into a clean bottle and keep for use. A table-spoonful of gum water stirred in a pint of starch, made in the usual manner, will give to lawns, either white or printed, a look of newness, when nothing else can restore them them after they have been washed.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.—The Hon. Joseph Howe was gazetted on Saturday as Superintendent General of Indian affairs.

DOING WELL.—The young man Donohue, who was shot in the neck the other evening, is improving rapidly, and we believe is out of danger.

THE SUEZ CANAL.—A cable telegram says Reports from the Admiralty say that "For the distance of 35 miles the Suez Canal is subject to sand drifts, reducing the depth, and to thick fogs bewildering to pilots."

IMPROVING.—We are glad to learn that Mr. A. Diamond, who had his head seriously injured on Saturday is somewhat better this morning, and their are hopes of his recovery.

TRADE SALE.—The Merchants of this section of country will notice with pleasure that Messrs. Pitcathly & Kelso are to have another of their popular Trade Sales, commencing on Wednesday next, the 15th inst, For particulars see Adv. in another column.

THE ASSAULT CASE.—In the case of the brothers Wray against Thompson, Weese, Brennan and Campbell, for assault, the prisoners were further remanded until Friday next, Wray being still unable to be moved from his bed.

INFALLIBILITY.—A cable telegram says: "The French Government has made known to the Œcumenical Council, that Infallibility is an inopportune question from a religious point of view, and politically places France otherwise than according to the Concordat, and releases her from the obligations then accepted.

IMPORTATION OF CATTLE PROHIBITED.—The United States Government has prohibited the importation of cattle from England, or the Continent of Europe, except accompanied by consular certificates that they are free from the hoof and mouth disease, and have not come from diseased localities.

HOG CHOLERA.—A fatal disease known as "hog cholera" has broken out in some of the western cities and caused great destruction amongst the swine. Near Cincinnati it has attacked the hogs fed with slops at the distilleries, and from twenty to thirty-five die daily, mostly stock animals of light weight. The disease is prevailing, also, near Louisville and large numbers die daily.

ORANGE LODGES.—A cable telegram to-day furnishes us the following utterance of the London Times:—"The Times to-day condemns Orange Lodges. They answer no end, but to perpetrate the idea of two races,—conquerors and conquered; statesmen should discontinue these organizations." Such statesmen as the Times most delights to honor have discountenanced Orangeism ever since it was established, and the only effect it has had has been to increase its strength. "Encouragement of Feinanism and down with Orangeism," seems to be the motto of the Liberals of England of to-day, and bitter fruit have they already gathered from the results of their policy. Take away the Orange Institution and abolish the strong Protestant feeling of Ireland to-day and the Emerald Isle would not long remain a part of Great Britain.

PROPOSED EXTENSION OF THE MADOC RAILWAY.—The Kingston News says:—"The ratepayers in the township of Asphodel, near Peterborough, a township in the same tier as Madoc, recently held a meeting and instructed the Secretary to send an application to the Directors of the Kingston and Madoc Railway, promising assistance, and requesting the Directors to frame their charter so as to admit of an extension of the line to their township. This application arrived too late to admit of the charter being amended the present session; but if in the meantime the movements for an extension of the line to Peterborough if taken up, and a good case presented, it will be made a matter for careful consideration. An amendment to the charter could no doubt be readily obtained at any subsequent session of the legislature. It shows the importance and capabilities of the railway to Madoc to find a bona fide proposition for its extension made at so early a stage of the project. The enterprise may yet widen until it extends to the Georgian Bay."

FORT GARRY STILL IN THE HANDS OF THE REBELS.

THEY WON'T DISSOLVE.

McDOUGALL AT PEMBINA.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 11.

A Pembina letter dated November 28th, received, says nothing new has transpired. A small force guards the road at St. Norbert. Sixty-five men occupy Fort Garry. Believed insurgents won't dissolve until they frame a permanent Government. Mr. McDougall is quietly residing at Pembina.

The Renfrew Election.

Mr. Thomas Deacon, who had a majority of the legal votes of North Renfrew, is unfortunately debarred from taking his seat through the fraudulent return of his opponent. The evidence of illegal voting in this case is so clear and conclusive, that we wonder any man would have had the hardihood to do as the Returning officer of North Renfrew did. The Township of Algona, according to a certified copy of voters delivered to the Clerk of the Peace for the Riding, on the 13th of September last, had only five votes. The following is the certificate which we copy from the Pembroke Observer:

List of Voters within the Municipality of Algona, for the year 1869, prepared in pursuance of Act 22 Vic., cap. 33

John Dwyre,
Martin Maslon,
John O'Brien,
Stephen Ryan,
Samuel Sumstrum.

I, Edmund Bennett, do hereby certify upon oath, that the foregoing is, to the best of my knowledge and belief, a true list (taken from the last assessment of this Township), of persons entitled to vote for a member to serve in the Legislative Council or Legislative Assembly

[Signed,] EDMUND BENNETT,
Township Clerk.

Sworn before me at Algona, this 11th day of September, 1869.

[Signed,] STEPHEN RYAN, J. P.

Certified a correct copy.

[Signed,] WILLIAM DUCK,
Clerk of the Peace.

Pembroke, Dec. 6, 1869.

This is the list by which the Returning officer was to be guided, but which he evidently ignored altogether, for instead of only five votes being polled, no less than sixty five votes were recorded in this Township, and all for Murray. The election law is very plain upon this point, declaring that "no person shall be admitted to vote unless his name appears in the last list of votes, made, certified, and delivered to the Clerk of the Peace, at least one month before the date of the Writ to hold such election." And in view of the fact that there were only five names on the voter's list, how the Returning officer could wink at the sixty illegal votes, and declare upon oath that they were legal, is past our comprehension. In the Township of Head also, there were twenty votes polled, all for Murray, but it appears from the following certificate, that Township had no votes:

I, William Duck, Clerk of the Peace for the County of Renfrew, do hereby certify that no list of voters for the Township of Head, in the County of Renfrew, has ever been delivered to me as Clerk of the Peace, as aforesaid, nor is any such list on file in my office.

Dated the 8th day of December, 1869.

[Signed,] WILLIAM DUCK,
Clerk of the Peace for Renfrew.

Now here are eighty votes, which upon the clearest and most unmistakable evidence, were illegally and fraudulently given, and if these were substracted from the whole polled for Murray, Deacon would have a clear majority of eighteen.

Mr. Deacon, it appears, has determined not to protest against the return of Murray, and thus gives his reasons for taking this course:

"The many and great delays attending the investigation of protested elections tried before Parliamentary Committees, even where the evidence of bribery and corrupt practices may be clear as noonday, render it almost impossible that a decision in this case would be arrived at before the close of the present parliament, which will only be in existence for another session. I have determined, therefore, not to protest against the return of my opponent, and am convinced that my course will meet with your approval."

We can readily appreciate the reasons assigned by Mr. Deacon for not protesting against the return of Murray, but we trust the conduct of the Returning Officer will not be allowed to go unpunished. So far as we can see, it is one of the most barefaced frauds ever perpetrated, and some steps should be taken to punish the man who was guilty of it.

The Mayoralty Election.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—I notice in the Daily Intelligencer of the 10th inst., that the nomination for Mayor and Councillors takes place on Monday, the 20th inst.

I agree with you that since the new law requiring the election of one member in each Ward annually, came in force, but little interest has been taken in the selection of men to serve, and it is to be hoped that the Bill introduced in the Ontario Legislature, to go back to the old system of electing the whole Council annually, will soon again become law. As the law now stands, persons aspiring for the honor, are now generally elected without opposition, as but little interest has been shown by the electors. The honor has been sought, but they are but seldom present at any Council meeting. Still we, who elect them, must submit quietly, not for one year, as it ought, but for the end of three years' term of office. You may well say that this law as now in force, works bad.

You say it has been customary in this town for years past to allow the Mayor at least two years lease of office. It has been the case for the past few years for special reasons, which cannot be accorded to Mr. Conger. Surely we are not expected to re-elect Mr. Conger as a matter of right, simply because he was elected Mayor last year. He has no doubt given general satisfaction, and he has made an excellent Mayor; he has enjoyed the honour and the confidence of his fellow townsmen for one year. This should be sufficient to satisfy him, at least for the present. I am aware that two years has been allowed to each of the three predecessors; but those were honours especially due to men who had been the pioneers of the place; men who had resided here years before this town was incorporated, and who have largely contributed to its commercial prosperity; in fact have done a large share in building up the place to what it is to-day. Mr. Flint, Dr. Rufus Holden and Mr. Henry Corby, may be recorded amongst the oldest residents, therefore the citizens were pleased to have the opportunity of shewing their respect by re-electing those gentlemen to the highest municipal honours.

Mr. P. D. Conger has a right, of course, to offer himself for re-election if he wishes, but he will not be returned by acclamation, but will be met by men who have worked faithfully for the town and whose claims are much stronger upon the people.

Yours, &c.,

FAIR PLAY.

EDITOR'S NOTE.—It is gratifying to us, as it must be to Mr. Conger, to know that our remarks have been so thoroughly endorsed by our correspondent. The fact that Mr. Conger has given such general satisfaction, and has made such an excellent Mayor, as our correspondent says, was to our mind the best evidence that he should be re-elected by acclamation, particularly when he had only served one year and when it has been the practice to allow a Mayor two years' lease of office, unless perchance, he had committed such grave blunders as to warrant the necessity of a change. The office of Mayor is one to which any citizen may well feel proud to aspire, and we can readily understand the desire of any to occupy that position; and of one who has filled the office for only one year, who could only have had sufficient time to become proficient in his duties, to ask for an endorsement of his conduct by another year's trial; and believing that Mr. Conger had done all that is required of a Mayor, and that he had given general satisfaction, we expressed a hope that he would be elected by acclamation.

More About McMahon.

To the Editor of the Halifax Reporter and Times.

SIR,—On several occasions I was officer of the Guard at the "New Gaol," Toronto, where the Fenian prisoners were confined, after being taken near Fort Erie by Lieut. Dawson. (now of the Grand Trunk Railway) and others. I often saw Father McMahon, the Catholic Priest, and the Episcopalian Minister, who were taken at that time, both of whom were treated with equal kindness by the Governor of the Gaol, as also were all the prisoners.

Their diet was on the most liberal scale, and certainly McMahon ought not to have complained of it, for his dinner was always sent him by the S. C. Bishop of Toronto, who must now, I think, regret having shown him so much kindness.

None of the prisoners were made do any work, but were allowed to amuse themselves in the large court yard as best they could, and their chief game was "pitch and toss," with small stones, which they seemed to enjoy greatly, but McMahon never joined in it, and generally walked about with his eyes fixed sulkily on the ground, thinking no doubt, of the failure at Fort Erie, and planning for the future conquest of Canada and the deliverance of Ireland.

The other prisoners treated him with much deference, as their Priest, which dignity he claimed, and was acknowledged as such by the R. C. Bishop above mentioned, though he could not have been properly educated for that office, if I may judge by the style of composition shewn in the accompanying document addressed to "women in general concern."

I submit it to you for inspection, and for publication with this letter, if you think the public would be interested.

I am dear Sir, yours faithfully,

E. MONTAGUE MANNING,
Lieut. 47th Rgt.

Exact copy, by myself, Edward Montague Manning, Lieut. 47th Regiment.

TORONTO, June 18, 1866.

The following is a list of what was taking from Rev. John McMahon when maid a presner of at Fort Erie, the first a large pocket book, containing to the best of his knowledge about fore hondred Dollers too rale road tickets, one on the C C airline the oher on the Bellfounten and Indinopolis, boath half fair tickets, the next a small pocket book containing some sckekes and sum on Doller bills, a Linnen purse with silver, too brass keyes, foe tabernackel keyes, fore trunk keyes, one valise, too travelling bag keyes, one razor, one white handel pocked knife.

The Capten that took thies things from me seemed to bee a man above five feet in hite and very smart and cruel, he had with him a taul solger who wore spectickles and seemed to (be) a lerned polite deasent young man, and of good sense, but the captain treated me very bad indeed when I came to the New gaol I was searched a gane, they took from me there my watch, Book and other small things, the watch I got the other things I think I will, the solger that had my things came into the cars before leaving Fort Erie and handed me the habrcrchief that the things was tied in, and told me that my money and all the took from me wood bee in Toronto as soon os myself, that the above statement is trow as ner as I can give, I am ready and willin to prove and will some time or other if I cud get these things back and my apportunity to reflect upon his rudeness in gaol.

'Is Mrs. Brown in?' inquired a gentleman of the servant who responds to his ring at the door-bell. 'No, sir; she's not at home.' 'Well, I am sorry said the gentleman, in a regretful tone, 'as I owe her some money, and called to pay it.' Whereupon, a voice from over the balustrades is heard:—'Oh, I am in, to be sure I am! Why Sally, didn't you know that! Ask the gentleman to walk in.'

The concluding service of the High Church twelve days' mission took place in Nov. 24th at St. Alban's, Holborn, London, amid a scene of unparalleled excitement. Three hundred penitents walked in procession with lighted tapers, which were kept burning during the whole of the service. The church was thronged with an earnest congregation.

NEURALGIA may be distinguished from rheumatism by the intensity of the pain, its short continuance, and its liability to return on the slightest touch; in acute rheumatism there is fever, redness, heat in the part affected, and some swelling, all of which are absent in Neuralgia; in chronic rheumatism the pain is continuous, less severe, and often worse at night. From textbooks, by the shortness of the paroxysm, the rapidity of its succession, and the frequent convulsive twitchings. To obtain immediate relief, use Dr. J. Briggs' Alleviator according to directions. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors, 208 Broadway, N. A CARD.

Mrs. H. Memberry,

FROM LONDON, ENGLAND, would announce to the Ladies of Belleville, that having purchased the Business formerly carried on by Mrs Lloyd, she will open soon after the 1st of January, at the old stand, an entire new Stock of Goods, when she hopes the former Patrons of the Establishment will favor her with a call. Having had large experience in the business, she feels confident she can give good satisfaction. DRESS MAKING in all its branches, will also be added to the former business.

MRS. LLOYD having disposed of her business to Mrs. Memberry, cheerfully recommends her to her former Patrons. She likewise begs to say she will, until the 1st of January sell at cost her remaining stock on hand, and all persons indebted will oblige by calling and settling forthwith.

A COUP DE ETAT CONTEMPLATED.

PARIS, Dec. 12.—Private advices received here, assert that Prim contemplates a Coup de etat, that he is sure of 180 Voices in the Cortes. He will proclaim the Duke of Genoa King, and then present the law to the Cortes, making himself Regent during the King's minority. That he relies on the support of the family, the General being in his favor, and that he will send for the Duke of Genoa soon to carry out his scheme. On the other hand a public despatch from Madrid announces that Prim had made a speech yesterday in the Cortes, in which he denied any intention of making a Coup de etat. He declared, however, his belief that an immense majority of the country was in favor of the Duke of Genoa, and that the Duchess of Genoa is willing that her son should accept the Crown, and in all probability the Duke of Genoa would soon be proclaimed King of Spain.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.
DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:
Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.
MESSRS. J. N. HARKER & Co.,
GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.
Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.
The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by Agents

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,
For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.
This great remedy is well known and is performing such good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.
TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.
WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.
Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.
Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,
PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.
We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

From Josh Billings' Farmers' Almanac.

When the roosters are observed before daylight in the morning soaring among the klouds, and uttering lamentations, then look out for sum sudden weather and a severe packer in the money market.

When you see 13 geese walking Injun file, and towing in, you can deliberately bet your last surviving shilling on a hard winter — a great fluctuasions during the next season in the price of cowhide boots.

If cocksquaul in the night and grass-hoppers soon quit of their roost and mingle in a free fight, you may hope for high winds in a few weeks, and also the typus fever in sure naberhood.

When hens lays 2 eggs a day, and men cease to bragg, and wimmin cease to cackle, then Injun summer draws ni, and the Millenium aint fur oph.

Love iz sed to be blind but I kno lots of phellows in love who can see twice as mutch in their sweethearts as I can.

It is very difikult for a poor man to be superior tew his fortune, and more difikult for a rich one.

When spiders are seen climbing up the wall backwards, and frogs cough as they had the lockjaw, look out for rain. This is also a sure sign that children will have the measles light.

If bees hang around their hives, and mules are seen in a brown study, a storm of sum kind iz cooking and you will notis the market for herring is very cadaverous and chilly.

Jist before a heavy sno storm, of 3 foot deep, chimney swallows are unkommon skarse, and in the moral world there is a grate laziness in the agytashun of the temperance question.

STORING CELERY FOR THE WINTER.—Celery is often greatly injured when stored out of doors. If frost or water reaches the tops, the leaves and stalks will decay. Select a dry day, when the earth is not wet, and make a ridge of the soil, as high as your celery stalks are long—say eighteen inches to two feet in height, pointed at the top. Now dig up your celery, taking great care not to shake the dirt from the roots, and place the heads of the celery on both sides of the ridge, roots up, heads down, pack them closely together the whole length of the ridge, and cover the stalks and roots with dry earth. Now place another layer of celery, then a covering of earth, and so continue till all are buried. Cover the whole over to the depth of eighteen inches or two feet. Before the snow falls deep, place hemlock boughs, straw, or leaves thickly over the whole—the former being the most frost-proof. Three tiers deep is enough for one ridge. Celery will keep in this manner fresh and clean. Some prefer to cover the stalks with dried leaves before the earth is put on, thinking thereby they prevent "rusting."—Hearth and Home.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous as well as injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so generally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it would cure them, and all know that what it does once it does always where it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither mercury nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. They overcome the coating prevalent upon the tongue, and make them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action, relieving the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their regular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first cause of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box for the following complaints, which these Pills easily cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Worms, a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it often affects astonishing cures where no serious derangement exists, and no one will be sick who does take a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the concentrated properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue and Life-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care in the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious substances or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum, for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone but the wonderful curative powers it has secured in the curative range of Dr. Radway's Resolvent, more especially in these constitutions, is

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

it supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS THE ELEMENTS OF BONE & FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with the most health-making properties.
It cures all Scrofula and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat and Skin and Scrofula.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WASTING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the most delicate and past prefect Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those made prematurely nervous or insane, are deficient or exhausted.
It creates sound sleep and gentle incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is no remedy known to man that has ever wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, that will restore LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the powers of repair, and impossible of sustaining the reparative powers of RADWAY'S but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decomposition prevented, if the disease or decay that now exist be discontinued from the system.

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

Extreme cases where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS or other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted or destroyed, the Sarsaparillian is the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, be restored to a live perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital fires may burn, or how far the waste may have brought under the influence of the tissue and flesh-making medicine the process of repair will begin, the waste and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured only by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Scrofula, Sporadic Glands or Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in his health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will receive a better opportunity to throw off the poisons. Instead of living Bile, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If sufficient time has been given on the system, to correct these secretions, and to let each organ or secretion which is in the wasting by proper functions, health can never be restored. Especially for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent accepts this important truth, and has therefore extended to all these remedial agent, and advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or superficial the tissues, cartilages, glands, bones, or bowels disease and corruption may be, the influences of this powerful agent on the blood and entire fluids that course the living body, will repair, and so change the system with new and healthful matter, as to remove the dead and decomposing matter, and supply the places with sound and living structure; and thus, and thus only, purer, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus in the blood, and renovates and wasting all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, as Scrofulous disease, a Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, &c., the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Chlorod, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or joints, or from some Venereal or family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, mucred and badly treated Venereal, Mercurial Cancerous Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Disease. Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Itch, Blotches, Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all wasting and painful Diseases, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Generative Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Stictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy. Diabetes, and all who are incommoded or distressed by Excess of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured by the use of the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side and resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He also used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and, used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man who had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored all his time to no purpose, and cured in less than two dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owned property nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., sold me of his knowledge of your medicine. He was, aged 51 years, so covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all, that he took to bed in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was got under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared, and I enjoy health fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—This gentleman is well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Canada, has received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Scrofula, Sporadic Glands or Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in his health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will receive a better opportunity to throw off the poisons. Instead of living Bile, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If sufficient time has been given on the system, to correct these secretions, and to let each organ or secretion which is in the wasting by proper functions, health can never be restored. Especially for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent accepts this important truth, and has therefore extended to all these remedial agent, and advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or superficial the tissues, cartilages, glands, bones, or bowels disease and corruption may be, the influences of this powerful agent on the blood and entire fluids that course the living body, will repair, and so change the system with new and healthful matter, as to remove the dead and decomposing matter, and supply the places with sound and living structure; and thus, and thus only, purer, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus in the blood, and renovates and wasting all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, as Scrofulous disease, a Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, &c., the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Chlorod, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or joints, or from some Venereal or family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, mucred and badly treated Venereal, Mercurial Cancerous Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Disease. Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Itch, Blotches, Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all wasting and painful Diseases, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Generative Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Stictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy. Diabetes, and all who are incommoded or distressed by Excess of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured by the use of the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side and resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He also used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and, used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man who had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored all his time to no purpose, and cured in less than two dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owned property nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., sold me of his knowledge of your medicine. He was, aged 51 years, so covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all, that he took to bed in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was got under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared, and I enjoy health fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—This gentleman is well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Canada, has received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, TUESDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 14, 1869. No. 192.

The Press.

The Montreal Gazette asks does the Nouveau Monde wish to provoke a war of races and religion in our midst? In making itself the partizan of the Red River insurgents, and the tone which it takes upon the subject, it seems desirous of doing so. It will be well for nobody to see a feud of this sort promoted till it ends in bloodshed, least of all for those under whose auspices the Nouveau Monde is understood to be published. Aiding, abetting and encouraging sedition and treasonable practices is not a work in which a journal understood to be the organ of a clerical body should indulge. Has it no common sense appreciation of the work to which it has set itself? Suppose the Winnepeg rebellion to achieve a present success. What would be the fate of the French-speaking inhabitants, the half-breeds and the Indians there? Absorbed inevitably by the United States, let history tell what their chances would be against the other races pouring in upon them. For some miserable pique, some passing cause of annoyance, the stupid bravado, perhaps, of a few foolish employees at Red River these poor people have been induced to take arms against the Government, and with the chance of a war of extermination either at the hand of Canada now, or of the United States later.

The Spectator says the present practice in regard to the tenure of office by members of Parliament has been adopted for generations past, not in Canada, but in Great Britain and no deplorable calamity has yet resulted from it. On the contrary the country has gradually advanced in material prosperity and in possession of all the advantages of constitutional Government. If the change proposed by Mr. Blake were adopted, there is not even a probability that it would add to the independence of the House, or to the growth of the country; while there is the certainty that it would interfere with the liberty of ministers and would introduce a system which could not in any form work so advantageously. The sophisms of Mr. Blake and his supporters, were well exposed, by the Attorney General and other members of the House, and on going to a division each resolution was negatived by a respectable majority. In a House of about sixty members the Government was sustained on each issue raised by a vote from 36 to 37. Ministers may be congratulated upon their success, and Mr. Blake should learn from this additional defeat not to be so rash in bringing forward motions which are not needed by the House or the country, and which tend very much to detract from his own reputation and influence. Will the Opposition journals parade this reform defeat in the same opposing manner in which a few days ago they were writing about a Government defeat which, after all, was not a defeat?

The Telegraph says the excellent manner in which the finances of Ontario are managed is clearly and satisfactorily shown in the large balance of appropriations which it is estimated will remain unexpended at the end of the year. When the usual appropriations were made last session, it was thought by many members of the House, that the Government would be compelled to pursue, perhaps, too strict a line of economy in order to made both ends meet. The result, however, shows that such fears were needless. The affairs of the Government have been well attended to. Every department and every branch has been liberally provided for; but nothing in the shape of extravagance can be detected in a single instance. In consequence of the care that has been exercised, it is estimated that at the end of the year the large sum of $336,074 will remain unexpended. In the case of the deaf and dumb institution, there will be an unexpended balance of over $34,000. In these cases, all the House will be required to do will be to re-vote the balance in order that it may be used next year. In some instances an additional sum will be asked for, while in others the unexpended amount is all the Government will require. Practically, the Government will commence next year with a balance of $34 074 on hand from this year, though in reality they will have no balance under their control, as all the appropriations lapse on December the 31st. The fact that such a large sum remains unexpended is proof positive that economy has been the rule in every department.

A little boy, on coming home from church where he had seen a person work the bellows of the organ said to his mother: 'Oh mamma, I wish you had been to church today. Such fun! A man pumped music out of an old cupboard.'

'Can you see anything in my eye, it feels very sore?' asked a lazy, good for nothing student of Oliver Wendell Holmes. 'I can see a very bad pupil,' was the reply of the professor, who never likes to be funny with his professional garments on.

For the Intelligencer.

"The Red River Row."

Such is the elegant caption of an editorial in the Globe of the 8th inst. Had Mr. McDougall been one of its friends, the proceedings would have been characterized by a more dignified expression than "row." But this is not what we would speak of. It says, "It appears that Father Richot is the head and front of the whole "movement by the French half breeds." And again, "The sooner his Ecclesiastical superiors deal with him the better."

The first of these sentences quoted but declares in reference to this trouble the secret of most of our political troubles—we mean the influence of the Romish priesthood—fighting for their church and its extension and power. This has been and is now a very great cause of trouble. A glance over our history shows, and scrutiny into proves that this is a power in our politics. Lower Canada, now Quebec, is Catholic, consequently united. Upper Canada, now Ontario, is Protestant, hence free and disunited. By this we mean a Protestant thinks for himself, the priest thinks for the Catholic. The Roman Catholic church in Canada, true to the inspirations of the Roman Catholic church the world over, has been and is fighting for political power, and all else to it is nil-nothing. In every conceivable way it has and does fight for such power. Now haughty as the proudest, then humble as the meanest. Now arrogant, next submissive. To-day honest as can be, to-morrow treacherous. Now, mild as the cooing dove, anon as fierce as the untamable hyena. Wise as the wisest, or simple as the boor. Insinuating, insisting, coaxing, bullying, flattering, anywhere, everywhere, anyway, anyway, sternly, remorselessly, pursuing its way for political power.

We saw it, and see it in the history of the world. We saw it, and see it in the head that could denounce the Irish rebellion, and yet allow the rebels to hold their meetings around the altars of its church. We saw it, and see it in the head which can denounce Fenianism in public, and originate and perpetuate Feinianism in private. We saw it, and see it in the head which could encourage the hand that hurried the noble McGee to a martyr's grave, and then shed hypocritical tears, and mouth pane gyrics over his bier. We saw it in the church which would influence a cabinet, and manufacture evidence to procure the dismissal of an upright Protestant Governor of the Indians in the Manitoulin Island. We saw it in the head and hand that has been, and is constantly tinkering at our common school law, both here and at home, so as to bring it within the scope of the dark, crushing power of the Romish Church; and now we see it cropping out in the Red River, about to be opened up to Protestant civilized Government, and civilizing influences. The priest there knows that the rich country so sparsely settled, must soon become the home of thousands, and in his fury he seeks to push back the vanguard of firethought, the opening up of the country to individuality. The wisest may err. Rome thought to stem, and then to crush out the reformation, but it grew and conquered. The same spirit is at the bottom of the Red River mal-contents. The sway of the priest must cease with the inroad of promiscuous, free, voluntary immigration, and he foolishly rises against the first ripple of its tide. In doing so he (not, as is the custom of trained brain), lets his passion for the moment drown his reason.

The second sentence suggests the query why should "his ecclesiastical superiors" be the ones selected to deal with the rebellious Father Richot? Are they the only power defied—we trow not—they are obeyed. Mayhap, but too literally—his political superiors are rebelled against. What position we would ask—what peculiar position we inquire—does the Romish Church hold in this free country that her priests can be rebels to the State and traitor, and for ourselves we say we will neither ask Protestantism to dominate not allow Roman Catholicism to govern; nor will we degrade our manhood by flattering all.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, DEC. 14.

SABBATH SCHOOL SOCIAL.—We learn that a Sabbath School Social will be held at the Town Hall, Sidney, on Wednesday evening, December 22nd, which we are sure will be an interesting occasion.

DIVORCE CASES.—The Dominion Parliament will have next session three divorce cases to dispose of. Robert Sharman, of Goderich; John R. Martin, barrister, of Caguga; and Jean Baptist Levernois, of Montreal, have applications in the official Gazette for divorce, on the ground of adultery.

GOLD MINING.—The work going on by the Phœnix Gold Mining Company is still, we are informed, progressing favorably. The new shaft is being sunk under the management of Mr. Dunstan, and already down about thirtyfeet. The promoters of this enterprise deserve credit for their perseverance. As the old Richardson has had so many drawbacks it required more than ordinary courage to attempt the task of mining work on the Richardson mine property. F. McAnnany, Esq., is President, and A. G. Northrupt, Esq., Secretary & Treasurer of the new company.

A SAVING CLAUSE.—A Nevada paper calls attention to a paragraph in a shipping receipt issued by an express company in which this extraordinary "saving clause" is introduced:—"And it is hereby expressly agreed that Wells, Fargo & Company are not to be held liable for any loss or damage, except as forwarders only; nor for any loss or damage, of any box, package or thing, for over $50, unless the just and true value thereof is herein stated; nor for any loss or damage by fire, the acts of God, or of Indians, or other public enemies of the government."

APPRECIATED.—The inhabitants living on the Hastings Road evidently value the services rendered to that section of country by their local member, Dr. Boulter. We have before us a letter signed by thirty settlers, in which they thus refer to Dr. Boulter's efforts in their behalf: "We the undersigned inhabitants of Carlow, beg leave herewith to express our gratitude to you for the exertions you have made in getting a road made into our settlement. We would further assure you that in consequence of what you have already done in our behalf, we feel assured that while the interests of the Riding are entrusted to you they will be properly attended to."

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE AND THE REVIEWS: Leonard Scott & Co., 140. Fulton St. N. Y.—The November number of Blackwood now before us contains the following interesting papers:—Earl's Dene part I; The Jewish Reformation and the Talmud; Cornelius O'Dowd; Dr. Cummins and the Council; The Claims of the Fenians; The Land Question in Ireland; John part I; Saint Eloy-sur-les-Dumas; The Faroese Saga; and Scotland in Parliament; The Poor Law Inquiry. This Magazine and the British Quarterlies are reprinted from advance sheets and sent to Leonard Scott Publishing Company, and "are almost a sine qua non with men of culture." The standard Magazines are published at a price far below that which is paid for them in Great Britain, and being circulated in Canada at a very brief period after their appearance in England, these treasuries of literature deserve all the patronage they receive; and should be subscribed for by every citizen and regularly read, for they furnish a great antidote to the bane of 'yellow covered' reading, which is rapidly injuring the mind of our people by inducing them to rest contented with the flippant style which is day by day becoming the rule rather than the exception in such writing. Not only this, but he who would keep up with the current literature of the world must needs have these Reviews, for they embrace in their range of criticism all that, in current literature, really challenges the attention for merit." The prospectus for 1870 will be found in another column.

THE ECUMENICAL COUNCIL.

ROME, Dec. 13.—The Council meets to-morrow simply for the purpose of attending to some details of organization. The committee, and on faith, discipline, orders and eastern affairs, are to be formed. These committees will comprise in all, 86 members, who are to be appointed by vote of the Council. The affixed list of persons intitled to attend to the Council is published. It contains the names of 53 Cardinals, 111 Patriarchs, 917 Arch bishops, Bishops and Abbots, 22 mile Abbots, and 29 generals of religious orders.

New Municipalities.

For some time past the inhabitants of Mayo and Carlow have been endeavoring to secure an independent existence for Municipal and other purposes; and through the efforts of Dr. Boulter the Governor has issued his proclamation, annexing the said Townships to the County of Hastings, and erected them into a separate Municipality. The following is the proclamation:

PROVINCE OF ONTARIO.

VICTORIA, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, QUEEN, Defender of the Faith, &c. &c.

To all to whom these presents shall come, or whom the name may concern—Greeting.

J. S. MACDONALD, Attorney-General. } WHEREAS, it is in and by the fifty-first chapter of the Statutes of Canada, 29 and 30 Vic., amongst other things, in effect enacted, that in case a township be laid out by the Crown in territory formingn o part of an incorporated county, the Governor may by Proclamation erect two or more of such townships lying adjacent to one another, into an incorporated union of townships, and annex the same to any adjacent incorporated county; and, whereas, by their petition transmitted to Our Lieutenant-Governor in Council, the inhabitants of the townships of Mayo and Carlow, heretofore being in the District of Nipissing, have prayed that a Proclamation do issue, annexing the said townships to the County of Hastings for municipal and other purposes; and, whereas, Our Lieutenant-Governor deems the circumstances of the said townships such as to call for the annexation desired.

Now know ye, that by and with the advice of Our Executive Council of Our said Province, and in pursuance of the power and authority conferred in and by the hereinbefore in part recited Act of the Legislature of the late Province of Canada, and of all other our powers and authorities in this behalf. We do hereby by this Our Royal Proclamation erect the townships of Mayo and Carlow into an incorporated union of townships, and do annex the same to the County of Hastings: and we do further by this Our Proclamation appoint James Wilson, Senior, Returning Officer, to hold the first election for municipal officers for the said united townships, and we do further proclaim that such election shall take place at Boulter, in the said township of Carlow; of all which Our loving subjects and and all others whom these presents may concern, are hereby required to take notice and to govern themselves accordingly.

In testimony whereof, we have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of our said Province of Ontario to be hereunto affixed:

Witness the Honorable WILLIAM PEARCE HOWLAND, Companion of the most Honorable Order of the Bath, Lieutenant-Governor of our Province of Ontario, at Our Government House, in our City of Toronto, in our said Province, this Eleventh day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, and in the thirty-third year of our Reign.

By Command.

M. C. CAMERON, Secretary.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

MONDAY, Dec. 13.

A number of petitions were presented, and several Bills advanced a stage, among them the

KINGSTON AND MADOC RAILWAY

Bill was, on motion of Mr. Strange, read a second time and ordered to be committed to-morrow.

AID TO MUNICIPALITIES.

Mr. SCOTT (Grey), asked whether the Government intend to make an appropriation from the surplus funds of this Province to assist municipalities (where such municipalities shall contribute an equal amount) in improving harbors in such municipalities by dredging or otherwise.

The ATTORNEY GENERAL said the Ontario Government had no power to make these grants. It was claimed by the Dominion Government, and while the Dominion Government claimed this authority it was not the intention of the Ontario Government to take any steps in the matter.

COLLINGWOOD HARBOR.

Mr. SCOTT (Grey), moved for leave to introduce a Bill to give power to the Township of Collingwood to levy tolls or dues, at a harbor to be constructed at the mouth of Beaver River, which was objected to by Mr. Blake as being beyond the power of that Parliament. It was allowed to stand.

COMMON SCHOOL ACT.

The House went into Committee of the whole House on the Common School Bill, and passed several Amendments. Among them limiting the appointment of Superintendants for three years, and on motion of Mr. K. Graham, the power of dismissal was confined to the councils. He said he thought that the Provincial Secretary should have given Members the credit for being in earnest in moving amendments, and only doing so after deliberation; one of the objects of his amendment was to get rid of mixed prerogative, and he was quite as anxious the Bill should be carried as the Provincial Secretary. Mr. Graham moved to strike out the 8th clause, giving power to the Superintendent to decide upon the suitableness of School accommodation, while others moved to substitute twelve for six months, as the time to be allowed to provide suitable school houses. Mr. Graham's amendment was lost on a vote of 23 to 27; and twelve substituted for six. An amendment was also made in reference to the number to form and constitute the Board of Public Instruction. On motion of Dr. Boulter the clause allowing a majority in a Township to establish Township Boards was rejected.

On motion the House adjourned.

County Court and Quarter Sessions.

The Fall term of the County Court opened to-day before the Hon. Judge Sherwood, F. McAnnany and Thos. Emo, Esquires, associates. The Civil Docquet is very light, there being only fifteen cases, most of which are undefended. There was nothing on the Calendar, and consequently the Sheriff had the pleasure of presenting the Judge with a pair of white gloves.

The following gentlemen compose the Grand Jury:—

FRANCIS BRENTON, Foreman.

Wm. Bird,	Rich. Lyons,
John Bradshaw,	Jos. F. Minden.
S. Clapp,	C. McCarty,
Wm. Cadman,	M. McShea,
Benj. Clapp,	Jno. Macaulay,
Jno Chapman,	M. Nealon,
S. Dunning,	J. W. Peterson,
A. Denike,	N. Reid,
T. Farnsworth,	Jacob Sills,
Alex. Hicks,	W. Wickens,
Thos. Hamilton,	Jas. Wiley.
Wm. Kyle,

The Judge congratulated the Jury upon the little work they had before them. There were no criminals in gaol, and consequently he had the pleasure of receiving from the Sheriff a pair of white gloves. There were one or two cases of assault which would probably come before them, and any information they desired would be cheerfully accorded by the County Attorney. He gave the usual directions with respect to the examination of the gaol, &c.

One or two undefended cases were then disposed of.

County Council.

TUESDAY, Dec. 14th 1869.

The Council met this afternoon at 2 o'clock, pursuant to adjournment.

PRESENT—His Honor the Warden and Messrs. Rose, Rowe, Armstrong, Appleby, Dacy, Flint, Emo, Findlay, Conley, Walker, Jones, Cummings, Caldwell, Farley, Daly, Clapp, Gabourie, Stokes, Cross, Chard.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

The Warden then addressed the Council as follows:

This meeting of the Council is for the despatch of general business, and in all probability the last of the year.

The reports of the Gravel Road Committee will be laid before you before the close of the Session. The Committee appointed by the County to confer with the Town with reference to the present financial relationship of the two Municipalities, have not been able to make much progress. So far as can be judged, from the present aspect of affairs, it will in all probability, have to be submitted to arbitration, and I would recommend to the Council that such arbitrator be appointed during the present Session, and from outside of the County, providing the Town will adopt the same plan. Such a course I am satisfied, will have the effect of bringing about a much more satisfactory result than can be arrived at by local arbitrators.

The Superintendent of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, of Hamilton, has again made application for assistance. It is for you to determine whether aid should be given or not. Under all the circumstances I do not feel inclined to recommend an appropriation.

The Township of Carlow and Mayo applied at the last Session of the Council to be erected into a Municipality. There not being sufficient time for the passing of a By-Law to take effect for the January election, I recommended the petitioners to apply to the Governor in Council of Ontario for a proclamation to the same end. This was done, and through the exertions of Dr. Boulter, M. P. P., the prayer of the petition has been accomplished. They will hold their elections in January, and send a representative to the Council of 1870.

The Bridge at Frankford is completed and accepted by the Committee appointed by the Council.

The finances of the county are in a very healthy state, though inconvenience is being felt by the delay of Municipalities in paying up. I trust every reasonable effort will be made by the Reeves of the various Municipalities, to have the taxes paid in as soon as possible. It is to be hoped there will be a continuation of the policy which the Council has adopted for the last few years, with reference to the debt of the county, and that in a few years we may see the debt wiped out. For the present the ratepayers will find the taxes to be comparatively high; but I feel certain there will be no great amount of complaint when they fully understand the purposes to which the taxes are applied, and that the debt of the county is year by year rapidly decreasing.

CABINET MEETING IN LONDON—CRITICAL CONDITION OF IRELAND.

FRESH TROOPS TO BE SENT TO IRELAND.

Five thousand additional troops of the line will be despatched immediately to Ireland, raising the total force of the regular army there to about 30,000 men.—this is to meet the emergency at present presenting itself. On the assembling of the Imperial Parliament, on the 10th of January (8th of February ?) next, a Bill will be immediately introduced to empower the Government to suspend the Act of Habeas Corpus in Ireland by Executive Order, not waiting for an Act of the Legislature when it is deemed necessary for the public safety to do so.

TIPPERARY AND LONDONDERRY PROCLAIMED.

At the last meeting it was resolved by the Government to proclaim the County of Tipperary in the Province of Munster, with portions of the county and city of Londonderry in Ulster, as being in a state of insurrection described in the Act of Parliament providing therefore and so empowering them to act.

He favored the conciliatory course in dealing with the Dalmatian insurrection; dwelt upon the peaceful appearance of European affairs with satisfaction, and declared that the Austrian Empire was on excellent terms with foreign powers, even on points which had momentarily caused some trouble; referring to internal affairs the Emperor announced that important concessions were to be made to the different nationalities; modifications of the constitution would be necessary, but must be made in accordance with its spirit. He closed by promising that the automoy of the Provinces would be respected as long as it was compatible with the maintenance of the unity and power of the Empire.

REMAINS OF MR. PEABODY LEAVE ENGLAND.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—The reception of the remains of the late Mr. Peabody, on board the iron-clad, 'Monarch,' took place on Saturday. Although it was intended that the proceedings should be privately conducted, they were attended by interesting demonstrations of respect. The remains were accompanied to the place of embarkation by Sir Curtis Simpson, Charles Reade, Minister Motley, J. S. Morgan and H. Sumerly. They were received at the dock by the Municipal authorities of Portsmouth, and the officers and marines of the 'Monarch,' and of the United States steamship 'Plymouth.' The 'Duke of Wellington' fired her minute guns during the embarkation. The ships in the harbor displayed their flags at half mast, and dipped their ensigns as the 'Monarch' steamed out. On the arrival of the coffin on board the 'Monarch,' Mr. Motley addressed Captain Commorek, commander of the ship as follows:

"SIR—The President of the United States having been informed of the death of the great philanthropist, the lamented Peabody, at once ordered a ship from the European squadron of the United States, to proceed to this country in order to convey his remains to America. Simultaneously Her Majesty, the Queen being apprised of the sad event, gave orders that one of Her Majesty's ships should be appointed to perform the same office. This double honor from the heads of two great nations, to a simple American citizen was like his bounty to the poor of both nations without precedent. The President has yielded most cordially to the wish of the Queen, and the remains of Mr. Peabody are now to be conveyed across the Atlantic in a British vessel to his native country to be buried with his kindred, while the American national vessel will accompany her on the voyage. All that was mortal therefore, of our lamented friend was taken this morning from Westminister Abbey, where very rarely before in history did a foreigner of any nation find sepulture, whether temporarily or permanently, and has been brought to this port as Minister of the Republic, at the Court of Her Majesty, I have been requested by the relatives and executors of Mr. Peabody, who are now present, to confide these, his revered remains to your keeping. This duty I have now the honor of fulfilling."

The Capt. in command replied to Mr. Motley: "I accept this sacred trust in the same spirit in which you have confided it to my care, and I assure you that these remains shall be cared for and guarded by me and those around me with jealous interest, as sacred relics of one whose memory will ever be held dearly by the people of my country."

THE CEREMONY OF H. W. BEECHER & CO.

Mr. Beecher's shocking blunder, to call it by no worse name, is likely to get him into serious trouble with the New York courts. Recorder Hackett in his charge to the Grand Jury, directed them to investigate Mr. Beecher's alleged complicity in the bigamous marriage at the Astor House and, if they should find that he had abetted therein, to promptly indict him. An indictment would be followed by a public trial, and probably a conviction; a sad termination to the career or the distinguished minister whose future was so full of promise and usefulness.

The New York Mercury tells a story concerning the wife of one of the divines, who officiated at the marriage mockery When men of talent and eminence prostitute their holy callings as did Messrs, Beecher and Co., it is perfectly legitimate to inquire whether their own domestic relations are any purer than those which they assume to solemnize for other. And the result of its inquiry, briefly stated, is this: In 1847 the Duke and Duchess of Prosliu, one of the oldest and noblest families in France, lived unhappy in consequence of the attentions payed by a Duke to the governess in the family, one Mlle Dulexy. One morning the Duchess was found murdered and weltering in her gore having been pierced by more than forty wounds. The Duke and Mlle. Dulexy was arrested for the crime—he as principal and she as accessory. The case never reached a conclusion. The Duke committed suicide by poison, and then all proceedings were stopped. Mlle. Dulexy came to America, became a governess, then teacher in the Cooper Institute at New York, and finally "the wife of one of the highly moral priests who endorsed the sensational marriage of the period," that of the man Richardson and the woman M'Farland. Which "priest ?" Only three have been mentioned as present—Rev. H. W. Beecher, Rev. O. B. Frothingham, and Rev. N. M. Field.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. THE CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks.—"The singular success which Mr. Epps obtained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experiment-list. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ¼lb., ½lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 91-Gm 1&3

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & Co.,

GENTS.—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Predisposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had constituted the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it to all afflicted.

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it one are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

'Brudder Dickson.'

Mr. Dickson, a colored barber in one of the large New England towns, was shaving one of his customers, a respectable citizen, one morning, when a conversation occurred between them respecting Mr. Dickson's former connection with a colored church in the place.

"I believe you are connected with the church in Elm street, Mr. Dickson," said the customer.

"No, sah, not at all."

"Why, are you not a member of the African church?"

"Not dish year, sah.'

Why, did you leave their communion, Mr. Dickson, if I may be permitted to ask?'

"Why I tell you, sah,' said Mr. Dickson, strapping a concave razor on the palm of his hand, 'it was jess like dis—I jined det church in good fait. I gib ten dollars towards de stated preachin' ob de gospel de fuss year, and de people call be Brudder Dickson. De second year my business not good, and only gib five dollars. Dat year de church people call me Mister Dickson. Dish razar hurt you, sah?'

'No, sir, goes tol'bul well.'

"Well, sah, de third year I feel berry poor—sickness in my family—an' I gib nosin for preachin.' Well, sah, arter dat dey call me ole nigger Dickson, and I left 'em!'

'So saying, Mr. Dickson brushed his customer's hair, and the gentleman departed, well satisfied with the reason why Mr. Dickson left his church.'

—Free-masons will be interested in learning that the nobleman who has been for twenty-six years at the head of their Order in England is now on the point of retiring. The Earl of Zetland is extremely popular among the English Masons, and a short time ago a magnificent testimonial was got up for him, but when the fact came to his knowledge he begged that the money might be devoted to the charitable institutions of the brotherhood. The Earl is now upwards of seventy-four years old, and increasing infirmities have led him to resign a post of which he was always proud. We may add that he was one of the most liberal of Peers in his politics, and advocated the Ballot and triennial instead of septennial Parliaments. It is said that the new Grand Master will most likely be Earl de Grey and Ripon, at present Deputy Grand Master.

NEURALGIA may be distinguished from rheumatism by the intensity of the pain, its short continuance, and its liability to return on the slightest touch; its acute rheumatism there is fever, redness, heat in the part affected, and some swelling, all of which are absent in Neuralgia; in chronic rheumatism the pain is continuous, less severe, and often worse at night. From toothache, by the shortness of the paroxysm, the rapidity of its succession, and the frequent convulsive twitchings. To obtain immediate relief, use Dr. J. Briggs' Alleviator according to directions. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors, 308 Broadway, N.Y. and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every part among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other that has been known, so that no spurious substitutes or worthless imitations can possibly be palmed upon the purse.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum, for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this and foreign countries, to procure the best and most effective remedies that can be had for the cure of every variety of disease that is subject to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands, Womb, or Urinary Apparatus, will experience a marked change in his health for the better in taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and none tainting, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter or other elements of disease, if consumption and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions. The Natural Juices fills the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these Juices are then directed for expulsion through the system through their proper channels. If sufficient fluid is in the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland to do their proper functions, health can never be restored. Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important want in the system, as will show from the remedial agent.

Observe Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones diseases and corruptions may be, the influence of this power to act upon the blood and other fluids that supply the wasting body with repairs, will so alter the system with such constituents as to remove and exterminate the dead and decaying matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. This chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the secretions and constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it overcomes every atom of virus from the blood, and resolves many old deposits of diseases, and assists them by its action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, a Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, Lead, Nitrate of Silver, Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues, cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have been through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms, Glandular Diseases, Sores in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Breast, and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Diseases, Erysipelas, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions of every form, Scald Head, Ringworm, Itch, Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Fever Sores, Salt Rheum, Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gout, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, Dropsical Swellings, Incontinence of Urine, or Involuntary Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of the firm of Denault & Brosseau, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS on his thigh, which resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Acide, with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two boxes of Radway's Pills, and was cured, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent was used, of what which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously been afflicted with ulcers, and sore for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., was for a long time confined to his bed by a most severe attack of scrofula, which covered with one large SOLID SCAB his whole body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever beheld. The only remedy I saw put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was entirely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Fever Sores, Fever Sores, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, WEDNESDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 15, 1869. No. 193.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

The Celibacy of the Clergy.

Sir—The last number of the Canadian Churchman, under the above heading, contains a letter signed "Stephen McSlogan," which is deserving the attention of not merely the Laity of the Diocese but of the Bishop and the clergy also. It is quite true that this appeal is made only to the Bishop and Laity, but I think that the Clergy, themselves are not free from blame in the matter. It may as well be stated at the outset, that the writer does not advocate the "Celibacy of the Clergy," but rather an increase of their salaries, so that they may be able to support wives and families; in other words, that their salaries are too low, and that the Laity are expected to contribute more largely to the mission fund in future. The writer concludes by saying that "three alternatives are before the Laity, any one of which they can "have at their choice, either (1) a great increase "of clerical stipends; or (2) a priesthood "mainly celibate; or (3) a general relapse to "Methodism, or cheap preacherism." I do not intend analyzing Mr. McSlogan's "alternatives," but to point out what in my opinion is the main cause of the indifference of the Laity to contribute to Diocesan schemes the mission fund included, that cause is the assumption by the Bishop of the patronage of the Diocese; it is well known that soon after his election, he set his heart on depriving the Laity of any voice in the appointment of their clergymen, and with the cooperation of the clergy, (Mr. McSlogan no doubt included,) and a majority of the Laity who believed his professions, he accomplished his purpose; the appointment of Dr. Lauder to Brockville, and very soon after to the rich Rectory of St. George's, Kingston, followed; and caused such a commotion among the Laity, that a proposition was made at the ensuing Synod which met in Brockville, to cancel the Canon giving the Bishop the patronage. After considerable discussion and finding the feeling among the Laity in favor of having some voice in the appointment of their clergymen so strong, he announced that he would not appoint any clergyman whom he knew to be distasteful to a congregation; this was a very mild way of saying that he would take the advice of the Laity; where upon it was moved by Mr. Rosamond, of Almonte, seconded by the Rev. William Bleasdell, of Trenton, "That the appointment "to all Rectors or vacant Cures within the "Diocese of Ontario, remain as at present in "his Lordship the Bishop, and that this Synod "accepts with all confidence the announcement "made by his Lordship; "that he would make "no appointments which he knew to be distaste "ful to a Congregation." Some of the Laity did not consider this resolution very satisfactory, and accordingly nine Parishes and three Clergymen voted against it; however, a few years passed away and another Church became vacant—this time it was St. James—the Congregation being expected to pay the whole of the stipend of their Minister, and bearing the above resolution in mind, naturally thought they would have some voice in the appointment. They accordingly met and nominated three Clergymen, one of whom was one of "the best men in the Ottawa district," according to Mr. McSlogan; yet the whole three were passed over and another appointed who was not wanted; the consequence of which was that the majority of the congregation were driven away from their own Church —some of them for ever, and the Clergyman so thrust upon the congregation finds himself with a Clerical income of about $200 per annum, owing to this act of the Bishops.

Is it then any wonder that the Laity button up their pockets when appealed to for Diocesan objects? The trouble is that this dissatisfaction does not end there. Many excellent clergymen find it meeting them when appealing for much needed Parochial schemes, and so the work of the Church is retarded. Now it may be easily inferred from what I have said that the Laity have lost confidence in the Bishop; and in his statements; this is evinced by the falling off of Lay speakers at the Parochial Missionary Meetings, and in other ways. If then Mr. McSlogan is desirous of seeing the salaries of the Clergy increased, let him advocate the relinquishment by the Bishop of the sole right of appointment. Let the Laity have a voice, not by favor but by right in the appointment of their Ministers, and I will guarantee that he will be properly supported, and through time the Bishop may regain the esteem and respect of the Laity. Until then it need not be expected that the Laity will be very enthusiastic over the support of the Clergy, in whose appointment they have no voice.

Yours truly,
A Layman.

Kingston, Dec. 13th, 1869.

The use of mica in spectacles, for protecting the eyes of workman from the heat and glare of the fire, is rapidly coming into favor, and complete masks, and even cylinders entirely encircling the head, are often used for a similar purpose when a greater safeguard is required. Experiments have been lately made in regard to the manufacture of blue spectacles from thin materials. The best method of accomplishing this has been found to consist in the use of plates of transparent blue gelatine fixed between two layers of mica, thus protected from the action of the heat. The experiment of applying blue coloring matter directly to the surface of the mica itself, failed in consequence of the impossibility of forming a suitable combination, but the gelatine layer, as indicated, answers all the purpose desired.

The End of Four Great Men.

The four conquerors who occupy the most conspicious places in the history of the world are Alexander, Hannibal, Cæsar, and Bonaparte.

Alexander, after having climbed the dizzy height of his ambition, with his temples bound with chaplets dipped in the blood of millions, looked down upon a conquered world, and wept that there was not another world to conquer, set a city on fire, and died in a scene of debauch.

Hannibal, after having, to the astonishment and consternation of Rome, passed the Alps, and having put to flight the armies of the mistress of the world, and stripped "three bushels of gold rings from the fingers of her slaughtered knights," and made her foundations quake, fled from his country, being hated by those who once exultingly united his name to that of their god, and called him Hanni-Baal; and died at last by poison administered by his own hand, unlamented and unwept, in a foreign land.

Cæsar, after having conquered eight hundred cities, and dying his garments in the blood of one million of his foes, after having pursued to death the only rival he had on earth, was miserably assassinated by those he considered his nearest friends, and in that very place the attainment of which had been his greatest ambition.

Bonapatte, whose mandates kings and popes obeyed, after having filled the earth with the terror of his name—after having deluged Europe with tears and blood, and clothed the world in sackcloth—closed his days in lonely banishment, almost literally exiled from the world, yet where he could sometimes see his country's banner waving over the depot, but which did not and could not bring him aid.

Servant Girl Wanted.—Some person in New York, who had trouble with his servants advertised for a girl. He says:—"Wanted—A girl to dwell in my family, assist my wife in doing the work, and give directions general. Wages of not much object, if she will only leave me enough of my income to pay for the crockery that she breaks. If she should not be satisfied with having seven evenings in a week, effort shall be made to give her eight; she may decide what we shall have to eat, and whether it shall be overdone, underdone, or done at all, and do, in fact, as she pleases, except wear my wife's gloves, unless her hands and feet are within four sizes of being too small. Feather beds or mattresses as preferred.—P. S. A piano and music supplied free of charge. The use of the parlor for company. No account taken of the tea or sugar that enters or leaves the house."

LECTURE THIS EVENING.—Don't forget the Lecture by the Rev. J. C. Smith this evening, in Ontario Hall, under the auspices of the Workingmen's Association. It will be a rich intellectual treat.

LARGE YIELD.—Mr. ASA E. Wallbridge, of Ameliasburgh, informed us that last spring he planted one potato cut into single eyes, and that the product this fall was one bushel and one peck.

PRESENTATION.—The friends and adherents of Rev. Mr. Grout, Pastor of the Church of England in Stirling, presented him the other day with a valuable horse as a token of their appreciation of his services. The contributions came from persons in Rawdon, Marmora and Frankford, as well as Stirling.

BALDWIN WARD.—A very numerously signed requisition has been presented to Mr. Reuben S. Patterson, requesting him to run for Councillor for Baldwin Ward at the coming election. Mr. Patterson has consented, and from the names upon the requisition there can be little doubt that he will be elected by acclamation. Mr. Patterson will make a good Councillor.

TERRIBLE.—The following buncombe Bill was introduced and carried in the House of Representatives, Washington, yesterday:—"The Bill declared that the American people learn with horror and indignation of the treatment of American citizens held as political prisoners under the English Government. That no language is adequate to condemn such treatment, and urging on the National Executive the imperative duty of immediate intervention in their behalf. Referred to the committee on foreign affairs," where it is likely to remain with hundreds of other similar buncombe resolutions and Bills.

ACCIDENT.—Last evening, about 5 o'clock as Mr. James Meagher and another person was driving along the Station Road, the traces became disengaged, and the occupants not being aware of the fact, the horses became unmanageable and ran away, throwing Mr. Meagher violently to the ground, near Mr. Pitts' blacksmith shop. When picked up he was unconscious, having his shoulder dislocated, and severely cut about the face. Dr. Lister being called rendered all the assistance in his power, and though the injuries received are serious and painful, we are happy to say, he is likely to recover.

DINNER TO LT. COL. SHAW.—The Kingston papers furnish us with an account of a complimentary dinner given to Lt. Col. Shaw, at the British American Hotel, Kingston, on Tuesday evening, Dec. 14th, as a mark of the respect in which the Col. was held by those best acquainted with him as a citizen and a volunteer officer. This public testimony to his worth, was given on the eve of his leaving for Glasgow, where he goes to take up his abode as Emigrant Agent for Canada. The Mayor of the city occupied the chair, and was surrounded by the elite of the city and the Garrison. The usual loyal toasts were given. Col. Shaw carries with him the respect and esteem not only of his fellow citizens of Kingston, but the whole Volunteer force of his district; and we may be permitted to add that if he carries the same industry and perseverance into his new vocation as displayed in his capacity as Brigade Major, the country will soon reap the benefit of a large and wholesome emigration.

The School Bills.

These Bills have not met with the reception anticipated by the Government, and consequently have been withdrawn. After a number of mutilations of the Bill, the Committee reached the 12th clause, when, a correspondent writes us, "here ended the "first mutilation of the Bill, Committee "rises never to sit again, Dec. 13th, 1869, "midnight. It was so severely attacked "by the House, that it died to-day, 14th, "abandoned by the Government. No one "shed a tear of regret, as its remains were "taken from the House. During its life it "caused great excitement, and but little "contentment."

"Where it has gone, or how it fares, Nobody knows and nobody cares!"

While we are in unison with our correspondent upon the Common School Bill, we deeply regret the withdrawal of the Grammar School Bill, for, with a very few minor amendments, the Bill would be a great improvement upon the present law, particularly in towns and cities.

—The Kingston News of the 14th, quotes Geese at 25 cents to 40 cents. Belleville can beat that. Geese for the past week have averaged 50 cents for the highest and 35 cents for the lowest. Which is the best market for the producer?

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TUESDAY, Dec. 14th 1869.

The fifth report of the Standing Committee on Railways was presented and concurred in.

THE COMMON SCHOOL ACT.

The ATTORNEY-GENERAL said the debate of last night convinced him that the object of the promoters of this bill to further the cause of education would not receive at the hands of the House that consideration which it deserved. The bill had been based upon the information given to the committee and the recommendation of the Chief Superintendent. The committee had been impartially chosen and they had met and deliberated carefully. It was understood then that the report of that committee should go to the country and that thus they should give time to have an expression of public opinion upon it. A note of admiration was everywhere sounded upon the views expressed by the Superintendent, and almost unanimous accord was given to the expressions he made at the various conventions. The government and the country had confidence in their venerable chief. The government found he had labored assiduously and industriously to make the institutions of learning in the country what they were —so that their success were quoted everywhere, as far even as the distant colony of Australia. But if that venerable gentleman had not the confidence of that House it was not the fault of the government. With respect to the Grammar School bill —that it is true had not been discussed, but it was quite clear that time was not properly nor fully appreciated. The Chief Superintendent had failed to command the confidence of the House, and in consequence the government were obliged to withdraw the bill. There was no other course left, as there would be no object in keeping the House further in suspense, and he hoped the House would not regret that it had raised circumstances to prevent the carrying out of the recommendations of the Chief Superintendent, whose wish it was to promote the interests of the country, and to further its system of education. In advising the withdrawal of the bill the venerable Chief Superintendent had expressed a hope also that his wishes should not be further thrust upon the people of Ontario.

The bill was then discharged from the orders.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOL ACT.

The ATTORNEY GENERAL moved that this bill be also discharged.

Some discussion took place upon the motion.

Mr. GRAHAM (Hastings), as a mover of certain amendments to the bill, said he had supposed that the House had perfect liberty to take its own course.

The question was then put and a division taken on the demand of Mr. McKellar—the Attorney-General remarking on the exceptional nature of the proceedings—Yeas, 59; nays, 7.

YEAS.—Messrs. Barber, Baxter, Beatty, Blake, Calvin, Cameron, Carling (London) Christie, Clemens, Cockburn, Code, Colquhoun, Corby, Coyne, Craig (Glengarry), Craig (Russell), Crosby, Cumberland, Currie, Evans, Eyre, Ferguson, Ferrier, Finlayson, Fraser, Galbraith, Grahame (York), Greely, Hays, Hooper, Lauder, Lount, Luton, Macdonald, Matchett, Monteith, Murray, McCall (Norfolk), McCall (Elgin,) McGill, Oliver, Perry, Richards, Rykert, Scott, (Grey), Scott (Ottawa), Secord, Sexton, Sinclair, Smith (Leeds and Grenville), Strange, Springer, Tett, Trow, Wigle, Williams (Durham), Williams (Hamilton), and Wilson—59.

NAYS.—Messrs. Boulter, Boyd, Carnegie, Fitzsimmons, Graham (Hastings), McDougall and McKellar—7.

The bill was then withdrawn.

BILLS ADVANCED.

The Bill respecting Sheriff's Sale for Taxes with amendments, was ordered to be printed.

The Bill to remunerate certain Judges was considered in Committee and ordered to a third reading to-morrow.

Several other Bills were advanced a stage.

MADOC RAILWAY BILL.

The Madoc and Kingston Railway Bill was agreed to in Committee with some amendments introduced at the suggestion of Mr. Cameron, and the bill was ordered for a third reading to-day.

SUGAR REFINERY BILL.

The House went into committee, Mr. Boyd in the chair, on the bill to exempt from municipal taxation for a certain period herein mentioned a sugar refinery proposed to be erected in the city of Toronto.

Mr. CORBY objected to the bill. It was an interference with the freedom of trade, and he thought it required a serious consideration before they allowed this bill to pass. It was a move in the wrong direction. They should grant no such monopoly. If the persons concerned had capital they could afford to pay the municipal taxation.

Mr. CAMERON explained that this project would establish a new business in Toronto, and the city had petitioned for the bill. It was proposed to expend $150,000 and some encouragement was wanted, because there was much risk attending it. No loss would be incurred, because it would bring some 200 tax paying persons in the town. No privileges was asked for which there was not a precedent. A similar privilege had been granted to a proposed cotton mill, which was only stopped by the war.

MR. CORBY was obliged for the explanation, but still he objected to the bill.—Twenty-one years to grant such a privilege was a long time. He repeated that it was a move in the wrong direction.

Mr. MCMURRICH considered this an exceptional case. The refinery might be built outside the city but the citizens had requested that it should be built within the city. It was merely a question between the city and the promoters.

Mr. CORBY did not think that that cleared up the difficulty. He did not like to fetter a corporation for twenty-one years.

The clauses were then agreed to. The bill was reported without amendment, and the third reading ordered for to-morrow.

The House then went into committee on Supply, and passed a number of items.

The House adjourned at 11.37.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

MR. EDITOR.—SIR,—Can you tell me what the enclosed paragraph in the Hastings Chronicle of to-day means? Are the public to understand that the present officers of the Association whose names are appended to the advertisement calling the meeting, Thos. Holden, Esq., President, and A. L. Geen, Secretary, are neither in deed nor in truth what they are represented? It seems to me to be an uncalled for slur upon those gentlemen, and the Chronicle should make the amende honorable. The following is the paragraph to which I refer:—

"Y. M. C. A.—There will be a meeting of the Young Men's Association, for re-organization and election of officers, in their new rooms in Neilson's Hall, on Thursday evening at 7:30.—We hope that those who may be placed in office will no longer allow the association to be one on paper, but that it will be one in deed and truth."

MR. PEABODY'S WILL

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Mr. Peabody's will has not yet been probated. Its contents are substantially as follows:—Of his property in England under £300,000 he gives £5,000 to each of his executors, £150,000 to the London Charity, payable in three years, and a few small legacies to individuals. The balance is divided among his relatives in America. George Peabody Russell and two other nephews are appointed trustees and made residuary legatees, and are empowered to settle all the property in America, which is estimated at between £750,000 and $1,000,000.

The steamship "Monarch," with the remains of the late Mr. Peabody, has not yet put to sea owing to the prevalence of a gale.

THE LATEST.

THE PAPAL BULL.

LONDON, Dec 14.—An important Papal Bull has been issued under the seal of strict secrecy establishing regulations for the Ecumenical Council. In the exordium his Holiness exhorts the Bishops to live in the practice of charity, humility, sobriety and pious contemplation during the Session of the Council. He declares that although the right of making propositions for the Council belongs only to himself and the Court of Rome ad nos et ad sanctum sedem. He invites and exhorts every Father to think it his duty to make propositions, but on these conditions—

1st. That the proposition be made in writing and submitted privately to a Council of Bishops named by the Pope.

2nd. That the proposition have for its object the general interests of the Church not of a particular Diocese.

3rd. That it be accompanied by a statement of the motives which have led to its presentation

4th. That it be conformable to the spirit and traditions of the Catholic Church, his Holiness inspires secrecy on every person concerned in the conciliatory labors.

The order of precedence is fixed as follows: Cardinal Bishops, Cardinal Priests, Cardinal Deacons, Patriarchs, Primates, Arch-Bishops, Bishops, Abbots, and Generals of monastic orders. The Fathers are authorized to designate ten of their number to be charged with the judicial settlement of contestations arising among the Fathers themselves.

The Bull appoint the officers of the Council, naming as legati or presides over the general congregations: Cardinals Deluesche, De Luca, Bizzre, Billo and Capolti, Fathers, who desire to harmonize the assembly, must obtain authorization from the Legati the evening preceding the day on which they intend to speak. Those who intend to propose Canons must first submit them to one of the four Commissioners on faith, discipline, religious western and oriental affairs. These Commissioners will be chosen by the Fathers, but each will be presided over by a Cardinal named by the Pope. The Bull prohibits the Fathers from absenting themselves before the conclusion of the Council, and authorizes them not to reside outside of their Dioceses during the entire period of the Council. A majority of the Bishops are dissatisfied with many of the provisions of the Papal Bull.

Many members who acted to sustain the resolution avow themselves in favor of a new treaty.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefit of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label, Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1853 I was very much afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had consided to give up all hopes of ultimate relief, when I was induced to make a trial of the Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was reluctantly induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 191

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil the most delicate, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a sure remedy and far more effectual than any other. Being tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, try." that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all agree that what it does once it does always is after such trial. There is no form or ingredient in its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to restore the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint in its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, a dose should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression, a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, thereby purifying the blood and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most active products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tonic, Heal, Rebuilding medicine, are selected and gathered with the greatest care in the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co., so that no spurious admixtures or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with the genuine.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum, for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone but the wonderful improvements and discoveries in the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine that blends pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable, so strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful as this, the seat and confidence of constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

it supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CURES ALL WASTING AND WEAKENING DISEASES.
IT MAKES FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Kidney, and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat, and Skin and Scalp.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Ulcers, and Lung Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It lashes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those who, from early abuse or misuse, are deficient or exhausted.
It rescues woman from the reports attendant to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if there is any life left, but can receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs are wasted beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining life, cannot receive it of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the wasting away process stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist in the blood from the system, and the cause, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, invaded, and their tissues corrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live patients for many years, no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, Incurable Syphilis, and the poisons of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Scrofulous Glands or Bones, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a change in the system for better or worse after using the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will throw off their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine Bile, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health cannot be restored; hope only for suffering humanity. Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important end and has heretofore existed in all these remedial agent advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids (the supply the living body with repairs, will so change the system with such confidence as to warrant and exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and healthy structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood, that the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach, in its process of digestion into the blood and Organs, is that it is made blood, as well as the food we eat, and blends it converts into blood, and imparts its specific action when entering in the circulation, it carries health to every atom of worn-out or broken down tissue, sweeping away all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, as Mercury, Cancerous Substances, Lead, Arsenic, Corrosive Sublimate, Nitrate of Silver, Bark, Quinine, Chloride of Mercury, Cutonnel, and other agents. But many have accumulated in the bones, the tissues cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have existed for half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, mercurial and badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Diseases, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas Diseases in the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Heads, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Pimples on the face, Blotches, Worm, and all wasting and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, and Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative Sway of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it, for either of the above forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Stricture, and all Complaints of the Kidneys, Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all wasting of the system, commenced by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are speedily relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Benault, of St. Theresa Cottage, Coteau du Lac, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his leg and the other on his side, that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors, are healed in a few days. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Pills, with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, as also, as a lotion, a wash of Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, and doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the most wealthiest farmers of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., had in the full meridian of his days of medicine. His son, aged 12 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, from the top of his head to his body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all! I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw! At my request, he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief, and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Salt Rheum, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption; Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West,
Sept. 10, 1868.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two bottles I found I could sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease, and Pain and Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—The gentleman I have known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Barrie and Toronto, received no benefit, until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

Patrick Casey.

The person who drew this document was the witness Casey, and a legatee under it, but the heirs of the deceased being dissatisfied with it, and alleging that fraud had been used in procuring its execution. An order was made by the Judge of the Surrogate Court to test its validity by a jury of this Court.

Patrick Casey was called to prove the Will, but counsel for the heirs objected to the reception of his evidence, on the ground that he is an interested party, (subject to objection overruled.) His evidence showed that deceased called him in to draw his Will, which he did. The paper produced was the document; it was drawn in accordance with his instructions, deceased was quite sensible at the time, and knew the contents of the Will.

The provisions of the Will were carried out, the Priests were paid for the masses, the money paid to Mary Bolger, and Ellen Ford got the sheep; witness acted as Executor under the Will, and took possession of the money and other property, settling some debts due by the deceased; Murphy's note amounts to about $213.

Cross-examined.—Am a carpenter and wheelwright; was poor when I came to Tyendinaga; had a box of tools and some $20 or $30; Bolger helped me to build a log house; we lived together some time when we separated; had been very kind; gave me a cow, a barrel of pork and a pound of tea; the pork was bad and could not be used; gave most of it away; when Paddy Ford came in the room the Will was ready to be signed; all was done except signing my name; never told any one I had Murphy's note to collect for Bolgers daughter; since Bolger left me he went to live with his daughter where he remained till his death; can't say how many sheep there were; don't know their value; suppose Ellen Ford owns them; she was to give Pat Bolger two of them; took the gold and silver out of the box in presence of the members of the family and counted it; I did not take any money out of the box without telling what it was for and in presence of members of the family; never took any after; man died when alone in the room; there is 15 sovereigns and $3 or $4 in silver in chest now; the stone is to be paid for out of it; the note I have against Tim Murphy is $213 without interest.

Mary Casey, sworn.—I am wife of first witness; I heard husband give his testimony; Bolger was up and dressed when the will was drawn; I heard Bolger tell my husband what to put in will; he said after will was read that is all correct, I have disposed of all except my gun and clothes; Bolger knew what he was doing; he said he would give the gun to Dominic Tigh; do not know what became of gun; husband did not induce him to give him Tim Murphey's note; will was read over by my husband; Bolger said before will was drawn that Murphy's note was to go to my husband; did not hear my husband say he had note to collect for Bolger's daughter.

James Williams, sworn.—I am a barber; I shaved Bolger the day before he died; I think he was perfectly sound of mind; I had some conversation with him; I saw Pat Casey on that day; I walked with him from my place to Ford's house, where Bolger lived.

Michael Powers, sworn.—I knew Bolger; I was at his house the day before he died; I saw him; he talked rationally; I saw Patrick Casey and his wife there that day; he said when Casey and his wife came into the room, "did you bring pen and ink with you?"

Michael Doyle, sworn.—I knew Bolger; I was at his house the night before he died; I was talking with him, he seemed sensible; he was suffering pain; he was sound in mind; he talked with me and others; did not talk as much as usual; do not think he was out of his head; did not ask me where my hoops were; did not feel my legs to find my hoops.

DEFENCE.

Patrick Ford, sworn.—I knew S. Bolger; he lived with me ever four years; I am father-in-law of Ellen Ford; no charge made against him for his board; his daughter took care of him; I remember day before he died; Pat Casey was there; I went into Bolger's room at Mrs. Casey's request; Casey was writing; when I went in he continued writing five or six minutes, then he turned to Bolger and said, "You heard this read before;" Bolger said, "Yes;" then he wrote again and took it to Bolger and he put his hand on the pen that Casey held; Casey then wrote again and put the paper to me and I touched the pen; do not know whether this paper produced is the one or not; did not hear Bolger say he would give Murphy's note to Casey; I heard Casey say that he knew the Will was not any good; that the man did not want to make a Will; did not know anything about his mind; he asked his daughter before he died to say prayers for him; she went up stairs; I do not know what she did; it was late in the day that I went into the room at Mrs. Casey's request; candles had not been lighted; I am left a legacy in the Will; do not know amount of note left to me.

Cross-examined.—S. Bolger spoke of a note going to me; it is a fact, he had a note against M. Powers; do not know he was crazy; saw Bolger hand M. Powers' note to Casey; I do not think I am an honest man; do not think Pat Casey is a rogue.

Ellen Ford, sworn.—I am daughter of deceased; he lived with me a number of years before he died; he was sick in last illness three weeks; he did not suffer much until the last two days; he was very restless, and wandering in his sleep; while talking he would drop off asleep for a moment or two, and awake with pain; his mind wandered when awake; I noticed this about ten days before he died; I know he could not count money, or fix his mind to say his prayers; I never heard him say he was going to leave a large amount of his property to Casey; the day Casey came up he said he was going to leave sheep to me; Casey had been there in the morning and gone home; Casey went into the room where the chest was, and brought out money twice when I was not there; do not know how much he took; he gave me $6 he said he took out of the chest; after Bolger died, did not know contents of Will for more than a week after father died; I had to go to Casey to find out; Casey said to me the Will was no good, the man had no property to leave, and wanted no Will; the night before he died he was very bad; he asked Michael Doyle where his hoops were; cannot say what he thought Michael Ford was then at that time; I have not sold any of the sheep; I did father's making and mending while he lived with me; there were 33 sheep when he died; three died since; father came out of the room first and left Casey and his wife with him; father gave Casey a key.

Cross-examined.—While father was with me a cow was killed and eaten up; father did not give me money to buy a horse; father-in-law bought a horse from Sixsmith; do not know father gave him the money; father paid $3 for pasturing sheep; by the Will the sheep were left to me; I knew Pat Casey was drawing father's Will; father gave Casey the key of the box; Casey came to me for money to pay for tomb stone; I said if he would give me the key of the box I would give him money.

Michael Ford, sworn.—I knew deceased; I was with him the night before he died; he was very sick; he was raving some that night; I was there when Mr. Doyle was holding him up; Bolger began feeling around Doyle's hips and asked him where his hoops were; before noon of that day he was steady and sensible.

Mortimer Ford, sworn.—I knew deceased; I am husband of Ellen Ford; deceased lived with me 4½ years; day before he died he said he could not steady his mind to say his prayers; Casey went into the room when no one was there but deceased, and when he came out he gave me $6; do not know how much money he took out of the chest; night before Bolger died Casey gave me some money; do not remember how much.

Verdict—"That Simon Bolger was of sound mind at the time of the Execution of the Will and that he knew the contents of it, and that no undue influence was used to obtain it."

I was talking with the boy in the tree Defendant came to lot with a boy; she asked me what was the trouble, and said she had as much right to the field as I had; I said Mr. Jones had given me authority to look after it; she then swore and said she would take my life; I said for her to go home and use her threats upon her boys; a stone struck my hat thrown by her boy; I chased him out of the field with a stone in my hand; I did not throw the stone at the boy; she followed me with a stone which she threw at me and struck me on the head; I felt senseless upon the ground; when I came to and tried to raise I saw her leaning over me; I said to her then if I could get hold of her she would feel what she had done; she ran away; I did not get hold of her.

Cross-examined.—There were three boys there; one McHugh, John Melee and Peter Melee; I did not have a stick in my hand; I did not strike any one; I was after Peter Melee, he threw stones at me; Defendant struck me after I had returned from chasing her boys; the Melee boys are Defendants by a former hurband.

Dr. POTTS sworn.—I am a medical practioner in Belleville; I was called upon on the 11th October last to attend James Haine; he had a wound on the temple caused by a sharp corner of an instrument; it penetrated to the bone and slightly fractured the external table, it was a serious wound.

DEFENCE.

HARVY KELLER, sworn.—I remember the occurrence on the Sunday spoken of; I saw Peter Malee; he was crying murder, and Defendant ran towards her boy; Hayne had a club in his hand, and was chasing a little boy with two stones in his hand; Defendant then cried out "For God's sake do not murder my child;" Hayne came toward her, and shoved the stones at her; cannot say he struck her, then Defendant clinched Hayne by the hair and dragged him down on a pile of stones; they had a clinch and tussle; Defendant got up first and went away; Hayne also got up and walked away; Peter Malee was crying.

Cross-examined—I live on the Canifton road near Tansey's; do not know the day of month, but it was Sunday; think first day of October; club was as long as my arm; I did not measure it; when he took up the stones he threw down the club; he did not throw the stones; I do not know whether he struck her with the stones or not; did not see Hayne strike the child; do not know whether Hayne was cut or not; did not see Mrs. Hayne or Mr. Macoun; I was not not examined at the Police Court; I saw another at the affray; I heard the other woman say to Hayne kill the b—h.

BRIDGET HAYNE, sworn.—I am daughter of defendant's; I know Hayne; I remember the day of the disturbance; it was on Sunday; do not remember the month; it was in the fall; I was coming up the road when I heard Peter crying ma, murder; Peter was running home; mother was going towards him; Hayne was chasing Peter; I halloed to Peter to run towards me; do not know whether Hayne struck Peter or not; mother had her arms outstretched to catch Peter; Hayne then struck mother twice under her breast, while mother had Peter in her arms; Hayne called mother a name; when Hayne struck mother she caught hold of him; he did not strike mother after she took hold of him; both fell together on a pile of stones; brother John was not there, he was playing ball with some other boys.

Cross-examined—I lived home part of last fall; I was living at Gabourie's; I left; I was not sent away; I was not in the field; I was on the road; brother was in the field getting hickory nuts; do not think brother ever got fruit out of that field; do not think brother was ever in that field except on that day; Hayne had a club in his hand; do not know how large; a dispute arose at this stage of the case, as to the propriety of swearing two little boys, sons of defendant; Court rejected one, Peter, and allowed John to be sworn.

JOHN MALEE, sworn.—I remember the day this disturbance took place; I was playing ball on the hill; do not know the day of the week; Hayne chased me and my brother Peter out of the field one Sunday.

Cross examined—I never threw stones at this man.

REBUTTAL.

JOHN MACOUN, sworn.—I know Defendant and both of the boys; boy's character is bad; I would not believe them on oath.

MARGARET HAYNE, I was present at the time of the affray spoken of; I did not see Kellar there.

LITERARY AND SCIENTIFIC LECTURE.—In consequence of unforeseen engagements, Mr. Dunstan is prevented from lecturing in Ontario Hall this evening.

Y. M. C. A.—The attention of those interested is directed to the announcement of the meeting of the Belleville Young Men's Christian Association this evening, in their new rooms, Nelson's Hall. It is hoped there will be a large attendance.

COLONIAL INDEPENDENCE.—A deputation waited upon Earl Granville on the 15th inst., and presented an address asking for closer relations between the British Colonies and the Home Government, Earl Granville replied approving their request, and declaring that he was opposed to colonial independence.

DUCK SHOOTING.—Long Point on the Lake Erie shore must be a great duck shooting preserve, judging from the account the Hamilton Spectator gives of the sport at that place this fall. The Spectator says from the 20th of September to the end of last month no less than 8,839 ducks were killed, making, at an average of three pounds each, upwards of thirteen tons of game. Of these the average number of ducks per day to each gun was in September 24, in October 32, and in November 21; the highest number having been brought in on the 25th October, when 491 birds made up the tale of ten sportmen's slaughter. The average of 49 has, however, been repeatedly exceeded. For example, in one day of September a single gun accounted for 80; in one of October another reckoned up 92; while in one day of last month 72 fell before the aim of a third marksman. The highest individual average for each month was respectively 38, 46, and 35. The three largest bags of the season numbered 571, 512, and 464 ducks respectively, and we may question much if such shooting has, without the use of punt guns, ever been excelled, if indeed equalled. On the 27th October a single sportsman brought in 93; two days later another in 91; while on the 18th and 28th of the same month 88 fell each day to one gun.

Albert College.

As before noticed, this Entertainment was afforded at the College Wednesday evening last. Notwithstanding the extreme unfavorableness of the weather a large company was present, and enjoyed a fine treat. An interesting programme of Recitations, Original Essays, and Music, kept an unwearied audience for over two hours. The pieces were excellent and well rendered. There was a good substratum of loyalty and moral sentiment, and a rich vein of humor running through it. Master Jones Lewis gave the "Maid of the Inn," with great effect. Mr. J. Farley touched the risibilities of the company with the happy hits in his essay, on "Differences," while Mr. E. Stone fairly raised a tempest of laughter with his Negro lecture. This young man has special aptitudes for the comic. The essays on "Brock," "Tecumseh," "Alfred the Great" and the "Battle of Ridgeway," clearly showed that the young people in their books and their pleasures do not forget our country's weal, our noble institutions and our heroes. The reading of the young Ladies was the most distinct we ever heard at a similar exercise. Their performance on the Piano were fine, reflecting great credit on Prof. Crosler and his able assistant, Miss Brown. Mr. Crosler also favored the audience with one of his humorous songs, which was loudly encored. At the close, the prize in Chemistry was presented to Miss Zella Hulett, and the prizes in Physiology to Mr. Haslett, Mr. Stone, Miss Richardson and Miss Von Busick. Prof. Nichol's class presented him with an address and a fine volume of Dr. Wilson's Prehistoric man. After a feeling and tasteful acknowledgement of this compliment, by the Prof., the President read the Merits and Demerits of the Term, and announced that Hilary Term will open January 4th. Proceedings terminated with "God Save the Queen," and Benediction.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 15.

Several petitions were presented.

An address was moved for a statement showing the several amounts or approximate amounts received by the Crown Lands Department, from the sale or disposal of timber lying, growing or being on the several road allowances in the several municipal corporations of or in Ontario, during the past three years; the corporations from which the said timber was, or is being taken and the names of the several parties to whom the same was sold.

The Bill to incorporate the Kingston and Madoc Railway was read a third time and passed.

The Toronto Sugar Refinery Bill was read a third time and passed.

The Bill to permit solemn declarations to be established in place of oaths, was read a second time and referred to a Select Committee.

The Bill to legalize the amalgamation of the Cobourg and Peterboro Railway Company, and the Marmora Iron Company, was read a second time.

A large number of private Bills were advanced a stage.

The Bill to amend the Act respecting tavern and shop licenses, was read a second time and referred to a Select Committee.

The Bill to remunerate certain Judges of the Court of Error and Appeal, was read a third time on a division of 45 to 24.

Some other measures were passed to a second reading, and the House adjourned at 10:30.

County Council.

SECOND DAY—AFTERNOON SESSION

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 15, 1869.

The Council met pursuant to adjournment. All the members present.

WAYS AND MEANS.

Council resumed into Committee on Ways and Means. Hon. B. Flint in the chair.

Several accounts were passed.

In considering some accounts relating to the gaol, Mr. Emo suggested the propriety of the Council furnishing some saws, so that the prisoners committed to hard labor, could cut the wood. Dr. Hope had spoken to him about the matter to-day.

Mr. Rowe hoped the suggestion would be carried out.

The Warden said the difficulty had been that neither the Jailor nor any Sheriff's officer could be got to oversee the prisoners working. The Sheriff was responsible for the safe keeping of prisoners, and he did not like to place them where there was a chance of escape without proper guard. The Council had no power to compel the Sheriff to guard the prisoners.

Mr. Emo said he understood the officials were now prepared to allow the prisoners to cut wood, if saws were furnished by the Council.

The Warden said if that was the case, he would instruct the Surveyor to get the saws required.

The Committee rose and reported.—Report adopted.

FRANKFORD BRIDGE.

Mr. Daly moved, seconded by Mr. Cross, that in order to prevent any misapprehension respecting the record in the minutes with regard to liguts on the Frankford Bridge, the Surveyor be instructed to cut openings on the south side of the Bridge in order to admit light.—Carried.

BY LAWS.

Council went into Committee on By-laws. Mr. Farley in the Chair.

The By-law to convey a certain road allowance to Hon. B. Flint, was concurred in.

The By-law to annex the Township of Cashel to the United Townships of Tudor, Wollaston and Limerick, was concurred in.

By-law to amend By law 728, empowering a commissioner to enter upon lot 31, in 3rd Concession of Tyendinaga, to acquire right of way for a road, and extending the time from three to twelve months, was concurred in.

Committee rose and reported. Report adopted, and the By laws were respectively read a third time and passed.

SETTLEMENT WITH THE TOWN.

Mr. Daly moved, seconded by Mr. Clapp, that in case the Committee appointed to arrange a settlement with the Town do not agree, Mr. N. S. Appleby be appointed arbitrator on the part of the Town.

NOTICE OF ANNEXATION.

Mr. Appleby moved, seconded by Mr. Farley, that the Clerk be requested to give the required notice of the annexation of the Township of Cashel to the United Townships of Tudor, Wollaston and Limerick.

Mr. Caldwell wanted to know in case the Township of Cashel was annexed, if the people of that Township would vote this year.

The Warden said he had discussed the question with several members of the Council, and there was some difficulty in arriving at a decision. When the Governor issued a proclamation creating a new Municipality, all residents would be entitled to vote. But whether in this case when a Township was annexed to a Municipality already created, residents had a right to vote without having been assessed, was a question he was not prepared to decide.

After some further discussion, on motion of Mr. Cross, seconded by Mr. Caldwell, the Warden was requested to obtain the opinion of the Attorney General upon this point.

GRAVEL ROADS.

On motion of Mr. Cross, seconded by Mr. Clapp, the Gravel Road Committee was requested to lay before the Council the number of yards, and amount of material, put upon the Gravel Roads by the different foremen.

SETTLEMENT WITH THE TOWN.

Mr. Daly moved, seconded by Mr. Clapp, that the Committee appointed to arrange the proportion or amount of money that the Town should pay to the County, shall have full power to effect any arrangement that can be arrived at.—Carried.

TO EXAMINE ROAD.

The County Surveyor was instructed to examine the Road north of the Swamp Road in Marmora, and report at the next meeting of the Council.

The Council then adjourned sine die.

THE MOVEMENT OF THE INSURGENTS—GOV. MCTAVISH UNDER GUARD—CAPT. CAMERON SENT BACK ONCE MORE.

(From the Globe's Correspondent.)

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 15.

A private letter, just received from Pembina, gives the following information:—The rebels have placed Governor McTavish under close guard, on account of his recent proclamation advising them to lay down their arms and submit to the Government. In the meantime the rebels continue to issue rations with a regularity, which is making serious inroads upon the Hudson Bay Company's goods at Fort Garry and outposts.

Capt. Cameron, one of Gov. McDougall's party, attempted to go into Fort Garry, but was confronted at the gates by a sentinel, who, with the assistance of a sergeant, forced him back upon American soil, and, upon pain of being shot, was forbidden to re-enter the lines of the insurgents.

ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN.—All who attended the late fair in this city must have been favorably impressed with the beautiful specimens of penmanship, exhibited by the London Commercial College. Prof. Mann is a master of his profession and an honor to our city, and has certainly proved himself the champion penman of Canada. He was awarded the first prize for his work, and he richly deserved it. We know, furthermore, by personal experience and observation, that it is not in penmanship alone that this college excels, but that in all its other departments the course is in the highest degree satisfactory and thorough. The admirable system of actual business training which is carried out, imparts such a knowledge of business transactions and forms as can be acquired in no other way. We would therefore say to all our young readers; "If possible make the necessary arrangements and spend a few months in taking the admirable business course of this College, and we doubt not that many of you will in uture years feel to say as was said by one man at the fair. In speaking of having sent his son to the college, he asserted that he was fully convinced that it was the best investment that he had ever made."—Advertiser.

C. J. STARLING, THOMAS HOLDEN, E. W. HOLTON, Esqrs. and others:

GENTLEMEN:

I am this day in receipt of your requisition requesting me to become a candidate for Municipal Councillor for Baldwin Ward, at the ensuing election.

In reply I have the honor to say that I do not consider myself as well qualified to represent you as many others in the Ward; and besides I have no personal desire for the position, but your large and respectably signed requisition induces me to forego all personal considerations and allow myself to be put in nomination, and if elected will endeavor to serve the Town to the best of my ability.

The articles of this convention were drafted and executed at Washington on the 3rd instant, and forwarded in mail despatches from New York on Saturday 4th inst., by the Inman steamship 'City of Brussels,' which made the quickest time on record, only ten days intervened between the execution of the convention at Washington and London.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & Co.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the merits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For Sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits. Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1859 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it are fully satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

FROM LONDON, ENGLAND, would announce to the Ladies of Belleville, that having purchased the Business formerly carried on by Mrs Lloyd, she will open soon after the 1st of January, at the old stand, an entire new Stock of Goods, when she hopes the former Patrons of the Establishment will favor her with a call. Having had large experience in the business, she feels confident she can give good satisfaction. DRESS MAKING in all its branches, will also be added to the former business.

MRS. LLOYD having disposed of her business to Mrs. Memberry, cheerfully recommends her to her former Patrons. She likewise begs to say she will, until the 1st of January sell at cost her remaining stock on hand and all persons indebted will oblige by calling and settling forthwith.

A Yankee Trick.

One of our peculiar, slab-sided, gaunt Yankees lately emigrated and settled down in the West. He was the picture of a mean man; but as he put himself to w rk in good earnest to get his house to rights, the neighbors willingly lent him a hand. After he had got everything fixed to his notion, a thought struck him that he had no chickens, and he was powerfully fond of raw eggs. He was too honest to steal them, and too mean to buy them. At last a thought struck him—he could borrow. He went to a neighbor and accosted him:

'Wall, I reckon you hain't got no old hen nor nothin' you'd lend me for a few weeks, have you neighbor?'

'I will lend you one with pleasure,' replied the gentleman, picking out the very finest in the coop.

The Yankee took the hen home, and then went to another neighbor and borrowed a dozen eggs? He then set the hen, and in due course of time she hatched out a dozen chickens.

The Yankee was again puzzled; he could return the hen, but how was he to return the eggs? Another idea—and who ever saw a live Yankee without one—he would keep the hen until she laid a dozen eggs.

This he did, and then returned the hen and eggs to their respective owners, remarking as he did so:

'Wall, I reckon I've got as fine a dozen of chickens as ever you laid your eyes on and they didn't cost me a cent nether.'

They hire out dress coats now in London to the advantage of the class who live on the interest of their debts and yet want occasionally to dine out. Here is an advertisement from an English paper:—"Dress Coats Lent.—B——lends the finest of clothes for opera, balls or weddings. New fashionable and premier quality from the most eminent Westend tailors, &c."

CAN ANY ONE TELL.—Can any one tell why men who cannot pay small bills can always find plenty of money to buy liquor, and treat when happening among friends? Can any one tell how young men who dodge their washer woman and are always behind with their landlords can play billiards night and day, and are always ready to play poker or seven-up? Can any one tell how men live and support their famalies who have no income and do not work while there are others who are industrious and constantly employed, who half starve? Can any one tell how it is that a man who is too poor to pay for a newspaper is able to pay a dollar or two a day for tobacco and cigars.

Standard Periodicals for 1870,

Republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York.

Indispensable to all desirous of being well informed on the great subjects of the day.

1. The Edinburgh Review.

This is the oldest of series. In its main features it still follows in the path marked out by Brougham, Jeffrey, Sydney Smith, and Lord Holland, its original founders and first contributors.

2. The London Quarterly Review,

which commences its 128th volume with the January number, was set on foot as a rival to the EDINBURGH. It resolutely maintains its opposition in politics, and shows equal vigor in its literary department.

3. The Westminster Review

has just closed its 92d volume. In point of literary ability this Review is fast rising to a level with its competitors. It is the advocate of political and religious liberalism.

4. The North British Review,

now in its 51st volume, occupies a very high position in periodical literature. Passing beyond the narrow formalism of schools and parties, it appeals to a wider range of sympathies and a higher integrity of conviction.

5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine

was commenced 52 years ago. Equalling the Quarterlies in its literary and scientific departments, it has won a wide reputation for the narratives and sketches which enliven its pages.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN

RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Fat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care at the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone But the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat and Skin and body.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the wastes and decompositions stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine Bile, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored; happily for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important want that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertized as Blood Purifyers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairs, will so charge the system with such constituents as to resolve and exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminate every atom of virus from the blood, and resolve away all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, as Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are inconvenienced by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully recovered. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER, Commercial Agent for Ontario

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, FRIDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 17, 1869. No. 195.

Ring the Bell, Watchman.

High in the belfry the old sexton stands,
Grasping the rope with a thin bony hands;
Fixed is his gaze, as by some magic spell,
Till he hears the distant murmur.
Ring, ring, the bell.

Chorus—
Ring the bell, watchman, ring! ring! ring!
Yes, yes! the good news is now on the wing!
Yes, yes! they come, and with tidings to tell;
Glorious and blessed things—Ring, ring the bell!

Baring his long silver locks to the breeze,
First for a moment he drops on his knees;
Then with a vigor that few could excel,
Answers he the welcome bidding.
Ring ring, the bell.

Hear! from the hill-top the first signal gun
Thunders the word that some great deed is done;
Hear! thro' the valley the long echoes swell,
Ever and anon repeating, Ring, ring, the bell.

Bonfires are blazing and rockets ascend;
No meagre triumphs such tokens portend;
Shout! shout! my brothers, for all, all is well,
'Tis the universal chorus, Ring, the bell.

Perilous and Fatal Adventure on the Swiss Alps.

Three travellers, it is stated, have just lost their lives on the Great Saint Bernard mountain. They had been travelling from Martigny towards the Italian frontier, with the intention of resting for the night in the famous Hospice that stands almost on the boundary line between Switzerland and Italy. By seven o'clock in the evening they had reached a little inn on the way to the Monastery; they had still to journey for seven toilsome miles. As the night was dark and stormy, the innkeeper besought them to wait until the morning; but, being poor, they refused. They belonged to that class of poverty-stricken pilgrims who are constantly passing between Switzerland and Italy, and who carry all their worldly goods in a knapsack of untanned deer's hide. Their aim is to break journey at the Hospice, where they get food and lodging for the night free of charge, and in the morning provided with the necessaries of of travel on the same benevolent terms.—Hence, although the night was pitchy dark and the wind was coming down with hurricane like gusts from the great mountains that shut in the valley, the three travellers resolved that they would push on to the Hospice. Soon after leaving the canteen they began to ascend a winding, rocky, and steep path, which overhangs a howling torrent and leads to the Monastery. So black was the sky that the wayfarers had slowly to grope along by means of the precipice which hems in the side of the path farthest from the torrent.—Had the moon been up, they might have been guided by the poles which the monks have planted in a direct line from the Hospice to the valley, to indicate the direction when the path is buried under the snow, and the torrent is frozen. But, in the pitch darkness, the friendly beacons were obscured. Hence the travellers seem to have again and again been brought to a standstill, before reaching that ford of the brook at which the road dips, and then goes up with one swift spring to the spot where the great barrack like Hospice guides and cheers the benighted traveller by the beacon light. The poor pilgrims were so near to the blaze, that, had they been able to exert themselves for a few minutes longer, they would have been safe. But the toil and the cold had so paralyzed their faculties that they could not proceed one step further; they were overcome by that craving for sleep, for rest, which is the effect of intense cold; and, within sight of the friendly gleams that beckoned to them overhead, all the travellers lay down and died! On the Great St. Bernard the winter season begins soon and ends late. Already it is winter besides the mountain dwelling; and during the long months when the snow covers the ground, or the cold makes travelling perilous, it is the daily custom of the good monks to journey as far as the bottom of the pass in order that they may lend assistance to any traveller who may have dropped by the way. Clad in their long black serge gowns and broad-brimed hats, accompanied by attendants who carry wine and provisions for the restoration of the wearied or fainting travellers, and guided by the famous St. Bernard dogs, which do the work of pointers, two or three monks daily make the seven miles journey to the valley below. When the searching party of monks had proceeded to a short distance from the Hospice, they found the bodies stiff and cold. They were taken to the little "morgue," which is situated at a short distance from the principal building of the monastery; and in that naked mausoleum the remains will abide with other relices of mortality, unless claimed by the kinsfolk of the lost. It is a grim resting place. In that small hut perched among the wintery mountains dwell the skeletons of the men and women and children who, in the course of many generations have perished in the fatal pass. So intense is the cold that the unembalmed bodies resist for long years the band of decay. Unconfined, and dressed in the clothes which they wore when found dead among the snow, they stand perched against the wall, and, while the visitor looks through the iron grating of their tomb, they peer grimly forth as if soliciting recognition from an undescerated place of rest. An old man leans against the wall his head bare, his staff in his hand, and his attitude stiffened for ever by the death that smote him years ago. A woman clutches in her arms the babe that pesished with her in the snow. From the other grim figures the clothes have rotted away by fragments, leaving bleached protruding bones.

Ontario Railways.

The following list of Railways, either in course of construction in the Province, or which it is intended to construct shortly, shows what we are doing in this way:

The Toronto, Grey and Bruce,
The Toronto and Nipissing,
The Toronto and Muskoka,
The Wellington Grey and Bruce,
The Norfolk,
The Whitby and Port Perry,
The Canada Central,
The Kingston and Madoc, and
The Great Southern.

In addition to these there are several extensive branches of existing lines proposed.

There may be one or two doubtful schemes in the list; but the greater number may be set down as sound, legitimate undertakings which will not be allowed to fall through, but be pushed on to be completed with the least possible delay. With such a list as this before us, it cannot be said that we are standing still, or that our people are devoid of enterprise, or the true spirit of progress.—Toronto Telegraph.

Anecdote of Macready.

Macready's hand-writing was curiously illegible, and especially when writing orders of admission to the theatre. One day, at New Orleans, Mr. Brougham obtained one of these from him for a friend. On handing it to a gentleman, the latter observed that, if he had not known what it purported to be, he would never have suspected what it was. 'It looks more like a prescription than anything else,' he added.

'So it does,' said Mr. Brougham; 'let us go and have it made up.'

Turning into the nearest drug store, the paper was given to the clerk, who gave it a careless glance, and then proceeded to get a phial ready and to pull out divers boxes. With another look at the order, down came a tincture bottle, and the phial was half filled. Then there was a pause. The gentlemanly attendant was evidently puzzled. At last he broke down completely, and rang for his principal, an elderly and severe looking individual, who presently emerged from the inner sanctum. The two whispered together an instant, when the old dispenser looked at the document, and with an expression of pity for the ignorance of his subordinate, boldly filled the phial with some spoohyphal fluid, and duly corked and labelled it. Then handing it to the gentlemen who were waiting, he said, with a bland smile, 'A cough mixture, and a very good one. Fifty cents, if you please.'

The following comprehensive definition of 'to eat,' is just in season to-day: 'To insert nutricious palbulun into the dentrificated orfice below the usual protuberance, which (pabulum) being mastiated, perigrinates the cartilagenous cavities of the larynx, and is finally domicilated in the receptacle for digested particles.'

A New Orleans reporter was being shown through the insane asylum the other day when he encountered a very pretty blue-eyed damsel, who at once rushed into his arms, with the exclamation, "Oh! my dear husband!" The reporter wished to soothe the agitated feelings of the little unfortunate, and stroked her hair caressingly as he replied, "Why, my little dear, did you think I would stay away from you?" "No," she innocently replied, "you always liked to kiss me." "But you know you are insane, my dear," he said. "Yes!" she replied warily, "that's the reason I kiss you!"

That's How.—After a great snow storm, a little fellow began to shovel a path through a large snow bank before his grandmother's door. He had nothing but a small shovel to work with. 'How do you expect to get through that drift?' asked a man who was passing along. 'By keeping at it,' said the boy cheerfully; 'That's how!' That's the secret of mastering every difficulty under the sun. If a hard task is before you, stick to it. Do not keep thinking how hard it is; but go at it, and little by little will grow smaller, until it is done. If a hard lesson is to be learned, do not spend a moment in fretting, do not lose a breath in saying 'I can't,' or 'I do not see how,' but go at it and keep at it. Study. That is the only way to conquer it. If a fault is to be cured, or a bad thing broken up, it cannot be done by merely being sorry, or only trying a little. You must keep fighting it; and not give up fighting until it is got rid of.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, DEC. 17.

ADVANTAGE OF MANUFACTURES.—The Trenton Courier says that the lumber establishment of Messrs. Gilmour & Co., pay into the Treasury of that Village in taxes and boomage, the sum of $1,432, being about half the amount required for Village purposes.

ALBERT COLLEGE.—In our report of the closing proceedings of the Michaelmas Term of Albert College yesterday, we neglected to state that prizes were also awarded by Prof. Crozier for proficiency in Music. The competition is reported to have been very close. The successful candidates were: 1st, Miss M. Fares, of Port Colborne; 2nd. Miss Anna Gilbert, of Frankford.

Y. M. C. A.—The annual meeting of the Belleville Young Men's Christian Association was held last evening in their room, Neilson's Hall. There was a large attendance and a lively interest was manifested in the proceedings. A Committee was appointed to revise the Constitution and By-Laws, and after the election of Thos. Holden, Esq., as President, owing to the lateness of the evening, the election of the other officers was postponed for which purpose the meeting was adjourned for a week.

THE ICE.—The late mild weather and heavy rains have rendered the ice in the bay unsafe in some places, rendering it important that people should know where to travel. Notwithstanding the fact that loads of stone were drawn across the bay the other day, Edward Reddick, the Ferryman between here and Ferry Point, broke through the ice this morning, Dec. 17th, and had a narrow escape from drowning. He uses a small poney and a punt on runners for carrying passengers and express freights. He reports having been over an hour endeavoring to get the horse out of the water, the ice breaking to a considerable distance around the spot where it gave way. The horse was ultimately saved, but a part of the freight was lost, of what value we have not learned.

A LECTURE.—On Wednesday evening, Dec 15th, the Rev. J. C. SMITH delivered a lecture before the Workingmen's Temperance Society, in Ontario Hall, Dr. Holden in the chair; Subject. "Moral and Intellectual Husbandry." Notwithstanding the rain was falling in torrents, the Hall was well filled with an attentive audience. The lecturer handled the subject with masterly skill, throwing out valuable hints to those in pursuit of knowledge. His criticism of various authors who are popular with the reading world, was pointed and bold, showing that the inculcation of correct views and opinions were of more importance to him than pandering to the popular idea of great men.—The Society here, in whose behalf the lecture was given, has done a great deal of good in Town, and we hope it may prosper, and add largely to its numbers.

EFFECT OF THE FISHERY LAW.—The beneficial effects of the Fishery Law are plainly seen in the following item which we copy from an Ottawa paper. If such are the results of the prompt enforcement of the Act, in Quebec may we not expect the same benefits to follow the enforcement of the law in Ontario. "The last Sherbrook Gazette contains reports of trials before the local Fishery Overseer for killing salmon out of season. Fines were inflicted on several persons. Our contemporary states that salmon are rapidly increasing in the old salmon rivers of the Eastern townships, and that in one stream, where a fishery was built on the mill-dam, salmon are now again seen although twenty years have elapsed since they were shut out by these obstructions.

The Mayoralty.

It will be seen by our advertising columns to-day, that Mr. Conger has decided not to be a candidate this year for the Mayoralty; and that Mr. Alex. Robertson has announced his candidature. Mr. Conger's friends will regret the decision he has come to, but having had the honor of the position which entails upon its occupant heavy responsibilities and loss of time, he is not anxious to retain it, and therefore announces the fact to the public. Mr. Conger has made an excellent Mayor, and retires from the position with credit to himself and to the Town.

Mr. Robertson, who aspires to the position, is well known to every elector, having been in the Council for six years, and a resident in Town since a boy. He is also one of the largest property holders in Belleville, and therefore has a deep interest in its welfare and prosperity. In addition to which, his retirement last year from the contest in favor of the present Mayor, at the request of the friends of both, gives him special claims, which we trust will not be forgotten nor overlooked, should there be a contest. We trust, however, he may be elected by acclamation, as we are confident he will fill the position of Mayor creditably.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THURSDAY, Dec. 16, 1869.

Mr. BOYD introduced a bill to amend the Grammar School Act, which was ordered for a second reading to-day.

The Bill to amend the law relating to bills of lading, was read a third time and passed.

A number of private bills were advanced a stage.

The bills to incorporate the Canada Air Line Company, and the Canada South Western Air Line Company, were read a second time.

The bill respecting proceedings in Judges Chambers, at common law, was read a third time.

The ATTORNEY GENERAL moved the House into Committee on the Bill to amend the Act passed in the 32nd year of the reign of Her Majesty, entitled "an Act to amend Cap. 15 of the Consolidated Statutes Upper Canada, entitled an act respecting County Courts."

The clause passed, the Bill was reported, and the third reading ordered for to-day.

The ATTORNEY GENERAL moved the House into Committee on the Bill to make further provision for carrying out the law reform Act of 1868, and to regulate proceedings on writs of error and certiorari.

The clauses were agreed to, the bill was reported and ordered to be read a third time to day.

The House went into Committee, on supply and passed a number of Items, among which was for the

Upon the motion of a grant of $24,700 for immigration.

Mr. WOOD explained that the increased expenditure of last year was in great measure due to printing. There would not be so much cost for advertising this year.

Mr. CARLING explained that emigrants who need it always had a free pass to any part of the Province, precaution being taken that they did not go beyond it. Provisions are found for them while they remain at the station. No assistance was given to emigrants to come to the country nor to aid them in settling on the free grants.

Mr. BLAKE approved of the government not assisting emigrants on their passage to the country; but he suggested that some scheme might be devised to help settlers on the free grants, with maintenance for one year at least.

Mr. CARLING said he had not encouraged poor people to go on to the free grants. He had rather recommended them to live out in the settled districts and rather to encourage their own people in settling upon the free grants. By these means they were serving the settlers as well as the immigrants themselves.

The item then passed.

The House resumed; the resolutions were reported, the committee asking leave to sit again to-morrow; and at 11:45 the House adjourned.

—The ferry steamers are still running between Kingston and Cape Vincent.

County Court and Quarter Sessions.

THIRD DAY.

THURSDAY, Dec. 16.

Court opened at 9 o'clock this morning, the Hon. Judge Sherwood, presiding.

DALY VS. BENNETT AND SONS.—Action to recover damages for an assault committed by the Defendants upon Plaintiff; parties are neighbors living in Tyendinaga. The disturbance arose between the younger members of the families, and the fathers got mixed up in the affray. Daly was badly beaten; so much so that he was under medical treatment for a length of time. Defence tried to show that the assault had been adjudicated upon by the Police Magistrate and a certificate given by the Magistrate dismissing the complaint. The evidence showed it was a regular row, sticks and stones being used freely. The Jury were locked up all night, and coming into Court Friday morning unable to agree, the Judge discharged them. G. E. Henderson for Plff.; S.B. Bardett for Deft.

QUEEN VS. JAMES BULGER.

The case of the Queen against Jas. Bulger, for an aggravated assault on John Bennett, came to grief this afternoon, the Grand Jury ignored the Bill. Our readers will recollect the report given by us of the case when before the Police Court; three parties were charged with the offence. The Police Magistrate committed all three of the parties for trial, two elected to be tried under the Statute establishing a County Court Judges Criminal Court. One was acquitted and the other convicted and fined by the Judge $5. Bulger thought it best to put himself upon his country and try the mercies of a Jury, and the result shows he acted wisely for himself, as the Grand Jury did not consider it necessary to put him on his trial. We are informed the same evidence was adduced before the Grand Jury that the Police Magistrate had, upon which he committed him for trial. Some surprise was exhibited in Court when the result of the Grand Jurors' investigation was announced by the Clerk. It would be well for the Police Magistrate to adjudicate in such cases in future, and inflict such punishment as he is empowered to do, and not send them to Juries.

Ætna Life Ins. Co. of Hartford.

No company within our knowledge, has in so short a space of time made so rapid progress and attained so remarkable a success as the Ætna of Hartford.

It seems only a few years since it was started with a capital of but $150,000, and commenced an active existence. But now, on referring to the report, we are astonished to find that its assets exceed ten million dollars, that its policies exceed forty thousand, and its annual income is upward of six millions of dollars. A success as brilliant as this is due entirely to the splendid management of its board of officers, who have with untiring zeal and judicious efforts developed its enormous business, and brought out its best features.

Though a careful selection of risks, excellent choice of active agents, energy in prosecution of business, promptness and honor in the settlement of claims, accommodating forms of insurance, low expenses, prudent investment of funds, careful protection of the interests of policy-holders, it has acquired an enviable reputation, of responsibility and strict integrity.

It is to day one of the soundest and most reliable insurance companies in the United States—every dollar of its assets well secured more than providing for all liabilities; and it eminently deserves a still greater patronage and the unhesitating confidence of the public. New — York Independent, Dec. 2nd 1869.

REPLY.

Belleville, December 14th, 1869.

C. J. STARLING, THOMAS HOLDEN, E. W. HOLTON, Esqrs. and others:

GENTLEMEN,

I am this day in receipt of your requisition requesting me to become a candidate for Municipal Councillor for Baldwin Ward, at the ensuing election.

In reply I have the honor to say that I do not consider myself as well qualified to represent you as many others in the Ward; and besides I have no personal desire for the position; but your large and respectably signed requisition induces me to forego all personal considerations and allow myself to be put in nomination, and if elected will endeavor to serve the Town to the best of my ability.

194 R. S. PATTERSON.

To the Municipal Electors of the Town of Belleville.

GENTLEMEN:—In reply to numerous enquiries, I beg to state that I will not be a candidate for the office of Mayor at the ensuing election.

In retiring from the Mayoralty, I desire to tender you my heartfelt acknowledgments for the honor conferred upon me, and for the signal expression of your confidence in my ability and fitness for the important duties of that high and honorable position.

I also sincerely thank you for the kindness and indulgence extended to me in the discharge of my official duties.

Yours respectfully,
P. D. CONGER.

Belleville, Dec. 17, 1869. 195

To the Municipal Electors of the Town of Belleville.

GENTLEMEN:—I beg to offer myself as a Candidate for the Mayoralty for the ensuing year. Having faithfully served the Town in the capacity of Councillor for the past six years, and my term of office expiring with the present year, I feel that I can consistently ask your support for the position of Mayor.

Should you do me the honor to elect me, I trust that the large property interest which I have in the Town of Belleville—my long residence and past experience, will be a sufficient guarantee that I will discharge the duties with fidelity, impartiality—and I trust with credit to our flourishing and prosperous Town.

I have the honor, to be,
Gentlemen,
Yours Faithfully,
ALEX. ROBERTSON.

THE ORLEANS PRINCESES.

PARIS, Dec. 16.—In the Corps Legislatif today Deputy Estanalin expressed homage for the Orleans princesses,and regretted their continued banishment.

Forcade de la Roquette, Minister of Interior, protested against these remarks.

M. Estanalin denounced the policy of the government with much warmth. In the course of his speech he declared that all governmental candidates, whose election to Corps were contested, had better be admitted at once, as discussion was useless.

The Deputy was immediately called to order.

PARIS, Dec. 16.—The Figaro of to-day says that Count Daru has had a conversation with the Emperor on the subject of his entering the Cabinet. He made a condition of receiving an appointment, that Orleans princes should be permitted to enter France.

The Emperor replied that it was the public that exiled them, and concluded his remarks to the Count with the words "see me again on this interesting subject."

FATHER HYACINTHE.

It is reported that the Empress has instructed her chamberlain to meet Pere Hyacinthe on his arrival at Havre, and dissuade him from attempting to preach in Paris.

THE GALLICAN BISHOPS.

PARIS, Dec. 16.—Letters from Rome report that the Pope urges the appointment of the Gallican bishops on the leading committees. It is generally understood that the object of the recent decree of the Pope, dissolving the Council in case of his death, is to prevent election to the Papacy of any but an Italian.

On the next day a number of suspected parties were arrested, among them Gen. Aggoreos. The influence of the Duke of Saldanha is increasing. It is expected that the ministry will be forced to resign.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 6th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & Co.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits. Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1869.

MESSRS. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston:

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1853 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had counsel added to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of our agent, Mr. Hunting, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Any Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it seem satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

SIR JOHN A. MCDONALD still continues to display his usual tact and energy in the exalted position to which his talents have raised him. We once heard it remarked that his popularity would one day decline, but we know that when a man's advancement is the result of his own intrinsic worth, his reputation is fixed and effulgent like that of the Great Shoshonees Remedy for rheumatism, diseases of the throat, lungs &c. Time's Certificate.

For thirty-seven years Bristol's Sarsaparilla has been purifying the vitiated blood of diseased humanity. The chemical antagonist of virus that corrupts the flesh, inflames the skin, impairs the elasticity of the sinews, injures the glands, or destroys the bones, it has saved hundreds of thousands from the horrible fate of being decomposed alive by scrofula, cancer, scurvy, necrosis, abscess, and other external diseases which resist the action of mineral medicines, but are arrested and obliterated with absolute certainty by this pure vegetable blood depurative. When ulcerous and eruptive maladies are accompanied, as is generally the case, with disturbances in the digestive organs, Bristol's Sugar-coated Pills should be used in conjunction with Bristol's Sarsaparilla.

Standard Periodicals for 1870,

Republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York.

Indispensable to all desirous of being well informed on the great subjects of the day.

1. The Edinburgh Review.

This is the oldest of series. In its main features it still follows in the path marked out by Brougham, Jeffrey, Sydney Smith, and Lord Holland, its original founders and first contributors.

2. The London Quarterly Review, which commences its 129th volume with the January number, is set on foot as a rival to the Edinburgh. It resolutely maintains its opposition in politics, and shows equal vigor in its literary department.

3. The Westminster Review

has not closed its 92d volume. In point of literary ability this Review is fast rising to a level with its competitors, it is the organ of philosophical and religious liberalism.

4. The North British Review,

now in its 51st volume, occupies a very high position in periodical literature. Passing the narrow formulism of schools and parties, it appeals to a wider range of sympathies and a higher integrity of conviction.

5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine

was commenced 62 years ago. Signalling the Quarterlies in its literary and scientific departments, it has won a wide reputation for the narratives and sketches which enliven its pages.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but potent purgative Pill. The obvious reason is that it is more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, ought that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always — that is, every time through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither mineral nor other deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action — remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to restore the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice, or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case required to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression, a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As Dinner Pills, take one or two of them to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. No one who knows their virtues will offer to the public that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their first operation, and removing effects on the digestive apparatus.

CHEMICAL PRINCIPLES

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN

RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most powerful remedies of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heal, Put-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care in the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of medical gentlemen employed for this purpose, and prepared exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless root can possibly be mixed with the Extracts.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone. Hut the wonderful curative powers derived is the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

It cures Rheumatism, and invades with the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are nervous or exhausted.

It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who are in Search of Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the power of repair, that will fail of sustaining the restorative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decomposition stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Extensive decay of the Lungs, KIDNEYS, or other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions destroyed, requires the aid of the most powerful of the reparative power of medicines, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continued for two perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the stamina can be found under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue, and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, or of the Glands or Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better when taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more purified, healthy, strong, and nourished, and is enabled to hold in solution all the various conditions, its elements of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, Consumption will not only be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs, and each of these organs relieved of the labor of depositing diseased secretions. Instead of living absorbed in the diseased action of the blood, it is directed for expulsion from the system through the proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to arrest or regain or severing about in discharging in proper channels, health can never be restored; hence the suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures that important end that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful solvent will penetrate to the very point where the living body with repairs, will so change and alter its action with such conditions as to expel and eliminate the dead and decomposing matter, and with it by the same means, health can never be restored, supplied with pure, and strong elements of chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach digested. Its process of digestion can Thyme and Chyle, before it comes into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it carries to every atom of virus from the blood, and renders it powerless to decay, whether developed in the form of Scrofula, Consumption, or ulcerated disease, a Chloride of Mercury, Bichloride of Mercury, Iodide of Potassium, Arsenic, Lead, and other agent that may have accumulated in the bones, fastidious stomach, liver, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have been brought down for generations.

Glandular Disease, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Mucous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Ringbone, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers, Tetter, Tumors, and all weakening and painful Discharges. Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of this wonderful Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it that a perfect cure of any Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all diseases of the Kidneys accompanied by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are speedily relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, Esq., Notary Public, St. Boniface, Canada East, had for nine years TWELVE LARGE ULCERS, one on his knee, three on other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated physicians in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, since with Radway's Pills, and in a few months all the sores healed, and two bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two of Radway's Pills, are used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, a dilution in water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB."

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Dumas, of Canada, was employed at Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., and had a large knowledge of our medicines. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with a mass of SCROFULOUS SORES over his body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and arms. He saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent Stores in Belleville, and at One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who informed me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Scrofula in the worst form, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption; Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1868.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was relieved to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared, and my health is fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, SATURDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 18, 1869. No. 196.

Snow in Town and in the Country.

(From the New Dominion Monthly.)

All night the snow came down, all night,
Silent, and soft, and silvery white;
Gently robing in spotless folds
Town and Tower, and treeless wolds;
On homes of the living and graves of the dead,
Where each sleeper lies in his narrow bed;
On the city's hoofs, on the marts of trade,
On rustic hamlet and forest glade.

When the morn arose, all bright and fair,
A wondrous vision gleamed through the air;
The world, transfigured, and glorified,
Shone like the blessed and holy Bride;
The fair, new earth, made free from sin,
All pure without and pure within—
Arrayed in robes of spotless white,
For the Heavenly Bridegroom, in glory bright.

But, ah! not yet hath that blessed morn
Dawned on our weary world forlorn,
When clothed in her bridal garments white
She shall stand redeemed in Heaven's pure light;
For, trampled upon by a thousand feet,
Hurrying to and fro, in the street;
In the crowded mart, 'mid the city's din,
In the haunts of shame, the abodes of sin.

All marred and soiled is that whiteness pure,
Beyond retrieving and past all cure;
The virgin snow is befouled and stained,
Its purity all besmirched, profaned;
Save in some quiet, sequestered spot,
Where the rush and strife of life is not;
Screened from polluting dust and soot,
And defiling tread of vagrant foot.

The snow in the country lieth white,
Dazzling and pure in the morning light;
Softly flushing with sunset's gold,
Spectral and ghastly 'neath moonlight cold;
A scarce-stained path from house to barn
Save this, untrodden is the broad farm;
A single track leads o'er the hill.
All sounds of life are hushed and still.

So, human nature, amid the strife
Of the crowded city's turbulent life,
Is marred and stained by the subtle spell
Of keen temptations, fierce and fell,
That trample beneath their soiling feet
Its virgin purity, fair and sweet,
Till, oft defiled by sin and shame,
Its virtue is gone beyond reclaim.

Yet some there are who keep unstained
Their heart's pure treasure, their lives unshamed;
Although temptation and sin abound
On every side and hem them round.
Amid the country's sequestered life,
Remote from the city's din and strife.
Temptation does less assail the truth,
And virgin innocence of youth.

Yet, no condition is wholly best;
Not upon earth find we perfect rest;
Neither in town or country is life
Wholly free from sin and strife;
Neither wholly pure, nor wholly vile,
In crowded city or lonely isle;
Only in Heaven, home of the soul,
Is respite found from sorrow and toll.

Eyes Open.

'Our minister said in his sermon last evening,' said Mrs. Beach, the wife of a prosperous wholesale dry-goods merchant on Market street, as she dusted her mantle of porcelain and marble on Monday morning, 'that he who wanted to be good must be on the constant lookout for opportunities, that God does not find our work and bring it ready fitted and prepared to our hands; but he spreads the world before us, and we are able to walk through it as Christ and his apostles did, with eyes open, looking for the sick and suffering, the poor and oppressed."

'Now I am certain,' continued the lady, as she replaced a marble Diana in the centre of the mantle, 'I should like to do some good every day—one feels so much better when they go to rest at night; and I'll just keep my eyes open to-day, and see if I come across any opportunities that under ordinary circumstances I should let slip.'

Half an hour later Mrs. B. was in the nursery with the washerwoman, who had come for the clothes.

'I wish, Mrs. Simms,' said she, as she heaped the solid linen into the basket, "that you would get Tommy's aprons ready for me by Wednesday; we are going out of town to remain until Saturday, and I shall want a good supply on hand for such a careless little scamp as he is."

'Well, 'Tll try, ma'am,' said the washerwoman. 'I've got behind hand since Sammy got the whooping cough; but now he's better I must try to make up for lost time.'

'Has he had the whooping cough? Poor little fellow. How old is he?' questioned the lady.

'He was three last April.'

'And Tom is four,' mused the lady. 'Look here, Mrs. Simms, won't you just open the lower drawer of that bureau, and take out these four green worsted dresses in the corner? Tom's out grown them, you see, since last winter, but they're almost as good as new. Now, if you want them for Sammy, they'll do without altering, I think.'

'Want them, Mrs. Beach?' answered the washerwoman, with tears starting in her dim eyes; 'I haven't any words to thank you or tell you what a treasure they will be. Why, they will keep the little fellow warm as toast all winter.

'Well, 'Tll place them on top of the clothes,' said the lady smiling to herself as she thought, 'My eyes have been open once to-day.'

Not long afterwards Mrs. B. was on her way to market (for she was a notable housekeeper) when she met a boy who had lived a short time in her family, the year before, to do errands, wait on the door, &c. He was a bright, good natured, merry faced boy, and had been a favorite with the family, and Mrs. B. had become interested in him; but this morning she was in quite a hurry, and would have passed the child with a cordial but hasty 'How are you, Joseph, my boy? Do come and see us,' had it not struck her that Joseph's face did not bear its usual happy expression. She paused as the memory of last night's sermon flashed through her mind and she asked 'is anything the matter with you, Joseph?'

The boy looked up for moment, with a half-confiding expression, into the face of the lady; the latter triumphed. 'Mr. Anderson's moved out of town,' he said, pushing back his worn but neatly brushed cap from his hair; 'so I lost my place, and little Mary's sick, and that makes it bad just now.'

'So it does,' answered Mrs. B., her sympathies warmly enlisted; but never mind, Joseph, I remember, only night before last, my brother said he would want a new errand boy, in a few days, for his store, and he will give a good one two dollars a week. Now, I'll see him to-day and get the situation for you if you like.'

The boy's face brightened.

'Oh, I should be so glad of it, Mrs. Beach.'

'And see here, Joseph, I am going to market and perhaps I can find something nice for little Mary.'

The lady remembered that Joseph's mother, though a poor seamstress was a very proud woman, and felt that this would be a delicate way of presenting her gift.

So she found some delicate pears and grapes and a nice chicken to make some broth for Mary, who, as she learned, was ill with a fever, before she proceeded to do her own marketing.

But it was a pity that the lady did not see Joseph as he sprang into the chamber where little Mary lay moaning on her bed while her mother sat busily stitching in one corner, and held up the chicken and fruit, crying, 'Good news! good news! I've got all these nice things for Mary, and a place at two dollars at week!'

It was evening, and Mrs. B. sat in the library, absorbed in a book, when she heard her husband's step in the hall. Though the morning had been so pleasant, the afternoon was cloudy, and the day had gone down in a low, sullen, penetrating rain.

Now Mrs. B. loved her husband dearly, but he was not a demonstrative man, and the poetry of their married life had settled into a somewhat matter of fact existence. But her heart was warm to-night—warm with the good deeds of the day, and remembering her resolution of the morning, she threw down her book and ran down stairs.

"Henry," said the soft voice of his wife, "has the rain wet you? Let me take your coat for you."

"Thank you, Mary, I don't believe I am anywise injured, but you may help me just for the pleasure of it;" and he stood still while she removed the heavy coat with all the softness of touch and movement which belongs to a woman. She hung it up, and then the husband drew her to his heart with all the old lover tenderness.

"You are very thoughtful of me, my wife," he said.

And there was music in Mrs. B.'s heart as she went up stairs—music set to the words "Eyes open! eyes open!"

A Butter Item.

An amusing colloquy says a Western paper, came off recently at the supper on board of one of our Mississippi boats between a Boston exquisite reeking with hair oil and cologne, who was cursing the waiters, assuming very consequential airs, and a raw Jonathan seated by his side, dressed in homespun. Turning to his vulgar friend, the former pointed with his jewelled finger and said:

'Buttah, sah?'

'I see it is,' coolly replied Jonathan.

'Buttah, sah, I say?' fiercely repeated the dandy.

'I know it—very good—a first rate article.'

'Buttah, I tell you!' thundered the dandy, in still louder tones, pointing with slow, unmoving finger, and scowling upon his neighbor as if he would annihilate him.

'Wall, gosh, what of it? now yelled the down easter, getting his dander up in turn 'Yer didn't think I took it for lard!'

PROROGATION.—It is supposed the Legislature of Ontario will be prorogued about the middle of next week.

A CHANGE EXPECTED.—It is generally believed that Mr. Swinyard, Managing Director of the Great Western Railway, will shortly retire from the position, which will likely be filled by Mr. Muir, formerly of the Great Western, but now connected with the Michigan Central Railway.

CANADA CENTRAL RAILWAY.—Mr. H. Abbott, of Brockville, Manager of the Brockville and Ottawa Railway, has taken the contract for the Carleton Place and Ottawa section of the Canada Central Railway, on terms which are said to be advantageous to the Company. The work is to be completed, and the line in running order by the 1st of September next year.

CANADA PACIFIC RAILWAY.—Notice of application to Parliament is given of a Bill to incorporate the Canadian Pacific Railway and Navigation Company, and for a grant of lands and money. The line is proposed to run from Ottawa to Fort Garry, and thence to the confines of British Columbia, with a branch from Fort Garry to the United States frontier.

DEATH OF JAMES WHITEFORD ESQ.—We regret to have to announce the death of JAMES WHITEFORD, Esq., one of the oldest and most respected inhabitants of the Town. Mr. Whiteford was taken ill but a few days ago while walking in the street, and died this morning in the 72rd year of his age. The deceased has grown with the Town, and his familiar face, and urbane manner will be missed by many a sincere friend.

SIGNS OF A MILD WINTER.—Not long since weather prophets assured us that the indications given by the habits of the wild animals gave evidence of a very severe winter. Now we read that an experienced trapper writes that the beavers have laid in very few winter stores, and that the signs to be drawn from the other wild animals, are such as to give assurance of a very mild winter. This is certainly very gratifying news, but would it not be as well if the wild animals were more decisive in their habits, or the trappers more unanimous in their opinions.

THE FENIANS AGAIN.—The N. Y. Times is responsible for the following :—"The Fenian Brotherhood of this city, it is said are actively and secretly preparing for another expedition against the British possessions on this continent. At the O'Neill headquarters they have a large number of what they claim to be improved needle guns, and many of their most prominent officers are travelling among the circles in the adjacent cities and rural districts on secret service. Gen. O'Neill himself has been absent from the city at different times within a few weeks, and returned from one of his trips last night. He leaves again to-day. The Fenians are determined to keep their future movements and projects to themselves, not desiring to sustain another failure, either from the interference of the United States authorities who no doubt will prevent any infraction of the Neutrality laws, or by forewarning their enemies, and thus giving them time to prepare a warm reception for the invaders."

—There is not a library in the United States which has yet reached the number of 200,000 volumes, although there are not less than twenty in Europe which can claim the number.

—An establishment for the wholesale manufacture of counterfeit revenue stamps was discovered this week in New York ; seventeen presses were at work printing the stamps in large sheets, and finished work to the amount of $60,000 was found on the premises.

—The Springfield, Mass., 'Republican' says that tobacco is selling in that vicinity at 35 cts. for entire lots, and that one extensive buyer there predicts a monster 'crush' in the next two years, on account of the increase of the supply over the demand. He rates the annual consumption in the whole country at 40,000 cases, exclusive of Virginia and Kentucky raising, done up for plugs. This year's crop he puts at 80,000 cases, and there are 10,000 cases of old tobacco in the county, making 100,000 cases, or 60,000 above the demand.

Mr. Sisson and the Local School Superintendent.

Some time since we had occasion to refer to the wonderful financial abilities of one of the Common School Trustees of this Town, and to point out his mode of raising the ways and means by asking others to make and endorse notes while keeping clear of them himself. He has again made himself famous by making an exceedingly uncourteous and uncalled for attack upon the Local Superintendent in a resolution proposed at a late meeting of the Board, which, considering the position held by the Superintendent, and the impossibility of his replying, makes the matter worse. The resolution to which we refer was published some days ago in the INTELLIGENCER, but the better to understand the cause of this attack, we will recapitulate. The Superintendent some time since in the discharge of his duties, made some suggestions in reference to School accommodation and School requirements, at which some of the Trustees took umbrage and presented a report reflecting upon that officer in such a manner as to necessitate, in self respect, a letter of resignation, in which the Superintendent justified his conduct by quoting from their own by-law, to shew that he had but performed his duties. This only excited the ire of the author of the original report, who at the last meeting of the Board proposed resolutions, which are not only extremely illogical in themselves, but couched in improper language, and particularly objectionable when applied to a clergyman. He proposes his resolution with a preamble, which says : "where as soon after the appointment of the "present Local Superintendent, this Board "found it necessary, with the view of obtaining order and tranquility to pass "certain Regulations for his guidance." The only inference to be drawn from the wording of this "whereas," is that unless the By Law was passed, "order and tranquility" could not be had with the Superintendent, therefore "certain regulations" were "passed" for his guidance. Now what are the facts connected with this very By-Law ? They are these : that soon after the appointment of the Superintendent, he found that no such By-Law existed, and suggested that one should be passed, pointing out that such was the requirement of the law. Not only did he make the suggestion, but actually drafted a By-Law, which after certain amendments made by Mr. Wills, then in the Board, was passed. Yet Mr. Sisson by a cunningly worded preamble leads the people to believe that this By-Law was passed to regulate the Superintendent, and keep him within proper bounds. We do not know that duplicity could go further.

Mr. Sisson follows up his preamble by quoting the by law itself, to prove that the Superintendent had exceeded his duties, in making suggestions relative to certain School Houses. The 3rd and 4th clauses read as follows :

3rd. To examine at each quarterly visit the condition of each school, as respects the progress of the pupils, the order and discipline observed, the cleanliness, neatness and deportment of the scholars, the system of instruction pursued, the mode of keeping the School Registers and visitors Book, the average attendance of pupils, THE CHARACTER AND CONDITION OF THE BUILDINGS AND PREMISES, whether the Rules laid down by the Board for the Regulation of the schools are fully or partially carried out, and if but partially, what part omitted, TOGETHER SUCH ADVICE AS HE MAY DEEM PROPER, and to report the same to the Board.

4th. To consult and advise, if requir-d, with any Committee which may be appointed for drafting the Rules of Government for the schools, or for any other purpose connected with the advancement of education.

An analysis of these clauses will show that certain distinct and specific duties are imposed upon the Superintendent ; which are, that at each quarterly visit he shall examine the condition of each school, as respects :

1st. The progress of the pupils.
2nd. The order and discipline observed.
3rd. The cleanliness, neatness and deportment of the scholars.
4th. The system of instruction pursued.
5th. The mode of keeping the school register and visitors book.
6th. The average attendance of pupils.
7th. The character and condition of the buildings and premises.
8th. To see whether the Rules are carried out.
9th. To offer such advice as he may deem proper.
10th. To report the same to the Board.

It is quite clear that reporting to the Board includes the whole nine preceding duties. If it were not so, then the Board would be kept in total ignorance of the state of the schools, and the passage of the by-law be a mere farce.

The 4th section of the by-law is not so extensive in its character, but merely provides that the Superintendent shall "consult and advise, if required, with any committee appointed for drafting Rules, etc., or for any other purpose" connected with education.

The reader must bear in mind that the 3rd clause lays down specific duties for the Superintendent to perform quarterly without any reservation whatever ; and that the 4th enacts that "if required" he shall do certain other duties, but not unless so "required." In the face of this plain common sense language, it is attempted to palm upon the people an interpretation which neither common sense nor the wording of the law will justify. Who can read the 3rd section and then say the Superintendent exceeded his duties in examining and reporting upon "the character and condition of the building and premises," and "offering such advice as he might deem proper," relative to certain improvements, no matter whether he approved or disapproved of such improvements ? Yet Mr. Sisson perpetrates a second "whereas" ad follows :—"Whereas, it is clear tha' Section "3" above quoted, has reference solely to the internal economy and sanitary condition of the Schools, and was so intended in connection with the advancement and discipline of the Scholars ; and equally clear that the next Section "4" is advisedly qualified by the words "if required." &c.,

By which he wishes it inferred that "internal economy" and "sanitary" measures were only intended. Certainly the author of the By-Law ought to know what was intended as well as the gentleman who "whereases." Who does not know after reading the 4th clause, that it is qualified by the words, "if required ?" and who does not know equally well that the words "if required" have no reference whatever to the 3rd clause ? And who, having any respect for the plain meaning of the English language, except the author of the "whereases" will not say, that if the Superintendent deemed it necessary for the health of the children, or that the system of instruction pursued, necessitated by the want of proper galleries and sufficient room in the building, was useless, that he would exceed his duty in reporting the facts to the Board, or that he would be justly chargeable with stepping beyond his duty in doing so ?

Not satisfied with "whereasing" the most absurd deductions from these sections, Mr. Sisson introduces the following :

"Resolved—That this Board cannot refrain from expressing its disapprobation of the manner in which the Local Superintendent has recently, in an article over his own signature, which has found its way into a public journal, presented a garbled statement of the above quoted portion of the Regulations adverted to, by selecting language out of its connection, and thereby giving to the public a wrong and meaning which the plain reading of these sections do not warrant or convey, and which never were intended by this Board."

It required this resolution to cap the climax, and disgust every reasonable man in the Town. What does it start out with ? A declaration of disapprobation of the Superintendent, because he dared to quote their own By-Law in justification of his course. The charge of "garbling" is too absurd to require denial, when it is remembered that this letter of resignation, which contains the extracts, was sent to the Board. Would not the simplest man in christendom know that to do such an act would be absurd, when he knew that the Board had its own By Law to refer to at any moment, and to expose the dishonesty, if there were any ? And further, is it not an outrage upon common decency that such a disreputable charge should be brought against a Clergyman, whose whole usefulness for good, would be destroyed, were it true ? Another exceedingly unfair and disreputable attempt made in this resolution, is to lead the people to believe that the letter of resignation of the Superintendent "found its way into a public journal," through his act ; when Mr. Sisson knows, as every reader of that "public journal" knows, that that letter was published as a part of, and in connection with a report of the proceedings of a public meeting of the Board of Common School Trustees. Yet with this knowledge he does not hesitate to insinuate in a most disingenuous and jesuitical style, that the letter was published at the instance of the Superintendent ; an act itself which stamps the whole proceeding in reference to this matter with disgrace, and fully developes the character of him who is the father of it.

On motion of Mr. BLAKE the word 'possession' in the first clause was struck out, and 'occupation' substituted.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & Co.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits. Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.
Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

The Shepherd and the Lamb.

BY DAVID BARKER.

In the Scottish hills as a Shepherd strolled,
On an eve with his ancient crook,
He found a lamb that was chilled and young,
By the side of a parling brook.

And through fear that the lamb might sicken
and die,
From its mother's side might roam,
He carried it up with tender care,
To a fold in his highland home.

Once I had a lamb by its mother's side,
It was heartless, pure and mild,
'Twas the dearest lamb in my own dear flock,
On my pure little blue-eyed child.

But a Shepherd came when the sun grew low,
By a path that has long been trod,
And he carried my lamb thro' the mists of night,
To his fold in the mount of God.

With a fearful eye and a bleeding heart
We must bear it and struggle on,
And climb that mount by the Shepherd's track,
To the fold where our lamb is gone.

Editing a Paper.

The following was found in the office of an editor in this county by sheriff.

Editing a paper is very pleasant business.

It it contains too much political matter people won't have it.

If it contains too little they won't have it.

If the type is large it don't contain enough reading matter.

If the type is small they can't read it.

If we publish telegraph reports, folks say they are nothing but lies.

If we omit them, they say we have no enterprise, or suppress them for political effect.

If we have in a few jokes, folks say we are nothing but a rattle head.

If we omit jokes they say we are an old fossil.

If we publish original matter they damn us for not giving selections.

If we publish selections folks say that we are lazy for not writing more, and giving them what they have not read in some other paper.

If we give a man complimentary notices we are censured for being partial.

If we do not all hands say we are a great hog.

If we insert an article which pleases the ladies, men feel jealous.

If we do not cater to their wishes the paper is not a fit one to have in their house.

If we attend church they say it is only for effect.

If we do not, they denounce us as deceitful and despectacly wicked.

If we speak well of any act of the Government, folks say we dare not do otherwise.

If we censure they will call us a traitor.

If we remain in our office and attend to business, folks say we are too proud to mingle with our fellows.

If we go out, they say we never attend to business.

If we do not pay all bills promptly folks say we are not to be trusted.

If we do pay promptly, they say we stole the money.—Exchange.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a graceful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so generally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures others perfectly and all know that what it does once it does always —that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of letters from the most remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Being sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity. They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills promptly cure:

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they must be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continued for some time, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken to produce the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, purifies the blood, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous to take them when not apparently needed. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him or her decidedly better from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding, extract that enters into the composition of this wonderful Sarsaparilla Resolvent, Pile-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care to the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious substances or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with the list.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone and the wonderful efficiency of his set cured is the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS THE MOST HEALTH-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the skin with its caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Impurities and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat and Skin, Scrofula.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.

It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vitality of procreation those who from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted.
It rescues women from all pain incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is no matter who you are, or child, however wasted by disease, if their system are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, or incapable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or wasting and decomposition arrested, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, LIVER, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their tissues and decomposition arrested, altered, and by the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of Dr. RADWAY'S Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how much the blood may be tainted, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the worst of the diseases are developed through the poisons of the Venereal, taints the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Glands, Bones, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and there ulcerates in their advanced stage can build up, repair, and curedly the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic Disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Bowels, Bladder, Glands, Womb, or Urinary Apparatus, will experience a marked change for the better from the first day of taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, fully strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Liver, Skin, and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secede their proper constituent secretions, and in a short time, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being secreted in the circulation, the food will be digested for exposition from the system through their proper channels, and nothing will remain in the system to corrupt these secretions, and in a few such organs or secreting gland is undergoing its proper functions, health can never be restored. Any body suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important result that has heretofore existed in all these complaints, advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this wonderful agent on the blood and other fluids that bathe the living body with reports, will at once begin to show itself with constituents as to resolve and exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By its chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, and from it is made to mingle, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and by the vital forces ushers entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and with it every thing of a diseased nature, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, as in Syphilis, Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, Lead, Iodine, Bromine, Chloride of Mercury, Chloride of Zinc, or the Corrosive Sublimate, Nitrate of Silver, Arsenic, Copper, Iron, deposited in the bones, tissues cartilages, or joints, or from some traumatic cause, or from complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal, Mercurial and many forms Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scaly Eruptions, Tetter, Scald Head, Ringworm, Erysipelas, Acne, Blotches, Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and other Discharges. Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, with the whole train of evils consequent upon the use of Mercury, the Resolvent, and a few days' use will convince any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power over them.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, side with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars and doctors for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., was one of the knowledges of poor medicine. His son, aged 12 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, limbs, and face, from April in May in September last, and he was the most revolting animal diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was entirely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruptive Skin Diseases, Scald Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

DR. RADWAY.—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs in March last, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was able to rest well sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After taking one bottle the bleeding was stayed, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease, and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, MONDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 20, 1869. No. 197.

Canada.

BY W. G. MONCRIEFF.

However prized the scenes we left,
However sore we feel bereft,
Our future home is here;
Love, then, with ardent love the soil,
That we'l rewards our varied toil,
And greet it with a cheer.

Away beyond the stormy deep
Our thoughts will sometimes roving keep,
By old attractions led;
But call them back and let them grow,
Twining this land of sun and snow,
For better none may wed.

Its sunsets with their gorgeous hues,
Its cataracks, and Island views,
Strike on the soul with power;
And with magic art, the Fall
Hangs Indian beauty over all,
'Tis Nature's fluest hour.

Around its rocky eastern shore
Atlantic billows lash and roar
In concert with the gales;
And, dauntless, forth our bravest ride
Upon the heaving foaming tide,
And spread their bulging sails.

Our country yet from sea to sea,
Through forests vast, and rich prairie,
Will stretch its mighty lines;
And millions of the free-born race,
With thought and vigor in their face,
Will fit its fields and mines.

These lakes expanding in their pride,
These rivers rolling on their tide,
Will thronging fleets sustain;
And matchless from distant shores,
Lay riches at our merchant's doors,
Beyond their dreams of gain.

Here, Liberty with Order crowned,
Will call this spot her chosen ground,
While countless years are reeled;
And, grateful for her costly boons,
Augmenting with recurring moons,
Our sons will stand her shield.

Peace be their darling theme and song—
Peace with the feeble and the strong:
Fell war their hated task;
But when an arm would try their steel,
Then may they fight with courage leal,
Nor ever mercy ask.

Here bards will build immortal lays,
To rival songs in other days,
And charm those cultured beat;
Nay, flame the heart of sire and son,
While battle-work remains undone,
And danger lifts its crest.

Adopted land! as in you sky,
The purest azure meets the eye,
So be thy name attired;
The home of virtue, truth and skill,
A refuge from the tyrant's will,
'Mong nations first admired.

The Secret of Longevity---A Curious Physiological Theory.

A paper was recently read before the British Ethnological Association, by the Sir Duncan Gibbs, entitled "An Obstacle to European Longevity beyond Seventy." The writer had previously called the attention of the Association to the fact that he had devoted much attention to the position of the leaf-shaped cartilage at the back of the tongue, known as the epiglottis, and that in eleven per cent of the five thousand people, of all ages, whom he had examined, he had found the position of this cartilage to be drooping, or pendent, instead of vertical. A further prosecution of inquiries had led to the discovery of the important fact that in all persons over seventy, without exception, its position was vertical. This circumstance he regarded of the highest moment, bearing, as he believed it did, upon the attainment of old age. Numerous examples were cited in proof of his statement, among which were many well known statesmen who attained to over seventy years of age, Lord Palmerston, Lyndhurst, Campbell and Brougham, being among the number. He claimed that the facts presented clearly demonstrated that longevity beyond seventy could not be attained with a pendant epiglottis. His conclusions may be summed up nearly as follows:—As a rule persons with a pendant epiglottis will not live beyond seventy, life verging to a close at or before that period. On the other hand, with a vertical epiglottis, life may be prolonged beyond seventy to the extreme limit of old age.

These statements will furnish a new subject for discussion among the medical savants of this country. If there is any truth in the theory broached by Sir Duncan Gibbs, Americans will wish to know it, and knowing it, will not rest content until they have ascertained the relative position of the all important cartilage upon which depends the length of their stay on earth.

Packing Butter.

A few years since a dairyman, who had been particularly fortunate in his sales, sent for a noted butter maker to learn the secret of making a high priced article. The man came and looked over the premises and the only advice given was, 'you need a clean sweet, well-ventilated cellar, for storing butter, and it must be used for nothing else. Then get oak firkins, heavy hooped, air tight and make just as handsome as the best cooper can turn them out. You need not change in your process of manufacture. This is all you have to do, and I will warrant you success.' These suggestions were at once adopted, and quick sales, large prices and heavy profits were the results. A dirty looking package will often lose a good sale. It should have a fresh, clean, sweet appearance when it reaches the customer, that will please the eye of the most fastidious. There are only a few kinds of wood that are fit to pack butter in. Wood of the ash is extensively used in some sections. It contains an acid very objectionable to butter, and should be rejected. Spruce pine and gummy woods are often used. They impart a disagreeable flavor to the butter. White oak makes an excellent package, but the wood should be thoroughly seasoned before using. Many dairymen invariably select poor packages because they are cheap. To save a five cents on a package, they are willing to run the risk of losing a considerable sum on the butter which is to fill it. If sold immediately, however, the loss may fall on some one else. In preparing firkins and tubs for use, boiling water should be poured into them, to soak for twenty-four hours. Then fill with strong brine for two or three days, turn out and rinse with pure cold water. Tubs after being filled should be headed and brine poured it at a hole in the top so as to fill all intervening spaces. Firkins when filled may be covered with a thin piece of muslin upon which is spread a layer of fine salt, and then closed with a wooden cover. Store in a clean, sweet, well ventilated butter cellar until ready for market.

Suggestive Briefs.

Patience is always crowned with success. This rule is without an exception. It may not be a splendid success, but patience never takes anything in hand that it does not succeed with in some form.

The only way for a man to escape being found out, is to pass for what he is. The only way to maintain a good character is to deserve it. It is easier to correct our faults than to conceal them.

Life is a book of which we can have but one edition. Let each day's actions, as they add their pages to the indestructible volume, be such as we shall be willing to have an assembled world read.

There is no fortune so good but that it may be bettered. The sun that rises in clouds may set in splendor, and that which rises in splendor may set in gloom.

To be engaged is good and useful; to be idle is pernicious with evil. They who do good are employed, but they who spend their time in vain recreations are idle.

The selfish man's head is like a man's coffin, is just his own measure, long enough and broad enough to hold himself, with room enough for no one else.

No man, whether rich or poor, can make or retain a good and useful position in life, without the two valuable habits of punctuality and temperance.

God has sown sweet seeds within us—seeds of sympathy—whose buds are virtue such as bloom in heaven.

The aim of an honest man's life is not the happiness which serves only himself, but the virtue which is useful to others.

The greatest friend of truth is time, her greatest enemy is prejudice, and her constant companion is humility.

Those who by faith see the invisible God and the fair city, make no account of present losses and crosses.

Wearing Apparel.

A passenger presented himself at a way station on the road with two trunks and a saddle, for which he requested checks. The baggage master promptly checked the trunks, but demanded an extra twenty-five cents for the saddle. To this the passenger demurred, and, losing his temper, peremptorily asked:

'Will you check my baggage sir?'

'Are you a horse?' quietly inquired George.

'What do you mean, sir?' exclaimed the irrate traveller.

'You claim to have this saddle checked as baggage?'

'Certainly, it is baggage,' positively returned the passenger.

'Well,' said the imperturbable George, 'by the company's regulations nothing but wearing apparel is admitted to be baggage; and, it this saddle is your wearing apparel, of course you are a horse! Now, sir, just allow me to strap it on your back, and it shall go to the end of the road without any extra charge whatever.'

The traveller paid his quarter, and offered George his hat.

—'Waiter,' said a fastidious gentlemen, exhibiting a singular-looking object on the soup-ladle, 'waiter, do you know what that is, sir?' 'That, sir, looks like a mouse, sir. We often find them in soup, sir. No extra charge, sir.'

—It turns out that the 'Cardiff petrified giant,' which has been astonishing the people of the State of New York, was manufactured from Iowa gypsum and 'planted' where found, about two months ago, by three enterprising wonder hunters, one of whom was Mr. Hull, formerly connected with the 'Times.' As it was sold to parties in New York City for $75,000, Mr. Hull's share must be something respectable.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, DEC. 20.

TO BE PUBLISHED.—Those who heard the eloquent discourse delivered by Rev. J. C. Smith, before the St. Andrew's Society on last St. Andrew's Day, will be glad to learn that at the request of the Society it is to be published in pamphlet form.

L. O. L. 205, TYENDINAGA.—At the regular monthly meeting of this Lodge the following Brethren were elected office bearers for the ensuing year: John Collins, W. M.; John Latchford, Jr., D. M.; Robert Duffin, Chap.; Joseph Latchford, Sec.; Samuel Lawrason, Treas.; Arch. Collins, D. of C.; Hugh Collins, F. C.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.—At a meeting of the Directors of the different Agricultural Societies held in Belleville on Saturday, Dec. 18th, J. J. Farley, Esq., was selected as the gentleman to be recommended to the various Agricultural Societies in Lennox, Addington, and Prince Edward, for election as a member of the Board of Agriculture for the ensuing term.

The Grain Market.

SHIPMENTS OF GRAIN.—The following is a statement of the amount of grain purchased in Kingston and shipped by the various grain buyers up to December 11th:—Mr. Kingston: 1868—Barley, 16,210 bushels; Rye, 11,804 do.; Buckwheat, 1,796 do.; Peas, 2,913 do. During 1869—Barley, 42,426 bushels; Rye, 14,918 do.; Oats, 3,124 do.; Wheat, 6,148 do.; Buckwheat, 39 do; Peas, 12,070 do.; showing a difference in the amount this year over last year of 33,659 bushels. Mr. Richardson: 1868—Amount of all kinds of grains, 31,731 bushels. During the year 1869—Barley, 82,691 bushels; Peas, 9,211 do.; Rye, 17,589 do.; Total amount 109,491 bushels showing a difference of 57,740 bushels, this year over last year. Messrs. McIntyre and Sills: 1868—24,000 bushels of all kinds of grains. During 1869—69,000 do. Difference, 36,000 bushels.—Kingston 'News,' Dec. 16, 1869.

According to the above statement it appears that the total quantity of grain purchased and shipped from Kingston this year amounts to 248,216. Let us see how Belleville compares with the "Ancient Capital" in this respect. Up to the close of navigation the returns show that of Barley and Rye there were 510,111 bushels, exported to the United States; 9,905 of Peas; and 2,000 of Wheat. The quantity shipped to Montreal, Kingston and other ports in Canada was 80,920 bushels of Peas, and 16,066 of Barley and Rye, making the total amount of grain shipped from Belleville this season, up to the close of navigation, 564,908 bushels, or 316,692 bushels more than was purchased and shipped at Kingston during the same period. It is a highly creditable exhibit for Belleville, and is another evidence that as a market Belleville has no equal between Toronto and Montreal.

With a railway to the back country, and additional means of communication with the Bay ports, our market would be made much better, and the trade and commerce of the Town largely increased. It is to be hoped that some steps will be taken to put an additional steamer on the Bay next season to run between Belleville and the ports on both sides of the Bay, both east and west; and also that some well directed efforts will be made to build a railway to the northern section of the county.

Red River Difficulty.

Latest accounts from St. Paul's are to the 19th Dec., and represent Governor McDougall as having issued a proclamation in the name of the Queen, declaring the Territory under Canadian control; and that on the same day a force of loyal men occupied the Stone Fort, and the loyal white and half-breds began rapidly to rally and organize. The insurgents were beginning to disperse, and had withdrawn their forces from the printing office and other places in the town of Winnepeg.

It is also said that Riel, the insurgent chief, is still in possession of Fort Garry with 400 men, and that Col. Dennis of Fort Erie notariety, is at the head of 300 men, and that an attack is to be made upon Fort Erie. Let us hope that Col. Dennis may succeed in presenting a better record than he did at Fort Erie.

The report that Governor McTavish had been arrested was not believed.

The editor of the St. Paul Press received a letter from a Canadian gentleman, dated Pembina, 5th inst., in which he says Gov. McDougall has not called on Canada for troops, but relies on the people of the Territory themselves, when appealed to, to quell the outbreak, and believes they will do it without bloodshed. The letter continues as follows: "On December 12th, a force equal to the malcontents occupied the Stone Fort, and their numbers were rapidly increasing by accessions of loyal inhabitants, of English, Scotch Canadian and French origin, with a large band of Indians ready to defend the flag of their Sovereign and restore the reign of law."

—Three new Post Offices were opened and two closed on the 1st Dec.

—The following new insolvents are gazetted: Charles Chamberlain, Paris; Wm. Derry, Brantford.

Town Elections.

The nominations for the Mayoralty and for Councillors for the various Wards took place to day.

THE MAYORALITY.

The Town Clerk was at the Town Hall, and at ten o'clock announced that he would receive nominations for the office of Mayor for the ensuing year. About half-past ten JOHN BELL, Esq., nominated ALEXANDER ROBERTSON, Esq., as candidate for Mayor, seconded by JAS. BROWN, Esq., M. P. JAS. KENNEDY, Esq., was nominated by JAMES BROWN, Esq., merchant, and seconded by Mr. NULTY, Esq. P. D. COGGER, Esq., was nominated by S. S. LAZIER, Esq., seconded by L. H. HENDERSON, Esq.

At eleven o'clock, there being no further nominations, the Clerk gave an opportunity for the candidates and their proposers to address the meeting.

JOHN BELL, Esq., said Mr. Roberseon was known to the people of the Town as a young man of unexceptionable character, possessing a large property interest, a man of good education and ability, qualifications which he considered essential in a person aspiring to such a position. Something had been said with respect to his age. He understood Mr. Robertson was 31 years old, and if a man is not fit at that age to occupy a Mayor's chair, he never would be. Some other objections had been made against him, but he hoped before another year those objections would be removed.

JAMES BROWN, Esq., M. P. in seconding the nomination regretted that there was to be a contest between Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Robertson. They were both personal friends of his; he had served with them in Council for some years; both were well qualified for the position; both had large property interests, and both would make excellent Mayors. He knew nothing of Mr. Kennedy coming out. Whoever is elected either will discharge the duties of Mayor in a satisfactory manner.

JAMES BROWN, Esq., in nominating Mr. Kennedy, said he was an old citizen, had served a number of years in the Council, and for his age, experience and ability, was well entitled to the position. He did not know exactly the age of Mr. Kennedy, but believed he was 61 years old. He had nothing to say against Mr. Robertson, but thought Mr. Kennedy had greater claims upon the suffrages of the people.

M. NULTY, Esq., seconded the nomination from the purest of motives, because Mr. Kennedy was an old friend, had been a faithful public servant, and was well qualified for the position. Withal he was a self-made man, and those men were the order of the day. He referred to several notable instances of self-made men, such as Sir John A. Macdonald, President Grant, Lincoln and others.

S. S. LAZIER, Esq., in nominating Mr. Couger referred to the very satisfactory manner in which that gentleman had discharged his duties as Mayor last year, and although he knew he did not intend to contest the election, he nominated him so that he could have an opportunity of addressing the meeting.

L. H. HENDERSON, Esq., seconded the nomination to allow Mr. Conger a chance for explanation.

ALEX. ROBERTSON, Esq., was then called upon. He said it was gratifying to him to hear the hearty manner in which his conduct had been endorsed by those who had nominated him. He was not aldermanic in proportions—he had not that rotundity of person, nor that venerable appearance, which are by some considered essential qualifications for aspirants to the office of Mayor—and he had no doubt there were a large number of abler and better men than he who could have been selected, but there were none who had the true interests of the Town at heart more than himself, and none who desired to take a livelier interest in everything that concerned its welfare than himself. He briefly referred to his retirement last year after he had been nominated by a number of his friends, and as he had given way then at the request of both his own friends as well as Mr. Conger's, he felt he had some claim to be a candidate now. Respecting his claims upon the electors, though others no doubt had greater, he had served the people faithfully in the Council for several years, had a considerable property interest in Town, though he did not say it boastingly, and so far as he was able, had endeavored to advance the interests of the Town by improving that property. A man must creep, however before he could walk, and it was his intention to go on improving that property, giving employment to mechanics and laboring men. Referring to the statement made by some, that Belleville had reached the zenith of its prosperity, he was not prepared to endorse it. The Mills which were formerly used by lumbermen could be utilized to some other purpose, and from its natural position, the centre of a wealthy agricultural country, possessing extensive water power privileges, he believed Belleville was yet destined to occupy a place amongst the first cities in Canada. He briefly referred to the position of the place 47 years ago, when our fathers hewed out for us a home in the primeval wilderness, and which we should endeavor to make as prosperous as we could. He was sorry to be obliged to come in collision with Mr. Kennedy, who had always been an old and valued friend of his, and with whom he had always been on friendly and intimate terms. But having made up his mind to be a candidate he could not in justice to himself or those who brought him forward give way, and if there was to be a contest, he hoped it would be a fair and free fight. He had nailed his colors to the mast, and he believed he would at the close of the polls be victorious.

JAS. KENNEDY, Esq., said this was a very unpleasant contest, and one which he greatly regretted on many accounts. But he felt that as a much older Councillor and an older citizen he had superior claims, and when he was shoved out of the way by a hole and corner meeting to make way for a younger man, he did not consider himself well treated, and he had made up his mind to be a candidate. He had been a long number of years in the Council, and he could appeal to the record he had made there that he had acted honestly, consistently, and as a faithful servant of the public. He referred to the property interest of Mr. Robertson, and although he (Mr. Kennedy) had also a considerable property interest, he thanked a wise Legislature for placing the office of Mayor within the reach of all—that any man could aspire to and be elected to the office without a large property qualification. Some had told him that he would not be elected in consequence of his religious principles. He begged every gentleman to tear that idea from their bosoms. He believed in equal rights and privileges, and was confident that these would be extended to him as he was prepared to extend the same to others. Let not the fair fame of Belleville be tarnished by saying that Kennedy was defeated because he was an Irish Roman Catholic.

P. D. COGGER, Esq., had but little to say. He had much to thank the people of Belleville for the kindness which he had ever received from them, and for the forbearance which had been exercised towards him in the Council, during the past year. The last year had been a very pleasant one to him; not an ill natured remark nor an unpleasant word had been said to him nor of him that he knew of, and he felt particularly gratified in closing up his years' duties that he had left such a satisfactory record. He referred to the financial condition of the Town as being very satisfactory. There were certain improvements which he had urged upon the Finance Committee during the year which would probably be attended to during the coming year. Reference was next made to the Gas Company and its affairs. The Stock Books were lost and everything was in confusion. They could not tell to whom the dividends, if there were any, would be paid. He referred at some length to the affairs of the Company, and his proposition was, that the Town should foreclose the mortgage on the Company, for it was better to sacrifice the stock than to sacrifice stock, money and all. In explaining his position before the electors he claimed the same rights as any elector. It had been said there was an understanding between him and Mr. Robertson, that if the latter should give way last year in his favor, he would give way this year. There was no such understanding. The gentlemen who came to him and urged him to be a candidate, had too much delicacy to make such a proposition; if it had been made he should have rejected it. He said he had a choice in the two candidates, and in making his resignation he would retire in favor of Mr. Alex. Robertson.

The meeting then broke up.

County Court and Quarter Sessions.

FOURTH DAY.

FRIDAY, Dec. 17, 1869.

Court opened at 9 o'clock this morning—His Honor Judge Sherwood presiding.

A SUIT FOR DEBT.

JOHN D. EVANS vs ROBERT COCKBURN.—Action on an account for services rendered by plaintiff as a surveyor, in making plans of a portion of River Trenton, Village of Campbleford, in Seymour; defendant having a suit pending for backing water; and defendant by petition appiled to Government for relief, or to have his rights established, required certain plans to show the position of river and land, and effect defendant's dam had on the water of the river, employed defendant to make a survey and plans.

DEFENCE.

Defendant contended plaintiff had made more elaborate and extension plans than were necessary, and charged a higher price for services than is usual in such cases. Verdict for plaintiff $172.25. A. R. Dougall for plff. L. Wallbridge, Q. C., for deft.

A GENERAL ROW

QUEEN vs ALEX. RUTTER, SEN., ALEX. ORR AND SAMUEL G. RUTTER.—Defendants were indicted for an assault committed on one Robert Porter in May last; a dispute arose as to the right to possession of a lot in the Township of Hungerford; Orr claimed to be the owner and sold to Rutter sen.; Porter had purchased from one Farrell and went upon the premises to plant potatoes; all went well the first day; but when he and his brother returned on the morning of the second day, they found Orr who was occupying the house had received recruits during the night; Alex. Rutter and his sons were there to dispute Porter's right to enter upon the land, and a field fight ensued, pitch fork, gun and clubs coming into play; no lives were lost, but parties on both sides were badly beaten. At the last assizes this case was ventilated; Orr then prosecuted the Porters for an assault and received a verdict; and now the other side are having their inning as is usual in such cases after a general fight, the law has to settle their difficulties. Verdict not guilty. C. L. Coleman for Crown. Geo. E. Henderson for Orr. Thos. Holden for Rutters.

AN ASSAULT CASE.

1. BENNON SWEET, Appellant, vs. PATRICK FINNIGAN, Respondent. 2. Benjamin Sweet, Appellant, vs Patrick Callano, Respondent. 3. Benoni Sweet, Appellant, vs George Patterson, Respondent. 4. Benoni Sweet, Appellant, vs Thomas Brooks, Respondent. 5. Benoni Sweet, Appellant, vs. Charles M. Varey, Respondent. 6. Benoni Sweet, Appellant, vs. Alexander Munzies, Repondent.

In the above six cases the facts are these: Appellant was employed by the Township Council of the United Townships of Wollaston, Limerick and Tudor, to summon the Respondents to show cause at their next meeting why the assessment on their respective properties, which was fixed at $100, should not be raised to $200 each. Respondents walked 20 miles to attend the meeting of Council in June last, and opposed the increase. The Council dismissed Sweet's summons. Respondents called Sweet bad names but not in his presence or to his face.

Appellant brought Respondent up for grossly insulting language towards him on the public highway and in the hotels in Tudor, contrary to the Statutes and By laws of the County of Hastings, respecting the "preservation of public morals." The Magistrate dismissed Sweet's complaints, each party to pay his own costs; hence these several appeals. The above appeals were argued by Hon. L. Wallbridge, Q. C., for Respondents, and S. B. Burdett, for Appellants, and they were all dismissed out of Court because he did not return the orders and evidence to the office of the Clerk of the Peace. S. B. Burdett, Attorney for Appellant; MacLellan & MacLellan, Attorney for Respondents.

THE MARKET BY-LAW

EDMUND SNELL, Appellant, vs. J. R. GRAINGER, Respondent.—The Appellant Snell was fined by the Police Magistrate, Belleville, for selling meat in less quantities than by the quarter in other places than the Public Market, and against this conviction he appealed, but failed to bring his case before the Court at the proper time. The Respondent proved that notice of appeal had been given. The Court made an order confirming the conviction, and ordered the Appellant to pay the costs. A. R. Dougall for Appellant; S. B. Burdett for Respondent.

To the Editor of The Daily Intelligencer.

The Grand Jury would call attention to your remarks on the case of the Queen against Bulger, in your issue of Friday. You say, "We are informed that the same evidence was adduced before the Grand Jury that the police Magistrate had, upon which he committed him (Bulger) for trial."

If your informant had said the same witnesses he might have been correct, but the same evidence was not adduced before the Grand Jury, as an examination of the evidence taken before the Police Magistrate clearly proves. Yours truly,

F. BRENTON,
Foreman.

PROPOSED SHIP CANAL.

LONDON, Dec. 18—The Times to-day has an editorial on the subject of the Suez Canal. LONDON, Dec. 18.—The Spectator of to-day in replying to the comments of other London journals on the 'Alabama' question, comes to the defence of the American Ministers—Messrs. Johnson and Motley—against the charge of their subservience to English influence. The writer says the English people believe that Mr. Johnson impartially 'took' in them and their dinners.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE SIEGE OF LONDONDERRY.

LONDONDERRY, Dec. 18.—There is intense excitement in this city in view of the threatened disturbances on the occasion of the celebration of the anniversary of the siege of the city. GRAND OVATIONS TO SEWARD IN MEXICO.

HAVANA, Dec. 18.—Dates from the City of Mexico to the 10th inst., received. The ovations to ex-Secretary Seward continued. On the 3rd Senor Romero gave a grand dinner in his honor on the 9th and a grand ball, attended by 4,000 citizens, was given at the Theatre National. The neighboring streets were decorated and illuminated. The French journals criticise Romero, severely for toasting the King of Prussia, saying that "Bismarck's spies keep a close watch of the movements of Seward and Romero." Some journals continue to give political significance to Mr. Seward's trip.

A REVOLUTION EXPECTED—PROTESTANT PLACES OF WORSHIP ATTACKED.

The entire Republic is full of pronunciamentoes. At Queretaro is armed factions were confronting each other. At Mazatlan a revolution was hourly expected; mobs had attacked a protestant congregation at Peubles during service. The mob was led by an ex-lieutenant officer and urged on by priests. Many of the congregation were severely injured, and it is supposed some will die from injuries received. The mob tried to burn the Protestants alive. The police interfered and arrested several. The rioters afterward went to several Protestant houses, insulting and threatening the inmates.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM as curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing so much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits; suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of my agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

An American gentleman now travelling in Europe, and writing very interesting letters to the St. Louis Republican, thus speaks of the boys of England: "The best thing I have seen in England are the boys. We are impressed everywhere, in city and country with their attractive appearance. Neat, appropriately dressed, respectful in manners and intelligent looking, they are almost invariably pleasant to see and suggestive of good home training. Even on public days when one expects to see boys disorderly, I have remarked nothing unbecoming. Of course it is but limited observation from which I speak, but I cannot but augur well for the future from such indications. Nor do I see anywhere the symptoms of English decadence of which we read. England is good depend upon is, for another thousand years. The next generation will surpass the present, and, by gradual reforms, she will advance to greater prosperity than she has ever yet known."

—It is said that all the necessary measures have been taken to proclaim the Duke of Genoa King of Spain, soon after Christmas.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. THE LONDON SHAVING GAZETTE remarks. "The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic system of cookery has now been surpassed by many experimentalists. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., 1lb., and 1lb. lined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 94—GuTEOW

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use. In every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative pill. The various remedies it supersedes, and the real remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all, when they know its virtues, will employ it—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and consequently, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given on the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the derangement or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but a mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continually taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system with which these complaints generally disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect promptly.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve a disordered stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists to take them to prevent it. Those who find that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their operation on the secretions, should not continue to take them, as a slight cold is taken advantage of by the system to establish a new and healthy action.

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine I free from all nauseating or disagreeable effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice powers of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Kidney, Heath, Pile-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care in the proper season, from the entire soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co., so that no spurious substitutes or worthless root can possibly be used, but the pure.

Dr. Radway & Co. owe $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) of this amount for the services and expenses of scientific Chemists in search of roots to find the wonderful improvements it has secured in the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the going for the outlay over and over again: for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine the completely healing, repairs, and makes sound, strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful without, the slightest exception to conditions, as

To those who seek Health.

There is not a remedy secret or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the recovery of vitality, but capable of sustaining the regenerative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

Extreme cases of Piles, Fits in the KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions destroyed, can be restored to health by the use of the regenerative power of medicine, only, and will, by the use of RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be built up under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the waste and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of VENEREAL are developed through the process of depuration from the blood either in the Lungs, skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stages can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Dennault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO GREAT ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his wrist, and resisted all kinds of medicine, and also the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, also, with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief, which used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills and Ready Relief, as also, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, in the proportion of water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously suffered hundreds of dollars, and doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB."

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., had one of his knees covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, limbs and extremities. For him in September last, and he was the most revolting and disgusted object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was entirely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Scald Head, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

March 15th, 1868.

DR RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After using two bottles of it, I was entirely cured, a been for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased, and I continued to improve, and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared, and I feel myself fully recovered. Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, TUESDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 21, 1869. No. 198.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Rifle Match No. 3 Co, 49th Battalion.

Knowing that you take an interest in anything pertaining to our Volunteers, I give you a few outlines of the Target Practice and Oyster Supper of Capt. B. H. Vandervoort's Company No. 3, 49th Battalion.

On the 14th inst., Capt. Vandervoort's Company No. 3, with an invitation to outsiders, met at the Town Hall, Sidney, (their Headquarters) to perform their finishing stroke of Target Practice and compete for some prizes that had been kindly forwarded for the purpose.

The following is a list of the prizes offered for competition :—

1st. A splendid Gold Pin, by Major Bowell.
2nd. A Valuable Album, by Captain B. F. Vandervoort.
3rd. ————Lieut. J. Caverly.
4th. A Valuable Book, Sergt. Vandervoort.
5th. A Pocket Book and Diary, B. Rose, Reeve of Sidney.
6th. A Pocket Book and Diary, smaller, B. Rose, Reeve of Sidney.
7th. A large volume on Domestic Animals, A. T. Ketcheson.
8th. A splendid volume, S. T. Willmot.
9th. A book, London Ancient and Modern, A. T. Ketcheson.
10th. Cash Fifty Cents, S. T. Knight.

I can assure you that there was a spirited contest. Although the rain caused the day to be very unfavourable, the shooting was the best I have seen here since the Company has been organized. There were only four or five outsiders. The bulls-eye was well riddled and the contest kept up until darkness, when the competitors and their friends proceeded to the Town Hall Cheese Factory, where a splendid supper of Oysters was served by Mr John Moon. There was in all about fifty sat down, of whom about thirty were Volunteers, and if the night had proved propitious there would have been many more. The chair was occupied by S. T. Willmot Esq. After supper the Chairman read a letter of apology with the bestowal of the prize above mentioned, from Major Bowell, M. P., regretting his inability to attend on account of other business; and from Major Cummings, stating that it would have given him pleasure to have met with them, but circumstances prevented it; and from Colonel Wm Ketcheson, one of the oldest Militia Colonels now living, his age being about 78, a still hale and hearty old man. After supper the following toasts were given :—

"The Queen." All responded by singing the National Anthem.

"The Prince of Wales, and Royal Family." Responded to by S. P. Knight, in a very appropriate manner.

"The Governor General." Responded to by A. T. Ketcheson in a style that gave great applause.

"The Army and Navy." Responded to by Sergeant Vandervoort and G. M. Ketcheson, in very enthusiastic speeches, accompanied by the song, "Our Flag has braved a Thousand Years."

"The Canadian Volunteers." Responded to by Captain Vandervoort and Sergeant Graham, in speeches that vividly depicted the life of a Volunteer.

"The Sidney Volunteers." Responded to by Captain Vandervoort in a worthy manner, stating that encouragement had been given to the 49th when on Battalion drill, and that the Sidney Company deserved the marks of praise, received from the general officers of the day.

A large number of other toasts were given and ably responded to, such as the "Ladies," the "Dominion," the "Land of our Forefathers," the "Land we live in," &c., &c. The last given was our worthy Chairman, which was ably responded to, when the Chairman stated that he had now to name the several successful competitors for the prizes.

For prize No. 1——Charles Lawrence.
" 2——Sergt. A. L. Vandervoort.
" 3——Captain Vandervoort.
" 4——G. M. Ketcheson.
" 5——Charles Lawder.
" 6——Sergeant Graham.
" 7——William Moon.
" 8——Corporal Moon.
" 9——John Whitten.
" 10——Charles Zwick.

After which thanks were given to Mr. Moon for the able manner in which he had served the dinner. Jests and pleasantry began to disperse Col. Brown and Capt. Humbly arrived, but too late to join the volunteers and guests. It was raining torrents, and for nine miles these gentlemen of the volunteer force rode through copious streams of cold water to meet their brethren in arms. They were, however, invited by Capt. Vanevoort and a number of others, to Mrs. Bleecker's temperance house, where oyste a and other refreshments were obtained, were song and speeches k pt them until quite a late hour.

Yours truly,
TAYLOR.

Sidney, Dec. 18th, 1869.

Hints to Writers and Speakers.

William Cullen Bryant gave the following excellent advice to a young man who offered him an article for the Evening Post :

"My young friend, I observed that you have used several French expressions in your article. I think that if you will study the English language, you will find it capable of expressing all the ideas you may have. I have always found it so, and in all I have written I do not recall a single instance where I was tempted to use a foreign word, but that, on searching, I found a better one in my own language. Be simple, unaffected, be honest in your speaking and writing. Never use a long word when a short one will do. Call a spade a spade, not a well known oblong instrument of manual labor; let a home be a home, not a residence; a place a place, not a locality, and so of the rest. Where a short word will do, you lose by using a long one. You lose in clearness, you lose in honest expression of your meaning, and in the estimation of all men who are competent to judge, you lose in reputation for ability.

"The only true way to shine, even in this false world, is to be modest and unassuming. Falsehood may be a very thick crust, but in the course of time will find a place to break through. Elegance of language may not be in the power of all of us, but simplicity and straight forwardness are.

"Write much as you would speak; speak as you think. If with your inferiors, speak no coarser than usual; if with your superior, no finer. Be what you say, and within rules of prudence. No one ever was a gainer by singularity of words or in pronunciation.

"The truly wise man will speak so that no one will observe how he speaks. A man may show great knowledge of chemistry by carrying about bladders of strange gases to breath, but he will enjoy health, and find more time for business, who lives on common air."

Finances of Quebec.

From the financial statement of the Treasurer, Mr. Robertson, we learn that for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1869, the total revenue received was $1,676,152, which with the balance in hand at that time made up an aggregate of $1,895,111. The above income includes the provincial subsidy from the Dominion, amounting to $979,801, and $433,599 obtained from the Crown Lands Department. The disbursements for the year comprised $12a,998, for legislative expenses, 124,338 for civil government, $295 635 for administration of justice, and $244,071 for education; to agricultural socities and establishments, $64 173; colonization roads for previous year, $66 398; public works and buildings $56 638. Beauport Asylum, 97,691; St. Johns $19 504; Crown Lands Department $86,132. The gross expenditure was, therefore, $1,831,911, leaving with the Treasurer a balance for the year of $344, 240, which, added to original balance makes a total reserve of $583 200. This amount has been thus disposed of : special deposit in the Bank of Montreal, $45 000 ordinary, $113,200. But the expenditure of the current year expired has considerably reduced this balance. For the past five months of the fiscal year 1869 70, the receipts from the Dominion were $479,626; Crown Lands, $83,479—something less than anticipated—owing to a cause now non-existent; total from all sources, $643, 830. Net expenditure from 1st July to 30th November $808 448; or, excess over income, of $54,619, which deducted from the balance in the Treasury on 30th June last, leaves $508,580 still on hand. To set against this unpleasant fact of a deficit for this last period, we have the assurance of the Treasurer that the receipts for November have been larger than those of any of the proceeding months, and that December is also likely to do better than the earlier months of the current year. The estimated revenue for the nineteen months, ending 30th June 1871, is $2,106,084; and the expenditure for the same period six months $827,645, and for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1871, $1,891,171. Estimated surplus at this date $261 667, including provision for interest on the provincial debt.

Wasn't up in his Business.

A Frenchman in this city who is extremely anxious to be a first class cock fighter met a loose sort of an Irishman the other day who was very witty, up to all sorts of tricks, cajolery, and humbug, has occasionally been at the Police court though not considered very wicked ; 'Well Larry,' said the Frenchman 'Where did you get that beautiful bird that you are carrying so carefully ?' I've had him feeding in the country all summer.' 'What do you ask for him ?' 'I don't ask anything for him, I want him for my own use,'—'Will buy him of you'—'You won't, d'ye think I'm a fool ? Why man, there isn't such a game cock in the country—pure blood from the ould sod.' The Frenchman represented that he could make a match if he had that bird. 'Oh yes,' said Larry you could win a hundred dollars any day with him ; and if I was so knowledgeable a cockfighter as you I wouldn't sell him for a thousand dollars.' The other, knowing Larry's weakness took him into a tavern not far from the market, and after a quiet glass or two the 'sport' walked away with his bargain and Larry walked away with ten dollars and the hen, for which with the rooster he had half an hour before paid sixty cents ! The present owner of the rooster has never told the story nor would he acknowledge to the ignorance which enabled him to give $10 for a cock that won't fight.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, DEC. 21.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—"Elector" will appear in to-morrow's issue.

TRENTON.—The following gentlemen were nominated at the elections yesterday at Trenton: For Reeve, Jas. Cumming and Geo. H. Gordon, Esqrs. For Councillors, W. H. Austin, Robt. Francis, Terrance McCabe, John Dench, Wm. Ireland, and Alex. Miller, Esqrs.

LITERARY AND SCIENTIFIC LECTURES.—Our readers will see by advertisement that Prof. Bell's lecture on Water, will be given to-morrow evening in the Ontario Hall. We advise all who are interested in the prosperity of Belleville, and especially our Town fathers, to attend, as matters will be discussed which have an important bearing on our welfare.

ELZIVER.—A meeting of the Electors of the Township of Elziver was held in the Town Hall, Bridgewater, on the 20th inst., for the nomination of Reeve and Councillors for the ensuing year. The Hon. Billa Flint was chosen Reeve by acclamation, and Messrs. R. Barry, J. W. Turner, J. G. Rhodes, P. McIlroy, Thos. Wiggins, and Wellington Harrison, were nominated for the office of Councillors.

RELIEF COMMITTEE.—The Christmas Relief Committee of the St. George's Society, held a meeting last night at Hambly's when Messrs. W. J. Hayward, for Coleman Ward and all the west side of the river, J. Reeve for the south of the town, from Bridge Street; and Fred. Ford, gunsmith, for the north, extending from Bridge Street to the Station, were the sub-committee appointed to receive all applications for relief.

CONCERT AND BALL.—St. George's Society have determined to have a grand Concert and Ball in Ontario Hall on the 29th inst, and from the arrangements that are being made there is no doubt that it will be one of the grandest affairs of the kind that ever came off in town. In addition to the best amateur musical talent in the town—and Belleville can furnish as good as can be found in the Province—the Band of the Royal Canadian Rifles has been engaged for the occasion. The arrangements are in the hands of an efficient Committee and we have no doubt the entertainment will be in every respect satisfactory.

JUDGMENTS DELIVERED.—In the proceedings of the Common Pleas reported in the Toronto papers, we find that the Judges have refused a new trial in the case of BONTER vs NORTHCOTT. The question in this case was whether a deed containing a release of dower signed and sealed by the wife, her husband being a party to the deed, bars her dower when she is not warned as a party in the recital at the beginning of the deed. The Judges refused a new trial considering the objection a mere technicality. This decision will, we suppose decide the other cases brought to recover dower upon what is known as the Herchimer lots.

THURLOW ELECTION.—At the nomination in Thurlow the following gentlemen were put in nomination; for Reeve: J. J. Farley, P. R. Daly, and Philip Clapp. Messrs. Daly and Clapp retired, leaving the field clear for Mr. Farly. For Deputy Reeve: John Diamond, P. R. Daly, Philip Clapp, William Sunson, William McDavitt Thos. Ware, and George Orr; Messrs. Clapp, Orr, and Ware retired; and Messrs. Sunson, and McDavitt were not present when nominated. For Councillors: W. H. Silk, Hugh Campbell, Owen M. Weese, Allen Ross, Jonas Canniff and Nelson Lingham, Mr. Canniff retired.

RAILWAY TRAFFICS.—In the railway traffic returns for November the receipts of the Great Western are shown at $238,405 against $295,895 in the same month last year; Grand Trunk, $657,035 against $614,456; the Northern, $41,201 against $27,871; the St. Lawrence & Ottawa, $10,866 against $8,653; the Brockville and Ottawa, $15,168 against $17,871; the London and Port Stanley, 3,648 against $3,422; the Welland Railway $9,914 against $9,527; the St. Lawrence and Industry, $9,994 against $1,270; the New Brunswick and Canada Railway, $17,254 against $9,368; the European and North American $18,515 against $17,254.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANK.—The following is the statement of the Post Office Saving Bank account for November:—In hands of the Receiver General as the last statement 31st October 1869, $190,782.32. Received from depositors during November, $102,118.00. Interest allowed on accounts closed during November, $250.87. Total, $193,368.87. Withdrawn and cheques paid during November, $51,499.65. Total, $50,869.22. In hands of Receiver-General 30th November 1869, $1,091,651.45. Bearing interest at 4 per cent. $937,526.70; at 5 per cent. $459,000; bearing no interest, being the amount in the hands of the Receiver General to meet outstanding cheques, $619,470, total $1 691 651.45.

The Holidays.

The year of grace 1869 is rapidly approaching its end, and we are reminded of the near approach of the festive season of Christmas, by the preparations for its reception that are being made around us. "Christmas," that joyous and most universally observed day of festivity, the anniversary of that great event, the greatest that ever occurred in the history of the world, the birth of Him who died that we might live. "Christmas is coming," the little ones say with their merry voices, as the snow flakes fly covering the earth with a sheet of dazzling whiteness, and glad are their little hearts as they recall the events of last year's festive days to their little minds, and enjoy in prospective the good time they expect to have this year. Tae days that still intervene are counted up on their little fingers, and they think of their stockings to be hung in the chimney corner, and their little brains are actively engaged in surmising the probable results of the visit of Santa Claus, anticipated almost in their eagerness. "Christmas is coming," the boys will be home from school or college, the absent ones will return, the married ones will be there to spend Christmas with father and mother as of old, and all will be happy. Not all, though. Some loved one perhaps has gone, and the vacant chair brings up sorrowful memories of him or her who was wont to occupy it. Memories which even the joyousness of the season cannot efface.

The inspiring influences of this season of "good will to men" will be felt by the majority of people, and the Divine maxim, that it is "more blessed to give than to receive," will no doubt be practically illustrated to a considerable extent. There are those among us whose hearts have become so callioused that nothing can open them, and with whom the remembrances of the compliments of the season has long since died out, but thank God the Scrooges in Belleville are few. Many again whose spirits are willing but their pockets weak, who would fain give, but the responsibilities of life are too heavy to admit of any extra expenditure beyond what necessity demands.

The little ones all look for their Christmas presents, and they generally succeed in coaxing Papa and Mamma into making an effort at least, to satisfy their desires, which, in the majority of cases, is no small matter. The argument of "Christmas coming but once a year," being brought to bear generally has the desired effect, and they rejoice accordingly.

That the usual preparations for the due observing of the day this year have been and are being made, our advertising columns will go far to prove, and in the present article we follow the course taken last year by us, in taking a glance at the respective stores of our principal Merchants who advertise, assuring our readers that many requirements of the "season" will be found in the list. As we walk along Front Street and view the tempting displays set forth in the attractive windows we cannot but come to the conclusion that the best efforts of the proprietors are being put forth, and surely cannot fail to produce the desired effect, and our advertising columns shew that they are fully alive to the requirements of business success.

THE DRY GOODS STORES

Will no doubt be a great attraction during the past week, especially with the ladies, and it is not too much to say that in respect to variety and quality of goods, capacity and beauty of the stores, Belleville is equal to any town or city in the Province. The magnificent displays in the windows of all the various concomitants of female loveliness, was never excelled, and a glance in doors satisfies one that the attractions are not confined to the windows. The stores of Messrs. Geo. Ritchie & Co., J. & W. Sutherland, G. C. Holton & Co., Nathan Jones, P. D. Conger, W. H. & L. B. Graham, Geo. Vair, W. W. Dunes, Robertson & Henry, J. Ivers, and others whose reputation as men who understand all the requirements in their line, and whose goods may be relied upon, are deserving of special notice.

The "present giving" portion of the community are sure to visit the

BOOK STORES,

Which are this year more than usually attractive. Messrs. Harrison, Overell and Van Norman are doing their best to cater to the intellectually inclined, and a glance at their shelves and windows would surely imply success. Books of every description to suit every capacity may be found there. At the same stores, may be found a large variety of

FANCY GOODS,

Which includes an almost endless assortment of ornamental and useful articles, and which receive at this particular season, a vast amount of attention, and the present week will not, we think, be any exception.

A good deal of consideration is shown to the Grocers, or rather to the GROCERIES.

Christmas would not be Christmas to the minds of many of us if it were not for the delectable plum-pudding, that sine qua non to our Christmas dinner, and the mince pies, cakes, &c., which the skillful house wife knows so well how to produce from the raisins, currants, spices, &c., &c., to be found at the grocers; and it is but necessary to mention the well-known names of Messrs. James Brown, W. Ballen, W. H. Scholes, Conger Bros., A. Shearing, E. Coburn, N. W. Phillips, J. Palmer, &c., where their wants in that line can fully be supplied, and with satisfaction.

OYSTERS AND CONFECTIONARY.

Oysters? "Ah! that's just what we want for that boiled turkey," we fancy we hear one of our readers say, "where are they to be had?" The housewife reads on and it is soon discovered that the luscious bivalves may be had in their perfection "fresh from the sea" at Hambly's, Wilson's, Phillips' or Dickens' and also at Legate and Abbotts. Confectionary also; what would Christmas be without that? Why the young ones would go wild. No 'peace' for the household that day, without candies for the little ones. Should you be inclined to forget about it, no doubt the juveniles will assist your memory ere Christmas arrives.

While it is necessary to supply the wants of the inner man, the "outer" should by no means be neglected, and to commence with the chief end viz the head, we will drop into the

which at once suggest the familiar names of Haymes, Johnston, and Meadell, and if either of those cannot suit you, then are you indeed hard to please. Everything in the shape of hats, caps, and warm comfortable furs may here be found to meet the ideas of every one, whether in regard to price or quality. From head to foot? Very well; here are any number of at R. M. Clarke & Sons, who, although not very long in the trade, are rapidly working their way into the favor of the public by their courteous manner and attention. Mr. J. McKeown has a reputation for manufacturing that cannot be surpassed, to which we can personally testify. And amongst others who keep a large stock to select from are Messrs J. W. Brown and George Gibson.

BOOTS AND SHOES

County Court and Quarter Sessions.

FIFTH DAY.

SATURDAY, Dec. 18.

CLARK vs SMALL & HALL.—Plaintiff claims to recover from Defendants $200, the amount of rent on Defendants Goods stored in a warehouse in Montreal, which rent Plaintiff was obliged to pay to relieve the Goods seized for rent by the landlord. Small allowed judgment to go by default. Hall defends and pleads never indebted and payment. The evidence of witnesses residing at Montreal was taken by Commission issued herein, and was read over to the Jury. Mr. Jellett, Counsel for Hall, moved for non-suit and raised legal objections to the right of Plaintiff to recover, and claims that Hall being a special partner in the firm of E. Small & Co., was not liable for this claim, and that the Plaintiff compromised the debt against the firm when Plaintiff paid the rent in dispute, and consequently lost his remedy against Defendants, but after argument Mr. Jellett abandoned the limited partnership. The case then went to the Jury and the Jury returned a verdict for Plaintiff for $200. MacLellan & MacLellan, Attorney, and Hon. L. Wallbridge, Q. C., Council for Plff; R. McDee, Attorney, and R. P. Jellett, Council for Deft. Hall.

QUEEN vs. CHARLES MOLLINS.—Defendant was indicted for an assault on Patrick Lawlor in Belleville, on the 18th September last. Lawlor had been arrested by the Police and was on his way to the lock up. The Defendant assaulted him by striking him with a stick. Verdict guilty; fined $10 and costs. C. S. Coleman for Plff; Jellett and Gilbert for Deft.

The following is the presentment of the Grand Jury:—

PRESENTMENT.

The Grand Jury of our Lady the Queen, in accordance with His Honour's instructions, beg leave to report:

That we are more than pleased at the significant sign of a pair of white gloves presented by the Sheriff to His Honor, assuring us thereby, that there were no prisoners in jail for trial—at the same time we cannot but express our deep regret that the time of this Court should be so long occupied with outside cases of assault, which we think should be disposed of when opportunity offers in a more summary way before Police or other Magistrates.

That we have carefully examined all cases laid before us.

That having examined the jail and questioned the prisoners we find no cause of complaint, everything being kept clean and orderly.

We beg to call the attention of the Warden and the County Council to the absolute necessity for a water closet, at the rear of the jail, for the accommodation of jurors and others, and would also suggest that matting should be laid on the floor of the Court room, so as to prevent so much noise in moving about.

We also express our thanks to His Honor, and the County Attorney for Counsel and assistance; all of which is respectfully submitted for self and fellows.

FRANCIS BRENTON,
Foreman.

IMPORTANT NEWS.

OUTPOST SEIZED.

COL. DENNIS IN FLIGHT.

600 INSURGENTS IN FORT GARRY.

"NOBODY HURT."

Association Press Despatch.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 20.—News is just received that a company of mounted insurgents arrived at the Hudson Bay Company's fort near Pembina on the night of the 9th, instant, and took possession on the 10th. The greater part of McDougall's agents and emissaries, including Schultz, Bowen and Hollet, have been captured. Col. Dennis is skulking about until he can reach American territory. McDougall is absolutely without even, a faction, save some fifty Swampy Indians, the balance having deserted. A private correspondent says:—The efforts of Col. Dennis to organize a counter revolution have failed The whole population is a unit. Schultz, Bowan, Major Wallace and fifty others are prisoners. No bloodshed. The French, under Reill, are in indisputed possession of the whole country. There are sixty Swampy Indians in the lower fort, who are not interfered with because they are considered harmless. It is said that McDougall is preparing to come back. Another says McKay and family fled to St. Joseph on the 7th instant. When the prisoners were taken more than six hundred insurgents were occupying Fort Garry. The prisoners were all taken at Dr. Schultz' and armed for a fight. Col. Dennis has fled.

Note by the St. Paul Telegraph Operator.

[The foregoing news has just reached here. It comes from insurgent sources and must be received as such.]

For the Intelligencer.

The Gas Company and Mr. Conger's Statement.

DEAR SIR.—My attention has been called to your report of Mr. Conger's speech in the Town Hall to-day, and although I was not present I presume it to be correct, and as Mr. Conger, as Mayor was a Director "ex officio," his statements might possibly be accepted as the true facts of the position of the Gas Company.

He states that the stock books have been lost, that if a dividend was declared it would not be known to whom they should be paid, that everything was in a state of confusion, finally advising the Council to foreclose their mortgage of $8,000, in order to save themselves further loss.

Will you permit me to state that these statements are incorrect in every particular.

The original stock book was borrowed by the late President C. Bleecker, but a new stock book was compiled, and is open to the public for inspection, at my office; the accounts are properly kept by double entry, with balance sheets at the end of each year regularly made, showing the profit, and there is no confusion in its affairs; the interest to the Town on the mortgage of $8,000 is paid quarterly, and as the consumption of Gas has increased, there is little doubt that in two or three years, the loan last made to the Company, of $2,000 from the Town, and the $2,500 from the Directors will be returned them, and then the only liability of the Company will be the $8,000 mortgage. The Town cannot lose by this as a first mortgage, and when the loans of $2,000 and $2,500 are paid, there will be no other liability, and there is not the slightest reason that the Corporation should demand the other stock holders of the money invested by them in the Company, in good faith, which would be the result, if Mr. Conger's views were accepted. The liabilities of the Company have been reduced $10,000 within the last ten years.

Perhaps as many of your readers may not know the position of the Corporation in its relations with the Gas Company, I will in as few words as possible, give it.

When subscriptions were taken for the erection of works the Corporation took $12,000 stock and the people took private stock to the extent of $18,000, but as the capital was insufficient the Corporation loaned the Company $8,000, taking a first mortgage on the works, borrowing $20,000 from the Consolidated Municipal Loan Fund for twenty years. In 1874 the Town will have their Stock in the Company and the loan of $80,000 paid up by a Sinking Fund, at which period there is every hope that the Company will be out of debt and paying dividends.

Perhaps Mr. Conger will state why he makes these ill-natured remarks at the present time and not previously, and his motives for so doing.

Your obedient servant,

JAS. GLASS,
Secy. B. G. C.

FRANCE AND THE UNITED STATES.

PARIS, Dec. 20.—Major-General Banks, of the United States, had a prolonged audience with the Emperor Napoleon at the Tuileries to-day. During the conversation, after the Gen. made his obedience, his Majesty expressed to him his very earnest wish that the Government of the Empire could arrive at no satisfactory understanding with the Government of the United States with reference to the international adjustment of Postal affairs between the two countries, and other points of matter and things of equal importance to each. In conclusion the Emperor expressed his regret that to this moment his Colored ministers had not fulfilled his own personal and executive desires on all these subjects, and in such respects General Banks leaves Paris to-night on his return to the United States.

American Despatches.

WHAT THURLOW WEED SAYS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Thurlow Weed to-day publishes a letter in the 'Commercial' in vindication of the course of the late Mr. Peabody during the rebellion. The writer speaks of an interview with Peabody at London during the first year of the war. Peabody admitted that he had heretofore regarded the ultras of the North and South as equally mischievous, but he added that his devotion to our Government and Union was so strong that painful as was the thought of a war between our American brethren, if he were at home he should stand by the Government, and that whatever he could do then and there for the union cause he would do cheerfully. The letter further says that "when attempts were made by Confederate sympathizers in Parliament to induce the recognition of the rebel government and to destroy our blockade, Peabody manifested his devotion to the North by zealous efforts in our favor. He authorized, I have no doubt he did, my colleague, Bishop McIlvain, to call on him whenever I thought he could be of service in our cause to attend. There were many English capitalists who applied to Peabody for information relating to Confederate loans. He pronounced them worthless, and I hazard nothing in saying that he never, directly or indirectly, gave aid or comfort, encouragement or countenance, to rebel representatives or to individuals."

U. S. TROOPS TO BE SENT TO PEMBINA.

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—A special despatch from St. Paul says that the Governor of Minnesota has interviewed Gen. Hancock upon the propriety of sending some U. S. troops to Pembina to quiet the frontier settlements in the event of an Indian outbreak as a result of the Red River difficulties. The troops will not be sent until there is an actual collision or a greater certainty that bloodshed will arise than has yet been reported.

To the Municipal Electors of the Town of Belleville.

GENTLEMEN:—I beg to offer myself as a Candidate for the Mayoralty for the ensuing year. Having faithfully served the Town in the capacity of Councillor for the past six years, and my term of office expiring with the present year, I feel that I can consistently ask your support for the position of MAYOR.

Should you do me the honor to elect me, I trust that the large property interest which I have in the Town of Belleville—my long residence and past experience, will be a sufficient guarantee that I will discharge the duties with fidelity, impartiality—and I trust with credit to our flourishing and prosperous Town.

I have the honor, to be,

NEURALGIA may be distinguished from rheumatism by the intensity of the pain, its short continuance, and its liability to return on the slightest touch; in acute rheumatism there is fever, redness, heat in the part affected, and some swelling, all of which are absent in Neuralgia; in chronic rheumatism the pain is continuous, less severe, and often worse at night. From toothache, by the shortness of the paroxysm, the rapidity of its succession, and the frequent convulsive twitchings. To obtain immediate relief, use Dr. J. ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, whose name has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

Messrs. J. N. HARRIS & Co.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of diseases about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is perhaps too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health, but before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

NOT THE WIFE'S FAULT.—An unsuspecting and candid son of Erin, who had just arrived in New York went to see his sister who was married to a Yankee. The couple lived very happily in that city, and when Pat came the gentleman took him over his place to show it to him. Pat, at the evi dence of prosperity, said to his brother in-law :

"Begorry, you are very happy with this fine property to live on; me sister had good luck entirely, so she had, in gettin' you for a husband.'

'Ah, yes,' responded the married man, 'we would be very happy but for one thing !'

'And what's that I' asked Pat.

'Ah, Pat,' returned the gentleman, 'I'm sorry to say that we have no children.'

'No children!' exclaimed Pat; 'then begorra, it's not me sister Maggie's fault, for she had two before she left Ireland, and that's the rayson me father sent her to America.'

ANOTHER COAL MINE ACCIDENT.—A telegram from Hazleton, Pa., says:—"Another mining accident occurred at 5 o'clock this morning at Stockton, near this place. A coal mine caved in, filling the shaft and tunnel with enormous masses of earth, carrying two large houses down with it, and choking the entrance to the mine. There were several persons in the dwelling houses at the time of the accident, and these were carried down in a falling mass, and buried hopelessly in the ruins. Of course they were instantly killed, although, as yet, it has been entirely impossible to reach their bodies. Some men were in the mine, it is reported, at the time of the terrible disaster, and they are supposed to have been killed instantly. Ten persons in all lost their lives, and efforts are now being made to extricate their bodies. The houses fell a distance of forty feet, and were broken to fragments.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was one any before so universally adopted into use, in every countryand among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a sure, reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, ken" that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always —that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compounding. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. They purge out the foul humors of the system, create healthy appetite, and restore the digestive organs to their natural vigor, when they are clearly sick, or only ailing, they will make them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate into healthy action —remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, where they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint in its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continued, taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one of Ayer's Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

As an Alterative dose, stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system, thereby purifying the contagious when no serious derangement exists. Sold by all druggists everywhere.

These Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their sugar coating, using exact rules in the figure give appearance.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF
Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine of "ever from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice principles of the vegetable kingdom. Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding, extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heart, Flat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care in the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co—so that no spurious substitutes or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and chemical analysis of Sarsaparillian to allow that the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine has a remedy been found so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound strong, healthy new blood, nerve and muscle, in the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the blood by the body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING PRINCIPLES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making principles.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Skin, as Scrofula, Tumors and Skin and body.
It increases the appetite and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the waste.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the weak strong and pure freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood every one who, from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted
It secures women from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their system has any life or action to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS and other organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining life, that cannot receive the benefit of but can be either restored, to health, or the waste and decomposition stopped, and the elements of life and health are not be dismissed from the system.

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, tissues, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the power of nature to restore them to health, the uses of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perfect for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the waste and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold its healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stages can both be checked and cured by the uses of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Womb, or Urinary Difficulty, with experience a decided change in the health for the better after using the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, the kidneys, urinal, and bladder, are healed to full healthy conditions, the deposits of Tuberculous matter from other elements of disease, and the general health will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Liver and other Organs, and sound and healthy blood and their proper constituent secretions. Instead of weak Bile, the powerful Pancreatic Juice and other digestives in the circulation, these secretions being directed for expulsion from the system and restored to the system, to correct those conditions in us that such organ or secreting gland is disabled, and proper functions, health can never be restored. And for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important result, has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones, disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other parts of the body, the living body with repairs, will so change the system with such conditions as to expel or exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply to your system sound and living tissue, assimilated by rich, pure, and strong blood, and the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach, and its process of digestion with Organs and Glands, so it is made blood, as well as the nourishing elements it converts into blood, and the healthy action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every particle of foul matter, and drives it entirely away all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, or scrofula disease, as Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, &c., the effects of Chloride of Mercury, Chlorine, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues, cartilages, or joints or parts of the human family complaint that may have run through many generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Diseases, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the System, Boils, Carbuncles, Sinuous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt-Rheum, Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all internal Ulcerations, Fever Sores, Scaly Eruptions, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Procreative System, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days use will prove to any person using it for either of the above forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Desault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his leg the other on the side that resisted all kinds of medicines and the skill of the most celebrated surgeons in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief, and used only three bottles of the Resolvent and two Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water, which completely healed up both sores in a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars and suffered for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Farms and Mills, was one of the first and leaders of your medicines. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one solid scab from the crown of his head body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the worst case of scrofulous disease object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month's use of Radway's Canada Remedies, father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. A copy of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Scrofula of the Neck, Tumors, Scaly Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Dr. RADWAY :—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking one bottle I was relieved of my sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness have left me, and former Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FREEMAN.

VOL. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, WEDNDSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 22, 1869. No. 199.

Joseph Golding's Last Christmas.

(From the December No. of the Argosy.)

It was very strange, thought old Joseph Golding, that he couldn't be master of his own mind. He had lived a great many years, and neither remorse nor memory had ever been as the habit of disturbing him; but now it seemed to him as if the very foundations of life were breaking up. He was well through with his day's work—he had dined comfortably—he sat in an easy chair in a luxurious drawing-room, whose crimson hangings shut out the still cold of the December afternoon—he had nothing to do but enjoy himself. Mr Golding liked to enjoy himself at this season as much as others did, for it was Christmas Eve. Which though he was in the habit of spending it solitarily I—he liked solitude. Perhaps because nothing more lively came in his way, and he was too shy and proud to look out for it.

For many a year on Christmas Eve he had sat balancing in his mind the great accounts presented in his ledgers, the accommodating coffers at his bankers, the strokes of business he would make in future. Not so now. The year was drawing to a close; some intruding voice kept whispering that is like manner so was his career. He could not put it from him, try as he would. The voice reminded him of a coming time when his life's work would be all done—even as his day's work was all done now—when he would be ready to sit down in the evening and look over the balance sheet of his deeds, good and evil. Curiously the old days came trooping in slow procession before him. And he had been able to forget them for so very long!

His dead wife. He had not loved her much when she was with him, but how vivid was his memory of her now! He could see her moving round the house, noiseless as a shadow, never intruding on him after he had once or twice repulsed her gruffly, but going on her own meek, still ways, with her face growing whiter every day. He began to understand, as he looked back, why her strength had failed; and she had been ready, when her baby came, to float out on the tide and let it drift her into God's haven. She had had enough to eat and to drink, but he saw now that he had left her heart to starve. Heavens! what a hard man he had been! He seemed to see her white, still face, as he looked at it the last time before they screwed down the coffin lid, with the dumb reproach frozen on it; the eyes that would never plead vainly any more, closed forever.

He recalled how passionately the three-days old baby had cried in another room just at that moment, moving all the people gathered together for the funeral with a thrill of pity for the little motherless mite's morsel. She was a passionate, wilful baby, all through her babyhood; he remembered that. She wanted—missed without knowing what the lack was—the love and sustenance which her mother would have given her, and protested against fate with all the might of her infant lungs. But as soon as she grew old enough to understand how useless it was, she had grown quiet, too; just like her mother. He recalled her, all through her childhood, a shy, still girl, always obedient and submissive, but never drawing very near him. Why? Because he would have repulsed her as he repulsed her mother. He could see it now. It was very strange these facts should come back to him to day, and their naked truth with them. He had been a cold, hard, ungentle man, without sympathy for any one but himself; absorbed utterly in the pursuit of money making. And so the child, Amy, had grown up in the shadow without him.

But suddenly, when she was eighteen, the old passionate spirit that had made her cry so when a baby must have awakened again, he thought; for she fell in love then, and wished to marry. To marry in defiance of his wishes. He remembered her standing proudly before him after one of their quarrels, where he had been harsh and bitter, and abusive of the man she wanted to call husband. She had borne in silence reproach of herself; but not of him who had become to her as her best existence. Her words came back to the old man now.

"Father, do you know anything against Harry Church?"

"Yes," he had answered, wrathfully; "I know that he is as poor as Job was when he sat among the ashes. He cannot keep a wife as a daughter of mine must be kept."

'Anything else, father?' looking him steadily in the eye.

'No, that's enough,' he had thundered. 'I'll help you, besides, that if you marry him you must die in the bed you make. My doors will never open to you again—never.'

He met with a will as strong as his own, that time. She did marry him, and went away with him from her father's house. Mr. Golding had known the day the wedding was to take place, and disdained to scoff it. He washed his hands of Harry Church and of Amy, his wife. She wrote home afterwards over and over again, but Mr. Golding sent all the letters back unopened. Subsequent to that, they disappeared from the town; and he had never heard what became of them. It was at least ten years ago now.

It seemed very strange that these things should have come back to night to haunt him—and with a wild remorse, a pitying regret. He had done nothing to recall them. Could it be his sense of failing health that brought them?—if so, what sort of anguish might he not look for as he drew nearer and nearer to the ending? He began to wish he knew what had been in those rejected letters whether Amy could be suffering for anything money could supply. The next thought that struck him was, why he had opposed the marriage so violently. It is true Harry Church had been but a clerk in his own employ; but he was a well educated gentleman, and would rise with time. Faithful, intelligent, persevering, respected—but poor. In that last word lay the head and front of Harry Church's offending. He, Joseph Golding, was rich then; he was far richer now; but, he could not help asking it, what special good were his riches bringing him? He was an old man, the span of life running quickly on, and he was all alone. Who would take his gold then? He could not carry it along with him. All in a moment—he saw it clearly—the dreadful truth stood naked and bare; his life and its object had been mistaken ones.

'All alone! all alone!' he kept saying to himself, in a sort of vague self-pity.—'I've toiled and worked for nought!'

But during this time, even now, as he sat there, a message of love was on its way to him. Perhaps heaven had but been preparing his heart to receive it!

He heard a ring at the door-bell—heard it without paying attention to it. Rings were nothing to him; people did not come on business to his residence, and of visitors he expected none. Down went his head lower and lower with the weight of thought.

Meanwhile two people were admitted into the hall below—a man and a little girl. The man had the appearance of a staid, respectable servant. He took off the child's warm cloak and hood, and she stood revealed—a dainty, delicate creature of some eight years old; her golden curls drooping softly round her face, with its large blue eyes and cherry lips. He admitting maid, not knowing what to make of this, called Mr. Golding's housekeeper, old Mrs. Osgood. The latter went into a tremor as she came forward and looked at the face.

'It's Miss Amy's child!' she exclaimed to the man, nervously. 'I couldn't mistake the likeness.'

'Mss Amy's that was,' he answered.—'Mrs. Harry Church she has been this many a year.'

'I know. It is as much as my place is worth to admit any child of her's here.'

'You are Mrs. Osgood,' exclaimed the little girl. 'Mamma said I should be sure to see you.'

'Hear the blessed lamb! And so she remembers me.'

'She talks of you often; she says you were always kind to her; nobody but you loved her.'

'Well I did love her. The old house has never been the same since she went out of it. What's your name, my pretty one?'

'Amy.'

'Amy!' repeated the housekeeper, lifting her hands, as if there were some wonder in it.

'And mamma said you would let me go up alone to grandpapa.'

'And you shall,' decided Mrs. Osgood, after a minute's hesitation. 'I won't stand in the way of it, let master be as angry with me as he will. He is up in the drawing room, all by himself.'

The man sat down to wait. And the child went up alone.

Opening the door, she went softly in, not speaking; perhaps the stern looking old man, sitting there with bent head, awed her to silence. Joseph Golding waking up from his deep reverie, saw a letter held out to him. He took it mechanically, supposing its messenger, hidden behind his large chair, was one of his waiting maids. With a singular quickening of pulse, he recognized his daughter's writing.

She had waited all these silent years, she told him, because she was determined never to write to him again until they were rich enough for him to know that she did not write from any need of his help. They had passed all that for many years in the West, and Heaven had prospered them. Her husband was a rich man now, and she wanted from her father only his love—wanted only, that death should not come between them, and either of them go to her mother's side without having been reconciled to the other.

'How did this come here?—who brought it?' demanded Mr. Golding, in his usual imperious manner.

'I did, grandpapa.'

He sprang up at the soft, timid voice, as if some fright took him, and stared at the lovely vision, standing there like a spirit on his hearthstone, with her white face and her gleaming golden hair. Was it real? Where was he? Who could this child be? But, as he looked, the likeness flashed upon him—and he grew hungry to clasp her to him. It was the little Amy of the old days grown into beauty—for Amy had never been so wondrously fair as this.

'Come here, my child; don't be afraid. Tell me what your name is.'

'Amy, grandpapa.'

Another Amy! Grandpapa! He felt the sobs rising up in his heart with a great flood of emotion; but he choked them back.

'What have they told you about me?' he rejoined, after a long pause. 'Have they bid you hate me?'

'They always told me that you were far away toward where the sun rose; and if I were good they would bring me to see you some day. Every night I say in my prayers, "God bless papa and mamma, and God bless grandpapa."'

'Why didn't they bring you? What made them let you come alone?'

'Mamma sent me with John to give you the letter.' was the simple answer. 'The carriage is at the gate, waiting for me?'

'Who is John?'

'Papa's servant.'

'And—where are they staying?'

'At the hotel. We only got here this morning.'

Mrs. Osgood, hovering in the hall, looked on in wonder. Her master was coming down stairs, calling for his hat and coat, and leading the child. He got into the carriage with her and it drove away. Mr. Golding was wondering vaguely whether it were real.

They arrived at last, and the child led him in, opening a door at the end of a long corridor. She spoke cheerfully.

'Mamma, here's grandpapa. He said he would come back with me.'

Mr. Golding's head went off in a swim. Advancing weakness tells upon people in such moments as these. He sat down; and there were Amy's arms—his own Amy's—about his neck. Which of the two sobbed the most, could not be told. Why had he never known what he had lost through all those vanished years?

'Father, are we reconciled at last?'

'I don't know, my daughter, until you tell me whether you forgive me.'

'There should be no talk about forgiveness,' she said. 'You went according to your own opinion of what was right. And perhaps I was to blame, too. Father, it is enough that God has brought us together again in peace. I thought that no one could resist my little Amy, least of all, her grandpapa.'

He looked up. The child stood by silently; the firelight glittering on her golden hair, her face shining strangely sweet. He put out his arms and drew her into them, close—where no child not even his own had ever nestled before. Oh how much he had missed in life!—he knew it now. He felt her clinging hold round his neck—her kisses dropped upon his face like the pitying dew from heaven; and he, was it himself, or another soul in his place?

'Father, see.'

Amy's voice had a full, cheerful ring in it. Her married life had been happy. Mr. Golding turned at the call.

'Here are Harry and the boys waiting to speak to you,' she said in a less assured tone.

He shook his son-in-law's hand heartily. Old feuds, old things, were over now, and all was became new. In his heart, until that trouble came, he had always liked Harry Church. Then he looked at the two boys, brave, merry little fellows, of whom he might be proud.

Explanations ensued. Fortune had favoured Mr. Church; they had come back for good, and were already looking out for a house.

'No house but mine,' interrupted Joseph Golding. 'It will want a tenant when I am gone. You must come home to-morrow.'

'To-morrow will be Christmas day,' said his daughter, half doubtingly.

'All the better. If Christmas was never kept in my house, it shall be now. I shall not live to see another, Amy.'

She looked up at the changed, thin face, and could not contradict him. Some one going out to the West Indies, had told them how Joseph Golding was breaking: the news had caused them to hurry home prematurely. Amy said to her husband that if her father died, unreconciled to her, she should be full of remorse forever.

'You will come home to-morrow, all of you,' repeated Mr. Golding. 'And mind, Amy, you do not go away again.'

'But—if the children should be too much for you, father?'

'When they are, I'll tell you,' he said, with a touch of the former gruffness. 'The old house is large enough, and a Miss Petit, were coming to Belleville in a double carriage, the horses took fright from a train of cars and ran away. The young man was thrown out without sustaining any injury; the mother jumped out, escaping with a slight injury; the daughter next threw herself out, receiving a severe cut on her head and being badly bruised elsewhere. Miss Pettit threw the forward seat out of the wagon and succeeded in getting hold of the reins and keeping the horses in the road a distance of two miles, until they reached the Town, when by the assistance of some gentlemen they were stopped without further injury. Miss Pettit deserves great credit for the coolness and presence of mind exercised under the circumstances. Miss Garrett, who is under Dr. Hope's care, is in a fair way of recovery.

He went out; and found his way to the shops—open to the last on Christmas Eve in the old town—looking for Christmas gifts. New work for him—but he entered into it earnestly. Perambulating the streets like a bewildered Santa Claus; he went home laden with books and toys and jewels, and bonbons. Mrs. Osgood lifted her hands and thought the end of the world must be coming.

'Help me to put these things away, Osgood. Don't stare as if you were moonstruck. And, look here—there'll be company to dinner to-morrow. Mind you send in a good one.'

'The best that ever was seen on a table, master—if it's for them I think it may be for.'

'Well, it is. Miss Amy's coming home again.'

'Heaven be praised, sir!' The house has been but a dull one since she left it.'

'They are all coming. And they will not go away again, Osgood. If you want more servants, you can get them.'

'It's the best Christmas box you could have given me, master.'

And they came. Amy and Amy's husband and the pretty boys were there; and, best of all, the sweet little girl with the golden hair, sitting next to grandpapa. It was too happy a party for loud mirth. And among them Joseph Golding saw, or fancied he saw, another face, over which almost thirty years ago, he had watched the grave sod piled—a face sad and wistful no longer, but bright with a strange peace. Close over beyond him she seemed to stand; and he heard, or fancied that he heard, a whisper from her parted lips, though it might have come only from his own heart. "Peace on earth and goodwill toward men."

One day recently a young miss was standing on the railroad track at the depot, while the passenger train was backing up. As she was looking in an opposite direction she did not notice it. A gentleman on the platform noticed her danger, and cried out: 'Miss, you are in danger of being run over. Jump!' The effect was electrical. With a bound she cleared the track and put all danger behind. Recovering from her fright and imagining that she had not made a judicious jump, she turned to the gentleman who had warned her of her danger, and said, 'If it was none of your business, say so.'—Wooster Republican.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 22.

ADJOURNMENT.—The Ontario Legislature is to be prorogued at 3 p.m. on Friday.

READINGS.—The attention of our towns people is directed to the announcement of Readings in Ontario Hall to-morrow evening, by Mr. Clarence Gasper, pupil of the celebrated Voorhees, and Mr. Olonzo Jackson. The entertainment will commence at 7:30 p. m.

RED RIVER AFFAIRS.—A telegram was received at Ottawa from Gov. McDougall, on the 21st, which contains the purport of a letter of Governor McDougall to St. Paul, saying that affairs remain unchanged, but the number of Indians said to be under Col. Dennis has been exaggerated. His force consists chiefly of Scotch and English and half-breeds.

DOMINION NOTES.—The following is a statement:—Dominion notes in circulation 1st December, 1869: Dominion notes in circulation payable at Montreal, $4,018,336: payable at Toronto, $1,486,664; payable at Halifax, $444,300. Total. $5,949,000. Specie, held at Montreal, $700,000; at Toronto, $600,000; at Halifax, $88,800. Total, $1,388,800. Debentures held by the Receiver General under the Dominion Note Act, $3,000,000.

SUPERSTITION AND BIGOTRY.—A telegram from Montreal says:—A respectable habitant named Pierre Oroier, who died on Monday last at the village of St. Martins, has been refused burial by the parish priest for the astounding reason that the deceased was taken possession of by evil spirits. The Masonic brotherhood quietly took possession of the body and buried it in the Episcopal burying ground. Oroier formerly belonged to that order. It is popularly supposed that his chances of future happiness are fully equal to that of the intellectual parties whose charitable Christianity mildly condemned him to hot quarters.

A RUNAWAY.—On Saturday, the 18th inst., while the wife son and daughter of Mr. Wm. Garrett, of Murray, and a Miss Petitt, were

A dispatch was received in this city on Friday last, to intercept and destroy the Spanish Flotilla at sea, is a failure. The filibusters have returned.

This was also lost by a vote of 23 to 53.—The remainder of the items were passed, and a Bill founded on the report introduced.

The Bill to amend the Assessment Law passed in Committee, and was ordered to a second reading to-day.

The Holidays.

WATCHES, JEWELRY, &c.

are subject to an unusual demand during the Holidays, which is not at all to be surprised at. The stores of Messrs. A. & J. McFee, and Mr. Rosenberg are replete with most elegant articles of silverware, rare novelties in gold, and other material.—Watches and clocks of all kinds, from the high priced chronometer watch down to the good old eight day clock; a great many articles of value suitable for the season, &c. Messrs. W. Northgraves and J. Taylor are also dealers, and men of practical knowledge in this line. The last named makes engraving a speciality. At the

HARDWARE STORES

of Mr. James Glass and Mr. Gillens', may be found a very fine assortment of cutlery, electro plated knives, forks, spoons, &c. All the latest improvements in skates, and a great many articles suitable for Holiday gifts. Or do we require anything in the shape of CHINA, GLASSWARE, &c.

What better place to supply our wants than the Belleville Crockery Store, a name which has become as familiar as household words to many of us. Mr. Rous has a choice and very complete assortment, as well as a large variety of Fancy Goods, suitable for Christmas presents. In fact everything that comes under this heading may be found. The

FURNITURE STORES,

must by no means be omitted. Many a welcome present has been made in the shape of an addition to the Household Furniture. Messrs. L. Roenigk and G. S. Tickell are men of no small enterprise in this line, and at whose respective stores may be found a very large variety. The former is an extensive manufacturer, and ships large quantities to Montreal and other cities, a fact which shows that the quality and workmanship is first-class. Mr. Tickell has on view some very handsome sets of Messrs. Jacques & Hay's manufactures, well worth the attention of intending purchasers,

"Throw physic to the dogs,
I'll none of it."

are the words Shakespeare puts into the mouth of Macbeth, from which we would infer that Macbeth's preference was in favor of the words, not the physic, being put there. The same view of the matter is not altogether foreign to a good many other people, Throwing physic to the dogs does not always succeed in effecting a cure. It is not in this connection however that we at this time refer to our

CHEMISTS AND DRUGGISTS.

Although Drugs and Medicines are very essential, yet there are many other things to be found at these stores which would be more appreciated in the majority of cases. Messrs. J. C. Holden & Co., J. H. Hambly and Charters & Webster, keep a splendid assortment of Coal Oil Lamps in endless variety, Perfumery, Toilet Soaps, &c., &c. In fact the category of Christmas Gifts is of such a wide nature that it would be almost useless for us to attempt to complete the list. Nothing is too material or unsuitable. Every possible thing from a penny whistle up, come under the list. Friends of all kinds will no doubt be made, though differing in value and description, according to the condition of those who give and their relations to the recipients. Presents to fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, (in a great many cases somebody else's brother or sister) husbands and wives, uncles and aunts, cousins and nephews, friends and neighbours. Is that all? Are the poor and unfortunate to be forgotten? Were they not included with those who received the Divine Gift, "Peace will to men." Then let us with a generous liberality to the poverty-stricken ones, extend a share of our bounty. "Remember the poor" is preached from our pulpits; let us demonstrate it in a practical way at this joyous season. Our charitable Societies have done and are still doing a noble work. Let each one individually do what lies in their power by relieving the wants of the distressed, and then will those to whom Christmas is not what it is to us, share in our rejoicing, and He who has told us that it is 'more blessed to give than to receive' will indeed bless us. But a few days more and Christmas will be with us. There will be the festive gatherings as usual, the family reunions, the happy meetings, the traditional turkey and plum-pudding, the happy youngsters with their toys and gifts. Divine service will be held in the churches, and will be attended we trust, for our ministers are not inspired with any very high degree of eloquence in speaking to empty pews. On the whole, the day will be spent as merrily as in former years. There are those who are so rusted in misanthropy that no spark of jovial feeling can be aroused; in whose mind no pleasant associations can be awakened. Others again whom Christmas will find with some cherished hope passed away or happy prospect dimmed, as the last remnants of the year are rolling away. To such ones Christmas is not what it once was. Few there are who cannot recall some sorrow or affliction from memory's pages; but do not select the happiest and merriest day in the whole year for such recollections. Dwell not on the past, but let the present blessings which surround us suffice to call forth our meed of praise. Let the honest interchange of good feeling abound, and all jealousies and strifes be forgotten, and then your Christmas will indeed be a merry one, and your New Year a happy one.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer

School Matters.

MY DEAR SIR,—I have read with much pleasure the very excellent editorial in your issue of the 18th inst., relative to the very absurd and improper conduct of Mr. Sisson toward the Local Superintendent, and I am sure the citizens of this Town most heartily and cordially endorse your views. I think it is time that the good, easy going people of Belleville, should awake from the lethargy which seems to enwrap them, and endeavour to appreciate and estimate the very extraordinary exertions for the well being of the rate payers of this Town, that have been made by Messrs. Sisson & Co. If the efforts of these gentlemen have been directed to depleting the pockets of the rate-payers, we can but marvel at their success. To describe the conduct of these gentlemen as "extraordinary" is to use a feeble expression. Many citizens were bitterly opposed to the establishment of a Central School; but the opponents of this project, certainly never desired that this opposition should result in persecution. Why should these gentlemen endeavour to force Mr. Smith into the position of having to pay a large sum of money out of his own pocket; when it was found that the Blacklock lot had been honestly purchased for School purposes, why should the Town have been plunged into a most expensive, and needless law suit? Not one of them dare say that "the lot" was not bought for such purposes, "only," and that each and all of them, were fully possessed of the facts.—Why their attempt by a mere technicality to avoid what they knew was inevitable; why not manfully have faced the difficulties of the position, and made arrangements to liquidate the debt on the lot instead of acting in the pitiful and cowardly manner in which they have done. Supposing their intentions were good in resisting Smith's claim, why, when they had been defeated and the decree had been made for payment, did they not stop proceedings and pay the costs incurred up to that time? Will the people understand and reflect upon this fact: that after the decision of the Judge and the decree, these men allowed all kinds of costs to accumulate, seizures to be made, the writ to go in the hands of the Sheriff, costly advertisements and Sheriff's fees to be incurred—and yet the people of Belleville sit supinely while the exchequer of the Town is being drained to gratify the most extraordinary caprices of this economical firm, and as if their mad career had not been pursued sufficiently long, they allow some degrading process called sequestration to issue, and every Town Councillor to be served with the process, securing in the hands of the Councillors the moneys which should be devoted to school purposes, and involving an additional expense of $100. Well may it be asked, 'whither are we drifting?' These men have disregarded the dignified remonstrances of such men as Mr. Shepard and Mr. Sawyer, treating their remarks with contumely. Can no stop be put to this abominable conduct? Are the people of Belleville powerless to prevent and punish such? It is stated that Mr. Hodgins, who I am informed is a Chancery lawyer of eminence, that the present state of things would be obliged to pay all the costs out of their own pockets. When we are called upon to re-elect Trustees let the citizens of Belleville remember these men.

ROBBERY ON TRAINS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Some months ago it was ascertained that trunks containing valuable articles of clothing and jewelry, were being broken open along the lines of the Hartford and New Haven, Erie and New York Railroads, and a portion of the contents stolen. The officers of the roads it is said, exerted every effort to discover the perpetrators of the robberies, and the points at which they were perpetrated. It was discovered that nearly all the robberies occurred on night trains between Albany and Suspension Bridge, and between Troy and New York during the last two months. It is said that travellers have lost more than $160,000 worth of property on the Central railroad alone.

CUBAN EXPEDITION A FAILURE.

To the Municipal Electors of the Town of Belleville.

GENTLEMEN:—Having consented to a nomination for the Mayoralty of the Town of Belleville, I respectfully solicit your suffrages at the ensuing Election for that important and responsible office. You all know me as an old resident of the Town, where I have by honest industry acquired what property I possess, and I have always taken a warm interest in the prosperity of our flourishing Town; having served faithfully eight consecutive years as member of the Town Council, and having been always found at my post, as the records of the Town will show. My votes will be found recorded on the side of economy and progress, and to the best interests of the Town, which I trust will be a sufficient guarantee for the faithful discharge of the duties of Mayor, if you honor me with your confidence.

I have the honor to be,
Gentlemen,
Yours sincerely,

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes :

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & Co.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretion to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits' Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1869.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had consulted the skill of Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of my friend, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

BILLA FLINT.
Belleville, Aug. 3, 1869. 79-tf

'Now, gentleman,' said a nobleman to his guests, as the ladies left the room, 'let us understand each other. Are we to drink like men or like brutes?' The guests, somewhat indignant, exclaimed, 'Like men, of course.' Then,' replied he,' we are going to get jolly drunk; for brutes never drink more than is good for them.'

AN EARNEST APPEAL.—A boy was lately caught stealing currants, and was locked up in a dark closet by the grocer. The boy commenced begging most pathetically to be released, and after using all the persuasions that his young mind could invent, he proposed: 'Now, if you'll let me out, and send for my father, he'll pay you for the currants, and lick me besides.' The grocer could not withstand this appeal, and released the urchin.

QUESTIONS TO ANSWER.—Why should delicate, house-bred little girls wear upon their legs only thin muslin drawers and fine cotton stockings, while the great strong men, who are their fathers, wear warm stout cloth both for drawers and pantaloons and leather boot-legs besides? Why should the little girls go with their arms and shoulders bare while their fathers have shirts and lined coat-sleeves on their arms? Why?

Bam-me-no-do-no-kiad, who reported that he was an Ojibeway chief on his way to Washington to see his great father, was arrested in Baltimore on Wednesday for being drunk. Being drunk was not an unpardonable offence, but his unearthly yells, which he called the war-whoop, alarmed the children in the street. At the station house, he expressed his disgust at the lodge and finally, on being released, went away, saying, "Injun sick in head; bad fire water; Injun fool."

Walker went to a Dutch tailor and had his measure taken for a pair of pantaloons. He gave directions to have them made large and full. When a large and heavy man, and likes his clothes loose, and when he came to try on the new unmentionables, found they stuck tight to his legs; whereat he thus remonstrated, 'I told you to make these pants full.' After some objugatory expressions of a profane nature the tailor ended the controversy by declaring, 'I dink dese pants is full enough, if dey was any fuller dey would shplit.'

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. THE CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks.—"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœpathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. Standard Periodicals for 1870.

Republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York.

Indispensable to all desirous of being well informed on the great subjects of the day.

1. The Edinburgh Review,

This is the oldest of series. In its main features it still follows in the path marked out by Brougham, Jeffrey, Sydney Smith, and Lord Jeffrey, the chief founders and first contributors.

2. The London Quarterly Review, which commences its LVIII volume with the January number, was set on foot as a rival to the EDINBURGH. It resolutely maintains a sound conservatism in politics, and shows equal vigor in its literary department.

3. The Westminster Review

has just closed its 93d volume. In point of literary ability this Review is fast rising to a level with its competitors. It is the advocate of political and religious liberalism.

4. The North British Review,

now in its 51st volume, occupies a very high position in Periodical literature. Passing beyond the narrow fanaticism of schools and parties, it appeals to a wider range of sympathies and a higher integrity of conviction.

5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine

was commenced 52 years ago. Equaling the Quarterlies in its literary and scientific departments, it has won a wide reputation for the marvirous and sketches which enliven its pages.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use. In every country and among all classes, as the still but efficient purgative Pill, the famous resinous pill that is a mere remedy than any other. Those who have tried it know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails to cure when the case is within the remedy's reach. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures, and the following compendium, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted, for all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by any body. Being sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity. They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, when by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, thereby curing disease and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous to take them for the cure of disease. Any one who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive organs.

CHEMICAL PRINCIPLES

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects before it, of Drs. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most active principles of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heal, Life-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care as to proper season, from the native soils, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—to that no spurious admixtures or worthless root can possibly be mixed with the pure.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone, but the wonderful improvements it has secured in the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine has there been a remedy to completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound, strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful what, the sad and broken-down constitution, as

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with the elements that it CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.

It restores the system with caloric or heat-making properties.

It cures all Erupted and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat and Skin and Blotches.

It increases the weight and appetite.

IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.

It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.

It exterminates the products of decay.

It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.

It makes the skin clear and beautiful.

It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.

It cures Cancer, Gleets and Stricture.

It makes the water clear and pass freely.

It cures at once all diseases arising from the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted.

It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life and other Uterine Maxims.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, but their LUNGS, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, of if capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decompositions stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; but no matter how long or short the time may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the system. Kidneys from the blood either in the Lungs, Liver, Bowels, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and by checked cases in their advanced stage can both be checked and curedonly by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in his system from the first day of taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. If the blood becomes sore, runs, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, will be prevented, or will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will receive their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine the Kidneys will secrete Pus and Albumen, and when attended to the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system by their proper channels. If sufficient pain is in existence, to eat each organ, or secreting gland in disintegrating in proper functions, health can never be restored. Scrofula, Consumption, Syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal is the many forms, Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Bone Pains, Ulcers, Mercurial Diseases, Sores, Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, &c., the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and all such agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues, cartilages, or joints, or from any cause in the family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Benaud, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of treatment and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three box of Radway's Pills, as used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent mixed with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars. Doctors for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than $5. dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB."

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owned at nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicines. He had a child that was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, arms and legs. He gave him in September last, and he was the most revolting and disgusting object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Pills and Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Chronic Sores, Eruptive Diseases, Scrofula, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two bottles I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to take bottle and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully recovered. JONATHAN FREELAND.

VOL. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 23, 1869. No. 200.

Kingston Correspondence.

From our own Correspondent.

KINGSTON, Dec. 19, 1869.

THE MAYORALTY—IRISH AFFAIRS.

As the end of the year approaches, the question is being asked, "who's to be the Mayor for 1870?" which, as far as I can learn, is a rather difficult one to answer. A writer in the Whig urges very strongly the claims of Alderman Tomkins and pours upon that gentleman a head the most fulsome laudations, the result of which is, I understand, that the worthy Alderman has risen wonderfully in his own estimation, and now actually believes that he possesses qualifications of a high order, of which he was not previously aware. Solomon has said: "Let another man praise thee, and not thine own mouth; a stranger, and not thine own lips." So it has been in this case. Alderman Tompkins knows not who praised him. He attributes it, however, to having acted in public life on the principles, "do thy little well," and as a natural consequence, he is beginning to realize his reward. It is my own opinion that the present Mayor, Mr. Robertson, will be re-elected, he having filled the chair of the Corporation with ability, and having given general satisfaction during the year.

I find it necessary in this letter, as I will doubtless have to do in the future, to write on matters which are by no means local nor even provincial. It is almost impossible to "make up" a letter on local matters at present, there is such a scarcity of interesting news. With your permission, therefore, I will say something concerning that constant source of trouble to British Statesmen.—Ireland.

I question very much if ever during the present century Ireland was in as bad a condition as it is at the present moment. As assassinations are of almost daily occurrence; law and order are treated with the most supreme contempt; seditious meetings, attended by thousands, and held in public halls and in the open air; attempts at revolution are being made by the national press, inflaming the minds of the ignorant peasantry; hatred to England is becoming fearfully intense; life and property is unsafe; in a word, a reign of terror prevails throughout the South and West of Ireland. The province of Ulster, however, is free from the outrages committed in the other Provinces, excepting, perhaps the County of Donegal, which is occasionally the scene of a murder. The question arises, then, why does this state of things exist? Will Ireland ever be pacified? What's to be done with her? As far as my recollection carries me back no portion of the empire has caused anything like the same amount of concern to imperial legislation; and notwithstanding the efforts that have been put forth in her interest at different periods, all has been to no purpose. When the Catholic Emancipation Bill was passed in 1829, it was thought that a new era of prosperity would set in and that contentment would be general. Such, however, did not prove to be the case. Agitation followed agitation; abortive attempts at insurrection occurred periodically; disloyal organizations, under different names, exercised their pernicious influences, and to-day we find Fenianism flaunting its sedition with all the arrogance and bombast at its command.

The disestablishment of the Church has not brought about the peaceable results anticipated. No sooner did that take place than the Roman Catholic Hierarchy, Cardinal Cullen as leader, opened a fresh attack upon the educational institutions of the country.—The rights of the church were denied to those who sent their children to the Model and other schools, and the non-denominational system of instruction in the Colleges at Belfast, Cork and Galway in connection with the Queen's University, was made the special subject of attack. These institutions have been of great benefit to Ireland; but not suiting the ultramontane views of the gentlemen referred to, their destruction is aimed at.

Following closely upon disestablishment, the Government announced their intention of dealing with the land question immediately after the opening of Parliament. What then could more fully satisfy those who have grievances than to see them being gradually removed, with an assurance of the fullest consideration being given to the interests of the tenant? One would naturally think that when the disposition to do justice is shown, the source whence springs the disposition would be treated with, at least, respect. But as regards a particular class of Irishmen, quite the contrary is the case; they refuse to accept any Legislation in their country's interests until the Fenian prisoners are released. They have even gone so far as to elect O'Donovan Rossa, now a convict, as member of Parliament for Tipperary, which is absolutely a nullity.

A newspaper called The People of Ireland, in a recent article referring to the intentions of the Government regarding the land question says:—"So long as our brothers lie in felons' chains in your prison halls, so long, William Ewart Gladstone, will we refuse to be reconciled or brought into harmony with laws which have ridden 'rough shod' over our country. You cannot bring your laws into harmony with the Irish people, because to us they are synonymous with injustice, cruelty and wrong. There is but one way of arranging the question—things have gone too far for half measures—and that is hand over Ireland to the Irish people. They want it, and what's more, sooner or later they will have it. We are politically diseased and we have had enough of England as a physician. Let us try self-cure." We find other journals of the same class making calculations in the most serious manner as to the probable success of an insurrection, and in the most violent language denouncing anything British and endeavouring to stir up the worst passions of the people. Now the true solution of the Irish difficulty is contained in the above extract. No amount of Legislation will satisfy the disaffected class of the community, for they seemed determined to remain in rebellion so long as Ireland is a part of Great Britain. And who is to blame for this? I have no hesitation in saying that the Priests are among the most guilty. One Rev. J. Ryan, at the Tipperary nomination, referred exultingly to what he called the "new, patent and successful principle" of assassination. Now-a-days a man doesn't consult with his neighbour regarding his intentions; "he goes out, he takes his revolver, and he tumbles his landlord." When he first speaks in that manner, what can be expected from the hearer?

The Times asks: "What is to be done?—Two things. Justice must be offered to Ireland with unfaltering hands. Crime and the encouragement of crime must be remorselessly repressed. Ireland wants men to rule over her. There is a time when a man feels it incumbent upon him to gird up his loins and be strong * * * * a time for plain, prompt and decisive action." Surely this time has arrived! The Gladstone administration is greatly to blame for its inactivity in the present turbulent state of Ireland. Treason must be put down, even should it be necessary to shed blood; and if Mr. Gladstone thinks that he is unable for the task, he must make way for men who will not allow a whole community to suffer in consequence of the outrages of the disaffected. The loyal men of the North have year after year suffered persecution in consequence of their observance of the anniversaries of the great events which delivered the nation from the hands of the oppressor; while on the other hand, treason has walked abroad unmolested, the consequence of which is the enormous amount of crime which at present exists. It is a most lamentable fact that when a murder is committed in certain parts of Ireland, there is no desire to bring the criminal to justice on the part of the people. "Serve him right" is the sentiment generally entertained regarding the victim, any outrage, no matter how diabolical, may be perpetrated, but as long as it is done in love to Ireland, the participators therein are commended for their zeal in so patriotic a cause.

I may refer to this subject again.

Speech of Zachariah Piper.

A BACHELOR AND A MARRIED MAN.

On the question, 'Which enjoys the greatest amount of happiness, the bachelor or the married man?'

Mr. Piper said:

Mr. President and gentleman: I rise to advocate the cause of the married man. I claim to know something about the institution—I do. Why should I not? Will any gentleman pretend to say I do not? Let him accompany me home. Let him peep through the key hole in my wife and seventeen small children and decide.

High as the Rocky Mountains tower above the Mississippi Valley, does the married man tower above the bachelor! What was Adam before he got acquainted with Eve? What, but a poor shiftless, helpless creature. No more to be compared with his after self than a mill-dam to the roaring cataract of Niagara! (Applause.)

Gentleman, there was a time, I blush to say, when I was a bachelor; and a more miserable creature you could hardly expect to find. Every day I toiled hard, and at night I came home to my comfortless garret—no carpet, no fire, no nothing. Everything was in a clutter, and in the words of the poet:

'Confusion was monarch of all I surveyed.'

Here lay a pair of dirty pants, there a dirty pair of boots, there a dirty playbill, and here a pile of dirty clothes. What wonder that I took refuge at the gaming-table and bar-room? I found it would never do, gentlemen, and in a lucky moment I vowed to reform. Scarcely had the promise passed my lips when a knock was heard at my door, and in came Polly Perkins for my soiled linen.

'Mr. Piper,' says she, 'I have washed for six months, and I have not seen a red cent in the way of payment. Now I'd like to know what you are going to do about it?'

'Polly,' said I, 'I will do the best I can for you. Greenbacks I have none; but if my best and hand will do, they are at your service.

Polly waited. We were married in a week: and what is more, we haven't had cause to repent it. No more attics for me I live in a good house, and have somebody to 'wash my victuals and cook my clothes.'

In conclusion, gentlemen, if you want to be a poor, ragged fellow; if you want to grow old before your time, and be uncomfortable generally, I advise you to remain a bachelor; but if you want to live decently and respectably, get married; I've got ten daughters, gentlemen, and you may have your pick.'

Mr. Piper sat down amid immense applause. The generous proposals with which he concluded, secured him five son in-laws.

The Fenians.

A NEW ATTACK—THE FENIAN ARMY SAID TO BE PREPARING FOR THE FRAY—THE RED RIVER INSURRECTION.

(From the New York World.)

The reporter of an evening paper had an interview with General John O'Neill, the head of one branch of the Fenian Brotherhood with regard to the present state of his body, and the chances of an approaching brush with the Saxon. General O'Neill said that he would not disguise the fact that the Fenians were about to act on the offensive in a short time. It would be an important matter if Canada would be made a base of operations, but whether the movement would be made against Canada or elsewhere he would not say. He had been, with the other officers of the organization, for some time perfecting their plans. If he was not certain the movement would prove successful he would not have embarked in it. He could easily arm 50,000 men, and the fighting men of the organization number over 100,000. He did not anticipate any trouble with the United States government, which had given him every chance during the previous attack on Canada. There were many of his countrymen among the Red River insurgents, and his organization did not mean to allow them to be conquered by the Canadian government. It is also stated that arms were being forwarded to Boston, where they were shipped for Ireland, and it instanced the fact that some gunsmith's shops in Dublin being broken into was a strong confirmation of the opinion that arms were forwarded to the needy revolutionists in Ireland by their brethern here.

In other quarters, the truth and subsistence of the above is denied, and officers of the rival branch of the Fenian Branch say that O'Neill's organization is not possessed of 50,000 fighting men, and that there is not the slightest idea of a movement being made. As to the shipment of arms to Ireland, the Savage organization represents the Brotherhood in the old country. The O'Neill organization, it is asserted, sent a man named Keenan, formerly a medical student in Dublin, to try and cause division among the home organization, but it is said his efforts have proved unsuccessful.

A "Ribbon" Warning.

The Ribbonmen of Ulster have posted a "proclamation" on chapel doors and walls in the county of Cavan, which has caused some alarm in the district. It runs thus:—

"Whereas it has come to our knowledge that several Catholics are in the custom of having their work done by Protestant millers, artificers, and others; we do hereby give notice to such parties, and all others concerned, that we have cognisance of the abuse; and, as it is punishable in no other court but ours, we do distinctly charge our officers to report the names of all Catholics who go to William Matchell's mill, of Killyconnell, near Stradone, to have their work done there, or any other artificer as tradesman, in order that we may define the amount of punishment; and we have given orders to disperse this our proclamation, in order that no Catholic may plead ignorant of our will and command. We further give notice to all heretics, of every denomination, and damned Orangemen, that we have given orders, should they transgress our laws, that we will consume them by night in their houses. Remember Wild Goose Lodge and Scullabogue Barn, and tremble. Done at our Council Chamber, 20th Nov. 1869."

Sir Francis Hincks and Mr. Treasurer Wood.

Some few weeks since the Toronto Telegraph, was day after day throwing out mysterious hints, that the Finance Minister of the Dominion was anxiously seeking aid from the Treasurer of Ontario, in the investment of surplus funds now in the hands of the Dominion Government. In short, that being unable to invest these funds himself he wanted Mr. Wood to do it for him, and allow him the interest. The Leader retorted by denouncing Hon. J. S. McDonald for revealing the contents of private letters, as an act beneath the dignity of a gentleman. The Globe looked on chuckling at what it considered a family quarrel. The Telegraph demanded the publication of the correspondence, and much to the astonishment of all, Sir Francis authorizes its publication, and is as follows:—

"OTTAWA, 24th Nov., 1869.

"MY DEAR SIR,—

"We shall have to make a heavy payment to you on 1st January for subsidies, &c., &c., in all, I believe, over $500,000. My I ask if you are going to place this sum on special deposit at interest? If so it would be a matter of convenience that you would arrange with the bank that you will deposit with to take the amount on the 1st December instead of the 1st January and allow us the month's interest. You will, I am sure, be of opinion that we should accommodate each other as much as possible. We have as much on interest as the Bank of Montreal will take, and it would be desirable to get even a month's interest at 3½ or 4 per cent., which I have no doubt any of the banks would allow. Please telegraph me, if you think the arrangement can be carried out, 'Arrangement practicable,' or if not, 'Arrangement impossible.'

"Respectfully yours,

"F. HINCKS."

On the 26th November Mr. WOOD replied to this note, by telegraph, 'Arrangement impossible. I will write.' No reply by letter having been received up to the 29th, SIR FRANCIS HINCKS, on that day telegrafted Mr. WOOD in these words: "Reply to my letter." On the 3rd December, the Provincial Treasurer responded in the following terms:—

"TORONTO, 3rd Dec., 1869.

MY DEAR SIR,—I could not take the money you spoke of in advance, because I was unable to get interest from the Bank of Montreal, they having already on special deposit for account of Ontario at 4 per cent., half a millilon of dollars. I regret I was unable to accommodate you, but such was the fact.

"Faithfully yours,

"E. B. WOOD.

"Hon. Sir Francis Hincks, M. F., &c., &c., "OTTAWA."

A week after receiving this letter SIR FRANCIS HINCKS addressed the following to Mr. WOOD:—

"OTTAWA, 11th Dec., 1869.

"MY DEAR SIR,—

"I received yours of the 3rd in due course. I was aware when I wrote to you that the Bank of Montreal would not give any interest on deposit to the Dominion government, and did not suppose they would give it to you, but I had hoped that you might have found it convenient to have made anarrangement with one of the Ontario banks which I have reason to believe would have allowed the same rate as that which you were receiving from the Bank of Montreal. The government is at present fettered by an agreement with the Bank of Montreal under which it is prohibited from depositing with any other bank. But for this I should have made the arrangement myself.

"Believe me,

"Truly yours,

"F. HINCKS."

The Leader triumphantly exclaims, "He must be a pretty ingenious sort of fellow, who can extract from Sir Francis Hincks' proposition a desire on his part to accomplish by indirect means what he feared to do openly and above board." In addition to this the same paper says, in a persuasive attempt to convince the Globe that it was wrong in its assertion that Mr. Hincks made a "wild attempt to strike "a blow under cover of Mr. Wood's "protection," that it "has some character "to maintain." The Globe retorts by saying that Sir Francis "in a somewhat shabby, sneaking way offer money in advance to Mr. Wood, to secure a month's interest."

Apart from the squabbles of these Toronto journals, the reader cannot but look upon this short correspondence as of great importance; revealing as it does, the import fact that the Montreal Bank has altogether too much power and control over the finances of the Dominion, which Mr. Hincks says letters the Government. Part of this agreement, Mr. Hincks tells us, is that the Dominion Government "is prohibited from depositing with another bank," hence he seeks investment elsewhere, through another party. Or in other words, he endeavors to persuade another to do, what he dare not do under present arrangements with the Bank of Montreal.

Every man in Canada having the interest of the Dominion at heart, will rejoice at the prospects of the new Finance Minister setting the Bank of Montreal at defiance, but we question whether the country will justify this mode of doing it. To our mind it is a species of sharp practice, unworthy a Minister of the Crown. If this Bank incubus which hangs upon the neck of the financial operations of Canada, cannot be shaken off, the sooner the country knows it the better. What is Mr. Hincks position in this matter as it now stands? He comes into power, and finds himself "fettered by "an agreement with the Bank of Montreal, "under which he is prohibited from de- "positing in any other bank." And having a large amount of money on deposit in that bank drawing no interest, $500,000 of which would have to be paid to the Ontario Government on the 1st day of January next; he generously says to Mr. Wood, take this money now, and deposite it at interest in some bank, and allow me the interest, for the time which it will have to run before it is due. Is this not an indirect way of violating the agreement with the Bank of Montreal? No doubt the bank made its arrangements not to have any Government deposits in other banks, with the implied understanding that all surplus funds over a certain amount should be run into their hands, without interest. What would be the difference between Mr. Hincks taking that money and depositing it in another bank at four per cent. interest, and giving it to Mr. Wood to do it for him? For the life of us, we cannot see the difference, and therefore cannot but look upon the whole transaction, as exceedingly sharp, and not at all creditable to the new Finance Minister.

Let Mr. Hincks take this matter boldly in hand, and tell the Bank of Montreal that it has fattened long enough on the country; and though it has become rich, it shall neither dictate to, nor menace the government any longer. Let him do this without seeking a quarrel by a side wind, and he will do more to establish himself in the good opinions of the people in Ontario, than by any other means. If Mr. Hincks were desirous of quarrelling with the Bank, he has adopted a most admirable course. Either the Bank has too good a bargain with the Government, and is fearful of a rupture, or the Finance Minister will be called to account by Mr. King, as soon as he hears of the transaction. The country will wait with patience the denouement.

Commercial Colleges.

In a country like this which is yearly becoming more commercial, and in an age like the present distinguished for the keen eagerness of its competitors in business transactions, the above institutions, where properly conducted are of great public benefit.

Their success in different parts of the province is a guarantee of their appreciation and usefulness.

It is beginning to be understood that men who enter into a mercantile life, or a business career of any kind, without a good knowledge of financing and of accounts is in danger of being ingulfed.

A man might as well steer his bark in a dark and stormy night, on a treacherous sea, by a lantern on the bowsprit, rather than by the lighthouse on the fixed shore, as to expect business success without being able to transact or superintend the transaction of his own financial affairs. The necessity of a good business education is now universally admitted, and the facilities for obtaining it within the reach of all Commercial Institutions, being established in London, Hamilton, Toronto and Belleville. The London Commercial College we understand is very well conducted and adapted to supply the wants of a business education in the western part of the province, while the wants of Hamilton, in this respect are met by the institution located there. Toronto has two institutions of this nature, viz: Day's Commercial College, of which we know but little, and the "British American and Bryant and Stratton and Odell Consolidated Business College and Telegraph Institute," which, from the fourth story of a building on the corner of King and Toronto streets. As those who have either visited or attended this institution can testify, the name is far more extensive than the institution itself.

The principal while devising this name must have been of the opinion that

"Words of learned length and thundering sound,
Would amaze the unlearned around"

our country; but this was a mistaken idea, as Canadians are too intelligent to be allured by merely a name.

It well becomes every young man desiring to fit himself for business, before entering on any course of training to investigate the claims of the institution which he proposes to enter. Thinking persons are not to be deceived by the transparent braggadocia resorted to for the purpose of building up an enterprise claiming to stand 'at the head' of educational efforts, and that without teachers who have neither acquired theoretical knowledge or practical ability.

The Ontario Commercial College lately established at Belleville is deservedly meeting with great success, and promises to become one of the leading institution of the kind in the Dominion. Every department is now in successful operation, and the energy and ability displayed by the teachers are certainly commendable. This institution is meeting a want long felt in this vicinity. Those desiring a commercial education were previously necessitated to go to Toronto and other cities, where board, tuition, and other expenses are enormous, and the course is neither as thorough nor complete. We can recommend the Ontario Commercial College to all who desire a good business education.—COM.

MEETING OF PARLIAMENT.—A telegram from Ottawa says, the Dominion Parliament is summoned to meet on the 15th day of February.

ENGLAND AND THE UNITED STATES.—It cannot be denied that things have looked rather squally lately, though we believe that England intends to remain perfectly neutral in the matter; should war, however break out between them, we hope for humanity sake that the armies will be well supplied with the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," the best thing in the world for the cure of sudden colds, rheumatism, neuralgia, burns, &c. 25 cents per bottle. SPECIAL NOTICES.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits' Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1869.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Buffalo River News. 42-1m 181

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Messrs. J. N. Harris & Co.,

Gents,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the virtues of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearances of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours Truly,

A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Not in the Dictionary.

Judge W. had his law office close to a certain doctor—in fact they were separated only by a plank partition with a door in it. The judge was at his table, busy with his bills and briefs in chancery. The doctor was writing a letter, and pausing for a moment called out:

'Judge isn't e-q-u-i-t the way to spell equinomical?'

'Yes, I think so,' said the Judge 'but here's Webster's dictionary—I can soon tell you.'

He opens the book and turns over the leaves, repeating aloud, 'e-qui nomical—e-qui-nomical.'

Finding the proper place, he runs his eye up and down the column two or three times until he is thoroughly satisfied that the word in question is not there. Closing the book with a slam, the judge lays his specs on the table, and rising slowly breaks forth:

'Well, sir, I've always been a Daniel Webster man, and I voted for him for President; but any man that will write as big a dictionary as this, and not put as common a word as e-qui-nomical in it, cannot get my vote for anything hereafter.'

—Hon. Mr. Howe gives notice that having been appointed Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs all communications relating to Indian affairs are in future to be addressed to the Hon. the Secretary of State for the Provinces.

From toothache, by the shortness of the paroxysm, the rapidity of its succession, and the frequent convulsive twitchings. To obtain immediate relief, use Dr. J. Briggs' Anodyne, according to directions. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors, 308 Broadway, N. Y. and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so generally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but searching purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compounding. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we do not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the disordered action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery a mild dose or two, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Tropical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and purifying effect on the digestive apparatus.

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great Resolvent (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the ... Those products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Flat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care at the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious substitutes or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

Dr. Radway & Co. now pay $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and experience of Dr. Radway, in this branch alone—for that the wonderful improvements it has secured is the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

☞ It supplies the blood with nutriment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING ANE FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Skin, Ears, Mouth, Throat and Skin and body.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WASTING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It neutralizes the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the form round and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness in females with the virigor of manhood those who from weaknesses or diseases are delicate or exhausted.
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life, and makes her a Mother.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wast ed beyond the power of repair, but may, by the use of the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to perfect health, or the waste and decomposition stopped, and the elements of decay thus now at work be cleared from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs have been tolerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perfectly well for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the waste and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold its healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are destroyed through the process of depositing from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stages can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands, or Urinary Difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine like, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids that are absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If needless faults in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can scarcely be expected. Happily for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important end that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of the Resolvent upon the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairing and life-sustaining forces with such constituents as to resolve and expel each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can scarcely be expected. Happily for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important end that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of the Resolvent upon the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairing and life-sustaining forces with such constituents as to resolve and expel the same from the system, and supply in its place with sound and living structure, unvitiated fluids, pure, and strong blood. And by the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach, during the process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, by which it is made into blood, as well as the nourishment it imparts it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it expels from every atom of veins from the blood, and vessels, the poisonous effects of diseases, whether they be the poisons of some specific poison, or virulent disease, or Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, the Chloride of Potash, Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissue cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms, Glandular Diseases, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Boils, Carbuncles, Running Discharges from the Ears and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Erysipelas, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Eryptelas, Acne, Blotches, Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, Nocturnal emissions, and all wasting of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using them that they are the surest of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Stricture and all Complaints of the Kidneys, Bladder, Ulcers, Running, Bubbler, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all Wasting of the Body, Influenced by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

SCROFULA CURED IN WELL STREET, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Well River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills in Vermont, &c., &c., had the knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, from the crown of his body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA. FRIDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 24, 1869. No. 201.

A Christmas Carol.

They are ringing, they are ringing,
Our merry Christians Bells,
In the village, in the city,
In the dale church, o'er the fells.

Be our ways of life so varied,
Be our fortunes poor or bright,
Hand in hand with all our brothers,
We are one at least to night.

Nor the noble in his mansion,
Nor the sovereign on her throne,
Nor the beggar in his hovel,
Will enjoy themselves alone.

We all seek the friendly greeting
Of some dear, familiar face;
We all know that hermit feeling
For to night is not of place.

But one night! Why not for ever
Should we bind the golden chain,
That ahews man his poorest fellow
Was not sent to earth in vain?

That each sorrow hath a purpose,
That each gift hath an alloy,
That ever finely balanced
Are the scales of grief and joy.

Spare a little, then, ye rich ones,
From your laden coffers now;
Bring to poverty a sun-ray,
Bring a smile to sorrow's brow.

Take it gratefully ye toilers,
Toilers up earth's weary hill;
'Tis a green spot in your desert,
'Tis a good sprung from your ill.

Yes? be rich and poor united,
'Tis most grand in Heaven's sight,
And a blessing, not earth's blessing,
Is on all the world to-night!

Sunday Sickness.

This disease is of the intermitting kind, attacking the patient by violent paroxysms, which return every seventh day. These paroxysms returns only on the Lord's day, and hence is called Sunday Sickness; but by the faculty is technically known by no other name than "Dei Dominici Morbus."

2. It partakes somewhat of the nature of ague, especially as it is attended with a great degree of coolness. This coolness is first apparent early in the morning of the Lord's day; in many cases seizing the patient before he has left his bed. But it begins in the region of of the heart, and is attended with dullness of the head, followed by yawnings and lethargy.

3. The patient is sometimes deprived of the use of his limbs, especially the legs and feet, so that he is indisposed to walk to the house of God.

4. In some cases this attack has come upon them after they have gone to the house of God, and has been attended with yawning and slumber.

5. In other cases, there has been great uneasiness in the house of God, and a disposition to complain of the length of the sermon, though they have been known to sit very contentedly in a playhouse the night before, several hours at a time.

6. Persons affected with this disease never mourn on account of their confinement from public worship, as many afflicted with other diseases often do.

7. These persons often surprise their neighbors with their great activity and health on Monday, however unfavorable the weather may be.

8. Most of the faculty agree that there is a low feverish heat, technically called febris mundi, or fever of the world, which may be detected in these patients, during the intervening days of the week.

9. There also seems to be a loss of appetite for savory food, and a want of relish for panis vitæ, bread of life, which, in this case is the indispensable remedy for the disease.

10. Persons affected with this disease, generally have a disrelish for private religious exercises of the closet and the reading of the Scriptures.

How he became Deaf.

A Vermont landlord, famous for being deaf just when he wanted to be, when rallied upon his infirmity one day, told his amuse guests the following story:—

When a young man, he worked on a farm for a stingy old farmer, in an adjoining town. On leaving him, a balance of two dollars was due George for wages. Having called repeatedly for his money, the old man had some excuse for not paying. A sow of the old man's had a litter of pigs, consisting of four; one of them which is generally the case, being a small runt, as they call them. George told the man that he would take a pig for his money the old man said he might have the small one. George jumped in the pen, and seized the largest pig. The old man shouted:

'Take the small one!'

'Let him squeal,' said George; 'I can hold him.'

Old man, excited:

'Take the small one!'

'I'll risk his biting,' replied George.

Old man desperate, and as loud as he could bellow:

'Take the small one!'

'Let him squeal; I can hold him,' answered George.'

'Take him along, you deaf fool; I can't make you hear anything.'

George carried off his pig in triumph.

A Christmas Song.

Again amid our schemes of gain,
Our progress vast, our commerce wide,
Our songs of mirth, our groans of pain,
Returns the holy Christmas-tide!

Though ushered not by seraph high,
Its message is the same as when
Bright angels burst the midnight sky,
And sang, "Good will and peace to men."

Let us forget the thoughts that grieve,
Th cares that with each year increase,
And for one day, at least, receive
The blessed Christ-child's boon of peace.

Oh, weave the holy chains with joy!
Ring forth, glad bells, your roundelay!
While songs of praise our lips employ,
For Christ the Lord was born to day.

The State of Ireland.

The Times complains that while in Ireland the loyal part of the population are disquieted and anxious, loud-mouthed treason flaunts on the highway and proclaims itself in the market-place. The only voice that is heard is that of sedition. The merits of secret assassination are preached in open day amid tumultuous acclamation. The streets of the capital of Munster are occupied night after night with processions chanting songs inciting Irishmen to rebellion. The constitutional meetings of the country are turned into demonstrations of hospitality to the Empire. Side by side, too, with these noisier demonstrations, which of themselves might, perhaps, be wisely treated with contempt; as the empty vapouring of a peculiar people, we find the weekly records of murders and outrages to murder perpetrated by men who escape the penalties and even the questionings of the law. It is intolerable that week after week accounts should reach us of men shot in the open day by day assassins who escape without any risk of arrest or detection. A man is ploughing in a field, or returning from market, or carrying turf from a bog, and shots are fired, and he is left wounded and dying. To suffer this is to permit barbarism to submerge civilization, and, unpleasant as may be the expedient, it were better, in the face of such barbarism to adopt the means used in semi-civilized countries to repress crime rather than to let it flourish unreproved.

It is with profound reluctance the Times finds itself obliged to declare that the time for patience and reaction is past. We do wrong to ourselves, we are doing mischief to Ireland, in thus standing by and seeing evil grow without using the means in our power to prevent its increase. Are our consciences so troubled that we are not free to exercise authority in the island? With so much done, and a spirit in the nation ready to fulfil the whole measure of justice wherever it may be proved to be wanting, authority should be free to speak and to act, and to enforce obedience to law. We may look in the face of the world, we may appeal to Him who doeth right and avengeth the oppressed, to judge between this Parliament and this people. Our hesitation to use our power is more than a dereliction of duty and a reproach upon our own motives—it is working incalculable mischief in Ireland itself. The unchecked indulgence of licence allows demand to grow upon demand, violence outbids violence, the leader of yesterday is left behind and regarded as reactionary to morrow. We cannot free ourselves from the blame of the consequences if we allow the contempt of law to ripen into an outburst of organized violence against all authority and order. For the sake of our own conscience, and for the good of Ireland, we must declare that a reform of the land laws of the kingdom—strong, just, and complete—shall be presented to Parliament in the coming session; that in the meanwhile the authority of the law shall be maintained, and infractions of it pursued and punished, though bands of accomplices and well-wishers bar our path in quest of the offenders.

—Phillip Brunette, conductor, and Henry Mesier, brakesman were arrested in Montreal on the 18th Dec. charged with breaking open a bonded car of the Grand Trunk train, of which there were in charge between Montreal and Toronto, in August last. The stolen property consisted of watches belonging to Robert Wilks of Toronto, of which 9 sold and 2 silver watches have been recovered.

—Toothache.—For the benefit of those who may need a little consolation, we publish the following from the correspondence of an exchange:—"If any of your readers suffer from toothache or neuralgic affections, arising from teeth in any state of decay, they may experience relief in a instantaneous and permanent, by saturating a small bit of clean cotton wool with strong solution of ammonia, and applying it immediately to the affected tooth. The pleasing contrast instantly produced in some causes a fit of laughter, although a moment before extreme suffering and anguish prevailed. I have used the remedy for over one year, and obtained proof to warrant publication."

Stocking Song.

ON CHRISTMAS EVE.

Welcome, Christmas, heel and toe!
Here we wait thee in a row.
Come, good Santa Claus, we beg—
Fill us tightly, feet and leg.

Fill us quickly ere you go,
Fill us till we overflow.
That's the way; and leave us more
Heaped in piles upon the floor.

Little feet that ran all day
Twitch in dreams of merry play;
Little feet that jumped at will Lie all pink, and warm, and still.

See us! how we lightly swing;
Hear us! how we try to sing.
Welcome, Christmas, heel and toe!
Come and fill us ere you go!

Here we hang till some one nimbly
Jumps with treasure down the chimney—
Bless us! How he'll tickle us,
Funny old St. Nicholas!—Hearth and Home.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, DEC. 24.

☞ To-morrow being being Christmas, no paper will be issued from this Office.

CHRISTMAS CHEER.—The St. George's Society have done a noble work, yesterday and to day, in the distribution of good cheer among the English poor. Subscriptions and contributions for the object, were solicited from the members of the Society, and Englishmen generally, and the call was met in the true English style. It is but necessary to state that 24 families were supplied, each with the following articles: 25 lbs. of meat; 30 lbs. of flour, tea, sugar, raisins, &c., in suitable quantities. In some cases flannel, wood, boots, &c., were also given.

A Merry Christmas.

Once again we stand on the threshold of that blest morn when the glad tidings of great joy were proclaimed to all the world that a Saviour was born. Once again we gather round the cosy fireside and listen dreamily to the dropping of the sands in the-hour glass, watching, waiting to hear the merry bells ring in the joyous, happy Christmas morn. Once again good old SantaClaus is filling up the stockings which hang in the chimney corner, and the children are still in that happy state of existence which knows nothing of corroding care, and we can almost fancy we can

"Behold the glory of Heaven Shining round in golden light," and see the golden gates wide ajar, and the redeemed hosts on the shining shore, and hear the glad chorus from ten thous and voices:

"Glory to God in the highest,
Peace and good will to men."

And when the morning bells are making glad music, and the children come gathering round us wishing us a "Merry Christmas," blowing their tin horns, beating their little drums, firing off their pop-guns, rattling horses and wagons over the floor, and displaying the various treasures which the good old patron Saint has distributed in his annual round, and above all the din and noise, listen to the merry prattling of the little ones, how quickly the great heavy bundle of care rolls off our shoulders, and a quiet peace steals into the heart, way up into the crusted chamber, and nestling in the corner which the crust of sin has not yet touched, rests there, and mayhap will be like the little lump of leaven.

"Of all the days throughout the year,
The gladdest day and best,
Comes in the heart of winter
When nature is at rest.

"When the days are at the shortest,
And the nights are dark and long;
And only of the singing birds,
The robin pipes his song.

"When not a flower is on the hill,
Nor a green leaf on the tree,
And only the holly and ivy
Are beautiful to see.

"Then cometh the best day of the year,
The blessedest day of all,
When Jesus Christ, the Saviour,
Was born in the oxen's stall."

"Peace and good will to men!" Shall we tell you, reader, how you can enjoy peace this Christmas eve, and give peace to morrow morn to those who have it not? It is a very simple process, and there is no one who may not have it. There are children, even in this favoured prosperous Town, who are shivering, crouching, pinched and blue and starving with cold, who have no stockings even to hang up by their miserable fireside, and nothing to put in them even if they had them. There are homes which were happy last Christmas morn, but the Reaper came and cut the father down, and the little ones will ask vainly of their widowed mother for those kind mementoes of the former Christmas times. Let the fathers and mothers who have enough and to spare, who to-morrow morning will be wakened by the pleasant childish voices and the lisping cries of "Merry Christmas," who nourish so tenderly and guard so carefully their own dear boys and girls, but think of the children of the poor. You who make charity your Cashier here will have a handsome account in the Ledger Book on high; and it will be well for those who have no entry this year in their favor in the golden book, to secure a credit there before the balances are struck and the business of the year is closed. Take a little stock in charity now, and you will secure to yourself and to those who partake of your bounty a "Merry Christmas."

New York Common Council.

The following items of gratuities voted by the Common Council of the City of New York on the 20th inst., will give an idea to our readers of the manner in which money is voted by that body. We copy from the New York Tribune of the 21st inst.

St. Vincent's Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum	$15,000
A Presbyterian Church	150
St. Vincent's Roman Catholic Hospital	10,000
An Evangelical Church	3,000
Church of the Incarnation	2,910
Canal-st. Presbyterian Church	130
Coaches for Common Council	2,910
St. Mary's Church, Episcopal, Manhattanville	223
Police justice salaries, from $5,000 to $10,000	45,000
Clerks, &c., about	30,000
Employes of Common Council, (extra)	50,000
Clerk of Board of Assistants (extra)	2,500
Lawrence Lanagen (extra service)	1,500
Making	$166,623

A nice little sum to give away at one sitting of a Council, which, the Tribune says, is by no means all that the popularity hunters squander to gain the favor of those who place them in power. In New York, as in every other country, where political influence and votes are valuable, the Roman Catholics manage to get the lion's share. In these munificent gifts they managed to secure no less then $25,000; while all the other churches put together, obtained but 3,713, and if the Church of the Incarceration, be Roman Catholic, which is not at all unlikely, then their share was $27,810, and all others $903. It is no wonder with such munificent gifts out of the pockets of the general public, that they adhere with fidelity to the Democratic party.

This model Council does not confine its munificence to gifts, but deals with its officers to a generous manner. The newly elected Police Justices," says the Tribune "are hereafter to be paid after the following schedule, whereby it will be seen that to be a peddler ot cheap justice in a city prison is of vastly more consequence than to be Vice President, Governor of the State, or Cabinet Minister:

THE OUTSIDE WORLD.		NEW YORK.
Officer.	Salary.	Officer.	Salary.
Vice-Pres. Colfax	$8,000 -	P. J. Dowling,	$10,000.
Gov. Hoffman,	8,000 -	P. J. Hogan,	10,000.
Secty. Boutwell,	8,000 -	P. J. McQuade,	10,000.
Asst.-Treasurer,	7,000 -	P. J. Cosgriff,	10,000.
Chief Justice Chase,	6,500 -	P. J. Shandley,	10,000.

"These specimens," continue the same journal, "prove how much greater men are "our Police Justices and how much more "responsibility and hard work they shoulder "than do such picayune fellows as the "Vice-President, the Governor of the State, "the Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme "Court, and the like small officials. Pay "up the $10,000 per annum, you ordinary "people, and don't grumble about it. Does not Tammany command?" Much better if the Tribune were honest enough to attribute this outrageous squandering of the people's money to the proper cause, namely, of putting the franchise into the hands of the mob. We commend these facts and figures to politicians who are ever brawling about extending the franchise, and giving those who have no stake in the country, and consequently pay little or no taxes, the power to elect representatives. It has been said that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance; and it may be added after considering these New York expenses, an extremely expensive luxury.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THURSDAY, Dec. 23rd, 1869.

The amended assessment law was read a third time and passed.

The amendment to the municipal law, making the election for all the councillors every year, in Towns and Cities was passed, and takes effect in 1871.

Mr. SEXTON moved the House into committee on the Bill, respecting Jurors and Juries. The object of the Bill was to repeal sub sec. 1 of sec. 155 of chap. 31 of the Consolidated Statutes of Upper Canada, and to substitute the following:—" From the total sum expended in the county in any year for the payment of Jurors and other fees and disbursements under this Act, there shall be deducted the sums actually received by the county in such year for fees and penalties which under this Act are appropriated towards the payment of Jurors." The Bill was passed.

A Bill was passed amending the law of registration of Births and Marriages.

Mr. BOYD withdrew his Bill to amend the Act for the further improvement of Grammar Schools in Upper Canada, now Ontario. He said he did so on the promise of the Attorney-General to admit girls into Grammar Schools on the same footing as boys.

Atty.Gen. MACDONALD said it was the intention of the Government next session to introduce a Bill by which girls would be allowed the same privileges in Grammar Schools as boys.

A number of other Bills were passed and the House adjourned till one o'clock to day.

—Dr. Allan, notwithstanding all that has been said about him, has been re-elected Mayor of Cornwall for 1869, by acclamation. This is his eighth year in the Chair.

—Dr. Andrew Mead, a leading and influential citizen of Alleghany, N. Y., was mysteriously murdered on Saturday night. Intense excitement prevails in the vicinity.

Sessions.

Errata.—In the appeal case of Small vs Granger, which we reported of last General Sessions, it was stated Mr. A. R. Dougall supported the appeal. It appears this is not so. The Appellant gave notice of appeal, but on consulting with Mr. Dougall, was informed that he could not support the appeal. Granger proved a notice served on him and asked for costs.

PHILLIP BROWN, Appellant,
and
WM. COURTNEY, Respondent,
and
THOMAS HENRY BROWN, Appellant,
and
WM. COURTNEY, Respondent.

In these two appeals G. E. Bull and Dr. Boulter, Magistrates, convicted the Appellants of having on the 14th of August last, interfered with Courtney in discharging his duty, as Rawdon Township Road Surveyor. The notices of appeal were served on Courtney's wife, on the 21st of August, seven days after the conviction, and a copy in each case was served on one of the Magistrates. Mr. A. R. Dougall for Courtney, contended that as the service on Mrs. Courtney was too late, and for that reason bad, and that the only other notice served being on one convicting Magistrate, the appeal must be dismissed. He cited law to sustain his position, and after taking time to consider these points, the Court decided both Magistrates should have been served within four days after conviction, and dismissed the appeals. Hon. L. Wallbridge, Q. C., for the appeals. A. R. Dougall against appeals.

COUNTY COURT.

EVANS vs. COCKBURN.—In this case our report was short, and did not give all the facts. After Mr. Wallbridge, for Cockburn, had stated "that the plans were too extensive, which he stated was the reason of "defendant not paying for them," it was proved the plans were ordered; that defendant showed them penciled to their fullest extent, after which he paid $50 on them; that it was proved these plans were not too extensive, but were required by Cockburn to show, and that he had used tracings of them to show the Government the nature of his works on the Trent at Campbellford, and the Judge held and the Jury found that the plans were not too extensive nor overcharged. The Jury gave to Court what Evans charged for the plans.

OUR HALIFAX LETTER.

THE CORRESPONDENCE—WINTER—LECTURES—RED RIVER REBELLION—OUR RAILWAYS—WHAT THE NEW MANAGER IS DOING.

DEAR SIR,—It is now quite a long time since you were honoured with any of the ideas that run through the point of my quill, or rather my steel pen. I may remark ere proceeding any farther, that I didn't see my last production in your columns, and that is perhaps one reason why this silent period may seem so long. I can't understand the non-appearance thereof. Possibly you didn't receive it, and perhaps you did but didn't think it worth printing, and very likely you were right. After you have run your eye over this production, you are at liberty to put it either in the Intelligencer or into the fire, just as you may see fit. I am afraid it won't be worth reading, for there is very little news stirring. The winter has come upon us and biting Jack seems to have frightened the news away, or perhaps he has kept your own correspondent away from the news. The lecture season has arrived with all its thunders. Two good fortnightly courses have been provided by two different Societies—one by the Young Men's Christian Association, whose Lecturers are generally picked men, and whose meetings may be looked forward to, as a fortnightly feast for the mind. The other course is furnished for a small consideration at the door, by the Young Men's Early Closing and Mutual Improvement Association. They have given us the two best lectures of the season, one on "estimates of greatness," by Rev. Jas. Bennet, an Irish Presbyterian Clergyman, who ministers in St. John, and is recognised as the most powerful original thinker in the Province of New Brunswick, and an orator of more than Provincial reputation. The other lecture was delivered by the Rev. Jno. Grant, of St. Matthew's Kirk, in this city. Subject—"Pulpit, Political and Commercial Morality," a noble subject truly, and nobly did he handle it. For nearly two hours he riveted the attention of one of the largest audiences convened for the same purpose in Halifax for a good long period of time. Of course in travelling over so much debatable ground he enunciated some ideas regarding which different views may honestly be held, but this did not prevent his audience from listening with wrapt attention and admiration to a great effort of a mind of more than ordinary power and eloquence, extremely forcible and convincing from its great naturalness and simplicity.

We have been somewhat amused down here by tidings of the pretty little rebellion which our wise Dominion Government has managed to stir up among the half-breeds of the Red River country. Our Anti union friends and Annexationist neighbours, have made some little capital out of what after all seems to have been nothing more than a respectable riot. Still the riot indicates mismanagement somewhere, and I must say that it seems nothing more than fair, that a Colony of some 15,000 intelligent inhabitants, as the Scotch and English settlers of Red River are, ought to have been consulted in the bargain by which they were handed over, body and soul, to the tender mercies of the Dominion tax-gatherers. Moreover they should have been asked to nominate a portion at least of the Council and officials by whom they are for some time to be governed. Instead of this just and common sense course, what do we find—a lot of Government favorites are appointed by the Ottawa authorities who know little or nothing about the country, and the people over whom they are sent to rule, save what they have learned from travellers, or through the papers. There is one member of the Council who is palmed off as a representative of Nova Scotia, who no more represents us, than he does the man in the moon. The gentleman in question—Capt. Cameron—is I doubt not, an excellent man in his own place—but he is a stranger here, having come out as an officer in Her Majesty's army not very long ago; since which time he has become a son in law to Dr Tupper. This is strongly suspected to be the secret of his advancement—when so many true representatives of Nova Scotia, might have been appointed to the office, which he now fills. This is a small matter in itself; but it is a fertile source of grumbling on the part of the opposition press. It is a good harp for them to play upon, and they have done so, to a considerable extent.

While we have been amused at Governor McDougall's unceremonious ejection from his new found territory—we have been a little more than amused at the strong handed actions of the stranger, that Ottawa has given us to look after our Nova Scotian Railway. Mr. Carrel has raised the tariff and driven the farmers off the railroad line—back to the team driving system again. He has dismissed old servants on the plea of incapacity, whom the people had long looked upon as immovable fixtures. He has cut down the number of officials to the lowest possible figure. He has transferred the whole of the New Brunswick railroad system, or as much as was transferable, to this side of the Bay of Fundy. When our representatives were appealed to by their angry constituents for as redress of all real or imaginary grievance; and said representatives rushed into the head office to escape the gathering storm; all the satisfaction they could get, was the reply that the general Superintendent was "not going to make the railway a stalking horse for politicians." Down upon the back of all this, as if to make the storm as furious as possible, then came two sad accidents, by each of which the life of an engineer was lost; of course the anti and annexation sheets could'nt let a mare's nest like this remain undisturbed. You may have some idea of the deep feeling that were stirred when the public prints could produce such sentiments as the following:—"The greatest curse that Candida has yet inflicted upon Nova Scotia was Carrell, Esq." Now I am inclined to think that the changes introduced may ultimately result in a marked improvement. But they were introduced far too suddenly. If Mr. Carrell were the servant of a private company, he would have to consult the share-holders in making such sweeping changes as he has done; and surely the mere accident of numbers ought not to change the proper course. We have here, nearly half a million of persons who were so lately shareholders in the Nova Scotian Railway, that they have not yet got over the idea that they own it still. Mr. Carrell ought to have regarded their feelings a little, and introduced his changes in a more gradual, and he would probably in that case have done so in a more peaceful manner.

My paper, as you may see is about full, and hoping to have something more interesting in my next,

I remain, &c.,

Nothing similar is in existence in Canada, and none of the many useful inventions for various agricultural and mechanical purposes have met with such a demand in the same time. The price is low and is counterbalanced in a short time by the saving in fuel. TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1860.
Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1859 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Hunley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Lovett Street, long afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

Messrs. J. N. HARRIS & Co.,

Gs. ?8,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best cure or remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and with producing expectoration of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per Bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents,

"A Mothers Dairy."

Morning ! Baby on the floor,
Making fun to fonder ;
Sunlight seems to make him sneeze,
Baby "on a bender !"
All the spools spect and gone,
Chair cane little,
Harnessed strings all strung across,
Ought to make one smile.

Apron clean, curls smooth, eyes blue,
(How those charms will dwindle !)
For I rather think—don't you ?—
Baby is "a swindle?"

Noon ! A tangled, silken floss,
Getting in blue eyes,
Apron that will not keep clean,
If a baby tries !
One shoe untied, and one
Underneath the table,
Chairs gone mad, and blocks and toys,
Well as they are able ;
Baby in a high-chair, too,
Yelling for his dinner,
Spoon in mouth ; I think,—don't you ?—
Baby is awakin' !

Night ! Chairs all set back again,
Blocks and spools in order ;
One blue shoe beneath a mat
Tells of a wanderer.
Apron foulded on the chair,
Plaid dress torn, and wrinkled,
Two pink feet, kicked pretty bare,
Little bit tousled,
In his crib, and conquered, too,
By sleep, blest evangel,
Now I surely think,—don't you ?—
Baby is an angel !

Befriending Young People.

When John Wesley saw a young man in danger of falling into the snare of evil associates, he did not turn the cold shoulder to him. He did not watch him sharply at a distance, and speak of his short comings to others, predicting that he was "on the high road to ruin."

He invited him to his table, and by a genial, affable manner, sought to give him good subjects for thought, or hints for conduct. Advice thus hospitably enforced was very impressive. He would draw out a young man in conversation, and learn what studies he was most deficient in, which were essential to his success, and then assist him to acquire the mastery of them.

Another most valuable way of aiding a young man whom social dangers threatened, was to make him acquainted with well disposed, religious young men, who would lead him into good paths. Then he watched over their future career with a father's interest and tenderness. Then in a very simple manner he accomplished a vast amount of good, besides preventing a world of evil.

This Christian duty of hospitality is too much neglected by Christians. They lose by inhospitality many precious opportunities of doing good and of getting good. There is nothing that endears the heart of the young and of the stranger more than a warm home welcome from those on whom they have no claim. It opens the heart's door wide to receive impressions of good and fills the memory with grateful remembrances.

"That Woman is a Christain if ever there was one," said a poor printer boy to me about a kind old lady who had befriended him in his loneliness and poverty. She had given him many a meal when hungry, or called him into her pleasant doorway to receive a pocketful of cakes, and once when sick, had taken him into her home and nursed him with a mother's tenderness. That boy is a man now, but the memory of those little kindness will never fade from his heart.

If you wish to do good to the young, prove yourself indeed a generous, loving friend to them.—Sunday School Times.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, for this not but efficient purgative Pills. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Hence the great tried it, know that it cured them: those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that when it does once it does always —that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositions. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and constitutions, they are efficacious

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continued for some time, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. Under such circumstances a cure follows.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often the best aperient that can be taken where derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN

RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heal, Pulverizing medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care as the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—to that no spurious substitutes or worthless root can possibly be mixed with the parcel.

At costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in their behalf. But the wonderful improvements it has secured is the curative range of Dr. Radway's Resolvent, over especially the

pays for the outlay over and over again ; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine thus scientifically prepared, and made accessible—strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful without the waste and broken down constitutions, of

Dr. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
It CONVERTS ALBUMEN INTO LIVING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It purifies the blood, which is the source of health-making properties.
It cures all Scrofula and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat, and Skin, Tumors, &c.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the waste.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It cures Scrofula, Scrofulous Sores, and Tumors.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It cures Piles, Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It cures all Female Complaints peculiar to every change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their organs are still in existence to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs are not destroyed beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and destruction arrested, and the elements of decay that now exist be dissolved from the system. Even in cases where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, diseased, and their functions destroyed and suspended, when altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years ; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wasted and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, Secondary SYPHILIS, and the taint of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the LUNGS, SKIN, KIDNEYS, Bladder or Cellular Tissue ; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and curedby the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Bowels, the Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in the health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition, and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs, and each of these Organs will receive their proper constituent secretions. Instantly Urine Pills, the Pancreatic Juice and other Fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these functions will be excluded for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If Scrofulous Pain be in the bones on the system, to correct these secretions, and in no case such organs be destroyed, and to strengthen in proper functions, health can never be restored : happily for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important result and has hereto ore existed in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or enervated in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of the Resolvent upon the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairs, will so change the system with such constituents as to resolve and expel from the blood and decomposed tissues and supply its place with sound and living structure, aided by rich, pure, and strong blood chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent is on the substances of the diseased matter in its process of digestion into Organs and Chyle, so that it made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering to the circulation, it changes every atom of virus from the blood, and renders every atom of deposits of disease, whether made by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, as Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, Nitrate of Silver, Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, glands, cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family taint, and that which is the most difficult to remove.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, mercury and badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Disease, Chronic Sore Eyes, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Rose Rash, Erysipelas, Acne, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all wasting and Scrofulous Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sexual Desire, all wastes of the Life Principle, are the active range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days or weeks will prove to any person using it for either of these diseases IT POSSESS HS potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Stricture, and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and Retention of Urine relieved by Sponge or Water, or Palliative Discharges are speedily and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Travellers, Montreal.

G Donault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his leg, that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, taking with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief, in used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's pills, and used as a lotion, a wash of Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. He is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than two dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, and a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. He son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB OF SCROFULA, entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of Humors.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 31, 1868.

DR. RADWAY :—This is to certify that I was afflicted with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I would gladly give. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have left me, and I feel my health fully recovered. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any—nothing until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER,

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, DEC. 27.

INTERCOLONIAL.—The Intercolonial Railway Commissioners are expected in Ottawa this week, and it is reported that two or three sections of the road will be let out for contract.

ARRIVED.—We are glad to learn that Hon. Mr. Campbell, Post Master General, has returned from Europe, much improved in health. He arrived at Ottawa on the 24th instant.

FIREMEN'S BALL.—We are requested to state that Independent Fire Company No. 2 intend giving their first annual ball in Ontario Hall on New Years Eve. Good music has been engaged for the occasion.

DEATH OF THOS. DONNELLY, Esq.—Within a very short time death has made sad havoc among the prominent men in the neighboring Town of Picton. It is but a short time since we were called upon to record the death of Sheriff Thorp and Dr. Moore, the oldest Dr. in the County, and it is our melancholy duty now to record the demise of Thomas Donnelly, which sad event took place at his residence, Picton, on the 23rd Dec. Mr. Donnelly, says the Picton Gazette, "contracted a severe cold about a week ago, which became settled, resulting in inflammation of the lungs, from the effects of which he died. He was in his 55th year, and was a resident of Picton for a long time. At one time he published the Picton Gazette, and from that time forward, and even earlier, his fine literary talents shone forth, the pride of his friends, and the wonder and envy of his enemies. As a public speaker he was the readiest and most brilliant in our midst, for many years; and combined with all these he had a genial disposition which made his presence felt and appreciated wherever he went."

St. John's Day.

At noon to-day the Brethren of the various Lodges in Belleville, assembled at the Lodge room, when the following officers were installed:

After luncheon the Brethren mustering about one hundred, headed by the Belleville Band, marched in procession through the principal streets to St. Thomas' Church, where an impressive and instructive discourse was delivered by Bro. the Rev. G. A. Anderson. After service the Brethren proceeded to the Lodge room, where the ceremonies of the day were concluded in due form.

This evening the Brethren dine at Bro. Borridale's hotel.

—A fat heifer while being led to market in Hamilton, broke loose, and attacked a number of men, breaking the ribs of one, and so severely injuring Capt. Zealand, an old man 76 years old, that he died a few hours after. The Captain served under Lord Nelson, at Copenhagen, was in the navy on the Lakes in 1812, and the last man who left the steamer Caroline in 1837, before she was sent over the Falls.

Presentation and Supper.

On Christmas Eve a number of the employes of Messrs. A. S. Page & Co., entertained Mr. W. Jones, of that firm, at an Oyster Supper at Hambly's Saloon, to which a number of guests were invited. The supper was served in excellent style. A. Diamond, Esq., Police Magistrate, by request of the entertainers, occupied the Chair, and Mr. Mathew Thompson the Vice Chair. After Supper the usual loyal toasts were proposed, when, in a very happy manner, the Chairman gave the health of "the guest," speaking of him in the highest terms of recommendation, as a gentleman who had not only won the good opinion and affection of those in his employ, but the respect of every one who knew him, and ended by calling upon Mr. G. H. Pope, who read the following address:—

To WILLIAM JONES, Esq., Belleville.

We the undersigned appreciating your kindness, since we have been in your employ, beg respectfully to present to you these Jewels, as a token of our high regard for your manly character and affable bearing towards us; and beg of you to accept them, not for their intrinsic value but as evidencing a desire on our part to acknowledge your generosity.

D. L. COMINS. W. M. THOMPSON.
J. H. VROMAN. A. W. CARSCALLEN.
G. H. POPE. W. BLACK.
J. B. MOORE. F. V. CANNIFF.
W. M. MILLS.

Mr. Pope, on behalf of himself and others, then presented Mr. Jones with two solid gold Masonic Jewels of the finest workmanship, namely, a Mark Master's and a Royal Arch Master's Jewel.

Mr. Jones returned thanks, briefly thanking those with whom he had been connected as employer and employees, for the good opinion they had formed of him, and trusted that, as in the past, so might it be in the future, that their intercourse might be mutually beneficial to each other. The valuable gift was a surprise to him, and he valued it the more from the motives which actuated the donors in making the presentation. He would ever wear them with pride, and hoped that they might all live long to enjoy each others' company, and could only regret that all present were not Masons.

Volunteer toasts followed, among them, "The Employes of Messrs. Page & Co.," by Mr. Garrett, and acknowledged by Messrs. Pope, Thompson and others. Mr. Thompson gave "Our Guests," to which Messrs. Glass, Sutherland and Moore, responded. Mr. Bowell gave "the health of A. S. Page," the head of the firm, speaking of him as a man of whom any community might feel proud, as a man of business and as a private citizen. Mr. Jones acknowledged the compliment, saying that Mr. Page merited all that had been said of him, for he had not many equals in any respect. Some excellent songs were sung during the evening by Mr. Alex. Webster and Mr. G. H. Maybee. At 12 o'clock the company sang "Auld Lang Syne," and wishing each other a Merry Christmas, separated.

RED RIVER.

MORE ABOUT THE INSURRECTION.

THE REBELS ISSUE A DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

COL. DENNIS SENDS FORTH A PROCLAMATION.

AN INTERVIEW WITH MR. McDOUGALL PROPOSED.

From the Toronto Telegraph

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 25.—A letter to the St. Paul Pioneer, dated Pembina, Dec. 19th, says the rebel proclamation was well received by three fourths of the population.

The 45 prisoners captured will be held for the present.

McDougall remains secluded here from the public. Nothing new since the declaration was issued.

Col. Dennis has disbanded his forces, and issued a proclamation.

The Pioneer editorial says:—"We publish to-day a declaration of independence by Brouse and Riell, who represent the main body of the insurgents in the Red River country. They cut loose from the Hudson Bay Company and the Government of the Dominion, but do not claim themselves independent of the British Government. A suspension of public opinion and of our sympathies is probably the most judicious thing that the American people can do under the circumstances. There has been a great deal of humbug intermingled with this bloodless warfare. There are, of course, right sides as well as wrong sides to the question. If this is really a case where a suffering and oppressed people are struggling for freedom, they are entitled to our sympathies. If, however, other circumstances render it a mere strife of partizan chieftains for supremacy in the Councils of the colony, that is another, and their own matter entirely. We have, as yet, heard but one side. Let us hear all that they all have to say, and then form our own conclusions."

The following is Col. Dennis' proclamation:—

LOWER FORT GARRY,
RED RIVER SETTLEMENT, Dec. 9, 1869.

To all whom it may Concern.

By certain printed papers of a late date put in circulation by the Welch party, communications with the Lieut.-Governor is indicated with a view to laying before him the alleged rights on the part of those now in arms. I think that course very desirable, and that it would lead to good results. Under the belief that the party in arms are sincere in their desire for peace, and feeling that to abandon for the present the call on the loyal to arms, would, in view of such communication, relieve the situation of much embarrassment, and so contribute to bring about peace, and save the country from what will otherwise end in ruin and desolation. I now call on and order the loyal party in the Southwest Territories to cease further action under the appeal to arms made by me, and I call on the French party to satisfy the people of their sincerity in wishing for a peaceful ending of all these troubles by sending a deputation to the Lieutenant-Governor at Pembina without unnecessary delay.

Given under my hand at the Lower Fort Garry, this 9th day of December, 1869.

(Signed) J. S. DENNIS,
Lieut. Col. and Conservator.

It is stated that Mr. McDougall has made every arrangement for leaving Pembina in case his return to Canada should be found necessary. He has a number of traineaux or sleds ready, with which he will start in case his efforts for a perceful settlement fail. If an interview is held with the insurgents he will then decide what is best to be done.

From the Toronto Globe.

A private letter, dated Fort Garry, Dec. 7, says the revolutionary party has, through a series of mistakes, estranged entirely the English speaking population. They now see the consequences of their errors, and are seeking to repair them. The great obstacle is the want of money; still, the French soldiers serve enthusiastically. A letter dated Fort Garry, Dec. 11th, from a prominent insurgent, gives his peculiar ideas at length in the following overflowing style:—"Some time ago we arose to a man in defence of our rights. We respected the invaders of our rights while they, unable to obtain reinforcements from Canada resort to infernal stratagems, and McDougall authorizes Col. Dennis to issue a proclamation in the Queen's name, calling upon all loyal subjects to take up arms against the rebels."

A letter, dated Pembina, 13th, says:—"Upon the surrender of the Canadian party to Riel, Mrs. Dr. Shultz insisted on accompanying her husband to prison. Riel refused her request; but she persisted, and the doctor had his cutter brought, and he and his wife were driven to Fort Garry.—Ammunition was found stowed by the bushel in Shultz's house. Col. Dennis left the house in disguise, and made his way to the Lower Fort Garry. News from Lower Fort has been received that Dennis has started for the United States, and that many of his English half breeds are returning to Fort Garry."

A letter dated Pembina 13th, which accompanies the copy of the Queen's Proclamation says:—"We have important communications from the settlement, but they can't be translated in time for this mail, but will go by the next."

A Fort Garry letter dated December 11th, from an Insurgent, says:—"People of America, we your neighbors of Red River Settlement, hasten to offer you our heartfelt thanks for your encouragement and approbation. We need encouragement, for ours is a struggle for life or death. America has advocated our case before the world; she defends us young aspirants for liberty from our enemies by her protection and approbation. Upon seizing the loyalists we quartered them in Fort Garry prison. They told us that on the evening previous to its surrender they were busily engaged in preparing a diabolical snare. When we took possession of the evacuated premises, we discovered large quantities of gunpowder hidden in the flooring, under carpets and in the fireplaces, and revolvers and firearms loaded and placed in position to destroy life. Altogether we found about thirty kegs of powder, which had it been ignited would not only have destroyed our men, but would have burned down the town of Winnepeg.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

Canadian Cheese in England.

DEAR SIR,—The manufacturing of Cheese is one of vital importance to a large portion of the progressive farmers in the County of Hastings, and any information respecting either the home or foreign trade in that article of consumption, I imagine will interest a few of your readers.

During the present year I visited England, spending a few days in Wensleydale, in Yorkshire, which is diversified by hill and dale. During a drive of twenty miles not an acre of land was ploughed, all was in grass, either meadow or pasture land. It has long been famous for its Stilton Cheese which brought a high price in the Colliery district; the writer of this, however, saw that even there, in the villages, Canadian Cheese had made its way and was sold to those sturdy sons of the soil when they refreshed themselves with bread and cheese to their beer, and frequently elicited the remark that it was Wesley Cheese.

I visited Liverpool, Manchester, Blackburn, Sunderland and Newcastle on Tyne, making it a point to call at several Cheese Factories; in each of these places I saw what was exceedingly pleasing to a Canadian, numerous labels decorated the provision shops with "Canadian Cheese," "Prime Canadian Cheese," printed upon them; not one with "American Cheese," showing the high position Canadian Cheese has gained in the minds or stomachs of John Bull and Sir, as well as your informant, to see a label, "Prime Canadian Cheese," stuck on a wretched looking "Cheshire Cheese," and when the grocer was asked if that was Canadian, he said that it was Cheshire, then why, said I, defame the fame of Canadian. The reason is easily seen, he palmed Cheshire upon his customers at the price of Canadian, for a firm largely engaged in the sale of English Cheese in Manchester informed me that our Cheese was selling one penny per pound higher than their best "Cheshire."

Thomasburg Cheese of August make, was seen in a shop in Manchester which was purchased at Liverpool for sixty-eight shillings per cwt. A Cheese Factory in Blackburn purchased a lot of Hungerford Cheese from Blackburn & Co., Liverpool, at 66s 6d per cwt.

The high character of Canadian Cheese would be easily maintained by Factories retaining their culls or any cheese tainted or injured in its manufacture, and selling these to be consumed at home, and when shipping, the box lids should be fastened with tin in the same manner as butter firkins, the cheese would then arrive in better condition, and would command a higher price. Cheese was seen on Liverpool dock from Hastings, which would not pay "freight."

The general impression among Cheese Factors was that Factories here held large stocks of Cheese and that when these came forward cheese would recede, but so long as Bacon sells for 8d or 9d per lb., cheese will command high prices.

I remain,
Seymour, Dec. 20th 1869. CANADA.

—On the 13th Dec. the following shipment passed through the American Consul books in Kingston; Venison, $589 23; 16 horses, $1,153 50; 69 head of cattle, $1,848; 1 pig, $17 50; 136 sheep, $477 70; 1 box poultry, $8; 1,399 lbs butter, $367 07; total, $5,956 57.

—The Grand Trunk Railroad has removed all obstructions on each side of the track from Belleville to Island Rond, so that the new patent snow plough has a sweep of 17½ feet. It throws the snow completely away from the region of the track by means of wings that can be expanded at pleasure, which will sometimes throw the snow across the fences. It is made very heavy so as not to be thrown from the track and has a room and stove inside of it for men. It requires several men to manage it.

DR. J. BRIGGS' Pile Remedy is acknowledged by all who have tried it (and their name is Legion) to be the best, most successful and efficacious Remedy ever used for that disease. Sold by Druggists.

For Colds, Cough, Bronchitis, Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs, Dr. J. Briggs' "Throat and Lung Healer" is a certain and reliable Remedy. Sold by Druggists.

PILES may be caused by anything that will irritate the lower bowels, producing a determination of blood to the rectum, as drastic cathartics, from the extensive use of which in past years the disease has become very common, habitual constipation, straining at stool, diseases of the liver, much riding on horseback, tight stays, sedentary habits, high living, heating, irritating food, &c. Dr. J. Briggs' unrivalled Pile Remedy, remarkable for its superior excellence, should be used for this painful affliction. All who have tried it do not hesitate to recommend it in the highest terms. Sold by Druggists and Country Merchants generally. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors, 209 Broadway, N. Y., and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

GENTLEMEN,—A report having been circulated that I am ineligible for the office of Councillor, I beg to say that I have taken eminent legal opinion on the subject, and find that there is no obstacle in the way. I, therefore, respectfully ask for your votes and support; if elected, I shall use my best judgment for your interests.

$10 PER DAY in gold can be made by live agents canvassing for Johnston's Patent Air-tight Weather Protectors. Awarded Extra Prize at the Provincial Exhibition, 1869. Around doors and windows they completely exclude frost, snow, wind or rain. Apply at once to T. FOLEY & CO., LINDSAY, ONT.

WEATHER PROTECTORS.—This much needed and welcome invention is meeting with universal favor both in Canada and the United States. Nothing similar is in existence in Canada, and none of the many useful inventions for various agricultural and mechanical purposes have met with such a demand in the same time. The price is low and is counterbalanced in a short time by the saving in fuel. In summer it keeps out rain and dust; in winter, wind, cold, frost, snow, etc. Awarded Extra Prize at Provincial Exhibition, 1869. Agents Wanted. Address T. FOLEY & CO., LINDSAY, ONT.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to say more than a decisive discussion of its merits. Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom, if ever, resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1869.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1853 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give 'Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry' a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it now are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, and relieves without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. Sold by all Druggists selling Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents, —A Montreal telegram says a large number of French Canadians are in favor of the Red River insurgents.

A St. Louis dame, who is seeking a divorce, makes a strong point against her lord in the avertment that he gets tearing mad whenever his stockings are starched stiff.

—A return issued last week shows that the number of gallons of British spirits returned for consumption in Scotland was, in 1865, 5,198,607; in 1866, 5,436,475; in 1867, 4,983,009; and in 1868, 4,907,701. In England, the number of gallons retained for consumption was, in 1865, 11,238,135; in 1866, 11,717 111; in 1867, 11,323,713; and in 1868, 11,327,223. In Ireland the number was, in 1865, 4,374,443; in 1866, 5,036,814; in 1867, 4,892,654; and in 1868 4,773,710.

—Mr. Chatterson, of Napanee purchased a large bear last spring, and has been fattening him for the oil since. The 21st Dec. was appointed for the destruction of Bruin, and Benjamin Allison, Esq., of Tyendinaga was chosen to shoot him. He performed the operation splendidly, bringing him down the first shot. After laying half an hour, and to all appearances dead, he was hauled into the barn and windlassed clear of the floor, when he turned himself up and commenced to unloose the ropes from around his feet. There were about 60 or 70 people in the barn, but in less than a minute it was clear, and with some difficulty a rope was got over his head and through a ring in the floor, which brought him down, and he was soon despatched with a knife. He was very fat and weighed about 400 pounds. A large crowd witnessed the scene.

CONSUMPTION.—Mr. Samuel Lewis, an old esteemed resident of Cincinnatti for many years, writes as follows:—On the 22nd of November last, I sent you a statement of the great benefit that I had received from Allen's Lung Balsam, at which time I was not altogether cured; but now I am happy to say I have recovered my health. Previous to using the Balsam, I was exceedingly low, my friends thought I could not possibly get well, I would cough for hours at a time, and would raise large quantities of phlegm, mixed with corrupted matter. I would recommend all those afflicted with the last stages of Consumption, to give this Balsam a trial. In truth, I may say it has saved my life.

CATARRH, a disease which distresses us and disgusts our friends, can be instantly relieved and quickly cured by using Dr. J. Briggs' Allevantor, an invaluable Remedy for all pain and inflammation. Sold by all Druggists.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS's COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. THE CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks.—"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœpathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Indispensable to all desirous of being well informed on the great subjects of the day.

4. The North British Review,

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Billious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Billious Colic and Billious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

NEW

CHEMICAL PRINCIPLES

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN

RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Fat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care at the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone. But the wonderful improvements it has secured in the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.

IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.

It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.

It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat and Skin and body.

It increases the weight and appetite.

IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.

It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.

It exterminates the products of decay.

It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.

It makes the skin clear and beautiful.

It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.

It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.

It makes the water clear and pass freely.

It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted.

It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the wastes and decompositions stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Scrofulous Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine Bile, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored; happily for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important want that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertized as Blood Purifyers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairs, will so charge the system with such constituents as to resolve and exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and resolves away all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, or Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are inconvenienced by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully recovered. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER, Commercial Agent for Ontario.

Beautiful Clouds.

Like funerals passing with hearses and plumes,
Solemnly, silently, on to the tombs;
Rolling along through the ether on high,
When the moon seems to rest in the wintry sky,
Grand in yon mingling of palls and of clouds,
Clouds, clouds, beautiful clouds.

Dyed in the beautiful hues of the west, (west;
When the lingering beams coax ye home to the
Like ships that are laden with value untold,
Afloat on an ocean of liquified gold,
Or on wings as if angels had gathered in crowds,
Clouds, clouds, beautiful clouds.

Like ermine encircled with Luna's bright hue,
Like gauze with the eyes of the stars peeping through,
Like gossamer robes that the spirits had thrown,
To hasten their flight to their distant unknown;
Or black with heaven's thunder, or whiter than shrouds,
Clouds, clouds, beautiful clouds.

Ye clouds of our lives, ye are beautiful too,
However apparently dismal your hue;
Your blessings descending in merciful showers,
But fit us for gladness in summer hours,
And still ye are ever, though sorrow enshrouds,
Clouds, clouds, beautiful clouds.

Belleville, Dec. 17. 1869.

The Clerical Market.

It may not be generally known that there are establishments in town where clergymen of the Church of England can be obtained in the same manner (except that they are not "on view") as hired domestics. "Strong, active, willing" clergymen, as maids-of-all-work advertise themselves; clergymen with or without incumbrances; clergymen who, in addition to thoroughly performing the duties of their office, will throw in an extra or two such as "can intone," "can train a choir," just as the lady's maid intimates she can "dress hair," or "understands millinery." A good plain clergyman can be procured at a very reasonable rate, and a chaplain for private use at almost next to nothing. There are periodicals also—two of which are now lying before us—which concern themselves solely with that curious branch of social economy, the supply and demand of ecclesiastics. It would abate the rancor of some of our Ritualist friends, who are so given to cry against the bloated church, and to see a purse pound parson in every gentleman with a white tie, to cast their eyes over these instructive pages. Their indignation would then be turned to wonder at the fact of so many divines being able to afford white ties at all. At this present writing, there are, it seems, 200 clergymen of the Church of England "wanting places," and the salaries they demand are certainly not of an ambitious character. There is only one town who, with unconscious self-satire, has described its "views" as "moderate"—who ventures to demand £180 a year. Only seven aspire to £150. A single living underbids these by £19. Thirty five ask for £120; and the other one hundred or so of reverend gentlemen are actually going—or wanting to go—for £100 (nine of them); going for £90 (three of them; going for £80 (six of them); going for £70 (eight of them); going for £60—the price of a butler—(four of them); going for £50 (one of them); and even (one of them) going for "10s. 6d. a service, and his travelling expenses;" below which, one is not surprised to find clergymen of the Church of England are not to be had, but (we suppose) are "bought in." The spiritual services of all these two hundred divines could be annually secured, therefore, for £2,000 a year—two-fifths of the price paid for one bishop. Here is an opportunity for some good lady, attached to the clergy, and with a handsome pointure, to provide herself with a whole army of preachers; or for that faithful but genial son of the church, who is said after an overnight bowl of "Bishop," to have called in the morning for a soda and man, instead of a soda and brandy. Chamber's Journal, Fun and Improved Series.

Returning from divine service in Chicago, one Sunday, good little Billy ——'s ideas of propriety had been shocked by the wonderful attire of some little female friends, who displayed uncommonly lowneck dresses, which moved him to say unto his maternal parent: "It's poor business for folks to go to church just to show their clothes." "Why, my son, you must not judge those little girls; we cannot see their hearts." Can't see their hearts! exclaimed Billy; "well, I should think you might—their dresses were low enough, I'm sure!"

A Girl of the Age.—A paper thus describes a specimen of this genius in New York: "She went to the theatre and two parties in one evening, carried on three flirtations at each, and the next day refused three offers of marriage, accepted two, and broke off three previous engagements, read four novels, wrote two letters and one hundred notes of invitation, practised her music lesson, made herself a new waterfall, ate breakfast, lunch, and dinner enough for two milkmen; took a walk on Fifth Avenue, bought two pounds of French candy, and ate it, rode to the Central Park with one of her lovers, and walked home with the other."

To the Municipal Electors of the Town of Belleville.

Gentlemen:—I beg to offer myself as a Candidate for the Mayoralty for the ensuing year. Having faithfully served the Town in the capacity of Councillor for the past six years, and my term of office expiring with the present year, I feel that I can consistently ask your support for the position of Mayor.

Should you do me the honor to elect me, I trust that the large property interest which I have in the Town of Belleville—my long residence and past experience, will be a sufficient guarantee that I will discharge the duties with fidelity, impartiality—and I trust with credit to our flourishing and prosperous Town.

I have the honor, to be,
Gentlemen, yours faithfully,
ALEX. ROBERTSON.

BONTER vs. FROST.—Rule absolute to enter a verdict for tenant. Another case in which it has been held that the deed signed by Mrs. Bonter barred her Dower in the Hermer property.

RED RIVER.—The London Times of the 7th inst., referring to a report current that the Canadian Government had not paid over the money due on the 1st inst., on account of the Red River Territory purchase, owing to a difficulty as to the title, says it is stated the sum has been deposited, but that its payment to the Hudson Bay Company is delayed owing to the disturbances at Red River.

CHURCH OPENING AND TEA MEETING.—The Centre, formerly known as the Brickman appointment, Ameliasburg, will be opened for divine worship, on Thursday Dec. 30th. Services at 11 A. M., and at 6.30 P. M., conducted by Rev. G. R. Sanderson. Tea Meeting on Friday evening, 31st inst., at 7 P. M., when addresses will be delivered by Messrs. W. W. Dean and P. Holden. Music by I. Diamond and Choir.

"HEARTH AND HOME.—The Christmas number of this choice illustrated weekly is one quite appropriate to the season, and contains much to interest, amuse and instruct. It is one of the most readable family journals published in the States. With the number before us, is given in sheet form, set to music, the prize song for which the sum of $100 was awarded to the publishers. It is called, "A Song of the Hearth and Home," and is a production of considerable merit. "Hearth and Home" is published at $4 per annum.

ST. GEORGE'S CONCERT AND BALL.—The Concert and Ball under the auspices of the St. George's Society, at Ontario Hall to-morrow evening promises to be the affair of the season. The committee of management are making every possible arrangement to that end. The splendid Band of the Royal Canadian Rifles, to be present, will be a great attraction of itself. The programme for the Concert is an excellent one, and includes the names of some possessing a great reputation. The success attending former efforts of the St. George's Society in their entertainments will no doubt be repeated in this instance.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.—On Friday, the 17th inst., as Mr. Ignatus Nightingale, of Ameliasburg, was returning home from Picton, where he had been serving as a juryman, in attempting to cross the ice from near Redners' storehouse on the high shore in Sophiasburgh, to Huff Island, he fell through the ice and was drowned. It was in the dusk of the evening, and although help must have been near when the accident occurred, yet he was neither seen nor heard by any person, nor did his family suspect that evil had befallen him till he had been several days under the water. The event, so deeply sad to the bereaved family, has cast a gloom over the entire neighborhood, for wherever he was known he was much respected. His body was not found till Christmas day, the 25th inst.

JORDAN A HARD ROAD TO TRAVEL.—The Toronto Leader of yesterday says:—A little circumstance the recital of which should have a cheering effect upon the feelings of the proprietors of some of our contemporaries, and for whose benefit, as well as for that of delinquents generally we will state it. On Friday last a young man—the son of a well-to-do farmer called at the post office in this city, and enquired of the postmaster Mr. Joseph Lesslie, where his father, Mr. Joseph Lesslie could be found. Upon being informed, he stated that his father, who was then on his death bed, had remembered that he owed Mr. Lesslie a balance as a subscription to the Examiner for nineteen years, and that he wished the debt paid before he died, as he feared that any man who departed this life without paying the printer would find "Jordan a hard road to travel." The account was settled, and the old man quietly resigned himself to depart to that world where he will find his last payment cheerfully placed to his credit.

FOR THE FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD. We can confidently recommend all our readers to promptly provide themselves with the American Agriculturist for 1870. We have received the first number of the 29th Annual Volume, and find it filled with a large amount of exceedingly practical and useful information, not only on every subject pertaining to soil culture, including the Garden, the Lawn, and Flower bed, and the care of the little plots of the City and Village homestead, but also for the Housekeeper and the Children. Many excellent engravings, both beautiful and instructive, give additional interest to every number. Taken altogether the American Agriculturist is one the most beautiful and valuable journals in the world, equally adapted to City, Village, and Country while it is a marvel of Cheapness, owing to its unprecedented circulation, which divides the cost of preparation among so many, that a great deal can be given to each. Terms, $1.50 a year: four copies $5, or ten copies for $12. It is richly worth all its costs and more. Orange Judd & Co., Publishers, 245 Broadway, New York.

Forty-fourth Annual Report of the Wesleyan Methodist Missionary Society.

This document has been printed and circulated. It contains a record of the business of the proceedings of the Society from June 1868, to June 1869, and other valuable information, of which we shall confine ourselves to a short synopsis:—

"The Society has Stations, Missionaries, Schools, Teachers and Interpreters in the following places:—
Hudson's Bay, Saskatchewan and British Columbia—Indian Missions	23
To the Settlers at British Columbia and Red River	6
German—Berlin	5
French—Ontario and Quebec	3
Domestic Missions—Ontario and Quebec	136
Total number of Missions	174

"These are supplied with the ordinary means of grace by 180 Missionaries, whose time is wholly occupied in the varied duties of a Missionary pastorship. To the smaller bands of Indians in the vicinity of a Circuit or Domestic Mission, the Committee remunerate Ministers for a supply of the regular ordinances. On the Indian Missions there are 15 Interpreters, 16 Day Schools and 16 Teachers, making a total paid agency of 223, besides a number acting under the direction of Chairmen of Districts on the Domestic Missions. The whole are assisted by Local Preachers, Exhorters, Leaders, Sabbath School Superintendents and Teachers, who render valuable gratuitous aid in carrying on the work of God on all the Stations occupied by the Society. There is also an Industrial School at Mauceyin vigorous and successful operation.

"The membership embraces 2,113 Indians, 227 Germans, 53 French, 14,497 on the Domestic Missions, 35 in Red River and the Saskatchewan, and 156 in British Columbia,—making a total of 17,091 in Church fellowship."

The means to carry on these operations are raised from the following sources:—

	$82,474 19

The increase on the Society's ordinary income for the year ending June 30th, 1868, as compared with the year ending June 30th, 1869, is $2,091 54. The total expenditure for the year is $85,-911 11; being an excess of Expenditure over income for the year of $3,284 92.

Towards this fund the Belleville District contributes $4,378 85 as follows:—

Bannockburn	250 00
Denbigh	250 00

Total	$2050 00

The reports from the Ministers on the different Missions, shew that the work in which they are engaged is progressing.

In Marmora the Rev. Mr. Doxsee says:—

"At the beginning of the year we had no Connexional property. Now we have a lot for a Church and Parsonage, upon which we have erected a house 32 x 24, at a cost of about $700, with a debt of only $150. The report of our membership is, 2 removed, 1 died, 11 dropped, 39 removed by changing boundaries. Members, 57; on trial, 7; total, 64.

On the Tilston and Addington Road the Rev. John Corbett reports:—

"Since your Missionary came to this field of labor, no less than twenty-five families have left the place. Many of them were either members of the Church or hearers of the Word. The soil is exceedingly poor. It is a well-known fact that some possessing land have been obliged for weeks during the past winter to live on dry bread, of an inferior kind. Rye is almost the only grain produced here. Our cause has a number of fast and true friends; but emigration is diminishing their numbers every year.

"We have of late been making some improvement as to Sabbath Schools. We have now two in operation, with libraries attached. These schools are only kept open in the summer season. To supply this deficiency, the Missionary's wife opened a Bible-class at the Parsonage for any one who could be near enough to attend. Members, 62."

The Rev. Thomas Lawson writing from Madoc, says of the Mission:—

"We have two Connexional Sabbath Schools in successful operation; arrangements are made to commence a third. There are also some Union Sabbath Schools at some of the appointments. One new Church has been built, which is a monument of the energy and liberality of a few poor but worthy members. In the village of Madoc, J. R. Ketcheson, Esq., has cancelled a note of $100 against the trust; and Bro. G. G. Wilson before he left for Montreal, finished the gallery, and presented it as a gift. Madoc will miss this liberal and excellent brother. Members, 233; on trial, 15."

The Rev. Wm. Norton reports 14 new members added to the Church on the Bannockburn Mission, that considerable advancement had been made towards the erection of a frame Church in the Town ship of Cashel, and that 50 acres of land had been secured at Millbridge, upon which to build a Parsonage, which was to be commenced last spring. The number of members were 52.

On the Denbigh Mission the Rev. Chas. E. Perry, states there are seven regular appointments; that last year 43 members were reported, and that this year there are 58 members and 7 on trial.

Of the Maynooth Mission, the Rev. Wm. Sutton writes:—

"In closing the year's business we find an increase of members, an upward tendency in Missionary and other funds, with an extension of our borders. Members, 38; on trial, 4."

Having given a synopsis of the general operations of the Canadian Wesleyan Missionary Society, and the particulars so far as they relate to this District, it may not be uninteresting to the general reader to give a recapitulation of the operations of the Parent Society in England, which are very extensive, showing that they have now under their control and sole management:—

Central or Principal Stations, called Circuits, occupied by the Society in various parts of the world	707
Chapels and other Preaching places	5,509
Ministers and Assistant Missionaries, including fifty-four Supernumeraries	979
Other paid Agents, as Catechists, Interpreters, Day School Teachers, &c	8,035
Unpaid Agents; as Sabbath School Teachers, &c	19,713

Masonic Dinner.

The Brethren assembled at Bro Borridale's Hotel at 7½ last evening, where a recherche repast was provided; in fact no pains or expense were spared to make it one of the best Dinners ever got up in Belleville. About 70 brethren sat down, and the whole affair was a success.

After dinner was disposed of the Brethren proceeded to drink the following standard toasts, W. Bro. P. D. Conger, presiding:

"The Queen and Craft"—God Save the Queen, Prince of Wales and Royal Family Song by Bro. Quinn.

"The Grand Master of Canada"—Responded to by W. Bro. Diamond and W. Bro. Taylor.

"The Deputy District Grand Master, P. E. D."—Song by Bro. Mackie, responded to by R. W. Bro. Henderson.

"Masons throughout the World."—Song by Bro. R. Quinn, responded to by Bro. Dickson.

"Masons' Wives and Bairns."—Responded to by Bros. W. H. Ponton, Alex. Robertson, and E. R. Benjamin.

"Masters Elect of their respective Lodges." Responded to by W. Bro. Conger and W. Bro. Pitceathly.

After which several Volunteer toasts followed, and the Brethren dispersed at 12 o'clock.

"Happy to meet, sorry to part, happy to meet again."

Red River.

The following additional intelligence from the North West Territory we take from to-day's papers:—"Letters from Pembina up to the sixteenth of December, are received—They Col. Dennis, after disbanding his forces and abandoning the lower fort, returned safely to Pembina. There was a strong feeling against him among the insurgents, on account of his raising Indian troops, and had he been captured he would, perhaps, have lost his life. The insurgents declare that had he waged war on them and caused bloodshed, Governor McDougall and his suite would all have been murdered. One of them says, were Governor McDougall and his party are preparing to return to Canada, and would probably leave Pembina in a few days. A newspaper will soon make its appearance in the Settlement to advocate the cause of the insurgents. The above is all from the usual sources. Nothing comes from the Canadian side.

The Chicago Tribune has received a despatch which, however, is only a repetition of what in substance is already given.—It says the discomfiture or failure of Col. Dennis, of McDougall's Staff, to enlist and arm the Indians saved the lives of McDougall and his suite. It says that Col. Dennis got back to the Governor's house on the evening of the 15th. The insurgents were after him but he got safely away. A letter says that the death had been decreed of Col. Dennis if captured. This is in revenge for Dennis's efforts to influence the Indians. Mr. McDougall and suite having given up all hopes of ever seeing the promised land, were preparing to get away. Their baggage would leave on the 17th and the party between the 17th and 20th. The insurgents would then be left in peaceful and quiet possession of their country.

—One of the most charming girls in Boston is about establishing a female barber shop—Ten sylphs are being put through a tuitionary course of barber for the opening. A sweet shave will cost twenty-five cents, and a seraphic shampoo half a dollar.

—The marriage portion of a young bride in olden times was a feather-bed, six chairs, a plain cherry-table and bureau, six cups and saucers, half a dozen teaspoons, and a lot of sand for sanding floors. Now, they expect a set of silver-plate, carved rosewood piano, marble-top tables for parlors, painted furniture for chambers. Brussels carpets, and other such fixings for show.

—A Gaines county paper, in view of recent defalcations, urges ministers of the Gospel to preach from the following text: "Every one is under the highest moral and religious obligation to earn his own living by useful service to society, and all attempts to speculate a living out of others are reprehensible in the sight of God and all just men." That is a sermon in itself.

Brick Pomeroy has rather a demoralized opinion of modern maidens, for he says, 'The good, square, honest lasses we knew in years agone seems like choice dreams compared to walking shep windows, the hair-peddling, ribbon flinging, teter tipping, gewgaws of humanity now called girls.'

ADVERTISING.—Mr. Fleming, of Messrs. J. Fleming & Son, coverlet weavers, gave us this week unmistakeable evidence, drawn from his own experience, of the value of advertising. He said that before he began to advertise in the Beacon, he did little or no business here. He advertised with us and business poured in. The advertisement stopped, and so did the business. Early last month, with a renewal of the advertisement, there was return of the business. A direct proof this of the advantage of advertising.—Stratford Beacon.

Grammar School Examination.

The semi-annual Examination of the pupils attending this Institution, took place on Wednesday the 22nd inst., in the presence of the Rev. John Grier, M. A., the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, and a goodly number of the parents and others interested in the cause of Education. The day was exceedingly unpropitious, nevertheless, there was almost a full muster of the scholars, whose countenances beamed with intelligence, health and happiness.

The Examination was conducted, though not exclusively, by the Teachers, and it embraced the various subjects ordinarily taught in Grammar schools. The manner in which the questions were put to the different classes showed at once that the object aimed at by the teachers was not to display a mere professional ingenuity, but to impart such instructions as will best qualify for the duties of after life; not to originate new faculties, but to draw out and give direction to the latent energies of the youthful mind. As might be expected from a systematic prosecution of the intellectual method of instruction, the answers were rendered in every department with a promptitude precision and accuracy which were creditable alike to the pupils, the teacher, and which fully sustain the high reputation of the School, as one where a sound and thorough classical and commercial education is guaranteed. It might be invidious to particularize, still the subject of History seemed to elicit the greatest degree of independence of thought on the part of the pupils, and which accordingly merited special commendation were the following viz., "History and Geometry," under the management of the Master, Mr. Alex. Burdon, Esq., and "General Mental Arithmetic," under the care of the Rev. Mr. Bood.

Since last examination, the names of seventy, two (72) scholars have been enrolled of whom eighteen were girls Of the latter who were only admitted about two months ago, several exhibited more than ordinary aptitude and proficiency in the higher branches, being fully equal to the furtherest advanced boys.

The Internal discipline of the School, seems to be administered with firmness, gentleness and good judgment, and upon the whole, the inhabitants of Belleville may be congratulated on the educational advantages which this Institution affords, advantages which might be greatly enhanced by enlarging the present accommodation, and increasing the teaching staff.

At the close of the Examination short addresses were delivered by the Principal, the Chairman and the Rev. Mr. Smith, and the Christmas vacation of two weeks was announced—an announcement which was hailed with the most joyous enthusiasm.—COM.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The public debt statement for the present month will show about the same decrease as last month.

ALABAMA CLAIMS.

Intelligence has again been received to the effect that it is the intention of Great Britain to send one of her ablest diplomatists to the United States, either to take the place of her present Minister, Mr. Thornton, or co-operate with him in the negotiation of a treaty for the settlement of the Alabama claims in view of the probable transfer to this city of the future official action between the governments.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27.—The greatest earthquake ever experienced in Eastern California and Nevada occurred about 6 o'clock last evening. The shock was felt with more or less severity at Sacramento, Marysville, Grass Valley, Nevada City, Iowa, Hill, and other neighboring towns. At Virginia City, Nevada walls were thrown down, door bells rung, and clocks stopped. Consternation was general. The shock was felt severely on the lowest levels of all the mines. Vibrations were felt north and south and lasted about 10 seconds. At Reno the shock was preceded by a low rumbling noise which lasted nearly two minutes, alarming the inhabitants. The express train bound west was detained about an hour between Wadsworth and Reno by large rocks and earth thrown on the track by the earthquake.

$10 PER DAY in gold can be made by live agents canvassing for Johnston's Patent Air-Tight Weather Protectors. Awarded Extra Prize at the Provincial Exhibition, 1869. Around doors and windows they completely exclude frost, snow, wind or rain. Apply at once to T. FOLEY & CO., LINDSAY, ONT.

WEATHER PROTECTORS.—This much needed and welcome invention is meeting with universal favor both in Canada and the United States. Nothing similar is in existence in Canada, and none of the many useful inventions for various agricultural and mechanical purposes have met with such a demand in the same time. The price is low and is counterbalanced in a short time by the saving in fuel. In summer it keeps out rain and dust; in winter, wind, cold, frost, snow, etc. Awarded Extra Prize at Provincial Exhibition, 1869. Agents Wanted. Address T. FOLEY & CO., LINDSAY, ONT.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits. Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1869.

MESSRS. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the sides and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 191

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & Co.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old: and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to ripe, thereby irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

SAD.

Somebody, whose bachelor friend has gone and got married, tells all about it, in the following poetical style:—

Not a lamp was heard, nor a joyous note,
As our friend to the bridal we hurried;
Not a wit discharged his farewell shot,
As the bachelor went to be married.

We married him quickly to save his fright,
Our heads from the sad sight turning;
And we sighed as we stood by the lamp's dim light,
To think he was not more discerning

To think that a bachelor free and bright,
And airy of the sex as we found him,
Should tie-to at the altar, and of night,
Be caught in the snare that bound him.

Few and short were the words he said,
Though of wine and cake partaking;
We escorted him home from the scene of dread,
While his knees were awfully shaking.

Slowly and sadly we marched him down,
From the first to the innermost story;
And we have never heard from, or seen the poor man,
Whom we left alone in his glory.

Josh Billings.

Indispensable to all desirous of being well informed on the great subjects of the day.

1. The Edinburgh Review.

This is the oldest of series. In its main features it still follows in the path marked out by Brougham, Jeffrey, Sydney Smith, and Lord Holland, its original founders and first contributors.

2. The London Quarterly Review, which commences its 125th volume with the January number, was set on foot as a rival to the Edinburgh, and it resolutely maintains its opposition in politics, and shows equal vigor in its literary department.

3. The Westminster Review

has just closed its 92d volume. Its post of literary ability now in its 81st volume, occupies a very high position in periodical literature. Passing beyond the narrow formalism of schools and parties, it appeals to a wider range of sympathies and a higher integrity of conviction.

5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine

was commenced 82 years ago. Equalling the Quarterlies in its loyalty and scientific discipline, it has won a wide reputation for the narratives and sketches which enliven its pages.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that no one scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofula is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organization undermines the constitution, and invites the attacks of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or about the vitals. In the latter, fatal tubercles may be and-lately deposited in the lungs or heart, or they formed in the liver, or it shoot its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcers in the throat or other parts of the body. Hence the necessity of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla in the house, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Prepared and sold by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass., and by all Druggists everywhere.

Ulcerations and Fever Sores are rapidly cured by such sores relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, published gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by the presence of uric acid or other poisonous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, and other Perversion of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising from the same cause. For Female Complaints it is a special favorite. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Nervous, and Apprehensive, or troubled with Horrible Apprehensions of Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this unrivalled remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the more dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, as indeed as all parents are more or less subject to these painful and dangerous complaints, it should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases, in every section of the country, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to health by the use of Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the lungs and throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When notice has gone forth that such cures are performed, the community will be prepared to learn that the most distressing of these complaints, even when seated in the vitals, are subdued and cured by this remedy.

Nothing like it has ever been known in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, and all Diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Consumptive persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the pectoral before exposure.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy action.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaint it is an excellent remedy. Many have been changed from sickly, suffering creatures, to the full fruition of vigorous health, by its use.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

CHEMICAL PRINCIPLES

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

N.B.—The great medicine free from all nauseating or disagreeable effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. Extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Flesh-making medicine are extracted by a process of Solution, and not by the proper menses, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent gentlemen experienced chemists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—the process of extraction with the greatest care as can possibly be mixed with the pure.

Each fluid drachm contains $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists to find such roots, that the wonderful improvements it has secured it the curative range of Dr. Radway's Sarsaparillian, more especially the

To those who seek Health.

There is no woman, no woman of either sex, wearied by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to improve, nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of renewal, of capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the means and encouragement and support of life prolonged a decay that now exist be dismissed from the system, and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, contained in the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions destroyed, and such altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how much wasted, freed from all of the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the process of digestion will be restored and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to give to healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poisons of VENEREAL, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and surely cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Scrofulous Glands or Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will soon perceive marked change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and vitalized, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Cancerous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin, and other Organs; and each of these Organs will receive their proper constitutional nourishment. Sores, Ulcers, Pills, the Cancerous Juice and other fluids being absorbed by the constitutional vessels will require a direction for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If sudden or pain is felt in different parts of the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting glands in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored; help can only for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important end the best remedy ever discovered in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifyers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that vitalize the living body will expel, waste, and discharge the system with such constituents as to receive and retain the blood and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, as is attested by rich, pure, and strong blood, and the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach, and in its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle; by—

If a tonic blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it conveys into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and restores many all deposits of disease, corruption, and decay, the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, as Mercury, Cancerous Humors, &c. &c. For Cancerous Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agent. That may have accumulated in the bones, in the cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in the form of Scrofulous Glandular Disease. Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Kernels in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Diseases from Mercury, Bone Pains are the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Heads, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Cancer, Cancer in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, in a word all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of the above forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Donnell, of St. Timothee, Province of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his leg, that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief, in two months three bottles of Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and, as a friend says, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. This is but one of the thousand every day cures performed by the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a cure of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

He scrofula will only state that his whole system was a solid scab—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was in a most terrible state of diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was induced to the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month cures, and the change was wonderful. I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. In favor of many years have passed. Fever Sores, Eruption of the skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, WEDNESDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 29, 1869. No. 204.

In Memory of Jos. J. C. Terrill.

And I heard a voice from Heaven say unto me, "Write: Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."—St. John.

I shine in the light of God,
His likeness stamps my brow;
Through the shadows of death my feet have trod,
And I reign in glory now.
No breaking heart is here,
No keen and thrilling pain,
No wasted cheek, where the burning tear
Hath rolled, and left its stain.

I have found the joys of Heaven.
I am one of the angel band;
To my head a crown is given,
And a harp in my hand;
I have learned the song they sing,
Whom Jesus hath made free,
And the glorious walls of Heaven still ring
With my new-born melody.

No sin, no grief, no pain—
Safe in my happy home;
My fears all fled, my doubts all slain,
My hour of triumph come;
O friends of my mortal years!
The trusted and the true,
You're walking still the vale of tears,
But I wait to welcome you.

Do I forget? Oh! No;
For memory's golden chain
Shall bind my heart to the hearts below,
Till they meet and touch again;
Each link is strong and bright,
While love's electric flame
Flows freely down, like a river of light,
To the world from whence I came.

Do you mourn when another star
Shines out from the glorious sky?
Do you weep when the voice of war
And the rage of conflict die?
Why then should your tears roll down,
Or your heart be sorely riven,
For another gem in the Saviour's Crown,
And another soul in Heaven?

New Zealand.

Affairs in New Zealand, to judge from the accounts forwarded to the Times by their correspondent in Wellington, appear to be in some measure improving. The Ministry has been changed, and this has induced a feeling of greater confidence among the settlers. The departure of the Imperial troops has been indefinitely postponed; and they are assisting the Colonial forces in repressing the insurrection of a well-known and dangerous Maori chief, Te Kooti, who periodically appears in arms against the Government. This time, however, Te Kooti has by no means gained the best of such encounters as he has engaged in with the sympathisers of the Colonists. Certain parties of friendly natives are organized in times of revolt, and with one of them, commanded by Col. McDonnell, who was accompanied by only six Europeans, Te Kooti came in contact. The numbers were about equal; 250 on each side, but the rebels were defeated with considerable loss. The success was intended to have been followed up by a combined attack on Te Kooti's position, but a sudden fall of snow prevented the movement.

Several prisoners had been taken in various encounters during the last few months, and these were brought to trial for high treason on the 20th September. The first batch, consisting of three persons, were tried for levying war against the Queen, and the curious anomaly was presented by the fact that these disaffected Maories had to be indicted under an Act of Parliament of the 14th century—that known as the Statute of Treasons, the 25th of Edward III. The prisoners were found guilty, and it was then discovered that the sentence which was required to be passed upon them was the ancient barbarous one that they "should be drawn on a hurdle to the place of execution, and there hanged by the neck till they were dead; that their heads should be severed, and their bodies divided into four quarters, to be disposed of as his excellency the Governor should direct." This abominable sentence was actually passed, as it was held that, unless the letter of the law were carried out to the full, an arrest of judgment could have been moved for and obtained.

The Judge took care to assure the prisoners that only that part of the sentence which prescribed hanging would be actually put into effect; but considering that one of the great complaints against the Maories has always been that they practiced barbarities upon the bodies of their prisoners after death, sending round the smoked heads and cooked bodies of their victims to the different tribes, and as several of them have been severely visited for the offence, it is, at least, unfortunate that the very Government which has so strongly reprobated and punished this course should appear, in passing sentence upon its prisoners, to have an intention of committing equal brutalities upon lifeless corpses.

Economy.

A young lady contemplating matrimony was one morning handed a testament by her father, with the leaf turned down at the following passage: "He who giveth in marriage doeth well, but he who giveth not in marriage doeth better." She immediately returned it with the following reply written underneath: "Dear father, I am content to do well; let those do better who can."

To the Municipal Electors of the Town of Belleville.

GENTLEMEN:—I beg to offer myself as a Candidate for the Mayoralty for the ensuing year. Having faithfully served the Town in the capacity of Councillor for the past six years, and my term of office expiring with the present year, I feel that I can consistently ask your support for the position of Mayor.

Should you do me the honor to elect me, I trust that the large property interest which I have in the Town of Belleville—my long residence and past experience, will be a sufficient guarantee that I will discharge the duties with fidelity, impartiality—and I trust with credit to our flourishing and prosperous Town.

I have the honor, to be,
Gentlemen, yours faithfully,
ALEX. ROBERTSON.

VESPERS AND LECTURE.—The attention of the reader is directed to the advertisement of Grand Vespers and Lecture in St. Michael's Church, on Sunday next.

CHRISTMAS NUMBER.—Mr. Harrison, bookseller, has handed us the Christmas number of London Society, which is full of good stories and beautiful poetry, and rich in illustrations. Those who have had former issues of the Holiday number of London Society will be very apt to purchase this one.

EXCHANGE IN ENGLAND.—The Montreal Gazette says: "Sir Francis Hincks recently requiring a considerable amount of exchange for England telegraphed to all the large banks for terms. The offers of the Merchant's and Molson's of this city, at 8¼ were accepted.

THE CRAFTSMAN AND CANADIAN MASONIC RECORD.—The December number in addition to some interesting articles, contains a full account of the late special communication of Grand Lodge held at Montreal, which will be of interest to members of the Craft. This useful monthly is published by T. & R. White, Hamilton, at $1. 50 a year.

WORKINGMEN'S TEMPERANCE ASSOCIATION.—On Thursday evening, the 28th inst., the members of the Workingmen's Temperance Association met in the Marble Hall, when the following officers were installed, viz:—Wm. H. Bosseley, President, Wm. White, 1st V. P.; John Addison, 2nd V. P.; Joshua Cornelius, R. S.; D. C. Ferguson, F. S.; James Macoun, F.; George Hooper, C.; Edward Taylor, A. C.; C. Tuite, Warden.

NEW DOMINION MONTHLY.—The January number of this excellent Canadian monthly contains a choice variety of reading both original and selected. Portraits of the late Geo. Peabody and of Mr. De Lesseps are given, as well as a fine view of the Suez Canal. This Magazine is a very creditable publication, and deserves a wide circulation throughout the Dominion. The price is only $1 50 a year. Published by John Dougall & Son, Montreal.

BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE.—The December number contains the following articles: John, Part III—Mystery of Passion Plays—F. W. Faber's Life and Letters—The Faroese Saga—Cornelius O'Dowd—Agrarian Juries—The Porte and the Pasha—In the Nursery—Egypt and the Story of the Suez Canal—Earle's Dene; Part II.—The Government and the Country. As the next number commences a new volume, now is a good time to subscribe. For terms, &c., see advertisement.

LOOKING UP PROPERTY.—The general reader will remember a law suit which was carried on in Montreal some time ago by a Mr. Connolly, for the recovery of some very valuable property claimed to belong to him by heirship. The case, after being appealed from different courts, was finally decided in favor of the plaintiff a few weeks since, who at once proceded to issue his claims. He arrived in Kingston in company with two of his friends on Monday morning from Montreal for the purpose of identifying several houses said to be situated in or about the city, and 25,000 acres of land in the back country.

"THE ADDINGTON BRAVER."—This is the title of a new paper to be started in the village of Newburg, by Mr. Cephas J. Beeman. The prospectus says, it will "be devoted to the interests of Education, Agriculture, Politics, Morality, Temperance, and Home and Foreign news." It also says, "The early completion of the Kingston and Madoc Railway, and its extension to the Georgian Bay, thereby opening up the most direct route to the great North-West, and the development of the vast resources of 'this great Canada of ours,' shall be zealously advocated." From which it may be inferred that the Madoc and Kingston Railway is to run to Newburg.

Municipal Elections.

RAWDON.—In this Township Geo. Conley and John S. Hagerman were nominated for the Reeveship; Thos. Walker and Thos. Montgomery for Deputy Reeves. Neither Mr. Hagerman nor Mr. Montgomery were at the nomination, we are informed, hence there may be no contest for these offices. For Councillors, Gideon Mosier, John Stewart, James S. Vandervoort, James Cooke, Samuel Baily and Joseph Hogle, were put in nomination.

STIRLING.—Peter Chard was elected by acclammation; and D. McDougall, William Martin, E. D. Allen, W. Wright, James Milne, J. H. Fenie and A. Anstee, were proposed for Councillors.

—A heavy shock of earthquake was experienced at St. Paul, 40 miles below Quebec, a few days since.

—A panic occurred in the Theatre in Bristol, England, on the 27th inst., and in the hurry to get out of the building, eighteen persons were trampled to death.

Municipal Elections.

The meeting of Mr. Robertson's supporters held last evening, was largely attended, and a good deal of enthusiasm was manifested. An organization was effected by the appointment of Geo. Neilson, Esq., Chairman, and S. S. Lazier, Esq., Secretary. Ward committees were also appointed, who are to make an active canvass and report to a general meeting to be held on Thursday evening in Mr. Lazier's Office. The spirit and enthusiasm manifested by the friends of Mr. Robertson, augur well for his success.

The contest amongst the candidates for the Council is being actively carried on in three of the Wards; viz Coleman, Baldwin and Ketcheson Wards. In the latter Messrs. Jas. Brown and S. B. Smith are the only candidates, Mr. Graham having signified his intention of not contesting the election. Mr. Brown is a man of good business habits and will make a good Councillor. In Coleman Ward the contest is between Coleman Messrs. Chas. Martin and Paul Becket. The candidates in Baldwin Ward are Messrs. R. S. Patterson and James Crang, and from all that we can learn the contest will be a close one. There is no opposition to Mr. Tannahill, the other candidates nominated having, we believe, no intention to run.

The Red River Trouble.

The following additional particulars respecting the troubles in Red River are from to day's papers:

ST. PAUL, MINN., Dec. 28.

The Press publishes three letters from prominent insurgents dated Fort Garry and St. Norbert, and translated into English at Pembina. The first letter dated December 11th, says that Col. Dennis left Mr. McDougall's quarters Dec. 1st, and entered the Settlement disguised as a squaw. He assumed the position of Deputy-Governor and attempted to raise up one portion of our people against the other and kindle civil war, which proved a failure. He raised one hundred men and threw one division into Schultz's house and the other into the Lower Fort. Instantly 4000 men rallied to Fort Garry. He then issued a proclamation int the name of the Queen, calling on the faithful to take up arms to drive the enemy out from the Fort, destroy their property, &c., and threatened those who would not obey orders. This action aroused a bitter feeling among all classes. The insurgents aroused, by his frantic efforts, rushed to Fort Garry, placed a strong guard around Schultz's house, and summoned the Candian party to surrender, being assured of personal safety they surrendered. The letter then goes into the alleged gunpowder plot as detailed in our former despatches and closes as follows: The sympathy of our powerful neighbors and civilized world animate us with new courage. We are a people small in numbers but great in determination. Our motto is "God save Liberty—God save the United States." The next letter, dated St. Norbert, 12th Dec. says: On the 4th and 5th Schultz assembled as many persons as he could in his house, warehouse and store. The Administration being informed of it incresed the night guards. The movement was closely watched and many soon ascertained that an attack on the insurgents was contemplated. Monday morning men armed to the teeth came out of Schultz's house, and armed men accompanied them to the door. The police paid no attention, however, and on the 6th, after several parleys had taken place, no one longer doubted Schultz and his party had come to attack the half-breeds unawares and hoped to be supported by Col. Dennis. Schultz reported that large numbers of persons in the country only waited the commencement of attack to join them. The insurgents then sent orders to Schultz's party to lay down their arms and surrender. They refused. More time was granted to them, and a detachment was sent to take the building. After a short consultation the Canadian party surrendered and were conducted to jail. No half-breeds were found among them; they consisted of new comers from Canada and Schultz's party.

The next letter, dated Fort Garry the 8th, says:—Affairs assumed a serious character this morning. Fort Garry is guarded by 400 men. Governor McTavish entreated the insurgent leaders to lay down their arms, and return home, but the leaders declined. The Nor'-Wester has been gagged and prevented from extending its influence, and dislike for Canada is increasing day by day. Hudson Bay agent in St. Paul have no news, except that Governor McDougall is on his way east, and will arrive at St. Paul by the end of the week.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 18.

The family of Governor McDougall arrived here to day from the North. They left Pembina last Saturday, and will await the arrival of Governor McDougall who is expected in St. Paul next Friday, en route to Canada. They deny the report that Gov. McDougall had anything to do with arming the Indians or enticing them to rise. They believe the mass of the inhabitants at first favoured Mr. McDougall that they were deceived and controlled by a few designing leaders, who misrepresented Mr. McDougall's mission and won them over.

—Prince Arthur has returned from his hunting expedition without being successful.

—The employees in the wholesale stores in Toronto are to have a holiday on Monday next.

—Mr. Weir reports that $170,000 of silver has been sent out of the country since the 1st of November.

The Rear Townships.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

SIR.—In the discussion on the agitated question of a Railway to Madoc, it appears to me that sufficient notice has not been taken of the rear Townships, distant from 40 to 70 miles north of Madoc village. I therefore beg to furnish the following information relative to several of them, which information has a direct bearing on the question, and is furnished for the purpose of showing that these Townships ought to have a more prominent place in the above discussions. The Townships referred to are Dungannon, Faraday, Monteagle, Herschel, Maclure, Wicklow, Carlow, and Mayo, which Townships comprise an area of over 360,000 acres, of which quantity at least one-third is a good ploughable soil, and well adapted for agricultural purposes; another third will make excellent pasture land; the remaining third being waste. The appearance of the country is rough, being in many places broken up by rocks, lakes and swamps. The amount of ploughable and pasture lands is amply sufficient to make homes and give a competent maintenance to over three thousand families. The soil in general is a limestone, sandy loam, and yields grain and vegetable crops equal to any raised in these parts, both as regards the quantity per acre, and the quality of the produce. Winter wheat can be successfully raised in any of these Townships; the average yield on my farm at L'Amable, Township of Dungannon, was, in 1866, on 3 acres sown, 23½ bushels per acre; 1867, on 4 acres sown, 37 bushels per acre; and in 1868, on 6½ acres sown, 31 bushels per acre. Thus giving a yearly average of over 23 bushels per acre. The cultivable land is in blocks, varying in size from two or three hundred, up to twenty thousand acres, generally rolling but in many places level. The population in the above mentioned Townships, as computed at about four hundred families, of which number between two and three hundred have come in within the past five years. In general the settlers are prospering, and appear well satisfied with their locations. As an instance of the progress of settlement in some of the blocks of good land, I may cite the case of Carlow and Mayo, in which Townships, prior to 1864, there only resided were those at Conroy's (lumbering) farm, and one or two settlers; these Townships now contain about 60 families. A Post-Office is opened in Carlow, and steps are being taken for the erection of a Grist and Saw Mill amongst them. The settlers have sent in a a petition to the proper authorities, praying for the erection of these Townships into a Municipality which has been granted. The settlement of the other Townships is steadily although slowly increasing. There are several stores and stopping places established at convenient points for the accommodation of the settlers. Three Grist and Saw Mills are in active operation on the Hastings Road—one at L'Amable, Township of Dungannon, one at York River, Township of Faraday, and one about a mile north of Doyle's Corners—and although laboring under the disadvantage of having no Municipal organization, several schools are kept open and maintained by voluntary subscriptions along with a small assistance from the "poor school funds." Another instance of their progressive and enterprising spirit was the formation and support for several years of an Agricultural Society, which Society has been replaced by the recent organization of a Township Agricultural Society, receiving its share of Government assistance, and a yearly contribution from the members for North Hastings. Since the tour of McKenzie Bowell, Esq., M. P., and Dr. Boulter, M. P. P., through this section in October, 1868, the prospect of its more speedy settlement has considerably improved. By the throwing I open of the Townships of Dungannon, Herschel, Montesgle, Wicklow, Carlow and Mayo, as free grants, under the "Free Grant and Homestead Act of 1868 69." The making of the Monk Road through the Township of Faraday to its junction with the Hastings Road. The repairing of a bridge North of Doyle's Corners. The erection of a bridge on the Peterson Road, East of Doyle's Corners. The making of a settlement Road from the Mississippi Road, North, through the Township of Mayo, into the centre of the Township of Carlow and more recently the ordering of the Survey of the Township of Faraday.

There has also since the said tour, been obtained for the Road two new Post Offices, L'Amable P. O., Township Dungannon, and Boulter P. O., Township Carlow. The greater portion of the settlers residing in this part have come from the Ottawa frent by way of the Opiango Road; comparatively few have come by way of Belleville and Madoc, in consequence of the very bad state of the Hastings Road, and the miserable appearance of the land through which, for a distance of about thirty miles, settlers have to pass before reaching any land fit for settlement; also, in consequence of the general ignorance which prevails in Kingston regarding there being any good land back here.

Madoc Village is the nearest front to the whole of the Townships enumerated above, and also to several Townships in their vicinity, in which latter there are a number of settlers, and I am credibly informed, contains about the same proportion of ploughable land, &c., &c., as the others. The distances from the principal points here to the Madoc and Ottawa fronts, are as follows:—From Doyle's Corners to Renfrew, by way of the Peterson and Opiango Roads, is 75 miles, or to the nearest railway communication (Sand Point) 90 miles. From the same point (Doyle's Corners) to Madoc, by way of Hastings Road, 65 miles; difference in favor Madoc, 10 to 25 miles. From the Junction of the Mississippi Road with the Hastings Road to Perth, about 100 miles. From the same point to Madoc, 50 miles, difference in favor of Madoc, 50 miles. From the Junction of the Mayo and Carlow Road with the Mississippi Road to Perth, is 88 to 90 miles. From the same point to Madoc, 55 miles, difference in favor of Madoc 33 to 35 miles. The above comparison of distances shows that Madoc is certainly the nearest front, and also shows that the Hastings Road is the principal thoroughfare or main artery connecting Madoc with these Townships. It is, therefore, an absolute necessity in the furtherance of the interests of both sections that the said Road undergo a thorough repair. The repairing of which Road and the establishment of a Railway at Madoc, would be the means of securing for that place the greater portion, if not the whole of the traffic of this section; a large amount of which would be contributed by the lumbering establishments, of which there are six or seven in this vicinity, which lumbering traffic will continue for many years to come, as on the decrease of the timber here, lumbering operations will still be carried on to the north, north-east and north-west, of the Hasting Road.

Trusting that the promoters of the Railway movement, and those interested in the growth and prosperity of North Hastings, will give this communication their serious consideration, and expressing a hope that it may contribute towards inducing the people in the front to assist in pushing forward the settlement of the good land in these rear Townships, for in proportion to the progress of the settlement of them, so in proportion will the interests of Madoc and its Railway be advanced.

I remain,
Yours, &c.,
J. R. TAIT.

L'Amable, 18th Dec., 1869.

WONDERFUL STEAM ENGINE.—The smallest steam engine in the world is now in possession of John Penn, of Greenwich, England, the eminent maker of great engines. It will stand on a three-penny piece, it really covers less space; for its base plate measures only three-eighths of an inch by about three-tenths. From the extreme smallness of this model, a few minutes such, for instance, as the air pumps—have necessarily been omitted. Still so small are some of the parts, that they require a powerful magnifying glass to see their form. The screws are only one eighteenth of an inch in diameter, and these are duly furnished with hexagonal nuts, which can be loosened and tightened by a Lilliputan spanner. The whole weight of the model is less than a three penny piece.

TO THE YOUNG MEN.—London not only has the honor of containing the oldest Commercial College in the Dominion, but we believe that this institution is also the only one which has furnished Principals and Professors for other institutions of a similar kind. Nobody can dispute the skill of Professor Mann as a teacher, and the fact above noted clearly indicates that the efficiency in the other departments of the College is fully equal to that which characterizes the department of Penmanship. Board is always an important item in the expenses of a student, and we all know that good board is considerably cheaper here than in other cities of the Province. Everybody would certainly have a business education, and we honestly think that those who are determined to get one cannot do better than to attend this College.—Free Press.

REPLY.

To JOHN LEWIS, R. HOLDEN, N. JONES, Esqrs., and others.

GENTLEMEN,—I had fully made up my mind to decline a nomination for School Trustee for another term, and were I to consult my own feelings, should still refuse to act. But on receiving your very flattering requisition, signed by such a large number of the electors of Ketcheson Ward, I am constrained to yield to your request. But in doing so I cannot refrain from expressing my conviction that you have watched the proceedings of the Board during the last year, and that your views coincide with mine with regard to the great waste of School Funds, caused by an unjust and vexatious defence of Mr. Smith's law suit, and that you approve of the course I have pursued. With this impression I consent to act if elected.

Yours very respectfully,
M. SAWYER.

NEUTRALITY OF ATLANTIC CABLES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The diplomatic representatives of the United States have been instructed to submit for the consideration of foreign governments the propriety of holding a convention, the object of which will be to provide that no exclusive concessions of right to lay submarine cables shall be granted by any government; that no government shall have the right to seize messages transmitted through the cables; that they shall be treated as neutral property during war, and that their destruction at any time shall be an act of conspiracy. At present there is no law for the punishment of persons seeking the destruction of the wires.

WEATHER PROTECTORS.—This much needed and welcome invention is meeting with universal favor both in Canada and the United States. Nothing similar is in existence in Canada, and none of the many useful inventions for various agricultural and mechanical purposes have met with such a demand in the same time. The price is low and is counterbalanced in a short time by the saving in fuel. In summer it keeps out rain and dust; in winter, wind, cold, frost, snow, &c. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits. Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1869.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1859 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and perfect relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Locust Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

MESSRS. J. N. HARRIS & CO.,

GENTS,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of Pulmonary Consumption. It clears the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,

A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the United States, and by the Agents

Divorce in Connecticut.

The disgraceful scenes enacted in the courts of Connecticut by applicants for divorce, have brought out President Woolsey, of Yale College, in a demand for remedial measures. He says the State need not legislate on moral questions, but it must legislate on marriage and divorce. In an address before the Methodist State Convention in New Haven on Thursday, he said: "Up to 1843 divorces were only allowed for adultry or malicious desertion. In 1843 other causes were added, and in 1849 other causes still—one of a very remarkable character, and that was, that when there was anything that permanently destroyed the happiness of the marriage relation, then the judge might grant a divorce. Mark the effect—for the last thirty years, eleven per cent. of the marriages have resulted in divorce. That is the divorce of a year are to the marriages as one in ten. In no other State are divorces so numerous as in this State, unless in Illinois and Indiana, or some other Western States. Connecticut enjoyed the greatest looseness of all the States in dissolving the marriage relation. The project is now, by a union of all the Christian denominations, to obtain a change of the law. Last year, before the legislature, it was proposed to change the law so that only adultery and malicious desertion should be reason for separation from bed and board, without re marriage. He hoped the church would endeavor to effect this change."

—Horace Greeley, at a lecture, by request, wore his "old white coat."

A pertinent text was recently preached by a young clergyman near Boston, who, returning to his parish after a month's vacation, brought with him a companion for life. It was of course a surprise and the subject of many remarks. Every body naturally wished to see the pastor's wife, and the next Sunday the church was crowded. The attention of the congregation seemed turned more to the bride than to the service, until they were startled by the announcement of the text: "What went ye out for to see?" It seemed to meet the case. Thenceforth they looked upon the minister.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favorite. THE CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks. "The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœpathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ¼lb., ½lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labeled—JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 91—6m7&8

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous taint, and which they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such numbers as to silence every accusation of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues at home.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. From the unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of exciting or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infectious influences in the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tuberculous may be built up in the lungs or in the heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions of visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Uterous disorders of the mucus membrane.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for searching these imbittered poisons from the system. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Female Irregularities, Uterous Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating influence. Minor affections for each one are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis, which the agent below named will furnish. Costiveness, Indigestion, Biliousness, and various complaints, arising from a disordered state of the stomach and bowels, are regulated by the occasional use of a dose of this Sarsaparilla to each adult, as a gentle cathartic is all that is required in connection with it.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaint, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy action.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

For Dyspepsia and Indigestion, it has proved a most valuable remedy.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as has this wonderful preparation of cherry and tolu. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the most dangerous affections of the throat and lungs, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup it should be kept on hand in every family. Indeed as these are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to health by the use of Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, Bilious Colic, and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Mineral, Lime, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it can be taken with perfect safety in any number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicines. Every pride is gratified by the speedy, permanent reserve of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaint, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy action.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

For Dyspepsia and Indigestion, it has proved a most valuable remedy.

CHEMICAL PRINCIPLES

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N. B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most powerful of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts under the decomposition of Radway's Sarsaparilla Resolvent, Rat-making medicine are selected and gathered through the greatest care as the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of Radway & Co., whose unbounded facilities, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.'s use, secure the most perfect and genuine roots that can possibly be mixed with the same.

The cost to Dr. Radway & Co. was $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and experience of scientific Botanists in the search alone to find the necessary ingredients it has attained to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially for pays for the outlay over and over again; for never before the history of medicine was a remedy discovered so completely building up, repairs, and makes sound, strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment and their LIVER, KIDNEYS, and bowels are not entirely gone but will be saved by the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the restorative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decompositions stopped, and the elements of life secured, and the system built up anew.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the LIVER, KIDNEYS, and bowels will by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, receive new life and vitality, and the wasted lungs or other vital forces may be, if the system can be sustained under the influence of this tissue and blood-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the waste, and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to be in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, Secondary SYPHILIS, and the poisons of Venereal, are developed through the process of dispositis from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvents

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands or Urinary difficulties, was experiencing a marked change in her health for the better when taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will severally regain its constituent secretions. Instead of using Pills, the Tuberculous Juices and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. It medicine fails in its influences on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored. Sarsaparillian Resolvent and Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent are agents in the cure of diseases that are not found existed in all these remedial agent advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, bones & bowels, and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids of the body, the living body with repairs, will so charge the system with such constituents as to expel and eliminate the dead and decomposing matter, and imply the place with sound and living agents established by rich, pure, and strong blood. Its chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and the principles when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and thus throwing all deposits of disease, whether caused by the presence of some specific poison, or vegetable or mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and all Mineral, that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues, cartilages, or joints, or from any traumatic, family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in many forms Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Dropsy in the Enormous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, such as Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Sore Eyes, Blotches, Spots, Wogns in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all working moral and physical Disorders, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Generative System, in fact, the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power over the same.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures, and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, and Dropsy. Diabetes, and all who are inconvenienced by Stoppage of Water, or Irritable Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Street, Belleville, Ont.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TERRIBLE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, also with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief, and in used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three bags of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. He is a man that has previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctores for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Walls River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Walls River, owned of nearly half the township, and owner of Paper Mills Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of my medicines. His only child, a girl, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, face, limbs, and body. I saw him in September last, and he was then just rewiving and directed I ever saw. He requested that I would put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that the girl was perfectly cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 30, 1869. No. 205.

Scene in the Local Legislature.

The Hamilton Spectator gives the following particulars of a humorous scene in the House on Wednesday night:—Mr. Williams (Durham), moved the House into Committee on the Port Hope, Lindsay & Beaverton Railway. The members were tired out and anxiously wished an adjournment, and Mr. Williams was permitted to go on only in the expectation that there would be no discussion, and that the question would be speedily disposed of. Mr. Cumberland, however, had strong objection to a portion of the bill, and was determined to discuss it, but when members found they were in for a speech their weariness broke into fun of a decidedly boisterous and unparliamentary kind. Paper pellets began to fly about the Chamber in all directions. The fire was at first scattering and what one might call promiscuous, but it soon became concentrated on the offender, who stood between members and their comfortable beds. The missiles rattled on the ear of the hon. member for Algoma for some minutes in a decidedly direct way, and his efforts to dodge them as they approached were ludicrous in the highest degree. At length he executed a flank movement and got beside the chairman's table in hopes to be out of range, but he had mistaken both the range of the artillery and the accuracy with which it was served. The waste paper basket held over his head afforded protection, but became tiresome in a few minutes. As he faced the opposition benches there were scarcely any of the ships fired at him from that direction, and one of the members invited him to come among them that he might enjoy immunity from his tormentors. Mr Cumberland readily accepted, but had no sooner got his back to the members of that side of the House than the fire in his rear proved as formidable as ever. His next strategic move was to the side of the Speaker's throne where he could have been comparatively safe had not the chairman maliciously ruled that he was not addressing the chair. When the members had had their bark out they became quiet, and Mr. Cumberland in the end received an attentive hearing. It is due to that gentleman to say that he seemed fully to enjoy the humor of the scene, and gave not the least sign of losing his temper. The Bill went through Committee with amendments.

A New Story of O'Connel.—The great Daniel, when taking a sauntering ride in the neighborhood of his house, had occasion to ask an urchin to open a gate for him. The little fellow complied with much alacrity, and looked up with such an honest pleasure at rendering the slight service, that O'Connel, by way of saying something—anything—asked:—"What is your name boy?" "Daniel O'Connel, sir," replied he sautly. "And who is your father?" demanded the astonished liberator. "Daniel O'Connel." Mr. O'Connel muttered a word or two below his breath, and then added aloud. "When I see you again I will give you a sixpence." Riding briskly on, he soon forgot the incident and fell to thinking of graver matters, when, after some miles of way he found his path obstructed by some fallen timber, which a boy was stoutly endeavoring to remove.—On looking more closely he discovered it to be the same boy he had met in the morning. "What?" cried he, "how do you come to be here now?" "You said the next time you saw me you'd give me sixpence," said the little fellow, wiping the perspiration from his brow. "Here it is," said Daniel. "You are my son—the devil a doubt of it."—Blackwood's Magazine.

Mining Under the Sea.—There is a vast copper mine in England where shafts extend many hundred yards under the sea. The moaning of the waves as they dash against the rock is forever sounding in these gloomy aisles. When the storms come the sound of the waters become so terrific, that the boldest miners cannot stay below, but leave their work and come out upon the earth. Overhead are masses of bright copper streaming through the gallery in all directions, traversed by a network of thin red veins of iron, and all over the salt water drips, drips down from the tiny crevices in the rock. Immense wealth of metal is contained in these roofs, but no miner dare give it another stroke with his pickaxe. Already there has been one day's work too much upon it, as a huge wedge of wood driven into the rock bears witness. The wedge is all that keeps back the sea from bursting in upon them. Yet there are three tiers or galleries where men work day by day, not knowing but at some fatal hour the flood may be upon them, rendering all escape as hopeless as it was in the days of Noah. The awe stricken visitor hurries away from the scene, with a heart appalled in view of the hourly dangers.

A Happy Set.—"You never saw such a happy lot of people as we had here yesterday," said a landlady in Indiana to a newly-arrived guest; "there was thirteen couples of 'em." "What! thirteen couples just married?" "O, no, sir; thirteen couples just divorced."

To the Municipal Electors of the Town of Belleville.

Gentlemen:—I beg to offer myself as a Candidate for the Mayoralty for the ensuing year. Having faithfully served the Town in the capacity of Councillor for the past six years, and my term of office expiring with the present year, I feel that I can consistently ask your support for the position of Mayor.

Should you do me the honor to elect me, I trust that the large property interest which I have in the Town of Belleville—my long residence and past experience, will be a sufficient guarantee that I will discharge the duties with fidelity, impartiality—and I trust with credit to our flourishing and prosperous Town.

C. J. Starling, Thomas Holden, E. W. Holton, Esqrs. and others:

Gentlemen:—

I am this day in receipt of your requisition, requesting me to become a candidate for Municipal Councillor for Baldwin Ward, at the ensuing election.

In reply I have the honor to say that I do not consider myself as well qualified to represent you as many others in the Ward; and, besides I have no personal desire for the position, but your large and respectably signed requisition induces me to forego all personal considerations and allow myself to be put in nomination, and if elected will endeavor to serve the Town to the best of my ability.

I have the honor, &c.,

The Prospect out West.

We are continually hearing of the superior advantages of the Great West, over our own country as a field for emigration. Land agents and interested railway companies are in the habit of painting the prospects which await the emigrant in that favored land, in colors of dazzling brilliancy. It will perhaps be of advantage to those who are likely to be led away by the misrepresentations of these parties to get a glimpse of the other side of the picture.

A few weeks ago DaKota County, in the State of Minnesota, held an Agricultural Fair, on which occasion the Hon. Ignatius Donnelly addressed the assembled crowd, and among other things said :

"Our wheat has scarcely averaged fifteen bushels to the acre, and it is selling at from seventy-five to eighty cents per bushel. The price of labor and of living is high, our crops last year were small, and much of our wheat was sold at less than one dollar per bushel. Nearly all our farmers are, I regret to say, deeply in debt. Many are owing for supplies furnished two years since, and at least one half are yet owing for groceries and dry goods bought last year. Our purchases of machinery have been very large, and mainly on credit. I am informed that the aggregate indebtedness of all kinds, of the farmers of this region, in Hastings alone, is considerably over a million dollars. The Sheriff of the county has been busy for two months past attaching growing grain and wheat in stack, and in serving writs of all sorts. Large numbers of our most industrious and worthy men, men who are the very life-blood of the community, will be unable to pay their debts with their entire crops, and not a few will loose their homes."

And again :

"Every man in the State is asking himself, with more or less distinctness, What is the cause of this state of affairs ?

"We all perceive that the immediate cause of our trouble is the fact that our wheat costs us as much as we sell it for.—This means Bankruptcy. From a careful calculation, it appears that the total profit on our wheat not only does not support our farmers and their families, and does not pay the interest on the money invested in reapers, headers, sowers, threshers, plows, waggons, &c., and in the unimproved lands in and around their farms; but actually falls short $122,000 of repaying them the current rate of bank interest on the capital invested in their farms and horses; leaving them with no support, and with nothing with which to pay their old debts, or the two or three per cent a month accruing on borrowed money I doubt if a more melancholy exhibit than this can be shown in any country.

"Our farmers are either struggling on the verge of bankruptcy, or are already engulphed in that terrible whirlpool.

"What of the future? The same causes will continue to produce like results if not arrested. The shadow of the sheriff's hammer hangs like the sword of Damocles over every household."

It is not always fair, of course, to quote a speaker against his own country. There are often times when, for the purpose of rousing sufficient enthusiasm to effect a reform, a native speaker will more mercilessly criticise the affairs and condition of his own country than the facts justify.—But in the present case we see no evidence of this; the speaker was addressing an audience who must have been competent judges of the accuracy, or otherwise, of his description. The matters treated of were matters of fact admitting of very little difference of opinion with regard to them.—And altogether the fair inference is, that the picture drawn is a substantially faithful representation of the actual state of things.—Spectator.

News Condensed.

—Over two thousand negroes have left Old Virginia since November for the more Southern States.

—Emily Moore of Albany, has recovered $5,000 of John Grimrod, for breach of promise of marriage.

—A silver Coroopian has been presented by Sir John A. Macdonald to Mr. David Fraiser, of Kingston.

—A three day's session of the Masonic Lodge of Instruction, for the Prince Edward District, has been held in Port Hope.

—The City Council of Quebec, threatened at its meeting on the 29th Dec., to "shoulder their muskets, as had been at Red River," if the Government dared to enforce "$17,000 for education purposes."

—A great snow storm on Thursday last, in the West. In the vicinity of Chicago, in consequence of the drifting, almost impassable banks were being formed on the railroads, and travel was impeded. The storm is described as one of the most serious for many years.

—It is a standing rule in my church," said one clergyman to another, "for the sexton to wake up any man that he sees asleep. "I think," returned the other, "that it would be better for the sexton, whenever a man goes to sleep under your preaching, to wake you up."

—A man named Moss, while in a state of temporary insanity, entered the house of his brother-in-law at Dickenson's Landing, at night, and refusing to make his name known, the occupant of the house struck him on the head with a poker, from which blow he will not recover.

PUTTING THEIR FOOT IN IT.—A very curious mode of trying the title of land is practised in Hindostan. Two holes are dug in the disputed spot, in each of which the plaintiff's and defendant's lawyers put one of their legs, and remain there until one of them is tired, in which case his client is defeated. In this country it is the client, not the lawyer that puts his foot in it.

LECTURE.—Remember the Lecture of Professor Bell on "Water," to-night.

THE LATE ASSAULT CASE.—The case of Wray against Brennan and others, was brought on again yesterday before the Police Magistrate, on remand, and after hearing the evidence for the defence, which we will furnish our readers to-morrow, the Magistrate deferred judgment in the common assault upon Wm. Wray, until the 20th inst.; and in the case of aggravated assault upon his brother, who is yet unable to give evidence, the Magistrate sent the parties to trial to the next Court of competent criminal jurisdiction, allowing bail in the sum of $300 for each of the principals, and two sureties each of $150. All gave satisfactory bail excepting Thompson, who was committed for trial.

St. George's Society's Concert and Ball.

The Concert and Ball held last evening in Ontario Hall, under the auspices of the St. George's Society, was in every respect successful. The attendance was good, the Concert was good, the music was good, the supper was good, and of course with such a large number of experts in tripping the light fantastic, the dancing was good, and altogether the audience was kept in remarkable good humor throughout. The Hall was very tastefully decorated, the flags of the different nationalities being very neatly arranged on the wall at the back of the platform, forming, with suitable mottoes and wreaths and sprigs of evergreen, a beautiful back ground. The columns and sides and galleries, were gay with banners and evergreen set with many colored rosettes, altogether presenting a very striking effect, and this effect was greatly heightened and made still more attractive by the gay and rich attire of the fair and beautiful daughters of Belleville, as they threaded their way through the mazy dance. The excellent music furnished by the Band of the Royal Canadian Rifles formed an important feature of the entertainment.

The proceedings were opened by a few brief remarks from the President, J. C. STARLING, Esq., who cordially thanked the audience for their attendance, and expressed the hope that they would be amply repaid for their trouble. He was happy to tell them that St. George's Society was in a highly prosperous condition, that during the year past over two hundred dollars were expended for charitable purposes, that several persons had been sent to Montreal, Toronto, Kingston and other places by this Society, that a number of indigent English men had been relieved and others had been helped to good situations. Indeed, he could point to several in the town who came to Belleville completely destitute, and through the well-directed efforts of the Society had been enabled to place themselves in good circumstances. On Christmas day through the efforts of some of the members of the Society, a considerable quantity of meat, groceries, and other provisions, as well as flannel, was distributed to the poor, who were thus enabled to enjoy the merry Christmas time. He hoped, and he had reason to believe, that the funds of the Society would be largely increased during the coming year, so that they would be able to render prompt and efficient assistance to the large number of English emigrants who were expected to come here. He thanked those ladies and gentlemen who had volunteered their services for the Concert, wished all present a "Happy New Year," and hoped they would heartily enjoy themselves on the present occasion.

The Rifle Band then opened the Concert with "God Save the Queen." Mr. D. Price followed with the patriotic song, "The Englishman," which was well rendered.—The Quartette Club performed a selection from the opera of "Martha," which was finely executed. The Messrs. Crozier afterwards sang a duett from the opera of "Puritani," with fine effect, and being loudly encored Mr. L. Crozier sang in excellent style the comic song "Peter Grey." Miss Murphy, of Trenton, sang "Waiting," very prettily and sweetly, and in answer to an enthusiastic encore gave "My Love and I." The Quartette Club followed with "Qui Vive," which was well executed; after which Mr. McCord gave "Give me an English Song," and in reply to an encore "brought down the house" with a comic song. Mr. Price next sang "Starry Waves," assisted by the Quartette Club; and this part of the entertainment was closed by a performance from the Orchestra.

The hall was then cleared and the ball was opened by His Worship the Mayor and Miss Starling leading off in a Quadrille. Dancing was continued with much spirit until about three o'clock. Supper was furnished by Mr. Chittenden, of the Dafoe House, and was served up in excellent style.

The entertainment as a whole was a success, and the manner in which everything went off reflected credit upon the officers of the Society and Committee of management. The nett proceeds we understand will amount to the handsome sum of $100.

Grand Trunk Report.

The following is the financial exhibit.—Revenue for the half-year, £674,031, which is disposed of in the following manner :

Working expenses	£485,958
Renewal of permanent way and works	77,039
Loss on American Currency	24,841
Interest on Postal bonds	17,206
do on certain loans and debentures	18,277
Rents of leased lines	51,766
Interest on equipment bonds	10,799
Leaving a balance of	18,755

This balance, however, is subject to the claims of the Buffalo Company, after meeting which the directors hope to be able to pay the interest on the first preference bonds.

The working expenses for the half-year were at the rate of 67.59 per cent of the earnings, against 65.93 for corresponding half-year. The excess is accounted for by heavy snow storms, which, it is estimated, caused a net loss to the Company of £30,000.

Queen's Bench Term, Toronto.

O'HARE vs. MCCORMIC.

An action of Ejectment brought to recover a glebe lot, which Rev. John Grier leased for 20 years to Plaintiff. Plaintiff covenanted to Mr. Grier yearly rent semi-annually and to pay taxes. He paid the rent for a short time and then in 1865 made default, left the premises vacant and refused to pay further rent. Mr. Grier considered the lease forfeited. During his absence in England his son went to the premises, took possession and put the Defendant in possession. On Mr. Grier's return, he treated the lease to Plaintiff as forfeited, and recognized the Defendant as his tenant who paid him rent thenceforward.

At the trial at the last assizes it appeared the Defendant entered the case, as Plaintiff had neglected to do so, having brought his action two years before. On proof of the above facts, Mr. Justice Morrison held at the Assizes that the rent should have been demanded on the premises, before the lease could be held forfeited. Mr. A. R. Dougall, for the Defendant, contended, that was the common law rule, but, that it was different where the Plaintiff covenanted to pay the rent and taxes without a formal demand. The judge disagreed and directed a verdict for the Plaintiff. Held in term a misdirection, and the verdict set aside and a nonsuit ordered without costs. A. R. Dougall for Defendant; G. E. Henderson and S. B. Burdett for Plaintiff.

The Common School Trustees.

MR. EDITOR.—I was pleased to see in last evening's INTELLIGENCER, that a numerously signed requisition had been presented to James Glass, Esq., requesting him to run for School Trustee for Coleman Ward, and that he had consented to the same.

This is as it ought to be, and I trust he will be elected, by such a majority as will show that the electors are in real earnest in making a change for the better.

The late law-suits about the Blacklock lot, and the noble stand taken by a portion of the Trustees to have the matter settled without cost, must necessarily open the eyes of the Electors to the fact that a little less law and more common sense in the managing of our School affairs is needed, and that those trustees who are up for re-election, and who were instrumental in involving the rate-payers in serious bills of costs, will be left at home to reflect on their past misdeeds.

Yours, &c.,
BILLA FLINT.

Belleville, Dec. 29th, 1869.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—I am requested by the Belleville Branch to draw, through your kindness, the attention of those interested to the fact, that in accordance with the recommendation of the "Evangelical alliance" a week of Prayer will (D. V.) be observed in connection with the various Churches in this Town, beginning on Monday the 3rd day of January. Such an exercise at all times seasonable, is specially befitting those who name the name of Jesus at the commencement of a New Year, a period which suggests to all the duty of self-examination, and a faithful balance of spiritual accounts. When it is remembered that in the past, manifold visible tokens of divine favor have been secured through this instrumentality, that a fresh quickening has been infused into the various religious centres, which has radiated to the utmost bounds of Christendom, and that the great Head of the Church graciously enjoins upon His followers, not only importunate askings, but also largeness of heart, blending of sympathies and brotherly love, it is to be earnestly hoped that the "Week of Prayer" in 1870 may be characterized by even a more general and heartfelt interest than that of any former year, and that the influence of it may arise not from a bare compliance with a respectable and honored practice, but from a deep rooted conviction in all our hearts, "that now it is high time to awakeout of sleep," "redeeming the time," and of the infinite value of "the blessing of the Lord which maketh rich," from may we expect "showers of blessing."

"I will that men pray everywhere, lifting up holy hands without wrath and doubting." 1st Timothy, II. V.

Yours respectfully,
JAMES C. SMITH.

The Red River Trouble.

STATEMENT OF GOVERNOR MCDOUGALL'S SON

From Telegraphic Special Despatch.

ST. PAUL, MINN. Dec. 28.—Governor McDougall's family have arrived. In conversation with Governor McDougall's son (W. B.) he states that the whole Pembina trouble is attributable to the influence of American residents on the border, and that they, along with Roman Catholic priests, incited the half-breeds to take up arms. The latter were unable to give any reason whatever for the action they were taking, save that they had been told to use force in keeping McDougall out.

The reports, as they appear in the St. Paul papers, are all in the interest of the insurgents. The people here are anxious for trouble on the border for the sake of traffic. It is difficult for any letters to get through Pembina Post office, as the postmaster is unreliable, and many letters to British residents have been opened.

Richards leaves for Toronto in the morning.

Residents at Pembina were very hostile to McDougall, and for ten days his house had to be guarded.

McDougall is expected on Friday.

For the Intelligencer.

The following is a statement of the receipts and expenditure in connection with the Relief Society, for 1869 :

Dec. 22nd.	Donation from Town	$50 00
" 23rd,	" P. D. Conger. Esq., Mayor	20 00
Dec., 23rd.	Profit by changing Bills into silver	87½
		$70 87
Dec. 23rd.	Paid for beef and mutton	$22 86
24th.	Paid assistance purchasing and cutting up	2 00
24th.	" for bread	15 00
"	" for tea	11 20
"	" for sugar	5 00
		$56 06
Balance on hand		$14 81½

By this expenditure sixty-eight families received a liberal donation of beef and mutton, besides tea and sugar. No applicants were refused. Provision has been made to supply five families who were not able to attend the distribution. The balance on hand is at the disposal of the Committee, for such purposes as they see fit during the winter. The Committee beg to return their sincere thanks to his Worship the Mayor, for his liberal donation, as well as the Council for the aid thus given. Mr. Vanduzen, Chairman of the Poor and Sanitary Committee, rendered valuable assistance in the distribution.

The provisions were purchased at low rates. The bounty of His Worship and of the Council, has been fully sufficient to supply the poor with a Christmas dinner, and have on hand the above balance for charitable purposes.

Yours very truly,
H. C. WALLBRIDGE.
Treasurer.

REPLY.

To JOHN LEWIS, R. HOLDEN, N. JONES, Esqrs., and others.

GENTLEMEN.—I had fully made up my mind to decline a nomination for School Trustee for another term, and were I to consult my own feelings, should still refuse to act. But on receiving your very flattering requisition, signed by such a large number of the electors of Ketchenson Ward, I am constrained to yield to your request. In doing so I cannot refrain from expressing my conviction that you have watched the proceedings of the Board during the last year, and that your views coincide with mine with regard to the great waste of School Funds, caused by an unjust and vexatious defence of Mr. Smith's law suit, and that you approve of the course I have pursued. With this impression I consent to act if elected.

Yours very respectfully,
M. SAWYER.

$10 PER DAY in gold can be made by live agents canvassing for Johnston's Patent Air-tight Weather Protectors. Awarded Extra Prize at the Provincial Exhibition, 1869. Around doors and windows they completely exclude frost, snow, wind or rain. Apply at once to T. FOLEY & CO., LINDSAY, ONT.

WEATHER PROTECTORS.—This much needed and welcome invention is meeting with universal favor both in Canada and the United States. Nothing similar is in existence in Canada, and none of the many useful inventions for various agricultural and mechanical purposes have met with such a demand in the same time. The price is low and is counterbalanced in a short time by the saving in fuel. In summer it keeps out rain and dust; in winter, wind, cold, frost, snow, etc. Awarded Extra Prize at Provincial Exhibition, 1869. Agents Wanted. Address T. FOLEY & CO., LINDSAY, ONT.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c.

This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits' Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1869.

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Son, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1858 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Huntley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.

We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Any Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, suffering at No. 8 Lancaster Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it once are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

Messrs. J. N. Hanna & Co.,

Gents,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to rise, without irritating those delicate organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,

A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraving. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents,

BILLA FLINT.
Belleville, Aug. 3, 1869. 79-tf

The following despatch recently passed through a telegraph office:—'I lent you one year ago to-night, four dollars and eighty-seven cents, If you have not had it long enough, please keep it one year longer.' To this delicate hint this answer was returned:—'Had forgotten it, and hoped you had. Let her run another year.'

—A gallant young salesman at North Adams was so deeply impressed with the charms of a lady customer, that he begged the privilege of meeting her at a designated place and time. 'No, sir,' was the reply, 'but you can meet my husband there if it will be any accommodation.' The gallant did not repair to the place of meeting.

There was, some years ago, a trial for murder in Ireland, where the evidence was so palpably insufficient that the judge stopped the case, and directed the jury to return a verdict of 'not guilty.' A well-known lawyer, who desired, however, to do something for the fee he had received for the defence, claimed the privilege of addressing the court. 'We'll hear you with pleasure, Mr. B.' said the judge; 'but, to prevent accidents, we'll first acquit the prisoner.'

Old John Berry, that lived up Lake Champlain, liked to tell a big story. One evening sitting in the village store, said he once drove a horse seventy-two miles in one day on the ice, when the ice was so thin that the water spirted up through the holes made by the horse's calks. One of the bystanders remarked that seventy-five miles was a good drive in one day. 'Yes,' said Uncle John, 'but it was a long day in in June.'

—The fall in grain is opening the eyes of the Western farmers in the States to the false principles upon which the fiscal affairs are carried on in their country. They are compelled to sell at low rates, but are made to buy at rates imposed by an inflated currency and a 'protective' duty. The fall prices will necessitate an attention in this particular, while it will tend to bring back the export trade in grain which has of late, fallen into the hands of Russia. But as all trade is based upon interchange, so the United States must be prepared to buy if they want to sell. That, of itself, is a reason why a tariff that is all prohibitory in many things must soon give way.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. THE CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks.—"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœpathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ¼lb., ½lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. England. 94—6mT&S

Republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York.

Indispensable to all desirous of being well informed on the great subjects of the day.

3. The Westminster Review

has just closed its 92d volume. In point of literary ability this Review is fast rising to a level with its competitors. It is the advocate of political and religious liberalism.

4. The North British Review,

now in its 51st volume, occupies a very high position in periodical literature. Passing beyond the narrow formalism of schools and parties, it appeals to a wider range of sympathies and a higher integrity of conviction.

5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine

was commenced 52 years ago. Equalling the Quarterlies in its literary and scientific departments, it has won a wide reputation for the narratives and sketches which enliven its pages.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to relieve the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

NEW

CHEMICAL PRINCIPLES

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN

RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparilla and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Fat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care at the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone But the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound, strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat, and Skin and body.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted.
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the wastes and decompositions stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA. Bright's disease of the Kidneys, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of decomposition from the blood ... Bladder or Urinary Tissue; and these diseases in their far advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands, Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine, Bile, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored; happily for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important want that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifyers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairs, will so charge the system with such constituents as to resolve and exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and resolves away all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, as Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues, cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms. Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots. Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy. Diabetes, and all who are inconvenienced by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully recovered. JONATHAN FREELAND.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, FRIDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 31, 1869. No. 206.

The Death of the Year.

How blandly bright
Is the softened light
Of the dying autumn day,
As the golden west
By the sun is drest
In the robes of a regal way;
And the birds are gone, and the winds are still,
And there's flost no sound on the woodland hill,
Save the dreamy buzz of the distant mill,
And the murmuring streamlet's play.

How richly fraught
With the themes of thought
Is the dying autumn grove;
For the wool of its pall
Is the brightest of all
That the varying year has wove.
E'en the jocund glance of the dewy spring,
As she brushes the earth with her fragrant wing,
Brought no such smile as these death hues bring
To the pride of the quiet grove.

In the thoughtful grace
Of her dying face
Is the glory of Nature seen;
And the autumn leaf
In its glory brief
Has more than its boasted green;
'Tis the highest lesson of earth's cold clime,
And the soul must soar with a flight sublime,
Afar from the mists and tears of time,
To know what its beckonings mean.

'Tis a time of hope
When the buds first ope
To the south wind's quickening kiss;
And the teeming plain
With its waving grain
Has a burden of healthy bliss;
But a higher and holier hope may rise
From the fading leaf as it smiles and dies—
More dear than life to the truly wise
In the scene of death like this.

SOMEBODY'S SON.

FOR NEW YEAR'S DAY.

A runaway horse was one day seen dashing through the streets of New Haven at a terrific rate, dragging a wagon that contained a small lad that was screaming with fright. The wagon brought up against the sidewalk with a fearful crash. A crowd hurried to the spot. One old lady, with cap-strings flying, rushed out into the street, although her daughter exclaimed, "Mother, mother, don't get into the crowd; you can't do any good." Seeing her agitation, a lady who was passing by kindly inquired, "Is he your son?" "Oh no!" replied the true hearted matron, "but he is somebody's son."

The good mother was ready enough to lend a hand to save somebody's boy who was in danger of death; but we fear that there is many a matron and many a daughter, who, during the approaching holiday festivities, will lend a hand to lead somebody's sons right toward destruction! They are already planning a Christmas party or a New Year's entertainment; and in their liberal bill of fare will be included a full supply of champagne and sherry, perhaps, too, of hot punch and brandy. These are days of fast living; money comes easy; who cares! Good friends! there are many of us who care for our children if we do not for your purses; and before you set forth those attractive poisons, suffer me to make an honest appeal in behalf of one hundred thousand tempted young men.

I. Let me say to you that true hospitality does not require intoxicating liquors on such occasions—nor on any occasion. We honor the kindly spirit which, on the birth day of the year, prepares a liberal entertainment. We honor the hospitality which flings wide the door to all who wish to come in and enjoy it. But the well furnished markets and groceries of every town have an ample store of "creature comforts" without drawing upon the liquor cellars and the wine vaults. There are many drinks both palatable and proper that never cause redness of the eyes, or thickness of speech, or delirium of the brain. Under their influence, young men do not reel on the sidewalks, or mistake the door plates of their friends, or venture on silly impertinences toward the ladies who entertain them. Under their influence nobody's son is carried home drunk—to shame and rend a parent's heart. But the pernicious custom of wine giving and punch brewing on New Year's Day, produces many a sad scene of excess and inebriation. On all festive occasions temptation grows strong, and self-restraint grows weak. On every New Year's Day, hospitable private dwellings are turned into drinking houses. Young men enter them with flushed faces, and with tongues quite too rapid for propriety. Many a merchant's clerk has whetted an evil appetite that has cost him a valuable situation. A returned officer who went out last New Year's day to receive the congratulations of his friends, found the deceivers more fatal than rebel shells, and when he reeled home, his shame-stricken family would rather have received him wounded and bleeding from the battle field. He was somebody's son—and somebody's husband too. Friends! you have no moral right thus to tamper with other people's appetites, or to rob other households of their hopes and their happiness. "Woe unto him that putteth the bottle to his neighbour!"

II. As a second reason against offering strong drinks on holidays or at any social entertainment, we would urge that many persons are confirmed by them in habits of intoxication. Social drinking, yes, and drunkenness, were never more prevalent than now. There are members of my own church, probably, too, of most other churches, who are already sliding insensibly over that "glass railroad" whose smooth track leads downward to perdition. Thousands of young men are facing an enemy more deadly than ever frowned from the heights of Fredericksburg. With such young men a contest is now ranging between conscience and appetite. They see their danger. They realize, in their calm moments, that they will soon lose their self-control, and are perilling their places, their health, their lives, and their undying souls. These young men enter your dwellings with a sharp conflict going on between their sense of right and their appetite or their regard for fashion. If no intoxicating cup is held out to them, they are comparatively safe. They will not seek the drink unless the drink seeks them. But one glass may ruin them. On the summit of a hill in a Western State is a court house so situated that the rain drops that fall on one side of the roof descend into Lake Erie, and thence through the St. Lawrence into the Atlantic; the drops on the other side trickle down from rivulet to river until they reach the Ohio and the Mississippi, and enter the ocean by the Gulf of Mexico. A faint breath of wind determines the destination of these rain drops for three thousand miles. So a single act determines sometimes a human destiny for all time and for eternity! A fashionable young man partially reformed from drinking habits came home to his father's house, rejoicing in his emancipation. His gay, light hearted sister thoughtlessly proposed a glass of wine "to drink his safe return." He was excited and off his guard; he yielded, and the single glass rekindled a thirst that carried him back again into drunkenness. The hand that should have sustained him laid him low. Health, the ruined men who have first received the fatal glass from woman's hand could assure their testimony, how many a drunkard's grave would become vocal with terrible upbraidings! Surely one would think that woman had already suffered enough from the poison of this adder to make her refuse to touch the cup that conceals his serpent fang.

Mothers! fathers! it is not only somebody's son who is in danger. There is a boy nearer home who is watching your example. The darling who nestled in your own arms may be the victim of the glass you offer to others. And how dare you warn your own children against dissipation when they see the decanter on your own sideboard, and are confronted by the tempter on your own tables? You may remember the anecdote which Dr. Norman Beckett loved to tell of the London clergyman who, while walking the street, saw a loaded dray coming on rapidly toward a little school girl who was just crossing the way. The foremost horse was almost upon her. Forgetting self he rushed into the street—caught the child in his arms—bore her safely to the sidewalk, and, as her bonnet fell aside and she looked up with her pale face to see her deliverer, the good man looked down into the face of his own little daughter! In attempting to save somebody's child he had saved his own. Banish then, the winecup from your house, and you may preserve not only somebody's son from redemption, but also the lad whom your dear wife taught to say his prayers at her knee. God send to you a Happy New Year! and may you all make it a day of new consecration to temperance, to liberty, to patriotism, and to the cause of Christ.—Theo. L. Cuyler.

The Old Year.

Yes, the year is growing old,
And his eye is pale and blear!
Death, with frosty hand and cold,
Plucks the old man by the beard,
Sorely—sorely!

The Old Year dieth,
And the forests utter a moan,
Like the voice of one who crieth
In the wilderness alone,
Vex not his ghost!

Latest from Red River.

From the Globe's Correspondent.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 30.

The Press, to-day in an editorial, urges the acquisition by the United States of the British Territory west of Lake Superior, as an offset against the Alabama claims; and says the impotence of Canada in its efforts to extend its authority into Rupert's Land, when resisted by a few hundred half-breeds brings into bold relief the physical barriers separating it from Canada. Its geographical position makes it wholly dependent on the United States, commercially and socially and will inevitably compel its annexation to the United States. A British army, by great exertions, might suppress the rebellion; but why suppress a rebellion the elements of which exist in permanent physical conditions; British Columbia is in the same dissatisfied state, produced by the same physical causes. And these dissatisfactions appear now to be impressing Her Majesty's Government to the conclusion that since the country will eventually be absorbed in the American Union, it would be as well to make the best bargain possible, in settling national accounts.

The Press discredits the report from Washington that the administration encouraged the Winnipeg insurrection.

Ireland.

EXASPERATION OF THE ORANGE ORDER.

Some very violent language was used at an Orange meeting in Derry on December 6th. Captain Madden, a prominent leader of the fraternity, declared that it was the duty of Orangemen to give no assistance to the Government, and that, if he had had a vote for Tipperary, he would have plumped for Rossa. He further expressed a hope that Luby would be returned for Queen's County. Mr. Johnston, M. P., spoke pretty much to the same effect, and added, "I hold that it is no part of the duty of an Orangeman to fire a shot or draw a sword between the English Government and the Fenians. The English Government got themselves into a difficulty. They calculated to a certain extent upon the loyal feelings of Ireland. They have imagined that the Orangemen and Protestants were like a spaniel—the more you kick it the better it would like you But I think it is high time that we should tell the Government and the English people that, if there is to be a fight, or an attempt to set up a Fenian Republic, the Orangemen will stand aside—will protect themselves, maintain their Protestant religion, protect their home and hearths, and will let the English Government and the Fenians fight it out between them." These remarks were cheered enthusiastically. The Grand Orange Lodge of Ireland, which opened its meeting in Dublin on Wednesday, passed a resolution expelling all members of the society connected with the Liberal press. The great Ulster Protestant banquet, which was adjourned from the middle of October on account of Lord Derby's illness took place at Belfast on Wednesday night. The reporters of the Liberal press were not admitted. It is stated that the Lord Lieutenant's health was received with groans.

Primitive Medical Practice.

A gentleman in Alabama, in exerting himself one day, felt a sudden pain, and fearing his internal machinery had been thrown out of gear, sent for a negro on his plantation, who made some pretensions to medical skill, to prescribe for him. The negro, having investigated the cause, prepared and administered a dose to his patient with the utmost confidence of a speedy cure. No relief being experienced, however, the gentleman sent for a physician who, on arriving, inquired of the negro what medicine he had given his master. Bob responded,

'Rosin and alum, sir.'

'What did you give them for?' continued the doctor.

'Why,' replied Bob, 'the alum to draw the parts togedder, and de rosin to sodder um.'

The patient eventually recovered.

—The thaw and absence of frost, is seriously interfering with lumbering operations.

A Sunday school teacher was giving a lesson on Ruth. She wanted to bring out the kindness of Boaz in commanding the reapers to drop larger handfuls of wheat. 'Now, children,' she said, 'Boaz did another very nice thing for Ruth; can you tell me what it was?' 'Married her,' said one of the boys.

The imports of Wheat Flour into Great Britain during the months of September and October last were 840,000 quarters in excess of the previous year. The importations in November were also largely in excess, while the amount of supplies to be expected from grain producing countries was largely in excess of the demand for consumption. Low as prices are in North America, they must fall considerably before shipments can be made with any prospect of a profit.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, DEC. 31.

☞ To-morrow being New Year's day, no paper will be issued from this office.

CORONER.—We learn that C. S. Hamilton, M. D., C. M., has been appointed a Coroner of the County of Hastings.

THE OLD YEAR OUT.—There will be Divine Service in St. Thomas' Church to-night, at 11:30 o'clock, being the last night of the Old Year.

WATCH MEETING.—We are requested to state that the annual watch night service will be held in the Wesleyan Church to-night, commencing at half-past nine o'clock.

LECTURE.—By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that a lecture is to be delivered in St. Michael's Church, on Sunday evening next, by the Rev. M. Stanton, of Sheffield, whose known ability we have no do doubt, will command a good audience.

"A Happy New Year."

We give greeting to all, and reach out a hand to grasp, and offer a heart whose pulsations will warmly answer kindred hearts, and while the bells chant out the requiem of the Old Year and ring in the New, we wish all right heartily a "Happy New Year." In a few hours the heart of 1869 will be stilled forever. Only a few more throbbing pulsations, only a few nervous twitchings, and the body of the Old Year will be ready for the shroud which is already woven, and ready for the hands which will lay him away in the same grave where the years which are past are entombed. Did you ever stand on the threshold of that tomb and unlock Memory's casket, and spend an hour in examining what is hidden there? While you have looked in the tomb of the Past, did you see anything of lost hopes, of slighted promises, of broken vows, of good resolutions? How like grim phantoms they stand in the abysmal depths and haunt us! How like a dark catalogue they are traced on heart and brain! How willingly would many, standing at the door of Memory's sepulchre, step into the tomb of the Old Year if this dark catalogue could be wiped out forever! How willingly would they plunge into the River of Death if they only knew the waters thereof would wash them white as the crystal snow! There may be promises rich and rare in the opening year, but the fruit which will be gathered will be bitter to many; and there may be green pastures and living waters, but they will still walk on over the arid desert, ever carrying with them the dead hopes, and memories which can never die. Is there no way whereby the dark catalogue can be wiped out ere yet the ponderous door of the tomb is closed up? Is there no voice to whisper hope to the victim of Despair? Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no Physician there? Shall the landmarks of the bitter Past not be warning sufficient to avoid the errors and follies which make those landmarks like whited sepulchres? Shall there not be one great, grand, successful effort to be free from the yoke that binds them down to the earth, the burden that crushes them, the great Sin which drags its victim through the deepest, darkest, blackest depths? There is hope, and Virtue from her throne of original purity whispers of a brighter Future, and has power to break the fetters. Ere yet the Old Year dies, let us make friends with Him, and clasp the New Year with clean and pure hands.

"Close up the Ledger, Time!
Many a name for good or ill,
Filled to the margin your blotted scroll—
Many a high and haughty will,
Many a low but humble soul;
Yet one page to each is given,
Marking the changing path we climb,
Holding the balance of hell or heaven—
What of the Ledger, Time?"

"Close up the Ledger, Time!
Hark! the knell of the year gone by!
Have I run out my golden sand?
Where shall I be when the next shall die?
Where shall the soul within me stand?
Naught beyond but in guilt and crime;
Listen! I hear the New Year's bell,
Shut up the Ledger, Time!

The new Ledger will soon be open. Let us profit by the lessons of the past, and see to it that no stain shall blot the record of the New.

"There is no resurrection of the Past—
Its ghost may haunt thee but it lives no more;
Yet mourn it not—for you the future vast,
The eternal future, stretches on before.

"Take then the book of Fate into thine hand,
And for the New Year write the great decree
And what thou writest shall forever stand,
And what thou willest that the end shall be."

Let us take this new Ledger then, into our own hands, and guided by the voice of Time and the unerring finger of Truth, we may have what we right heartily wish all our readers may have, "A Happy New Year."

—Lt.-Col. Jarvis, A. D. C., has returned to Kingston.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

The Mayoralty Election.

SIR,—I have watched with some little interest the contest now going on for the Mayoralty, and am not a little surprised at the reticence displayed on the part of the Press, though your neighbor, the Chronicle, has given one or two blasts, which sound discordant when compared with the tone of an article in that journal just twelve months ago, and it is to that that I desire to draw attention now, showing as it does how people change in a short time.

On turning to the number of the Chronicle, dated 23rd Dec., 1868, I find an editorial extolling Mr. Conger, the then candidate for the Mayoralty, in which his principal recommendation was that he had advocated the change in the mode of collecting fees from the market, in which it is stated that Mr. Kennedy was a strong advocate of the change, and that Mr. Robertson introduced a By-Law to carry out the reform; thus placing the credit upon all three alike. In addition to this, the Chronicle, in mentioning the retirement of Mr. Robertson, who was also a candidate at the time, says: "He," Robertson, "gracefully retired in Mr. Conger's favor. We think Mr. Robertson showed "good sense and excellent judgment in "coming to this conclusion; it certainly will "not weaken his chances on some future occasion." How this "excellent judgment" has been paid, can be seen by reference to the Chronicle of the 22nd Dec., 1869, when, in speaking of the two candidates now in the field, the same paper says: "Political-"ly speaking it is immaterial to us which is "elected, both belong to a party which we "have opposed in the Council for years, and "neither have any claims on the public out-"side of the members of their party." In 1868 Mr. Robertson was a subject for flattery and promise in the future; in 1869 he is unworthy of support. Such is the position of that paper.

Why is an attempt made to drag "politics" into this contest? Does it sound well in that paper to do so, when it is considered the support it has given to different parties of late years? Did it not support Mr. Conger with all its influence? Has that gentleman connected himself with the "political" party of the Chronicle since he has been among us. "Political," forsooth. If there were any honesty in man, Mr. Henderson should, politically speaking, have been supported by that paper. It was in 1867 that he was flattered and recommended to the electors of East Hastings as a most fit and proper person to be supported, but one short year rolled around and he was both "morally and politically" disqualified for office. Was Mr. Henderson a different man in 1868 than in 1867? If he was it was for the better, for he had been doing good in the temperance cause, yet he was not "politically" acceptable to this censor of political parties; and just so with Mr. Robertson, in 1868 he deserved well of Mr. Conger's friends, but in 1869 he is unworthy of support. Why? The Chronicle answers this question too plainly to be mistaken, when it says: "If strict fidelity is any test, in any test, Mr. Kennedy has a strong claim upon his fellow-workers for support. We shall see how they repay his fidelity." What does this mean? Simply this. It is hoped by such shallow pretence of friendship to allure Mr. Kennedy into the ranks of those who shift and turn their positions and opinions, as rapidly as does the chameleon its colors. Has not Mr. Robertson, politically speaking, all the claims that Mr. Kennedy can possibly have? Surely men of the same party can support and vote for either of these gentlemen without being accused of not repaying the other for party fidelity. But all this is bosh. It is mere flapdoodle, upon which fools are fed. Mr. Kennedy is too sensible a man to be caught by such trash, and I warn him as a friend to beware of false friends, such as are now hovering about him, and attempting to make a cat-paw of him, from purely mischievous motives, as the result of the election will show.

I do not wish to be understood as saying one word against Mr. Kennedy, but I, with many others deprecate the old cry of politics at our Municipal elections. Let us take men as they are, when the question of principle cannot be involved, but between the two men there can be no doubt under the circumstances, who has the best claim upon the electors, and I hope to see Mr. Robertson returned by a good majority.

ONE WHO WATCHES EVENTS.

ED. NOTE.—We have taken the liberty of cutting off the close of our correspondent's letter, as the publisher of the INTELLIGENCER wants no defence from such attacks as those upon which he comments.

WELLMAN'S CORNER'S WESLEYAN METHODIST CHURCH.—On Sunday last, the new Wesleyan Methodist Church, at Wellman's Corners, Rawdon, was opened for Divine service, by the Rev. G. R. Sanderson preaching the dedicatory sermon. On Monday evening the 27th, a tea meeting was held in connection with the same Church in aid of the building fund, which proved a great success. The Church being crowded to excess. Dr. Boulter, M. P. P., occupied the chair. The eatables were provided in great abundance by the good wives of the neighborhood, and after the inner man had been liberally supplied, the meeting was addressed by the Chairman, the Rev. Messrs. Ryan, Howell and Neil; and M. Bowell, Esq., M. P. The pastor of the Church, Rev. Mr. Carr, then read a statement of the affairs of the Church funds, showing an indebtedness of about $160, when the Rev. Jacob Howell took a subscription list, and in a short time succeeded in raising sufficient money to pay off the whole debt upon the Church, and to build a shed for the accommodation of those who attend the Church. We congratulate the people of the neighborhood upon the success which has crowned their efforts, in this as well as other respects. The Church is of brick and is a credit to the neighborhood.

UNPHILOSOPHIC SAGES.—Two distinguished philosophers took shelter under a tree during a heavy shower. After some time one of them complained that he felt the rain. 'Never mind,' replied the other, 'there are plenty of trees; when this is wet through we will go to another.'

The Nation of the North.

AN ARMED EXPEDITION OF 1500 MEN FROM NEW YORK CITY.

VOLUNTEER SOLDIERS ENLISTING AND TO START BY THE 15TH OF JANUARY—SQUADS OFF FROM WESTERN CITIES—5,000 WELL ARMED MEN TO TAKE THE FIELD AGAINST THE DOMINION.

From the New York Sun, Dec. 28.

An American Annexation League has recently been formed in this city with the avowed purpose of procuring, by persuasion or force the annexation to the United State of all the countries and provinces of North America, and all the islands along its coast. Their motto is: "The national safety of the United States demands the acquisition of all North America and the West Indian islands."

The prominent citizens are members of this league, and its officers are the following well known gentlemen:—Col. Geo. W. Gibbons, President; Gen. A. L. Gurney, Vice President; Gen. Geo. W. Cole, Secretary; Gen. Jas. E. Kerrigan, Financial Secretary; and Gen. Jas. B. Colt Treasurer.

THE RED RIVER WAR.

Has infused new life into this league by giving it an excellent opportunity for advancing a great stride towards its ultimate and unchanging object. Its attention has been turned toward Mexico, but it was thought that any movement in that direction would be premature, and the idea was given up for the present as impracticable. Nicaragua was the next territory on which they cast their longing eyes, but after some deliberation, any movement in that direction was also put aside as hasty. In the difficulties that have arisen in the Red River country they saw a good opening, and at once began to prepare for active participation in the hostilities going on there against the representative of the Canadian Government.

THE EXPEDITION.

that they are preparing is to consist of 1,500 men, of whom 800 have already been enrolled, and the remainder can be procured at a moment's notice. Twenty-five guides have been hired who are familiar with the Red River country, and who will conduct the troops from the last railroad station across the border line. Fifteen hundred Spencer rifles have been stowed away ready for use; the ammunition and other supplies are also at hand, and no further great expense is anticipated. A prominent railroad man, a member of the League, has promised the troops free transit to within 200 miles of the border line; and from that point to the place of operation the filibusters will make their way by forced marches. The uniform will at first be dispensed with, and with all who join the expedition there will be an understanding beforehand that they are to receive no pay, but will be indemnified, in case of success, by bounty lands in the territory. With so little expense not much can be lost, and there is a great chance of succeeding.

THEY WILL DEPART

from New York in squads of 100 and 200 men, and as quietly as possible, so as to avoid detection or delay. The first squads will start before the 15th of January, perhaps as early as the first of the month, and the last detachment, it is expected, will have left the city before the beginning of February.

Four bodies, numbering together 250 men, have started for the Red River country already from the four cities of Chicago, Buffalo, Detroit and St. Louis. They have probably crossed the border line already, but no news has yet been received from them.

A PETITION TO CONGRESS, asking for recognition as belligerents, will be dispatched by the leaders of the expedition as soon as they are within the Red River territory. After they have once reached St. Paul, Minn., no further trouble is anticipated from the United States authorities. They will have no fears then but those inspired by wild and trackless forests, cold and storms. "The St. Paul police force will hardly think of molesting a small army like ours," observed one of the annexationists; "but should they be so foolhardy as to do so—well [with a smile] I think we can make them leave us free passage by a little moral suasion, you know."

ANNEXATION

is the only object the leaders of the movement have in view. They are confident of success if once they can reach the Red River territory. They will there join the half-breeds and trappers who are already in the field, and will form with them a force of nearly 5,000 men, for the most part well armed and equipped. The Canadian authorities will not be able to put a force in the field that can cope with this one without laying their own territory so bare defenceless as to give the Fenians, who are at this moment especially, on the lookout for excellent opportunity for a successful inroad.

LETTERS

From a large number of Prominent Canadian citizens have been received by the league, urging them on to some decisive action, and assuring them that the large body of the people of Canada is in sympathy with their object. In case of this expedition making a successful stand a general uprising may be expected in the province, the 5,000 men in the Red River Territory will march in, the Fenians will make desperate inroads from various quarters, the Canadian Government driven its seat and by the unanimous voice of the people os Canada and the United States becomes one.

Many details of the movement and many names must for a while be suppressed; but before a month has passed we hope to make them known.

THE SUEZ CANAL—CONTRADICTION.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—M. de Lesseps, the engineer-in chief of the Suez Canal, has telegraphed here a contradiction of the stories as to the dangers accompanying the navigation of that Canal. He says that since the Canal has been opened to commerce the depth at the very worst points has increased seventy centimetres.

HEAVY RECEIPTS OF WHEAT.

American Despatches.

THE PRESIDENT TO ISSUE A PROCLAMATION WARNING GREAT BRITAIN NOT TO INVADE AMERICAN TERRITORY.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The World's Washington correspondent says: It was rumored quite freely to-night that the President had decided to issue a proclamation of neutrality on the war in Rupert's Land, warning the English not to invade the territory of the United States, and Americans not to invade the British Dominions. It appears that there is no way for the Canadians to reach the Red River country without going through Minnesota, and it is possible that some such volunteer reinforcement has been attempted; to say nothing of the violation of the law of this country already accomplished by Governor McDougall, the British Commander, who, from head quarters in Minnesota, planned and sent from that State an armed expedition against the Winnepeg country.

A Member of the House of Representatives called recently upon the President for the purpose of representing to him the feelings of the people of Minnesota in reference to the passage of British troops through the territory for the purpose of quelling the insurrection in the Red River country. The member stated that the people were deeply opposed to allowing the transit of British troops, and that violent opposition would probably be made if it were attempted. The President, after hearing this statement, assured the member that the Government would not allow the use of American territory for the purpose.

The insurrection in the Red River country is viewed in official circles as a serious impediment to the scheme of the English Government to unite all British North America in the new Confederation, and it is not, therefore, regarded as a matter for regret, although the final success of the rebels is not counted on.

OCEAN POSTAGE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—A telegram was yesterday received at the Post Office Department from the Post Master General of the Dominion of Canada, offering to carry the United States mail to English ports from Portland, for the ocean postage of two cents for each letter under the new treaty. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,
For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Pre-disposition to Consumption, &c. This great remedy is well known and is performing too much good to make it necessary to go into an elaborate discussion of its merits' Suffice it to say that it still maintains its supremacy in curing diseases of the most obstinate character, and that all who suffer from the above complaints, after having tested this remedy, seldom have occasion to resort to other appliances to insure a perfect restoration to health.

TESTIMONY OF MR. PETER SHAW.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Dec. 10, 1869.

Messrs. S. W. FOWLE & SON, Boston.

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1859 I was very much out of health, afflicted with a severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and a general depression to such an extent as greatly to alarm myself and friends as to the result. During this time I tried several highly recommended remedies, with little or no good result, and had concluded to try the effect of a Southern climate upon my health; but, before carrying this resolution into effect, I was induced by the urgent solicitation of your agent, Mr. Hadley, to give "Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry" a trial. I did so, and to my great joy found immediate and permanent relief by the use of only one bottle, and I am now in as good health as ever. I believe your Balsam to be one of the best remedies for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung Diseases, now in use, and conscientiously recommend it as such. Yours truly,

PETER SHAW.

Grace's Celebrated Salve.
We are constantly hearing favorable reports from those who have tried this remedy. Amy Anthony, wife of Mark Anthony of this city, and living at No. 6 Lower Street, being afflicted with a felon on the finger, was recently induced to make a trial of the Salve. Almost instantly she experienced relief from the pain, which had been almost unendurable. Every other remedy but this proved unavailing. Those who have tried it since are satisfied of its merits, and nothing will induce them to be without a supply.—Fall River News. 42-1m 181

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.
DR. A. L. SCOVILL, who has been known to the public throughout the United States as the inventor of remedies for the Lungs, writes:

Cincinnati, Jan. 9th, 1864.

Messrs. J. N. HARRIS & Co.,

Gents,—I make the following statement from a perfect knowledge of the benefits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM in curing the most deep-seated Pulmonary Consumption. I have witnessed its effects on the young and old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For Coughs, and all the early stages of Lung Complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the Lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the Phlegm and matter to cease, manifesting those deleterious organs, the Lungs, and without producing constipation of the bowels. It gives new strength to the system, stops Night Sweats, and changes all morbid secretions to a healthy state.

Yours respectfully,
A. L. SCOVILL.

The Balsam is superbly wrapped, with a fine steel engraved label. Price, One Dollar per bottle. For sale by all the leading Druggists in the Dominion, and by the Agents.

Tranquility.

To take some holy book and read
The things recorded there,
While folded fingers meekly lead
The spirit forth in prayer:
To watch the setting sun, to mark
The slow waves of the sea;
To hear the night-bird fill the dark
With his soft melody;
While breathing low,
The sweet winds blow,
This is tranquility.

To lift the silent latch of thought,
And search in its domain
For ancient memories deeply fraught
With solace to the brain:
To listen for the Master's tread,
And know His time is near,
To feel the peaceful pillow spread,
And rest devoid of fear
Till the tired breath
Shall cease in death,
This is tranquility.

—The Quiver. A. HUME BUTLER.

'Quick Father.'

A young man walked the deck of his father's vessel. His step was firm, and his heart light. Life, like the shining sea, lay bright before him, and he thought not of storm or danger.

Suddenly his foot slipped, and the next instant he was struggling with the waves. With a thrill of horror the father caught the piercing cry of his drowning son,—'Quick, quick, father, or you'll be too late!' In vain he struggled and vain were his father's efforts to save him. It was 'too late.' He sank to rise no more, and the sea on which he had just been gazing lay calm and still above his lifeless form; but naught can still in that father's heart his lost son's dying cry, 'Too late!' rings for ever in his ears, for at the moment when he saw that it was too late to save that manly form from a watery grave, the fearful thought that his soul was sinking to 'the death which never dies' flashed upon him, rendering doubly significant his despairing cry,—Too late!

'Have you decided whether to make your son a soldier or a lawyer?'—No; but I will as soon as I can settle in my own mind whether it is best for him to live upon the blood and misery or upon the vices and follies of his species.'

Boston has a philanthropist who visits the prisons. Said he to a prisoner, 'Most of your friends think your sentence was excessive; like it was ever known.' 'Yes I suppose so,' was the prisoner's reply; but then, you know, everything has gone up since the war.

"TIRED NATURE'S SWEET RESTORER BALMY SLEEP." But there are times when this "Renewer of Strength" is denied us, times when our minds and bodies have been so over-worked and are so worn out that we "woo the drowsy god in vain." The Peruvian Syrup (an Iron Tonic), renews our strength and makes our rest sweet and refreshing.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—MORRISBURGH, Sept., 1869.—Gentlemen,—Suffering from the prostration and weakness caused by a severe attack of Influenza, the past winter, I was induced to try your Sarsaparillian Resolvent as a restorative, and its effects were most satisfactory. I therefore, conscientiously recommend it as a thorough purifier and invigorator of the human system, thus giving increased health and vitality to the weary invalid. (Signed), MRS. JAMES GLASSFORD.

SIR JOHN A. MCDONALD still continues to display his usual tact and energy in the exalted position to which his talents have raised him. We once heard it remarked that his popularity would one day decline, but we know that when a man's advancement is the result of his own intrinsic worth, his reputation is fixed and effulgent like that of the Great Shoshonees Remedy for rheumatism, diseases of the throat, lungs &c. For sale by all Druggists. 42 1m HAPPINESS.—True happiness, is our opinion, consists of the following named articles:—A nice little wife sitting on your knee, her trusting smile filling your mind with happy thoughts, a nice little room tidily furnished, and a bottle of "Canadian Pain Destroyer" in the cupboard, ready for instant use. Nothing better for sudden colds, sprains, burns, and all kinds of aches and pains. Price 25 cents per bottle. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

Read the following:—Worthington, Ohio, May 22nd, 1869. Dear sir:—I bear willing testimony to the sterling merits of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM for all Pulmonary troubles. I had a very distressing cough, and the BALSAM gave me immediate relief and permanent benefit. I had a severe attack of pleurisy and by its aid was relieved and cured. I am satisfied that all that is necessary to convince any one of its merits, would only be to make a trial of it, and I cheerfully recommend it to all whose condition demands anything of this nature, asking for it an impartial trial, and believing they will, and hoping they may be benefitted as much as I was myself. I am respectfully, &c., S. R. TAYLOR.

CATARRH, a disease which distresses us and disgusts our friends, can be thoroughly and quickly cured by using Dr. J. Briggs' Alkalsanation. Sold by all Druggists.

CONSUMPTIVES, try Dr. J. Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer. It will relieve you. For all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs, nothing can surpass its beneficial effects. Sold by Druggists.

CURE for Piles. Dr. J. Briggs' Pile Remedy is offered to the sufferers of this distressing disease, with a confidence warranted by its success for their relief. Sold by Druggists.

FROSTED FEET, Chilblains, Corns, Bunions, Bad Nails, &c., are positively cured by the use of Dr. J. Briggs' Modern Curative. This Remedy has been compounded with great care, and used as directed, never fails. Sold by Druggists.

BREAKFAST.—Epps's COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. The CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks:—"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ¼lb., ½lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 91—Oct 7&8

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, which are truly wonderful. Invterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it, when all other remedies and doctors, which were agravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicted, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofula is probably one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Whenever it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and often, on account of its hereditary taint, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be and rarely deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcers across on some parts of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is not unwise, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Eczema, affected with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, if taught, cure by the use of this USAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scaly or Blotchy Disease, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions of visible forms of Strumous Disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Tic, Neuralgia, Neuralgia, and the various Uterous affections of the muscular and nervous system.

Syphilitic or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine, but long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or White, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, which is gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by acrimony or concretions matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaint, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising from the same cause. Even local affections in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great reliever for the stomach, kidneys, and urinary organs. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, or troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for confirmed consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. Prudence against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and before any symptoms of incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs, which are sure to follow, can be fastened upon the system, such should be procured and the disease promptly cured.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers are cured every day, in cases seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could relieve, that sweetest of solaces, the Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of which we have in our possession the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Iron, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures the system, but on the contrary, the vigor it imparts to the constitution, assisted by the curative power of the remedy, leaves the patient entirely free from disease, and with restored health.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an unequalled remedy, producing, as it does, such remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold by all the world.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if there remains a spark of life on condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, BLADDER and other organs not yet seized upon the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the operation of the remedy, RADWAY'S

Whether the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, worn out, or broken down by the destructive operations altered blood, or the improper use of medicine, the Resolvent will, or the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent soothes it live perhaps for years, or no matter how critical the case may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of its tissue and flesh-making principles the repairs will be greater than the waste and the BLOOD WILL become so rich, that strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person afflicted with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Bowels, Stomach or Womb, or Urinary difficulties, and experiencing a change for the better from the use of Radway's or Holloway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, the health improves, and is enabled to feel, with strength, that our constituents, the deposits of diseases matter and other elements of disease in decomposition and death will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs and each of these Organs will commence its proper constituent nourishment. Radway's Pills, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions being directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If the Resolvent fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to set each organ or secreting gland in discharging in its proper functions, health can never be restored. Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Radway's Sarsaparilla has heretofore existed in all their wonderful and unlimited as Blood Purifiers.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, Compt. of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his leg, that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and others of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, also with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief, and used only three bottles of Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water and effected a perfect cure. Mr. Denault has previously spent hundreds of dollars, and been for nine years, and cured in less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., died of one of the worst forms of scrofula. His son, aged 13 years, was covered from head to foot with one SOLID SCAB, his entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs and all. I saw him on September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, or three weeks from date, I met the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured and a Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Heads, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of scrofula.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1868.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was first with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was reduced to so low that I could not walk. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened consumption have disappeared. I am now in health, fully recovered. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—This gentleman's case was known to me and been under the treatment of the best physicians in Toronto—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. OLIO, MORTIMER.
